

Submit 481

Chapter 481 Nothing to do with Each Other

With a sobbing voice, Jeanne nodded her head repeatedly. "Good, good! As long as you don't divorce me, I'm willing to do anything"

August said in a deep voice, "First of all, if you don't want me to divorce you, then go to the police station to turn yourself in and give a truthful account of what you have done. Second of all, we divorce, from now on we do not have anything to do with each other."

After August said those words, Jeanne's face turned pale.

What was the difference between such a choice and no choice at all?

"August, I..."

"You have two choices, I'll give you time, think about it and tell me when you have Paulaswer."

With that, August pushed Jeanne away and quickly walked out of the room.

The door of the room was closed with a loud bang. Jeanne fell to the ground as if all the energy had been sucked out of her

She could never turn herself in, she could never go to jail, she had no choice!

She sat on the floor, her body heat slowly depleted, her phone was lying on the carpet, the screen flickered and vibrated. It took a while before she picked it up, glanced at the screen, and answered the phone.

"Hello, Mark, August knows about everything, he wants to divorce me, what should I do..."

Mark's eyes on the other end of the line turned dark.

He had long wanted to let Jeanne and August get a divorce. He didn't expect the opportunity to appear now.

That was because Jeanne didn't know, for her, the most dangerous had always been August, and only August.

It was dark at West Bridge.

Lucia was lying in bed, tossing and turning, even though the time was late, but for some reason, her brain was hyperactive, without the slightest sleepiness.

were mixed together, winding up into a mess, and casually picked up the phone on the bedside table, when the phone lit up, there was nothing on it except APP push waiting, waiting for August's the time August and Jeanne left the restaurant to now, it had been and when she woke up the next day, the sun was already high up in just about to get up and wash up, the day after their third wedding anniversary."

clicked on the news of his divorce from Jeanne on the social media platform for the reason the two of them got married, they had a unique and grand wedding, and both sides had great looks. A lot of people envied them.

past three years, and on their third anniversary, Jeanne also showed her love on social media with roses, but it was not expected that the very

the various messages pushed to her, the further she looked down, the more she to test Jeanne with have done something that August couldn't should be took a deep breath and immediately called August. The phone kept on ringing, but no one was phone, was in

on silent and was upside down on the table, so no one noticed the screen report to me

addition, the cooperation with Westlake must be secured, before that, the planning team and the public relations department go to do the promotion of Adams, I'm afraid that the recent comments have had a bit and after a few seconds, he asked, "What kind of comments?"

softly. "It's your private incident, it has sent an uproar on the internet recently..."

this, August's eyes turned had to divorce in private. He didn't need to post out the news on social platforms, but he just wanted to let this matter be posted on the internet, to let everyone know. He also wanted to break off with the Kelly family. Things might seem a know what I'm doing, so not move to change the topic had already brought up this matter, there was nothing else they could say, so they can only pretend