

Submit 504

Chapter 504 You Are Hopeless

On the other side of the phone, Merlin and Martin were both stunned, and only after a few seconds of pause did they speak in a light voice. "It's my sister. She has been out of sorts lately. Both my Dad and I want her to see a psychiatrist."

At the same time, Bishop's eyes fluttered, and something occurred to his mind. Then he smiled slightly and said softly, "Oh, I see. I know a psychiatrist. He's experienced. I can make an appointment for your sister."

Merlin paused then turned to look at Martin. Seeing him nodding slightly, Merlin quickly agreed, "That would be great. The one that Mr. Adams knows is certainly trustworthy! Thank you, Mr. Adams."

Bishop laughed lightly, "Never mind, my friend." When he said this, it was like putting a higher value on Martin and Merlin. And they were instantly flattered, their faces flashing with joy.

Merlin echoed, "Yes, yes, my friend."

"Then I'll make an appointment for tomorrow. That friend of mine is working in the People's Hospital. It happens that he is on day shift tomorrow."

"Good, then it's settled!"

The two sides reached an agreement quickly. Immediately after that, Merlin hung up the phone, turned to look at Martin at the side, smiling proudly, "Dad, you heard it, right? Just now Bishop said we are his friends!"

Bishop had gone from the disabled man who had little power to the chief president of the Lion Group. And people in Austos City were scrambling to seek cooperation with him and get involved with him. Now Bishop said that they were friends. They were naturally excited to do many things. They went to great lengths to marry Jeanne immediately changed their backer, and now they were considered to have come out in all, we have to take this opportunity to thank Bishop. Gradually you in agreement, "Yes, Dad, you're right!"

bigger and bigger! In the eyes of businessmen, the first priority had always been profit. Three years ago, Martin was able to marry off Jeanne in order to get involved with August, and now he could also say that his daughter has mental problems in order to curry favor with Bishop. In his eyes, Jeanne had never been anything more than a led by the maid to the door, and pushed it open. Jeanne was still tied hands and feet. Her hair was disheveled, face pale. She didn't look like instructed the maid at the side, "Change her clothes, comb her hair. When immediately nodded and Martin's face became gloomy at once. He flung his sleeves in anger, turned around and was but when he saw her like this, he immediately dismissed the idea. He walked to the door, coughed lightly, then looked at his man and ordered in a cold voice, "Take her to the hospital later. Keep an eye on her, bring and answered, "Yes." After doing all this, he stepped directly away. Soon, everything was ready. Accompanied by the maid who had often taken care of her and, Jeanne

TO

Hospital. She explained the situation to the relevant personnel and waited on and find clues in passing. She learned that Burton had appeared in the People's Hospital half a month ago and was caught on camera. But she didn't know what happened later. She followed his trace, but it was as if he had vanished,