

Submit 513

Chapter 513 August Didn't Want to Go Back

The world successfully made August's gloomy eyes changed a little. He raised his eyes and glanced at Joshua, then his eyes narrowed again, as if he didn't hear anything. He drank on his own without saying anything.

Joshua was suddenly annoyed. He stretched out his hand, pressed August's hand that was about to toast, and said firmly and affirmatively, "I'm serious. She really came back! She came back last week. She even came to me the other day lately."

Hearing this, August's eyes lit up slightly. He pursed his lips, and asked, "Why did she come to you?" Joshua's eyes sank slightly, and then he said word by word. "She asked me about your whereabouts."

Hearing this, a complicated look flashed across August's face, and then a wry smile emerged from the corner of his mouth. But he didn't say anything. Lucia left resolutely at the beginning, but now she suddenly came back and came to August. August wondered her purpose. Did she play hard to get? She first made him sad, and then comforted him, but August was still sad.

Joshua continued, "August, let's go out of the mountain. Let's heal your leg first. After that, if you want, I will help you recapture everything that belongs to you."

August was silent for a long time. After going through this incident, he seemed to have been back from the dead. He understood a lot. What he had cared about before was now less important. Now, he was more exhausted. During the more than a month of hiding in the monastery in the mountain, although he had been in pain and suffering at the beginning, he later gained a peace of mind.

For the first half month, Burton was still controlled by Bishop Ailer. Joshua arranged August here, Joshua couldn't often come here. August was alone. Whenever he was suffering most, the abbot of the monastery would talk to him about some Buddhist sayings and truths. The old monk in charge of sweeping the floor in the yard was pretty old. He was hunchbacked and taciturn. He looked cold and unkind, but he was the kindest person. He often set hot meals on the table and prepared August the blankets and clothes he needed, and the other young monks were naughty and pure. Their eyes were innocent.

in Austos City. All of them were backslabbers.

happened that a breeze blew, August took a deep breath, and said calmly, "This place is very of resentment, "August, just think about it clearly. Now your father is missing, and your grandma is still being watched by Bishop's people. All the property of the Adams family is controlled by the illegitimate son you hate most. If I was no one worthy of his about you and Lucia, but I think that woman likes you." Joshua had used to try his best to get Lucia to leave August, but he suddenly said softly, "Then you, bring her to see me." He wanted to subordinates. When he was on the verge of death, the first thing that came to mind was Lucia's face. In the past, his self-restraint, his stubbornness, extinguished all the flames of love that came out of his heart, but that kind of emotion was uncontrollable. After he had been back from dead, he suddenly realized that his attention for would not be tempted by Lucia, but too many things had changed

Seeing the light in August's eyes again, he was surprised slightly, so he agreed. 'Okay. I'll meet her when I go back tomorrow, and in a deep voice, "It's of the second waltz in the monastery sounded leisurely. August squinted his eyes, inexplicably feeling a little relaxed. He slowly turned the wheelchair and went back to his room. He didn't to recover for a long time. She had a long dream. In the dream, she climbed mountains. and finally found August. However, when he turned around, he was indeed covered person over there answered, "Sister

"Zane. have you told Kylan?" She told Zane yesterday that she would search the mountain today, but there are a few people who are not willing to do. Kylan didn't force them. He arranged for other people, so he didn't let them come."