Chapter 551 Never Spare Him

Lucia had to apply medicine to her burns every day, which meant that she couldn't be discharged.

The kids played with their mother for a long time. They didn't know that Lucia had to stay in the hospital until they were to leave. Both of them were so disappointed and upset when they knew that Lucia won't go home with them. Timothy seemed to be sleepy. His little eyes were almost closed. However, in his half slumber, he was still unwilling to let Lucia's hand go.

Lucia felt distressed. She also wanted to hold her babies in her arms and coax them to sleep. However, her physical condition made her wish impossible.

Paul, at last, persuaded the kids, "Well, why don't we go home tonight? I'll bring you to mom tomorrow. Deal?"

Lucia echoed, "Yes. You guys go back tonight and come tomorrow. I won't run away."

The kids looked up at Lucia in unison. They asked seriously, "Really?"

Lucia nodded and said firmly, "Of course."

Lucia's promise and their own sleepiness made the kids willing to leave.

Paul summoned the chauffeur and, after sending the children on the car, he returned to the ward.

Lucia was sitting on the bed in a daze as Timothy and Janet's absence made the room somewhat lonely.

Hearing the door being opened, Lucia looked up and found Paul come back. She smiled. "I thought you had left."

Paul strode to bedside and held her in his arms. He, as if knowing that she had burns on her back, carefully avoided the burns and stroke her hair. "I couldn't bear to leave you."
