

Submit 558

Chapter 558 Finding Garnett

The car sped along the main road. Lucia had never driven so fast before, and when she arrived at the address Darnell told her, it was already dark. She drove the navigation and went directly to the vegetable market. When she arrived at the door, there were a lot fewer people coming and going.

Lucia quickly found a place to park the car, and then walked quickly towards the gate. The scene she saw on the video just now is the gate of the vegetable market here, and the place where Garnett knelt in the surveillance is now empty, and there is not even a trace of anything different on the ground.

Lucia walked around the door quickly, but still found nothing else. Could it be that, as Darnell said, Garnett left after eight o'clock, just in time for her to rush over, and the two of them missed it perfectly.

Lucia gritted her teeth, with her heart hanging in her throat, she took a deep breath, first to calm herself down, and then looked around.

Suddenly, she locked on to a dilapidated small newsstand on the side of the road next to the vegetable market, hesitated for a moment, and then walked forward with the idea of giving it a try.

A middle-aged man was humming a ditty and packing stacks of magazines, as if he was about to close the door.

Lucia picked up a bottle of drink casually, paid for it, and then asked the boss, "Boss, do children often beg at the entrance of this vegetable market?"

looked her up and down, and asked, "Yes, what are heard that the helpless children here are very pitiful, so I wanted to take a he immediately said, "Girl, you came too late, and your news is boss glanced at her, as if he kindly reminded her after thinking about it, and said in a low voice, "I advise you, don't provoke stunned, "What do you mean?"

boss turned his head, raised his chin, and pointed in one direction, "I heard that they all live in the cement factory hand, unwilling to say any more, then packed up the magazines, took a sip of her drink and carefully guessed the meaning of what the boss said just now. She raised her eyes to look in the old, and the roads are uneven. After eight o'clock, the sky was already very dark, but the street lights in the old a store from a distance, talking in a low voice. Lucia took a closer look and saw the profile of one of the boys, and she became excited of his round head, and he was wearing exactly the same clothes she saw in the video! Lucia was overjoyed, and hurriedly took a step towards that side. you find Garnett, you may be able to find other young monks, as well as Jeff. Maybe it's because there is no place to in his mouth, lit it with a fire, and then walked up behind them and pushed them to go forward, "Go! Go back and see how Tiger will deal with spoke, he raised his hand and slapped Garnett hard on the back of the head, happening? Who is that man? Why did Garnett keep his head. down from the beginning to the end, not daring to show his breath, and let that man