Chapter 564 You Did This Deliberately

Unexpectedly, just as she let go of Garnett, Garnett suddenly opened his eyes wide and looked up at her in horror. His eyes welled up with tears instantly, and he said pitifully, "I'm scared..."

Instantly, Lucia's heart was melt, and she could no longer say other words of refusal.

August's voice came, "Put him to sleep before you go."

Lucia bit her lower lip and took a deep breath. She looked down at Garnett and said softly. "Okay, let's go, I'll take you back to your room to sleep."

Garnett then nodded with tears still in both eyes. He looked so pitiful. Watching the woman pull the little guy into the room, August smiled.

"Hey! Mr. Adams, you always bring people to the house. Do you think my place is a hotel?" Suddenly, Joshua's teasing voice came. August stopped smiling and looked at him. He saw Joshua leaning against the wall and looking at him, with a deep smile on his face.

August glanced at him coldly, unwilling to say more. He drove his wheelchair directly to leave.

But Joshua strode toward him and said "Hey, hey! August, am I being ignored? Why don't you look at me!"

August coolly spoke, "I don't have time for you."
