

Submit 568

Chapter 568 August Was Jealous

As Darnell said, he got up immediately, picked up the coat hanging on the back of the chair next to Lucia, walked to her side quickly, and said solemnly, "I haven't drunk, so I can drive you." Before Lucia could reply, Darnell had already walked towards the door with his long legs. She was stunned, and quickly trotted to follow.

The off-road vehicle was galloping forward on the wide road. Along the way, Darnell didn't say a word, his face was serious and he drove the car with concentration. Arriving at Forest Clinic, Lucia asked the front desk for the room number, and then rushed over there without any delay. Darnell was worried, so he also went there.

Lucia was so anxious that she almost trotted along the way. When passing through the corridor of the ward, a nurse pushed the aseptic trolley and walked towards this side quickly. Lucia couldn't stop for a while because she was running. She almost hit it. Suddenly, her shoulders were tightened, and a pair of big hands stretched out from behind, gripping her shoulders tightly, preventing her from hitting it directly.

Lucia's heart was beating fast. She had just stood on her side, and when she turned her head, she saw Darnell who was holding her firmly behind her. She was about to thank him, but she heard him say, "A minute or two doesn't matter, and can you run with your legs?" Lucia frowned, feeling the pain of the wound on her leg. At this moment, she really shouldn't run anymore. However, she was wearing a long skirt today, and the wound was completely covered, so how did he know she was injured? But the top priority was not to understand these. Lucia took a deep breath, calmed her down, and continued to walk forward. Although she walked very fast this time, she did not run again.

According to the information provided by the front desk, Lucia looked for the ward number all the way, and finally saw the corresponding number. She ran over without thinking. When she reached the door, she raised her hand without hesitation, pressed the doorknob, pushed the door open and entered.

With a "bang", she pushed the door open, and everyone in the room looked at her in unison, August, Joshua and Kylan. They were all sitting by the sofa in the small living room, looking at her with slightly dazed expressions. Lucia was also stunned, and quickly realized something. She took a deep breath and asked, "Where is Garnett? Where is he?"

there was a small corridor over there, which leads to another room. The conditions of private hospitals found that August, who was sitting in a wheelchair, looked a little cold, who was staring straight at the direction behind her. She noticed something, weird. August and Joshua measured Darnell up silently. At this moment, Kylan stood up suddenly,

"I happened to be with her, and I heard that she has something to do here, so I drove her here."

Although it was a very normal sentence, it had extremely at Darnell, and almost quickly determined that this man was the man he saw with Lucia in a low tone, "The doctor said that his current situation is tricky.

Lucia care about the eye contact and emotional contest among these men? She only cared about Garnett, and two steps, she suddenly thought of something, and immediately slowed down her

of "click" from the door, the small living room

out and finding a place to chat?"

Obviously, he was waiting for Lucia. Although the word was cryptic, it could also be understood and his eyes were complicated. He glanced