

Submit 570

Chapter 570 Was Garnett Dumb?

In the next few days, Bill and Elisa were preparing for a trip to Cardiff. Lucia stayed at home alone, with Timothy and Janet, and was absent-minded every day. On the one hand, she was worried about Garnett in the hospital, and on the other hand, she was angry because of what August said that day. She hesitated, and didn't know whether she should go to the hospital or not.

It wasn't until the third day that she finally couldn't bear it any longer, so she went out with Timothy and Janet. She wanted to go out to have fun casually, but she didn't expect that the car was driving unknowingly to Forest Clinic nearby.

"Mom, it's not fun here at all." Timothy, who was sitting in the back seat, said while kicking his legs, and then putted up his cheeks angrily, "Didn't you say you want to take us to see the movie!"

Before Lucia could speak, Janet next to her had already answered, "It's not here yet!" The two little guys quarreled over a trivial matter two days ago, and now they lost their temper, and no one wanted to talk to the other. They also argued with each other during the communication, and no one agree with each other.

Timothy raised his chin angrily, and said in a childish voice, "Janet Thomas, don't you know children are not allowed to interrupt when adults talk!"

Janet snorted disdainfully, "You're only a minute older than me. You are not an adult."

Listening to the two quarreling in the back seat, Lucia was angry and amused. She quickly interrupted, "Okay, okay! Stop arguing Otherwise, I will take you to meet a new friend. What do you think?"

The two little guys were immediately attracted and asked in unison, "Who is the new friend?"

"This new friend is a bit special. He has experienced a lot of bad things recently. He is very sad and gradually stopped talking. So, let's go and see him and try to make him happy, ok?"

show him my

can tell him jokes!"

still play

the two little friends who didn't like each other just now disappeared.

parties. Timothy and Janet were lively and cheerful children, and they could play with anyone. Maybe after playing, Garnett would open his heart slowly. Soon, they arrived at their destination, Lucia found a parking space and parked the car, took Timothy and Janet to buy some fruits and snacks nearby, and then she had already seen the subordinates guarding the door. They were Kylan's people. She had seen them before and had subordinate nodded, "Yes."

hesitated for a moment, and asked, "How to have anything to do. Kylan arranged for me to stay here smiled at him, "Thank you for your little guys seemed to have entered a new world. They stared and looked around. curiously. They corridor next to it, and walked into the door of another room. She raised her hand and knocked on the door, and raised her voice intentionally, "Garnett, it's me. I brought two children here today. Do you want to see them?" There was a rustling for a while, but there was still no sound. She hesitated for a moment, and said softly, "Then we will the door open, and then slowly pulled Timothy and Janet in. She only saw that the room was dim, and the quilt on the bed was obviously gathered.

had never seen such a scene before. They stared blankly at the person on the bed, hesitating and daring not didn't you say you have a gift for at each other. Then they slowly mustered up the courage to walk to the side of the bed, facing the figure whose head was covered by a quilt on the bed. They said, "My. My name is Timothy. This is an

is tremblingly, Lucia was amused. Timothy and Janet might regard the little guy on the bed as a monster. In fact, Lucia knew very well that Garnett was very kind and would not do