

Submit 571

Chapter 571 Garnett Was Discharged from Hospital

Joshua sat on the sofa in a leisure manner, crossing his legs, and stared at Lucia with a half-smile, and said smilingly, "Unfortunately, August was outside to discuss a project, so he didn't come."

Lucia gave him a cold look, and said firmly, "I'm not here for him." She came here for Garnett, and had nothing to do with August. Joshua smiled, and didn't continue to say anything, but changed the subject, "Our people have already found the old monk's trace who stabbed August in the hospital last time, and we must find out where he is sooner or later."

Lucia's eyes flickered slightly, and the expression on her face softened a little, "It's good if we can find him, and don't let he be caught by Bishop's people and cause incidents."

Joshua paused slightly, raised his chin and said, "How about the little one inside?"

Lucia was a little puzzled, "What do you mean?"

Joshua spread his hands, and said in a casual tone, "I can't let him stay in my house all the time. People who don't know the situation will think that I suddenly have an illegitimate child."

Lucia fell into silence, pondered for a moment, and said softly, "If it is not convenient for you to take him in, then leave him to me." It is impossible for her to let Garnett be displaced and homeless again. For a six-year-old child, experiencing once was enough. Joshua smiled and said, "Okay, then I'll leave him to you. Maybe you can discuss with August about how to deal with this parenting issue?"

Listening to his tone, Lucia frowned. Why the meaning changed after listening to these words from Joshua's mouth? She paused, and said firmly, "No, I've already decided."

As she said that, suddenly the door of the ward was pushed open, and with a burst of chattering noise, Timothy and Janet pulled Garnett out from the inner ward. Timothy said excitedly, "Mom, we want to hang out with Garnett!"

surprised and pleasant, and asked with a smile on her face, "Where are below. Didn't we pass by when we came up just echoed, "Yes, Mom, have you forgotten?"

said, I suddenly remembered. Let's down happily. They walked outside excitedly, holding Garnett's hand. Lucia stepped up to follow them, not forgetting to turn her head and nodded to Joshua, sitting on a bench, looking at this scene, the corners of her mouth curled up. Sure enough, the contagion among children was very strong. As long as Garnett was willing to go out and communicate days, Lucia led Timothy and Janet to visit Garnett in Forest Clinic every day. Garnett became more lively and cheerful, talked over there praised that Garnett's physical and mental condition recovered well, and waited for going to pack up her things and left with Timothy and Janet left, a doctor came to inform followed the doctor to the office. Lucia looked at the serious face of the doctor on the opposite his recovery." As he spoke, the doctor took out a test report from the side and ask her to special items. She was at a loss. She only saw the "normal" and "abnormal" displayed in the comparison column at the end. From the beginning to the end, she was still a little unsure. She looked up at the doctor in surprise and asked, "Is

"Yes, the happy when she heard the word "discharged from the hospital". If the doctor could ask Garnett to be discharged, it was basically certain that Garnett was fine. It seemed that Timothy and Janet have played

Garnett put on the new clothes she bought for him in advance, and then was not in the right mood, Lancia stopped what she was doing, his head, and