Chapter 577 Paula Returns Home

Joshua's disdainful voice came from the other end of the phone, "Why would I lie to you about this?"

Lucia came back to her senses, "Okay, I see. Thank you." After hanging up the phone, she hesitated for a split second and directly called Paula

It rang for a long time, and just when she thought no one would answer, the voice she hadn't heard for a long time suddenly came from the other end of the phone, "Hey, Lucia!"

It was indeed Paula's voice, and she sounded a bit excited and she could not hide her happiness. For some reason, Lucia tingled all over when she heard the voice. She was somehow touched with tears in her eyes. Lucia had not heard this voice for more than two months.

Since Paula had a car accident, she had been lying quietly in bed, not noisy at all. But it made Lucia feel desolate

Lucia called Paula by her name, with a trembling voice, "Paula, it's really you..."

"If not me, who could this be?" Paula could not hide her joy, "You don't want to hear my voice??"

Hearing the joking implication in her tone, Lucia broke into laughter and deliberately said in an exaggerated manner, "How? I think about you day and night and I even forget to eat and sleep."

Two of them laughed out loud almost simultaneously, and the familiar feeling swept back in.

Lucia thought of something and asked, "By the way, Paula, are you already back?"

I'll go get Timothy and Janet!" Said Lucia excitedly. Then she hurriedly hung up the phone, and immediately went to the children's room and got Timothy and Janet up. Originally the two little ones were confused and refused to get up, but once they heard that their aunt was coming, they all woke up with excitement
