Chapter 641 Do You Want to Return to the Organization?

August glanced at the wheelchair, and then said softly, "This way, it's a lover of protection."

When Lucia heard what he said, her heart twitched violently, and she somehow felt a little sorry.

Before she came to her senses. August turned his head to look at her, and warned, "Stay at home and don't run around."

After he said that, several of them approached the elevator entrance together.

Looking at August sitting in the wheelchair from behind, Lucia felt inexplicably sad and worried.

She could probably guess who he was trying to deal with. Bishop had used this trick to relax the vigilance of others, and now August also used this trick to fight back.

The things he had experienced must be much darker and worse than she imagined.

Lucia sniffled and was about to close the door when footsteps came from behind her. Timothy and Janet came over and stared at her, hesitating to speak.

Lucia quickly adjusted her mood, looked at them, and said, "What's the matter? Why are you looking at me like this? Is there something on my face?"

Timothy stepped forward, stretched out his small hand, gently tugged at her, and said with a bit of comfort in his tone, "Mom, it's okay, Uncle Charming is out busy. We two will be with you. Don't be sad."

Janet on the side also nodded in agreement, "Yes, Mom, we are also very reluctant to part with Uncle Charming, but he will be back tonight! It won't be long!"

Lucia felt speechless. When was she reluctant to part with August?

Looking at the two naughty children, she didn't know what to say. In the end, she shook her head helplessly, closed the door, and walked into the house.

The two children were confused. They looked at each other, and then followed up.

August hadn't expected Eliot to become what he was now. His eyes darkened, and he said, "Dad" Eliot looked August up and down and realized that he was sitting in a wheelchair, and his legs were strange. He immediately frowned and asked, "Your legs what's the matter?!"
August didn't answer his question directly. "Tell me about you first. Where have you been all this time?"
Immediately, Eliot's face changed subtly. He hesitated for a moment, took a deep breath, and said, "I was sick, and I've been recuperating"

August frowned, "What disease?"

"Stomach cancer. "These two words, like a lightning strike, exploded in August's ears. He felt his head buzzing and couldn't concentrate.

Seeing that he didn't speak, Eliot added, "It's the middle period, and the situation is not particularly good, so I had been recuperating during this period, and I had no chance to return from abroad. A while ago, the doctor allowed me to leave the hospital, and Bishop took me back."

August looked at him gravely and said, "Well, why haven't you contacted me for such a long time?"

"Because the doctor said that electronic devices would affect my disease, so I handed in all the electronic devices from the beginning of treatment, and never touched them again.

Hearing this, August couldn't help but sneer. He had never heard of a person who was seriously ill and couldn't even look at his mobile phone. Who knew if the doctor was told by Bishop to say that?

At this moment, August even began to be skeptical about the fact that his father had stomach cancer. He thought about it, waved his hand, called Zane, and whispered, "Call the doctor and let him draw blood and send it for examination."

Zane nodded and immediately turned around to make arrangements.

When August turned his head again, he realized that Eliot was staring at his legs sternly, motionless.

The next second, she was pulled violently by a force, and her whole body rushed towards August unexpectedly.

The two of them bumped into each other August pulled so hard that Lucia was almost lying on his chest. The distance between them suddenly narrowed, and an awkward atmosphere suddenly rose Lucia leaned back and met August's eyes. Her heartbeat suddenly accelerated and she wanted to get up from him, but she suddenly felt tightness around her waist. They became even closer, and they were pressing against each other tightly now.

Immediately, the atmosphere became more ambiguous Lucia's face suddenly flushed, and she breathed heavily, "Let go."

"I won't have lunch today" August stared into her eyes, "But I'll have you."

He emphasized the words quite clearly. Before Lucia could react, he stood up with her in his arms, picked her up, and placed her directly on the one-meter-high cabinet

Lucia was startled. Sitting on the cabinet, she couldn't touch the ground with her legs at all. So she could only hug him tightly to prevent her from falling. She panicked, "What what are you doing?"

August smiled without saying a word. His warm lips brushed her cheek, and he bit her earlobe in the next second.

Lucia trembled, and her whole body felt numb, and she subconsciously hugged him tightly. August smiled, and quickly teased her sensitive spots, letting her enter the state first...

Lucia's breathing became heavier and she gritted her teeth. Her senses became quite sensitive, and every touch was extremely intense.

Every time she met him, she was helpless and powerless.

Gradually, the breathing sounds of the two merged and overlapped. The cabinet made regular creaking sounds, and various small and ambiguous polyphonies sounded in the quiet room...

Both were very satisfied. But even so, Lucia still noticed a subtle difference in August. He had something on his mind.

He hadn't expected that such a big change would happen suddenly.

Ethan was arrested, which was completely unexpected to him. It was precise because he had no doubts about Ethan's ability that he had entrusted his father Eliot to him to watch.

Unexpectedly, it was all over now!

Before he could pry the will out of that old man's mouth, he just fell into August's hands like this. What a miscalculation!

He still remembered that the Lawyer had once said that the will left by Eliot, a cunning man, was by no means a written document, but a video will That was to say, it was not

So, he had to learn it from the old man! But now Eliot was no longer in his hands, and the only thing he could do was probably to use another pawn

Chapter 645 What If I Were Your Parents?

It was a sunny afternoon when Lucia received the video
She had just persuaded the two children who had just woken up to wash their faces with cold water.
Then her phone rang
She thought it was some uninteresting entertainment news feed at first, she picked it up and glanced at
it. When she saw that it was a WhatsApp message sent by Mandy, she couldn't help but freeze.
She hesitated for a moment, and then looked at the bathroom. The two children were obediently washing their hands and faces. She secretly breathed a sigh of relief, went to the other side, and checked the message.

It was a video. She tapped it lightly, and the video started playing

In a dimly lit room, a woman with disheveled hair was lying on the bed. Her wrists and ankles were tied together and she couldn't move. At this moment, a middle-aged woman came forward with a bowl of cereal. The woman stretched out her hand, pinched her chin, pried her mouth open, and poured the cereal directly into it

The poor woman felt unwell. She twisted her body, but she couldn't make large movements. The bowl of cereal spilled out a lot. The middle-aged woman brushed her hair back, revealing her paper-pale face

It was Mandy!

Lucia trembled violently and she instantly felt cold all over.

She hadn't expected that Mandy would be treated like this. With that method and behavior, it was just like treating an animal, violent and cruel!

Lucia's hair stood on end. Before she recovered from her panic, her phone vibrated a few more times.

It was another message from Mandy. [Seeing your good friend like this, don't you feel sorry?]

Laia Mitchell was petrified at his words, and her hairs stood up all over her body. So quickly did she turn around and look at Bishop who had a confusing looks on his face, Her voice trembled, "What did you say?"

Bishop smiled and seemed poised, adding "It really took a lot of efforts for me to convince your parents that they hit the jackpot. When they left for Cardiff, didn't you see them off to airport before departure? Had you known they will die abroad, would you have seen them off?"

His words were shockingly unexpected, and haunting her mind close. She couldn't help but tremble, and her fists clenched involuntarily, saying "It's you behind this!" When she heard Bill Mitchell and Elisa Mitchell saying they hit the jackpot, she seemed a little skeptical. But when they showed her all kinds of evidence putting the jackpot in authenticity, she finally believed it.

Unexpectedly, it turned out to be Bishop's scheme!

Bishop sat on the sofa leisurely, looked at the complex expressions on Laicia Mitchell's face, plucked at his lips, saying "Are you determined to help me out?"

As he spoke, he shook the USB drive gently in his hand.

Lucia Mitchell developed a headache, seemed skeptical at his words. She breathed deep and gritted her teeth, saying "You are bluffing, I will not take your word for it!"

Bishop smiled in silence, he took the remote control beside him towards screen TV hanging on the wall, and pressed the button.

The next second, a footage on the TV showed swarming people with exotic looks like big eyes and high noses. Apparently, it was in foreign country.

At this moment, Lucia recognized Bill Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell at first sight in this very footage in which they were walking ahead with talking and laughing, never did they know several people were stalking them a few meters behind!

Chapter 647 I Will Not Leave You Behind

August frowned with doubt in mind, he got up and walked to the balcony, and looked beyond.

He wanted to stand for a while before heading back to his room. But the door of Lucia's room was pushed open, she tiptoed out of her room and closed the door behind her carefully Timothy and Janet played for a whole day and felt exhausted so as to fall deep into sleep. But Lucia couldn't fall asleep at all, her mingled mind kept her awake and upset. Actually, she was very worried about Bill Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell. She tried a few times to call them on the way home, but she was afraid of crying over it, so she was restraining herself.

Her parents were still under surveillance, she had no idea what Bishop had done so far. She also was afraid of being abnormal in front of her parents and arousing any suspicions. Therefore, she decided not to contact them. Watching all the short videos Mrs. Mitchell sent relieved her a bit knowing they were safe for the time being.

But what about the future? She must betray Bishop to secure their lives. It was more likely that even if she had done what Bishop ordered, he still would have not spared her and her parents, even threatened her further

Lucia became more and more frightened, her mingled mind made her grit her teeth. She saw August look back at her on the balcony just when she walked out of her room. She breathed in, went to the refrigerator and took out a bottle of beer.

August saw her taking the beer, a flicker of surprise flashed across his eyes. Lucia was looking at him at the same time signaling to him for the beer, "Have some drink?" August was tempted, whispering "Yes, please."

Lucia took one more and closed the refrigerator, walked straight to him.

There was a small round table and two lounges on the balcony. It's very enjoyable to drink under the Moon on such cold wind night. Lucia handed him one, then they sat down by themselves and drank in silence.

August turned around to look at her, then took a sip, asking "Is there something bothering you?"

Chapter 648 August Adams' Birthday

August' worries prepared him fully, but the next few days were extraordinarily calm like every day before

He went back to the company to work in the daytime as usual. Once he went out, he sat in a wheelchair and pretended that his legs had not recovered. When he returned to the apartment, he turned into another person, got along well with Timothy and Janet as a good father, treated Lucia nicely as a good husband.

In the evening. Timothy and Janet became interested in bread after watching a baking program on TV, then they forcibly asked Lucia to join them in trying it by themselves. Lucia was not in the mood, but could not resist the two little guys' cuteness, finally did she agree with a helpless smile

Good lord, all sorts of necessities were available here like flour, cream, cheese and so on. Lucia prepared the ingredients and tools, rolled up her sleeves to learn how to make cakes with the kids following the TV program.

"Mom, am I supposed to churn up like this?"

"Yes! Clockwise. Mom, aren't you listening carefully?"

Timothy and Janet gathered around her and pointed out her mistake directly. She felt embarrassed by the kids' criticism.

The thing was that she could take it serious, but she had other things on her mind. The three days that she and Bishop agreed on fled by, and tomorrow was the last day.

If she hadn't downloaded the stuffs in that USB drive into August's computer tomorrow, something could have happened to Bill Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell.

Being agitated made her absent-minded

She had been thinking about excuses for going out, but Timothy's words enlightened her unexpectedly.

Lucia was delighted and bent over to kiss his cheeks, saying "You're right! I need to return the favor! I will cook and deliver this noon!"

Lucia suddenly got excited, but Timothy and Janet got confused Then Timothy bashfully wiped his cheek, "Mom, I'm already 6 years old, you can't kiss them whenever you like!" Lucia smiled at his serious looks, but she was too busy to see to him. She just rubbed his head with her hand, saying "Enjoy your breakfast, I will prepare the ingredients for lunch" When she returned to her room, she listed the dishes she planned to cook at nom. Then she placed an order for vegetables waiting for delivery by the nearby supermarket. During waiting, her mobile phone bleeped and a new text message was received when she returned to her room.

She took it out and saw a strange number sending this message, then she clicked it and got petrified.

"You have only 14 hours left"

There was a photo attached to the message in which Bill Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell were taking a group photo next to a wishing pool on a street in Cardiff, and a man clad in black.
