Chapter 721 Overcoming Her Fear

The next day, Lucia went out with sore legs. As soon as she entered the underground training hall, she saw Sophie looking at her with a meaningful smile.

Being stared at like that, she felt uncomfortable, so she asked in embarrassment, "Do I look weird today?"

"Yes, Lucia. You look weird." Her tone was gossipier than her expression, sounding greasy.

Lucia touched her cheeks with the back of her hand and muttered curiously, "I think I look all right."

After Sophie walked around her, the light in her eyes got brighter. And then, she nudged her and whispered, "Did you have sex last night?"

Hearing this, Lucia immediately blushed, hurriedly turned around, covered Sophie's mouth with her hand, and then rolled her eyes at her speechlessly.

August and Joshua had changed into t army green shirts, so they looked stronger and more upright today.

"Are you still in the mood to joke? I will make you cry today!" Joshua taunted in a deep voice, grabbed Sophie's wrist, and pulled her away.

The blush on Lucia's face hadn't faded yet, so when she saw August standing in front of her, her cheeks became even redder. Then, she lowered her head and asked softly, "Won't Dr. Capet train together with me today?"

"No, Joshua will teach her alone." August gently held her soft little hand and whispered, "I hope you can complete today's training."

While talking, they walked toward a closed room nearby. The moment the heavy iron door opened, the blush on Lucia's

Chapter 722 Mission Assignment

A tall and short haired woman strode into the underground training ground in high-heeled shoes, making loud noises on the floor tiles. Then, she glanced sharply at the people who were training and asked, "Where's Flynt?" No one knew her, so no one responded.

Joshua hurried over and said with a frivolous smile, "Pretty, long time no see. You still look gorgeous."

Hearing this, the woman squinted at him and asked in a tone full of disdain, "Why are you here? Where is Flynt?" Joshua touched the tip of his nose and smirked, "He is on a mission now. You know the affairs of the headquarters cannot be delayed."

The woman stopped talking when she heard the word "headquarters". She then turned around with a gloomy face and walked straight to the gate of the shooting hall.

Before she pushed the door open, Joshua suddenly stopped her. When they looked at each other, the woman's face was as cold as ice, and Joshua was showing a take smile. So, the atmosphere crackled with tension.

"How dare you stop me!" she said sharply with displeasure, and her expression became even gloomier

"I don't dare to stop you! You are sent here by the headquarters to carry out a mission. But I am just a nobody, right?" The coldness in Joshua's eyes was fleeting, and then he showed an untamed smile and slowly continued, "I think you must be very tired after such a long travel. So, I want to persuade you to take a rest first. Please don't get me wrong." The woman snorted, looked at the closed iron gate, and asked coldly, "Are August and that woman inside?" "That woman? Who?" He asked knowingly.

The woman got so angry that she raised her hand to slap him.

But Joshua grasped her wrist in time, threw it aside, and then played the fool, saying, "Are you referring to the new female trainee? She is inside."

Then, he stepped aside slightly to block the door and said half-jokingly, "August's status in Griffith Organization is high, so it's normal for him to train newcomers, right?"

"Get out of my way!" the woman snapped impatiently and stretched out her hand to push him away.

Suddenly, there was a rumbling sound, and the gate of the shooting hall automatically opened. Then, Lucia and August appeared at the gate together.

August walked up to them before they noticed him, gripped Currer by the wrist, and warned in a cold voice, "The rule of the training ground is to stop where it should."

Hearing this, Currer glared at Lucia unwillingly. When she was about to retract her hand, August suddenly put forward more strength in his grip and then pushed her away.

She had not expected him to overact like this. Feeling the pain in her wrist, she unconsciously took two steps back, covered her wrist, and looked at them in disbelief.

August stretched out his hand to Lucia, pulled her up from the ground, carried her into his arms naturally and smoothly, and said, "Let's go."

"Stop!" Currer was anxious and annoyed, so she stepped forward to stop them and threatened in a cold voice, "I will never carry out the mission with such a good-for-nothing! You ask her to take the initiative to quit. Otherwise, I will talk to Flynt in person."

August's expression became extremely gloomy, and even the air around him seemed freezing. He narrowed his eyes slightly with a dangerous look and said, "Whether she is capable of performing the task has nothing to do with you. If you can't even focus on your own job, go back to headquarters."

"August, how dare you!" Currer gritted her teeth resentfully and stared angrily after Lucia with a murderous intention in her eyes.

After the few days of training ended, Lucia received a mission notification from Flynt.

Currer was indeed the commander-in-chief, who was responsible for the main work. And Lucia was responsible for

"Mr. Blade, Mr. Chuck, I wish you successful cooperation. Lucia, why don't you have a drink with these two nice

Lucia looked at Currer in disbelief and was about to say no. But Currer suddenly grabbed her wrist and warned in a low voice, "Your task is to cover my safe evacuation."

At this moment, the smiles on the faces of Mr. Chuck and Mr. Blade became more obscene, and several other men around echoed loudly, and everyone's eyes fell on Lucia.

Seeing her reluctance, Mr. Chuck, who was drunk, suddenly became angry. He grabbed Lucia's hair forcefully and shouted, "Damn, shouldn't you show me some respect? How dare you spoil the fun? When I ask you to drink, you have to drink it!"

As he spoke, he raised his wine glass and splashed the wine directly on Lucia's face. She was choked and felt terrible. She couldn't help coughing violently and subconsciously wanted to resist.

Currer responded quickly and firmly held Lucia down. Then she filled Lucia with a glass of wine, looked at Mr. Chuck ambiguously, and said, "Mr. Chuck, this girl is new here and she doesn't know the rules. Please teach her some rules if

Her nails were tightly digging at the edge of the door, and she bit her lips so hard that there were bloodstains on her lips.

A few passing customers around stopped curiously and looked into the room, but none of them tried to stop it.

In such a place, it was common for customers to force waitresses to do things. They had seen it a lot, and they just thought it was some new waitress who didn't know the rules.

Lucia's fingertips gradually lost strength, and fine sweat began to ooze from her forehead. Just when she was about to fail, a dark red figure suddenly flashed in front of her eyes. Before she could react, a wine bottle rubbed against the top of his head and swept back.

With the sound of cracking, a man screamed behind her, and the hand that was holding her hair was released immediately. Her wrist was firmly grasped and the two of them stumbled towards the end of the corridor, pushed the door of a private room open, and entered the room.

The originally noisy private room suddenly fell into silence. Everyone looked at the two of them in confusion. Lucia could barely keep her eyes open. Seeing the woman standing in front of her, she couldn't help feeling surprised.

Was she the actress Adeline Jones?! The woman who was rumored to have had an affair with August six years ago saved her today?!

"Adeline, what's going on...the assistant?" Another man asked in surprise, and it was Jonathan.

Adeline grabbed his wrist nervously, and said anxiously, "Don't ask so many questions. The most important thing is to save her."

As she spoke, she shoved Lucia into the separate bathroom in the private room. As soon as the door of the bathroom was locked, the door of the private room was kicked open by a few cursing men, "Today we must catch that bitch. Search!"

Jonathan immediately understood that these people were not easy to mess with, so he immediately blocked their with a cold face, and asked sharply, "Which crew are you actors from? There should be another time for the audition, right?"

"Actors? Audition?" They paused.

He pointed to the cameras and interview equipment placed on the table, and responded in a cold voice, "Our company is busy adjusting the video, and it doesn't look right for you to be on camera in this way."

When they heard that some reporters were sitting in the private room, their faces suddenly changed. After whispering a few words, they reluctantly left the room.

Adeline let out a long sigh of relief and hurriedly helped Lucia out of the bathroom. Before she could ask what had happened to Lucia, Lucia lost consciousness in her arms.

"Adeline was married." August slowly explained, "It was during the time when you were in Amecan."

"What? She was married?" Lucia was surprised, and she immediately said, "But I saw they hang around together, and..." Six years ago, Lucia found that Adeline and Jonathan had a dubious relationship. Obviously, they both cared about each other very much, but they had to break up because of their careers. How could Adeline suddenly marry someone else? Lucia thought for a while, then suddenly covered her mouth, and stared at August in surprise. "You mean... Adeline and Jonathan got married!"

Seeing Lucia's surprised expression, August unconsciously smiled and whispered, "Adeline and Jonathan got married when they faded out from the public to avoid trouble. Now, they jointly run a brokerage company."

Lucia nodded thoughtfully. She felt that she had almost grasped the point, but as a matter of fact, she was still confused.

Lucia was so concentrated on her mind that she didn't even notice that August came to her side.

"Do you still jealous now?"

A deep voice immediately broke Lucia's train of thought. Then she blushed with shame, and stammered, "Of course not.

I'm just curious. Don't flatter yourself."

Lucia buried her head in her arm for fear that August would find her embarrassed. Then, Lucia just pushed him away from her, raised her voice and said, "I'm so tired. I need a rest. Please go home."

August watched Lucia's face gently, bent over her forehead, kissed her tenderly, and said as if he was joking, "You can have a good rest now."

After talking with August, Lucia laid all her burdens down, and she slept soundly. When she woke up again, it was dawn. Lucia hummed as she packed up her luggage and push it to August. The family of four frolicked and walked to the lobby.

At this time, they happened to meet Currer, who was coming in from the door.

Currer suddenly regained his consciousness and pretended that nothing had happened. She looked sideways to find the source of the voice, and said coldly, "I'm just envy of her."

"Ooooooh..."

Sophie deliberately dragged out her voice, looked at Currer and said mysteriously, "I suggest you ask Flynt what's my job if you really want to play against me."

Gazing at Sophie's bright eyes, a chill stole over Currer's body for no reason. Sophie looked innocent. How could she have such great deterrent power?

Sophie looked steadily at Currer's eyes as if she was looking at a fool. Now, they were looking at each other. Sophie said with disgust, "Forget it. You can't guess it for the rest of your life."

"What are you going to do?" The strong sense of oppression made Currer immediately alert and stared at the woman in front of him.

"Nothing. I just don't want to see your ugly face." Sophie walked around Currer while talking, then stopped, and whispered in her ear, "It's OK to envy their love, but please don't play dirty tricks, OK?"

What Sophie said is a sore point for Currer. Currer couldn't help growling, "What the hell are you talking about?" "I majored in psychology. Please stop pretending." Sophie said coldly, "Am I really talking nonsense? You know it better than anyone. We all know what happened in the bar."

"I don't understand what you are talking about. Lucia made a mistake that night. It has nothing to do with me." Currer said, turning aside to leave.

"You know what? I remotely oversaw and analyzed the enemy at Griffith Organization, that is, I am the person who directly talked to you through the headset. Are you sure you didn't make any mistakes in your work?" Sophie still smiled innocently, but her words were harsh, which is very different from her temperament.

Currer stopped suddenly, gnashed her teeth, and said, "Are you threatening me?"

"No." She smiled and replied, "I just want to remind you, don't get my friend into trouble..."

When Lucia was thinking it over, she suddenly heard a sharp female voice downstairs. It was so loud that Lucia and Daryl

"Get out of my way! Where is Daryl? Such a bitch!"

Daryl, who was on the bed, uncontrollably trembled and turned pale when she heard the woman's voice.

Lucia held her hand tightly and comforted her in a soft voice, but she was unconsciously tense as well.

After a while, they gradually heard Dianna's nervous and anxious voice. It seemed that Dianna was walking toward them.

"Ms. Ximenez, I'm just an unimportant old maid. I can't help you with anything."

"Ok. Then Don't blame me for being rude to you, old woman!" The woman outside the door pushed open the door as she spoke. The woman suddenly cursed, "Daryl, you shameless b..."

She pointed to Lucia with her nails, covered with rhinestones.

"I am Daryl's friend. Who are you?" Lucia frowned and responded coldly.

Zoey rolled her eyes at Lucia arrogantly, but she thought it was not enough, and she could not help spitting at her. She scolded scornfully, "Look at your bony face. You must be a bitch. You are probably someone else's mistress. You both are all bitches who stole other women's husbands."

Hearing that, Lucia was not angry, but instead, happy. She looked at Zoey as if she was watching a clown. "I am not someone's mistress. I am August's legal wife. My husband is the CEO of Lion Group."

"I don't care about the Lion group. I'm the young lady of Advanced Technology. You'd better be sensible and leave us alone. Mind your own business, or you will be in trouble." Zoey looked extremely arrogant.

Even the photographer who took the makeup photos for them couldn't help praising them.

Lucia stayed with them until the afternoon, when she had time to give Burton the documents she took from Thomas's Burton nodded and glanced at the name on the folder. He was stunned for a moment, and Lucia noticed it. "She seems to be your fellow villager. Do you know her?"

"Madam..." He hesitated and said, "I met Neomi on a blind date that my family arranged for me."

Lucia was also stunned, and then her face was a little gloomy. "She might be closely related to Paula's last illness."

Burton pursed his lips and remained silent for a moment, and slowly tightened his hand holding the folder.

embarrassment, "Thanks for your kindness, kids, but we don't need it. We have water ourselves. You can keep it for your own."

Timothy stood on tiptoe and put the bottle of water into their arms. He pointed to Stephanie in the distance and said tactfully, "My pleasure. Actually, it was that beautiful lady over there who bought the water for everyone."

Reporters hurriedly snapped it to record this scene and whispered, "The children from the rich families are so different. They look smart and sensible."

"Nobody thought of the sanitation workers nearby except the two kids. The people felt ashamed of it."

"Yes, Stephanie didn't prepare the water for the workers. She's such a snob. Maybe she's just pretending." Stephanie nodded and bowed to the staff in the set, and glanced at the reporter in the distance from time to time. When she found that everyone focused on Timothy and Janet, she suddenly froze.

Stephanie tried to pretend to be a down-to-earth celebrity because she wanted to be trending in social media tomorrow and make people think that she is a gentle woman. Unexpectedly, it was all in vain because everyone focused on two kids.

The more she thought about it, the more depressed she became. When no reporter noticed her, she pulled the agent to the corner, clenched her teeth, and asked, "Can I stop pretending? Why isn't Leo coming?"

The agent tried to cover her mouth and said in a low voice, "Leo is still examining the props. Hold on. It's a good chance to show up."

"Damn it! Don't you see the sun? It's so hot. I would get a sunburn." She growled, "Don't you see that? They are

The agent wiped his sweat and said humbly, "Oh, baby. Anger is bad for your skin. I will immediately disperse them. You
