

Submit 811

Chapter 811 Closer to the Truth

Edmund patted Phillip's head with satisfaction and put his soft hand in Lucia's.

Sophie was stunned when she saw Phillip again. This psychotherapy session lasted four hours, but it was not as effective as the last one.

Phillip doesn't resist communicating with them, but he wouldn't talk. He was so agitated and nervous that he even wet his pants. Lucia had to put Timothy's new pants on him.

"Still not working?" Lucia asked, frustrated.

Sophie told Timothy and Janet to take Phillip out to play softly.

Only after they left did Sophie say seriously to Lucia, "You say Phillip gets worse every time after a psychotherapy session?"

"That's what Mr. Shea said," Lucia said hesitantly, but she was not a doctor and couldn't draw a conclusion.

Sophie thought about it, took her hand, and reminded her seriously, "Lucia, I have no clinical experience, but I'm sure this condition has never been seen either at home or abroad."

a chill

was one of the best doctors. Since she came to such a conclusion, it meant that she was he get if Phillip gets worse?' Lucia couldn't figure it out. She was a mother. She couldn't believe that there were parents who were so heartless as to awful that everyone can be a parent without having to learn how to be a parent. Some people will do anything to get what they want when they're driven by desire," Sophie sipped her juice and reminded Lucia. He's never hidden his desire for you. It's obvious

Janet, and Phillip had seen it, not

I'd made myself clear," Lucia her down. "I can't believe you reasoned with a man who hurt his own son. A normal man would avoid a married woman instead of calmed Lucia down. She felt she

"It's just a guess. I'm not an expert. You can find a way to investigate it. As for what he's thinking?" Lucia was eyes again and explained, "I'm just a psychiatrist, not a robot. I don't have the ability to read people's minds. Tiny movements and expressions

There was no way she could believe that the man she was trying to help eyes go dim, Sophie asked tentatively, So are you still going to help had Phillip

the depressing atmosphere in the private room, and could only and Janet. "Phillip must be treated! She said firmly and without hesitation. "He's so young. He shouldn't have to go through

Lucia and said hesitantly, "But Edmund will hold him back no matter

Chapter 812 Confrontation

Lucia felt a chill down her spine. She took Phillip into her arms and reminded herself silently to keep calm in front of Edmund. Her acting would determine whether Phillip could be cured or not. A lot of ideas came to her as she put on a disappointed look. "Mr. Shea, Ms. Capet has tried her best, but it didn't work. You may have to bring Phillip here more often.'

Edmund lowered his eyes slightly. Lucia could tell that he was pretending.

There was a smile on his face when he looked up and he even reassured Lucia, "I'm used to it. Don't feel too bad. Phillip is getting better. We have to trust him."

Lucia nodded absent-mindedly.

Edmund raised his arm and was about to put it on her shoulder when a cold voice came from a short distance away. "I should have brought you along."

Hearing the familiar voice, Lucia was surprised and turned her head subconsciously.

As expected, it was August. He was standing side by side with Joshua, his hands in his pockets. The cold look in his eyes seemed to be able to freeze everything.

Edmund's eyes faded at once. He and August both saw the hostility in each other's eyes. Instead of walking forward, he said casually as at him and replied casually, "It doesn't matter.

He clenched his fists silently and felt that August had seen through him and took his hand. "I brought Phillip to Sophie for treatment, but it was too dangerous to have three children in the car, called her Lucia but she called Lucia's hand as she spoke and fiddled with her wedding ring as if it were just a little habit. "I'm here to talk partnership with Joshua," he Janet

he tried his best to calm himself down and walked slowly toward them. "Mr. Adams, I may have to bother Lucia a lot in the next few days. As you know, she have time to take care of your suddenly dropped a lot. Sophie thought it was a good opportunity to leaned against August's chest and rubbed her fingers on his suit jacket. "Phillip is a good friend to our children. It's only right that we care about and immediately took Lucia's fingers in his hand. Feeling her body stiffen, he realized what she was thinking, took her into his arms, and said softly, "I'm with you.

Lucia's little movement. His pupils subconsciously constricted as he stared at the couple and curled his maintained a flippant smile. Seeing Edmund standing still, he immediately walked forward and shook hands with him. "No wonder Sophie has been so busy lately. Turns out she got a big order. The fee..." He turned to look at the giant glorious sign and rubbed his fingers together.

Chapter 813 How to Tie a Tie

When Edmund arrived home, Currer was sitting leisurely on the couch in the living room. "I thought Lucia would go out for a walk with you and Phillip. I overestimated you."

Edmund was angry when Currer mentioned it. He asked impatiently, "How did you get in here?"

Seeing the hostility in his eyes, Currer raised an eyebrow lightly. "Technically, I'm senior to Sophie. We come from the same place. We have different skills, of course."

Edmund narrowed his eyes slightly and threatened her, "Tell me everything you know or I won't work with you again."

"Are you afraid?" Currer got up, fiddled with his tie, and said in a seductive voice, "There's no going back from the moment you chose to take my side."

The next second, Edmund clutched her chin with murderous intent. "Behave yourself. I don't have to consider the power behind you if I really want to get rid of you."

Currer was terrified. She realized Edmund was reminding her that he had her secret. She had finally gotten rid of Griffith Organization. Andrew wouldn't fight Edmund for her. She would die if Edmund was determined to get rid of her. With this in mind, she gave an obsequious smile, took Edmund's hand away from her chin tentatively, and leaned on him. "Mr. Shea, I came here today to help you. How could you scare me?"

Edmund snorted, pushed her away, and sat down on the couch with a gloomy face.

Currer staggered back, rearranged her features, and sat down across from him. "I know Sophie very well. It won't be long before your son is back to normal.

the only leverage glanced at her, gesturing for her to information for you. There's a wedge between August and Lucia right his eyes thoughtfully, took out a bank card from his wallet, and pushed it toward her. "You'll explained with a smile, "You can't give me what I want.

raised his eyebrows and pulled his card away simply.
you to give me one thing," Currer said with a the same time, in the quiet living room of the Adams villa, Lucia was looking at August's gloomy face. "I promise I when they saw that Lucia, who was usually so stern with them, was glanced coldly at the staff in suits next to him. "What are you lowered their heads. They didn't want to get involved in Mr. and Mrs. Adams' fight at all. Finally, at August
"Sure."
of relief when August teased, "Bring a whiteboard over here. She'll learn Lucia froze with her mouth open black leather case and inside such clearly professional. One of them took a tie Lucia even began and put it on

Chapter 814 Catching Them in Bed

By the time Lucia came downstairs, the teacher had prepared a variety of ties and a whiteboard and was looking at her helplessly.

After the class, Lucia was going to meet Sophie at the Davenport's as usual, but before she could leave the house, she heard Turner's anxious voice from the foyer. Sir, you can't go in there."

The Adams villa had been attacked several times and the bodyguards at the gate had been either killed or injured. In case of a recurrence, Lucia had removed the bodyguards from the gate after returning from the hill. 'Is someone trying to break in?' She strode to the foyer and saw Turner blocking Edmund. "What are you doing here? This is the Adams villa!" she questioned Edmund warily.

Edmund's eyes lit up when he saw her. He didn't mean to hurt Turner but took out his phone and said seriously, Lucia, I need a word."

Lucia was still wary, but Edmund looked so serious, so she motioned for Turner to take him into the living room. She sat gracefully on the couch to keep her distance and asked coldly, Mr. Shea, what is so important that you broke into the Adams villa?"

Edmund looked around discreetly to make sure the maids were uninterested in their conversation before unlocking his phone and handing it to her. "I got this text this morning. I've had the number and location deciphered. Mr. Adams is probably walking into a trap."

Lucia's heart did a complete somersault.

indeed August because the person spoke exactly as he did. There was a postscript at the bottom of the the new, but August doesn't walk into traps easily, and..." She paused and narrowed her eyes slightly. "Why should I believe in your heart?" Edmund gave a didn't completely disbelieve the text. She just didn't want to believe Edmund. In fact, never used despicable means to compete with August for you. I can compete with Please go back," Lucia replied. She immediately texted Burton to Lucia to believe him but reminded her softly, "I know my confession of love made a big impact on you, but this watched him leave the living room and immediately went into the study to find August's recent schedule. She had to find it as soon as possible to reassure herself that Edmund had lied to her. While rummaging through the folders, her wrist touched the mouse. The monitor glowed faintly blue and then the was so important that August hadn't that the other party was Currer.

on Edmund's phone. Without further thought, she immediately was a light knock on the door of Room 1608 of Hilchey Hotel. The scantily clad Currer opened the door slowly before spraying sweet perfume on every corner of the room. She blushed at the sight of the handsome face she hide the wall clock and asked worriedly, "Does

Chapter 815 You Deserve It

August suddenly loosened his grip and Currer fell to the carpet. She held her sore throat, looked up at him with red eyes, and asked in a strangled voice, Why won't you believe me? The first lesson we learned at Griffith Organization was never to betray."

When Currer's explained with a pained look on her face, August had mixed feelings. He had seen the same expression on her face when she was young, but then she went away from him.

August's long silence made Currer think that she could turn this thing around. In spite of her sore neck, she stood up quickly and grabbed his wrist. "Even if you don't believe me, you should believe in Griffith Organization's ability to train talents. I've been making up for what I did to Lucia or I wouldn't have risked my life investigating this."

August just looked at her coldly and said slowly when she finished, "I just believe her."

Currer stopped sobbing abruptly and looked at him in disbelief. "Am I nothing to you?"

August only gave a cold smile as an answer.

Currer clenched her fists slightly, her nails digging deep into August's palms. She laughed sarcastically with murderous intent in her eyes. She just wanted to kill Lucia, who she thought had taken everything from her! Luckily, she didn't really want to help Lucia or she would have lost everything and been thrust into hell.

was wearing thin and he shook her the backs of his feet. Before he could push her away, she flung him onto the wall clock ticked and the was pushed open with a bang. Lucia and in disbelief at the two people on the bed. The sweet perfume in the room, the scantily clad woman in a panic on purpose, Lucia, let me explain. It's not what it looks like. I..." She paused and turned to Edmund. "Mr. Shea, why are you..." Then she turned to look at asking you that, Ms. Sullen. Lucia said with a faint smile while staring at August. Finally, she stopped in front of him. "What are

I had something important to discuss. I didn't get a

see out of the corner of her eye that it was swelling up. "Lucia, how dare answer to her was a second into Currer's angry eyes. Her lips curled into Lucia was just a timid woman who was protected by August. She hadn't said in a cold voice, First, you seduced a married man. After all, with another man. It's easy to find

Chapter 816 The company faces serious challenges

"Unreasonable?" She questioned him with a cold smile, "Should I let you keep Currer around without complaining to not be considered unreasonable?"

August did not respond to her words, but straight away threw a file in front of her. Apart from one page of basic information about Edmund, the rest of the file was all daily pictures of him and Lucia together, as well as intimate photos of her and Phillip. She appeared in almost every picture in that thick pile of files.

"Slash..."

The slap immediately plunged the noisy room into silence, and Lucia's small hand, still with a slight tremor, was raised up high, not knowing whether to take it back or not.

"Go back to your room and rest when you've had enough." August's voice didn't show any emotion. Lucia snorted desperately and thought to herself, "I have seen what happened by myself, why do I still have expectations of him?"

August never trusted her. He investigated her six years ago and it was the same six years later. The person who slept beside her all night actually never stopped spying on her. When she thought of this, there was a chill growing in her heart. Apart from this, she was also terribly disappointed.

Lucia stepped out of the study, dragging Timothy and Janet who were still out of the situation out of the house. The only thing that could ease her depression was to leave this cage which was full of spies.

"Ding-dong." The computer showed that a new email came to August. The title still started with Edmund Shea", but the content was a photo of him and Lucia in the same car.

to Burton, Stop investigating Edmund and plan to wrap up earlier. After replying to the message, he directly dialed Joshua's phone, "About Cardiff..." Burton's stern voice interrupted him before he could finish his words. "August, something has Mitchell's ears from time to time. Mrs. Mitchell cast her eyes at her daughter from time to time, and finally put down the watering can, wiped her have been in a cold war for several days, are you still angry about him?" Lucia didn't need to think about between us. I'm just worried about you and Grandma's health and came over here just everything about you." Mrs. Mitchell responded with resignation, 'If it wasn't a cold war, August would have come to pick you up long ago, you were stubborn as a child and you weren't a smart one...' Lucid felt a burst of headache when she heard these, and she barely raised a flattering smile, soft voice coaxing her mother, "Mom, what happened between us was not what

Timothy and Janet, seeing the two children at the same time to show her food, me and grandmother are living a good life. Now you are an encumbrance. You are just dragging us resistance and disgust. She told Lucia while getting up, before leaving also soon as she left, Timothy and Janet immediately came to Lucia, one rubbing her shoulders and the other pounding her legs, "Mom, Grandma has

she said, "This is a collusion between you two and Grandma, grandma you two were words." Hearing Timothy and Janet playing along and picking on her shortcomings. She even felt more moodier so she closed her eyes and stopped paying attention to make a move on your phone after you shut it down for so many and the house does not even have a hostess, the days must be very depressing, what if and Janet continued their speech for the next ten minutes. From Currer to Phillip, Paula and Paul, they worried about every one of them. At last, they finally mentioned August. Lucia usual in the Chapter 817 Acquisition of equity stake

With time passing by, the sky gradually became bright, and August's phone was still in a state of no answer.

The coffee on Lucia's desk was refilled one cup after another and soon became empty again. She looked at the computer every now and then, and she became more determined as time passed by.

It was not until she returned to work and saw the contents of the email that she suddenly reacted to the fact that August was not spying on her, but was investigating Edmund and even protecting her safety.

It turned out that it was really her being unreasonable that made things deteriorate to this point. It was beginning to get light, she rubbed her sore eyes, and raised her eyes from the pile of thick files. She sent a work plan to Burton first and then used the email remaining on the web page to send mass emails using the identity of August.

During the period when August was "on business", all the work he had was taken over by Lucia. After doing all this, she took a cold shower to wash away all the fatigue and went to the first place they agreed to meet the shareholders.

Jake Howard held the least shares in the Lion Group. The shares he had was left by his deceased father. He was a yes-man and never wanted to start a fight. As long as he could earn a little profit, he would be as happy as a clam. So it didn't take a lot of effort for Lucia to take him on her side. The other shareholders are relatively easy to persuade. The real barrier was the middle-aged man sitting opposite her now.

If she remembered correctly, Shaw was the one who started the chaos in the board. "Since Mrs.Adams has already taken over the Lion Group at this special time. You should hurry to the company to deal with the business, coming to my home at this time will easily cause unnecessary misunderstanding." Shaw looked at her smugly, and his words showed mockery.

Lucia didn't care about his attitude, straightened her back, and laid the document in front of him, "Shaw, let's get right to the point, this is what I'm here for today."

'Acquisition documents?' Shaw immediately laughed out loud, casually crumpled the contract into a ball, and threw it into the trash can at his feet, disdainfully mocking, ' Mrs. Adams is still too young, even the tactics are so immature, what makes you think I will resell the equity to you?'

Lion Group's equity in my hands, the shareholder with signature, it is no different from blank paper, I still have many more in my hands, the one you got is definitely not the

Shaw was not determined as before,

Adam's hands also include min? It's not all a stay until the laid out several copies of contracts that had already been acquired and placed them one by one on the table. Looking at these the woman in front of him was much more resilient than he imagined, and he couldn't get any bargain at all, so naturally, he wasn't willing to waste any time, the documents in her hands, and spoke quietly, Now is the best time for you to sign the contract, otherwise, you are afraid

by that?" Director

I said, I came with preparation." She displayed a harmless smile, but her tone was cold and appalling, I will investigate who sabotaged the group, and I already have enough equity in my hands to figure out what happened in the

the

Shaw, as long as the others knew about this evidence, the

"Lucia, how dare you!"

hit Shaw right in the soft spot, and he immediately became emotional, be innocent, cooperating with me is the best choice for you at the moment, and I his face instantly showed an astonished expression, "Buying a stake at a price six percent higher than the market price? Where did you get such a large frank, I injected the capital of my studio into the equity." She said this as if it was not a you should understand that I am a businesswoman, it is absolutely impossible for me to let such a large amount

Chapter 818 Product causes Injury

This shareholders' meeting was held even more smoothly than the previous times, and the employees outside were spreading the fierce confrontation exaggeratedly during the meeting.

From the way the shareholders left with low spirits, it was not hard to guess that Lucia had won this game.

"Burton, immediately notify all departments to stop the work in hand and fully cooperate with the third party inspection, the deficit account will be evened out by me and August's personal assets, in addition, contact the agency to sell that villa along the coast."

Burton thought about it and took out several bank cards from his coat pocket and put them on the table.

Lucia was stunned, "This is..."

"Young madam, this gold card is just something from Paula and me. You gave us everything we had now and we don't need this money at all, and the other black card is support from my uncle."

Paula experienced a series of major changes and obviously became much more calmer. In addition to the necessary business competition, she no longer deliberately against the Lion Group and Burton. Now she knew that the Lion Group is in crisis, she was willing to help them out.

Lucia thought for a moment and did not refuse their help, now she can not estimate how much capital is needed to reveal the group's dark secrets, every penny is a hope to save the Lion Group.

After handing over the card to Burton, she freshened up and asked in a cold voice, "What is the current problem with sales now?"

"Other industries are running smoothly at the moment, but the latest monitors on the market have some serious problems."

Lion Group had exploded in use more than once, and as if there was some kind of consensus, the offline staff

The test certificates issued by the Lion Group were not enough to calm the so far to my email, and send a car to take me to the

you can't go to the ignored Burton's words, carrying the notebook quickly out of the afraid that she Plaza's largest exhibition counter was overcrowded, blinding red banners could be seen everywhere. The at the counter didn't pay any attention to the group of people, not only looking coldly at group headquarters if you have the guts, the electrical appliances here are not cheap. If you break anything, the security will make sure you compensate at the same price. I don't care whether eyebrows locked together. She pulled out the last piece of paper in the printer, quickly step

you wait in line. I just work for other the right, I do! Her voice rose sharply, waving her hand and giving a sign to Burton beside her, "Start to process the dismissal procedures for these staff and decisions in recent days might lose all money in the Lion Group. If she won this battle, the Lion Group and the Adams family can recover from the crisis. But once she lost...August could save the day when he came of the mall began to instruct the staff to clear the counters and stores, and only then the salesman noticed that heart, and she deliberately raised her voice and yelled, "It's so easy for you to be the boss, you've been heard these words, their hateful eyes immediately fixed on Lucia, and gradually approached her, making a Group makes blood money and doesn't care about the people's lives, we must earn back the products of now he's been blown up like this, how can we make it through the Chapter 819 She couldn't be hurt.

Lucia struggled to pull out a grateful smile at him, seeing that the man who made her miserable had been controlled, her gaze returned to the monitor.

"We will immediately send these six appliances that had accidents for inspection, and at the same time, we welcome all media to follow up on the progress of the injured as to whether they are malicious slanders on our products are true or not." Her voice trembled strongly, almost pulling off all the strength to organize these words.

There were still continuing whispers in the crowd, "This might be a self-directed script by the Lion Group, trying to get our sympathy in this way."

"They produced these monitors, the inspection is in vain. It would be easy for those rich people to make some fake results."

"That victim was injured so badly. Her injury was nothing, even if the medical team examined that these people were slightly injured, it was still caused by their company."

The good thing was that the medical staff had already finished the examination. With professional testing, there were two sullen injured people with fragmented bandages who escaped away.

The remaining few people still lay on the cold ground, but the test results all show that these people were perfectly healthy. There were not even one visible wound. After doing all this, the truth had almost been revealed. The crowd was bored and they left Starlight Plaza.

Only then did she breathe a long sigh of relief, wiped the sweat on her sleeve with her arm, got on a medical cart, and rushed to the People's Hospital to take care of the wound on her arm.

Although there was no reporter recording video of everything that happened in the plaza, there were still citizens who recorded short videos of what she did and posted them on the internet.

and it was only then that everyone understood that this malicious competition within the current news for a while and finally a good plan, but it turns out you're also stupid." She looked at Edmund and sneered disdainfully, "You came up with a bunch of ways to suck her up but the result was that none of them worked, and Lucia

Edmund had thought of a foolproof plan long before he joined forces with Curren, but he was come up with a new rescue plan, Lucia had already decided to dump her family's money to save was even more irritated, and she immediately cursed, "Why didn't you keep your promise? It takes his face was as fierce as a trapped beast, looking at her viciously and roaring, "Do not meddle in my business, or I will take you think you can still threaten me now? You are forward and immediately grabbed the collar with such force that she had no way to struggle and could only the half-waist-high in the air, she opened her eyes and looked at the traffic downstairs, do you think?" He threatened play tricks on his own son. He was a ruthless psycho. Only then did she feel the fear, so she started to talk in a gentle way. Edmund calmed down and dragged her back into would definitely come back as soon as possible, whatever you want to do you have

think of another

going out was to edit the message, "The cooperation news from Austos City. When he heard the sound of hurried footsteps outside the tent, he immediately turned off the remote what's the situation up ahead?" He put on a grudging smile. August shot him a glance with sunken eyes and responded in a cold voice. "As we guessed, besides people at the border, the Cardiff fist slammed fiercely into the console beside him, "If the border really joined forces Cardiff, I'm afraid it will be difficult for us to just came to inform you of Chapter 820 Children are not my priority now

Lucia won the battle fair and square, and although there was no chance to win back the Visual Beast Studio, she saved the Lion Group.

All the eyes in the group were cleared at once, and the share price steadily increased by three percentage points, and she became the biggest beneficiary of this event after acquiring the equity.

Only, it was half a month after she received news from August again.

"I'm sorry, Lucia, August was ambushed by the border army on his way back, we have searched as much as we can, but there is no news." Flynt's heavy tone rang out slowly in the living room of the house.

The teacup in Lucia's hand fell to the ground with a cracking sound, then she calmly picked up the broken porcelain pieces on the ground and waved his hand with a smile.

"Before he left for his mission, there was indeed a small misunderstanding between us, but not so much as to deceive me with such things." She said, the words have been tinged with sadness, but her face still had a bright smile, "This half month he also worked very hard, let him come back early to rest, there are some things I want to tell him in person..." Although she knew that the Flynt never tell lies.

"Lucia, Griffith promised him that no matter what happens, we will protect your family. Flynt sighed. He almost never did that.

"Protect the family?" She laughed softly, but her eyes were sharp as a blade, plucking at him and questioning, "Tell me, without August, what kind of family this is?"

"This is what I promised him once, I must do it."

you and him, not me! The promise between me and him, I want him to honor it to got up and roared in a deep voice, "Turner, it's time for Flynt to go." The sound of sobs started to then flung themselves into her arms with watery eyes, and their two teary eyes looked at the children in her arms, suddenly she thought about August's face. It was so

"Lucia..."

He is still safe and sound, right? He loves you so much, how can he leave

you

except for dealing with the business. Burton was sent to her the new secretary spread words from time to time that there was only the smell of alcohol in the office that could not

Two years later.

sofa in the president's office, smiling at the teenager behind a pile of documents. She rarely knew she was in trouble again. The phone just connected, and Janet's discontented voice and stay with uncle Elijah." She cleared her throat in a decent manner after she said gave her a despised look, and asked in a cold voice, "May I ask how could you possibly be busy with having fun.' She responded take care of herself first and leave the kids to themselves, first transferring both her and August's equity to Timothy, and then handing over Janet to Elijah, while she left all

He was much taller than before and he seemed more mature and steady for a teenager in his age. Since he started to take over the company, everything was handled

she has more

Today is Janet's first public performance, if you do not go, she will