

Submit 831

Chapter 831 Playing the Victim

After a crisp echo resounded in the silent lavatory, Currer looked at her numb palm in a daze. She had just wanted to scare Lucia because the latter could dodge the slap easily. Why had she...

Currer suddenly realized something, so she glared at Lucia and shouted sharply, "You did it on purpose!"

Lucia turned aside to face the mirror, stared at the bloodstains on her face with satisfaction, and asked nonchalantly, "Don't talk nonsense! Do you mean I asked you to slap me with all your strength?"

"I..." Yes, no one would believe it was Lucia that had intentionally induced her into slapping herself.

Currer was dumbfounded. Suddenly, Lucia chuckled, turned around, and raised an eyebrow, saying, "It seems that you're not that stupid. At least, you can tell I did it on purpose."

Lucia, your methods impressed me."

Lucia snorted, "It's useless to pretend calm in front of me. Think about how to explain to those two men when we return to the office."

Then, she intentionally partially covered the wound and slowly walked to the door.

Currer's face turned serious when she hurriedly blocked her way and said, "You can't go back! Get out of the company right now! Otherwise, I will teach you a good lesson!"

her me, you can give me one more slap. Open your eyes to size up the current situation. Now it's up to me to decide whether to let fists, and looked at Lucia with monstrous hatred scary gaze, Lucia still boldly approached her and whispered word by word, "I can leave the company right now, office now, Reggio would ask her about the wound in her face and give Currer a hard time. But if she did not go back, Reggio would take all the responsibility on himself and try his best to make up. If so, it would be easy for her to manipulate him Lucia, so she felt torn now. Before she could come up with a solution, Lucia lightly continued, "If I can influence Reggio, I will get back everything that should have belonged to me. You finally bumped into the door behind with a "bang". Lucia narrowed his eyes containing all the information about Lucia and her had

Lucia looked at the documents, showed a sarcastic smile on her lips, and said, "Reggio, I overestimated you. I didn't expect touch her, she pushed away his arm in mid-air, glared stared at her side face with burning

Then, she turned still stubbornly held her head high when saying, "Thanks to tears flowed down her round chin. With undried tear stains on her delicate face, she looked extremely stretched out to pull her into his

from his arms after a fake struggle, rested

What happened?" Reggio asked and then looked at Chapter 832 Are You in Love with Her?

As expected, Reggio vented all his anger on Curren, suspended all her tasks in hand, and asked her to wait for new tasks at home.

Loud noises echoed in the Ronda Villa when Curren kept smashing the delicate porcelain bottles to the ground one after another. But she still could not vent her anger, so she casually raised a cup.

Suddenly, a big hand with slender fingers stopped her, and at the same time, a cold voice said, "Enough!"

Hearing this, Curren glared at August. Sensing the impatience in his eyes, she got more emotional and said, "Why didn't you stand up for me today? Even you started to favor that b*tch, right? You don't believe me at all!"

August sat down gracefully and explained indifferently, "This matter needs further consideration. Your priority now is to stabilize Reggio's emotions and stop him from depriving you of your rights."

But Curren didn't buy what he had said. What he had done today was unacceptable to her because she had seen him paying attention to Lucia all the time!

She had made painstaking efforts to get him at the risk of losing her life. So, she would not allow that b*tch to take away her hard-earned happiness.

The more Curren thought about it, the angrier she felt, so she intended to vent her anger on August and snapped, 'August, have you fallen in love with that b*tch? You and I grew up in Europe! How can you be her husband?"

August raised his head, there was suppressed anger in his eyes. However, he did not fly into a rage eyes off that b*tch today!" Curren pointed at his nose and roared, "I've long told you not to believe her lies! She made up those stories to insinuate the organization! She is again, his deep eyes were filled with coldness. Before she could react, he pinched a cold voice, "Stop thinking nonsense! Don't cover his big hand. But before she could touch him, he abruptly retracted his hand.

of tears and cried hoarsely, "I am just an ordinary woman in love. I have no sense of security when facing Lucia! That cruel woman keeps saying you are her husband. I am your girlfriend! How do you think I should treat her? Should I explain it to her with a smile? Do you softened. Then, he frowned at her weeping. Finally, he took two steps forward and handed her a tissue. Currer was carefully observing his every move. Seeing that he was not angry with her anymore, she breathed a sigh she became much more obedient and weakly explained, "When I saved you abroad, you were dying. I am so afraid of gloomy. And then, he replied in a cold voice, "I know!

sofa. Immediately, she took the opportunity to throw herself into his arms, drew circles on his chest with her sharp nails through his white shirt, and said she slowly approached eyes. Then, she leaned over to kiss him with her sexy red lips moved his shoulders slightly to change his sitting posture and then faced her with a serious expression. Currer instantly opened her eyes with a hint of unwillingness she had comforted herself that it was because he couldn't trust her wholeheartedly after losing his memory that he had rejected her again and again. But as time went by, he still tried to avoid placed obstacles in your way. You should think about how to regain his trust instead of could only restrain her emotions and responded with a ferocious look, "As long

Chapter 833 New Discovery

Phillip stepped forward timidly and opened his arms to Edmund.

Seeing this, Lucia immediately took the things in Edmund's hands over, took off his coat, and put it aside like a good housewife, saying, "Phillip must miss you very much. Take him for a walk."

Seeing her gentle smile, Edmund felt warm in his heart. So, he picked up Phillip and walked toward the pavilion in the distance without thinking much.

Lucia slowly sat down, stared after the father and son, and couldn't help letting out a long sigh. Then, she looked at Sophie and complained, "Joshua became less efficient."

"Yeah! Phillip has suffered a lot. He must learn to cheat people at such a young age to avoid his father. What a poor boy!" Daryl echoed in sorrow.

When Sophie had first started to treat Phillip, the treatment effect had been good. But every time he had returned to Edmund's side, his condition had worsened.

Fortunately, Phillip was a smart kid. He had gradually realized something was wrong but couldn't explain it accurately. He had just disliked getting along with Edmund at first, and now, he was pretending sick to avoid him.

Over time, Edmund got used to it and let go of his guard. And he had even left Phillip in the Thomas family to have an excuse to spend more time with Lucia.

Being accused by the two women together, Sophie couldn't help rolling her eyes and said, "Daryl, you're urging me because you are eager to adopt Phillip, right? Lucia, I helped you solve two big problems. It's OK if you are not grateful to me. But you should not have brought more problems for me! If it were easy to investigate Edmund, he would not have been sitting firmly in his current position now!"

When Daryl had first known she was unable to get pregnant because of the damage, she had insisted on breaking up with Paul. It was Sophie who had tried her best to persuade them into getting back together. Moreover, she had also managed to keep Phillip in the Thomas family so that Daryl could experience being a mother. But they were criticizing her together now! She could not stand it!

a few jokes, Sophie cleared her throat and said seriously. Actually, Joshua found three women

information.' Sophie subconsciously glanced in the direction where Edmund had gone and whispered, "The open data shows that his mother died of illness, and the whole thing seems flawless. But after we looked into her death, we found she might the information to Lucia's and Daryl's

Her family used to be extremely powerful. In a sense, Edmund used to be a maternal son-in-law. After his ex-wife's had induced the illness. To keep Phillip conducted an investigation and found Phillip's mother is the first patient who had this illness in her family. None of her family members has suffered from this mental illness before. So, the investigation, I think it is difficult to determine whether it is suicide two women felt chilly in the pavilion although and murmured word by word, "Maybe, Edmund did is very likely!" Sophie said into an eerie silence, and the oppressive atmosphere made people feel extremely difficult to breathe. Suddenly,

before suddenly coming

Currer's name on the screen looked harsh. Then, several messages popped did she send a cold voice with a gloomy look in her eyes. Then, she picked up the phone with her slender fingers. After successfully unlocking the screen with the password Timothy voice message from Currer sounded sinister with

Why is that b*tch dating my boss? If you can't take her away, I will get rid of her by myself. And you cant blame me for disregarding our friendship then! I will wait for you the message to the unread state, relaxed her tensed face slightly, and casually dropped the her, and said, "She is trying to kill you,

Chapter 834 Why Is He Here?

Lucia arrived at Star Plaza early the next afternoon. Many people had walked past the unremarkable bar, but no one noticed her. After completing and uploading the latest cartoon order, she turned off the notebook in satisfaction, went out of the bar, and walked toward the familiar straight figure.

Edmund was walking slowly in deep thought, so he didn't notice the woman walking toward him at all. And he didn't come back to his senses until she almost collided with him.

Edmund?" Hearing her surprised voice, he suddenly raised his eyes with a flash of panic on his face.

Lucia pretended not to see his reaction and asked with confusion in her eyes, "Don't you have work today? Why..."

'I made an appointment with a friend here,' he said while subconsciously avoiding her gaze. When she suddenly took his arm, he was surprised.

But Lucia responded with a smile, "If I had known you had an appointment here, I would have come with you. I wanted to introduce a friend to you yesterday."

He stared blankly at her holding his arm, and then, a look of struggle flashed across his eyes. After a while, he forced a faint smile and comforted her softly, saying, "I'll invite your friend for dinner next time."

Lucia blinked with a hint of expectation in her eyes and ventured, "Aren't you going to introduce me to your friend?"

distance between them had been getting closer, and he believed he just needed a chance to confirm their relationship as a couple now. If Lucia knew he had joined hands with Currer, arm and forced retracted her arm, Edmund felt he could speak, Lucia slowly said in a slightly bitter voice, "Sophia told me a sightseeing tour will do good to Phillip's health and help his treatment. I want so he stretched out to hold her soft little hand and said, "I'm not going to meet anyone important. She is just in charge of a document's approval. I didn't want you to go just now because I was afraid that to describe Currer as a stranger so that Lucia would not suspect him. And he now hoped Lucia's appearance would dispel Currer's idea of immediately getting rid of her. When Lucia heard his words, a cold light

When Lucia looked at the table by the window, she Why was August here?

of Curren. So, he let go of her hand, wrapped his hand around her slender waist, and stopped speaking when turning to look arm around Curren's shoulders, and asked in a deep voice, "Is this the cooperation you mentioned? Or is this your way of getting in silence. Only August remained calm, and the atmosphere always hostility in Edmund's eyes. He slowly smiled and responded coldly, "When arms, and said proudly like a winner, 'Sorry, I forgot to introduce my fiancée to you. This Fiancée?

a gloomy voice, "When did you get engaged? Why just agreed to my proposal, and we have no plan to and then said in a cold voice, "Today, we will just negotiate about the signing process. Miss Sullen, please get down to business as soon as

Chapter 835 He Doesn't Love You Anymore

Lucia wondered whether August had ever thought that his words might expose her plan and even push her into a bottomless abyss. Although they were no longer a couple, they weren't deadly enemies who hated each other. Why had he pushed her so hard as if intending to kill her?

Lucia couldn't help clenching her fists and then responded sullenly, "Since you need to talk business, I'll leave now.'

Curren observed all her subtle expressions. Seeing August's aggressive attitude, she suddenly felt a burst of joy in her heart. The depressed emotions she had suffered because of Lucia recently instantly disappeared.

Seeing Lucia getting up to leave, Curren immediately stopped her with a sneer and said slowly, "We are Mr. Shea's friends after all. Now that he is engaged to such a beautiful woman like you, we must celebrate it for him."

Then, she waved to the waiter and took out a gold card from her purse. After she whispered a few words, the waiter left respectfully. Soon, the signature desserts and coffee of the cafe and many specialties from other restaurants were served on the table.

With a fake smile on her face, Curren explained loudly, "I guess you are tired and don't want to go to another restaurant now. So, I let the waiter buy some decent food for us."

Before she finished speaking, August picked up a piece of beef with his fork and gracefully placed it on her plate. This was the first time he had done such a thing, so Curren was a little flattered. She instantly blushed, got at a loss for what to say, and then threw herself into his arms shyly.

To her surprise, August didn't avoid her as usual but reminded her in a deep voice, "You've worked hard today. Take care of yourself first."

August..." Currer whispered in a delicate voice, wishing she could hang herself on him.

picking up fell to the table. Her expression became even more embarrassed, and she wished she could plate and explained with a chuckle, "It's the first time Lucia has accompanied me to a dinner meeting, so she is not used to it."

squinted at them sullenly and raised her hand to send a piece of fish napkin, and wiped his lips gently.

more and felt increasingly embarrassed. So, she intended to cover up her embarrassment

"Be careful! It's hot."

the cup and let out a cry in pain. Seeing this, Edmund showed a helpless smile, and even his reprimanding tone sounded this dining table was like a battlefield without blood. The four of them were all expressing their most primitive emotions, but thought about it, the more depressed she felt. So, she put down the fork, got up, and said in a cold voice, "Sorry, I don't her, and then, the two walked out of the coffee to choose Mr. Shea in the end. If Reggio knows she used him as a tool, he would give the August's chest again. Unexpectedly, he dodged her this time, so she raised her

He gracefully stood felt that something was wrong but couldn't figure it

What had happened in the cafe kept flashing into her mind. She felt heartbroken as of the downtown area that her depression was relieved a little. She then leaned against a wall in the corner and took a deep breath moment, he slowly approached her with arms to

Chapter 836 Scapegoat

Sorry, the subscriber you dialed is powered off...1 Hearing the mechanized female voice, Lucia released her grip on the phone, and it fell to the floor with a snap.

Since August had disappeared, the two children had never turned off their mobile phones and always carried power banks because they did not want Lucia to worry about them.

So, the two people in the office immediately thought something must have happened to Janet!

Timothy soon tapped his fingers on the keyboard at high speed, and he did not let out a sigh of relief until seeing the flashing green light on the monitor. Then, he said, 'She is in a restaurant in the south of the city. Don't worry. She must be OK.'

'Why did she go to the south of the city?' Lucia's voice became sharper when she said in a fluster, "You keep an eye on her movements here. And I'll go there in person!"

Seeing her so anxious, Timothy nodded heavily. But after she rushed out of the office, his eyes suddenly darkened. After he tapped his fingers on the keyboard for a while, another light spot appeared on the monitor, overlapping with Janet's position.

Timothy showed an enigmatical smile on his immature face and thought to himself, 'I did not expect that person to lose his composure so soon. It seems my previous worries are unnecessary/

In an unknown restaurant in the south of the city, while Janet was elegantly enjoying the delicious food, she looked at the man opposite from time to time. August maintained an indifferent face all the time. But when he saw her cute face, there was occasionally a touch of gentleness in his eyes.

After finishing eating, Janet gently wiped her lips and reminded him loudly, saying, "My mother will come and fight you to death later."

'Maybe she will just accuse you of being obedient.'

must be fake. You don't know me or inclined to believe I am your father. Otherwise, and muttered, "It doesn't matter if you're fake. As long as you treat this, August carefully looked at the little girl but much. After all, people's eyes can't she thought of her father. They were

I'm making use of

to get close to us by pretending to be my father, you would have adopted a more direct method. You could have broken into our life openly instead of using this man sitting across from her daughter, she suddenly froze. After she looked between them for in the atmosphere, Janet exchanged glances with August and immediately handed Lucia a glass of warm water with a flattering smile. She was afraid her

Lucia looked at Janet suspiciously, the latter put on an innocent smile, pointed to the mobile phone on the table, and her words, August immediately

my biological father were present, I would have at her helplessly and then raised his eyes, intending to explain to Lucia. But before he could open his mouth, a glass of warm water splashed at Lucia unblinkingly with strong held the glass tightly, raised her head high, and stared back at him angrily. The silent war between them had reached the verge of

"Mom, Uncle August doesn't

you leave with a stranger? Don't you immediately shrank her neck

Chapter 837 Unwilling to Meet Him

If you continue acting willfully, I will teach you a good lesson.¹ Lucia took a deep breath, looked at him intensely, and said, "If you dare to approach my kids again, I will sue you for attempted abduction."

August raised his eyebrows and said with disdain on his face, ' Really? Are you sure that you can win the lawsuit?"

"If I lose, I will appeal for a new trial. And I will not let you have a chance to get close to Janet."

She raised her head high and determined to fight him desperately, saying, The Lion Group is powerful in Austos, so it is easy for me to fight you. I don't believe you can win."

Hearing this, August moved his lips slightly, showed an enigmatical smile, and sneered, "I did not expect you to say such words. I thought you are an upright person.'

There's no need to be upright when dealing with people like you!" She glared at him, took Janet's hand angrily, and pulled her to leave the dining table.

When Janet kept up with her mother, she turned her head back to look at August with a hesitant expression from time to time. After he gave her a comforting look and shook his phone, she felt relieved and stepped up to catch up with her mother. Then, they walked out of the restaurant together.

The atmosphere in the car was a little gloomy. Lucia kept glancing out of the window, ignoring Janet. So, Janet bit the bullet, forced a flattering smile, and then reached out to hold her mother's arm, saying, "Mom, I should not have believed the bad uncle's nonsense. I know you're broad-minded. Please forgive me."

When Lucia heard her witty words, her face became less gloomy, but she still stubbornly pushed her hand away and responded with a snort.

"Uncle August does want me to be the endorser. He didn't say anything irrelevant innocent and pure expression on her immature face, she believed she was telling the truth, so she let out a long sigh. If it were Timothy, she wouldn't have to go the old path of her and August, so she tried her best to keep Janet's purity and cleanliness. She kept her out of the company's business and Griffith Organization's affairs because she hoped she could grow up carefreely. So, she couldn't tell her about August's ulterior motives or that the current situation softly said with guilty and distress in her eyes, 'If you don't like him, I won't meet him anymore.

tell her many in the living room. Unexpectedly, he didn't taunt Janet but looked at her with an enigmatical expression subconsciously avoided his gaze. She had never done anything without telling him before, Janet..."

speaker with a smile, and complained seemingly relaxedly, "Why in a slightly displeased voice, "Who she bit the bullet and stammered, indifferently, ' You don't have any work the next few hide your privacy" well from mom.

know?" Janet widened her watery eyes and didn't sit down on the sofa until she completely digested his words. Then, she said, "But this uncle is hand and interrupted, "If he were a bad person, you would not have gotten a chance to meet him not hide anything from her brother. He was the same as their father! No!

clothes and daily necessities for him. This was not the first time he had left home. He had taken business trips to neighboring cities several times during the first to realize what was happening, so she hurriedly stepped up

Chapter 838 Throwing Herself on Him

When Lucia heard the doorbell, she thought Timothy had come back to grab something he had left behind. She happened to have something about business to discuss with him, so she went to the door. But before reaching there, she unexpectedly heard Turner say 'Mr. Adams' in surprise. Her heart skipped a beat, and she suddenly had a bad feeling. When she arrived in the hallway, she saw August, the man she least wanted to see.

She annoyedly asked in a cold voice, "Why are you here?"

August didn't mind her bad attitude. He casually pointed to the gifts under his feet and asked patiently, "Aren't you going to invite me in? Is this how your family treats guests?"

"Yes!1' She gritted her teeth and replied, "You are not welcome here. Leave with your things!"

While speaking, she reached out to push his shoulder, looking as aggressive as a gamecock.

Seeing the door about to be closed, August suddenly stretched his hand into the gap. He didn't stop her from closing the door but put his hand where it was likely to be crushed.

The solid wooden door gradually closed, sandwiching his slender fingers in between. But it stopped as soon as touching his hand, not causing any harm. Lucia and August both kept their hands on the door, falling into a silent deadlock.

Lucia frowned, looked into his calm eyes, and finally lost the battle. She secretly blamed herself for being useless because she could not bear to hurt his fingers because of the familiar face.

She suddenly asked in anger, "August, what on earth do you want?"

could finish her words, August saw his chance and pushed the door. Then, he passed her, walked into the living room

I should not have met Janet alone without anything, held her legs on the sofa, intention, so she said, "I don't need your apology. It's getting late.

crossed his legs gracefully, and said slowly, "I'm not here to apologize the table and continued, "My task is to find a suitable endorser for my company. And this contract is the token and gradually had a bad feeling. Her intuition told her this matter was not that simple! If she signed this have no right to sign the

I don't want to cause my mother any trouble. I will not sign surprise as if he had long known they would give him such an answer. Then, he said slowly, "Since you are determined to make things difficult for me, I can only resort to some contentedly walked into one of the guest bedrooms as if this villa were his home. Seeing this, Lucia got so angry that she hurriedly followed him inside. But before she could stand still, she bumped into his solid

she felt as if she had on her senses and subconsciously tried to break out of the embrace she had missed for a long instantly blushed to her ears. Then, she pressed her small hands against his solid chest and said anxiously in anger and shyness, "Let go sounded as if reminding August of something. Immediately, he raised his foot to close the door and pressed her slender body against the cold pressed his thin lips against her ear, and whispered, hot air spayed on her cheek, she couldn't help

Chapter 839 The Importance of Father

After taking a few steps forward, she suddenly noticed something. When stopping her steps, she looked ahead and met Janet's watery big eyes. Looking at her sneaky movements, Janet asked curiously, Mom, why did you come out of Uncle August's bedroom?"

Lucia was at a loss for words, not knowing how to reply. Now she wished she could find a crack in the ground and hide inside. Janet was the person she least wanted to find out about this matter. Yesterday, she had asked her to cut off the contact with August because he had bad intentions. So, after Janet saw such a scene early in the morning, it would be hard for Lucia to build up her prestige in front of her in the future. Lucia felt so regretful that she didn't even notice August walking up to them.

August stroked Janet's head affectionately and patiently explained in a deep voice. Your mother was too tired last night, so she fell asleep in the guest bedroom. I slept on the sofa in the living room."

Standing together, August and Janet looked like real loving father and daughter.

But Lucia's cheeks were burning, so she was not in the mood to appreciate the loving scene at all. And she had wanted to step forward and kick August out of the house when he had deliberately accented the word "tired".

Janet nodded obediently without doubts and said, "I'll ask Turner to prepare another bedroom tonight. Sleeping on the sofa is bad for your spine."

When Lucia heard this, her expression became even more embarrassed and furious, and she secretly blamed Janet for not helping her mother.

But August and Janet ignored her gloomy face. She soon took his hand and led him to the dining room because Turner had cooked his favorite food in the past.

August was very satisfied with the meal, and Janet beamed with joy when saying proudly as if asking for credit, I specially asked Turner to cook the dishes! They are my father's favorite.¹

taste is similar to mine..." August slightly lowered his voice

"Maybe you

She had made a painstaking effort to calm down but flew in into a rage again now. So, she reprimanded angrily, "Janet, don't that he was on pursed her lips and fell silent with an go on like this. Lucia frowned in silence, but dining room as if they were very close to each other. Seeing

Then, he teased with a half-smile, "Are you afraid I will rolling her eyes at him and nodded, case, you'd better keep that he would help her with her homework.

past few days. And Janet had become his the sunshine crawled onto the balcony through the curtains, Janet was studying astronomy knowledge in August's arms. After he answered all her questions easily, she was amazed, Astronomical Institute. If you want

Janet's eyes lit up. But the sparkle in her eyes gradually dimmed when she thought of something. After a while, she shook her head and said, "My mom said I can't accept gifts from others casually. It

Snap!

that had been trimmed properly immediately not expected Janet would become so dependent on August after just a few days. If things went on like this, the consequences would be unbearable. She must kick August out right away. He was good at brainwashing said, "Mr. Adams, how long are you going to stay at my home?"

Chapter 840 Looking for August

When she saw August comforting Janet softly, complex emotions flashed across her eyes. After her eyes full of scrutiny wandered over him, she suddenly made up her mind and said in a serious voice, "August, come with me!"

Then, she walked into the living room, followed by August with a stern look. After they stared at each other for a few seconds, she looked away first and let out a long sigh, saying, "Mr. Adams, you must know Janet likes you very much."

He responded seriously, "Yes."

Lucia stared at him intensely and said word by word, "No matter what your purpose of approaching her is, I hope you won't hurt her."

Hearing this, August steadily stopped his steps in front of her and said with an extremely serious expression, "I promise I will guarantee the safety of your children no matter what happens."

Seeing his serious face, she somehow felt relieved, and an unexplained sense of security surged in her heart as if she trusted him unconditionally...

She was taken aback by her stupid thought. And when she looked into August's eyes again, she felt a little guilty, hurriedly looked away, and said in a muffled voice, "I need you to do me a favor."

August looked sideways at her.

Janet needs someone to play the role of her father in her life. I hope you can accompany her for the time being. And then, we will slowly let her accept the fact that you are not her father."

her hesitant speech, she didn't dare to utter one more word for deep breath and continued, "I know this request is a bit impolite.

steady voice, "I will try my best to when she looked at you believe me? Do you think it's my trick to her head as if she had not recovered from the shock just now. After a long time, she finally smiled, "Mr. Adams, I am willing to sign the contract. But surprised to hear her words because of the calm look in his eyes. However, she should thank him for taking care of Janet tore up the documents another notice from the Trade Association that completely deprived her of her remaining rights because she had not behaved well recently. And the culprit who him for a week, and her panic had intensified. So, she had secretly mobilized regained his memory and was afraid Lucia would recall to him their past after they had gotten along for such a long time. If he she immediately rushed to the Adams villa without a comprehensive plan. As soon as Lucia opened the door, surprised to see Currer. She even looked at her with a smile and said, "Miss Sullen, why are you visiting me personally? What's

You know why I'm here!" she said while trying to squeeze in through

Lucia closed the Sullen, there is little common ground for understanding between us. So, I can't figure out why you're here." Maintaining a calm smile on her off, so she flew into a rage, grabbed her wrist, and said in a sharp voice, "Why? You dare to steal my boyfriend but dare

Since you dare to seduce my husband, you should not be afraid that I will snatch him back