Chapter 861 Mrs. Robert?!

The man spoke fluent Chinese. It seemed he had waited for them for long, he took over their luggage and saw them to the car.

Lucia took a look at August and found that he looked too detached to be surprised by the appearance of this man.

Lucia calmed down knowing August was totally psyched, and sat in the back row with him.

After getting on the car, the blond man in front kept silent and focused on driving.

Lucia secretly held August's hand, whispering "What's going on?"

August held her tender hand in turn, saying quietly "The person we are going to visit is named Windsor Rowling."

Lucia knew Windsor wanted to see if she was really capable or not, so she nodded and agreed.

Windsor waved at the black haired woman with her hand laden with jewel rings, saying Daryl will tell you the details. I have some business to deal with. If you need anything, just ask her.

The black haired woman raised her head, revealed a tender face, and nodded lightly, "Yes, madam."

Windsor left quickly, but Lucia was stunned at her face and her heart was pounding. She couldn't believe it and couldn't help crying, "Daryl!"

That's right. The woman in front of her was Daryl who had disappeared for two years.

Daryl had not changed at all after all those years, her tender and white face only could make you feel the healing warmth, and she looked more tactful.

It was not easy to become Windsor's assistant and gain her trust.

Besides, Daryl was just a well protected daughter before that.

However, Daryl didn't divulge these sufferings, but kept calm and shared her experience in these years.

Lucia's heart was more broken, she knew that it had been not easy for Daryl all these years.

After chitchatting for a while, they stopped and got down to business.

Daryl brought out two prepared documents in front of Lucia and August.

"Daryl, I am also very happy." Lucia turned to her demure and soft side face and felt very emotional.

Two years apart, Daryl had changed too much. If she had appeared in front of Mr. Thomas...

Thinking of Mr. Thomas, Lucia hesitated for a while, then said, "Daryl, do you still love Mr. Thomas?"

Daryl got petrified at the name, her hands unconsciously grasped the corner of the quilt.

Lucia took a sigh, she knew what happened before still rankled with Daryl.

She definitely couldn't have forgot Mr. Thomas.

A moment later, Daryl smiled sadly, "I thought I could."

It turned out that although it had happened long time ago, not only could something not have been forgotten, but also it could have been more impressive.

After a long time, the crying of Daryl gradually faded away.

Lucia, you are right. It's time to let it go."

Daryl raised her head, with her eyes red and swollen. But Lucia saw a trace of relief in her red eyes.

Lucia breathed a sigh of relief. As long as Daryl got through all this, everything would be fine.

As for Paul...

She believed that Paul would also forget about it with the passing of time.

Wiping the tears on her face, Daryl made a decision, "Lucia, I will go back to the Austos City with you after the matter of Cardiff Business Coalition is over."

Lucia looked at herself in the mirror and thought it was pretty good. She said, ' Wrap it up, please."

The saleslady was very happy to hear that. When she was about to respond, a sharp female voice interrupted her.

"I want that necklace."

Lucia paused and turned her head to the direction where the voice came from. There was a woman standing there, not far away from them. She had an exquisite face, with her eyes carrying an arrogant look. Her blonde curly hair was carefully trimmed, hanging down on her shoulder. The fancy garments she wore and the limited edition designer bag in her hand both showed that she was from a wealthy family.

Seeing her face, Lucia was a little surprised.

She had seen this woman in the file provided by Daryl.

She was Marlana, the youngest daughter of the Smith family.

Seeing this, Lucia had a momentary urge to laugh.

August was regarded as a toy-boy by Marlana.

This lady was really bold and domineering, just as the information described.

Did she really think of herself as the overlord of the whole Lamar city?

Marlena raised her head and said arrogantly, "I'm from the Smith family. Be with me, I can give you whatever you want."

In the Lamar City, no one dared to disobey the Smith family.

The men she had met before, no matter how lofty they were, finally all of them had to kneel before her after knowing that she was from the Smith family.

She believed that this man would do the same.

Terry held a glass of wine with a shrewd smile on his face all the time. His eyes were as sharp as those of an eagle.

"Sam, you have to know that in the whole Lamar City, only I can offer what you want."

Although Terry had been kicked out of the Smith family by Reggio, he returned right after Reggio was arrested.

In order to be accepted by the family again and obtain the power of the Smith family, he must develop his own strength.

Only in this way could he compete with his own sister.

Sam was a Cardiff businessman with a typical red nose. When he heard what Terry said, he frowned and said, 'Of course, I believe the ability of your company, but your price is too high, it's out of my budget.'

When he was about to say something more, a calm female voice interrupted him.

Terry was stunned at her words, his beady eyes were fixed on Lucia trying to see through something on her face.

There were hundreds of companies large and small in the Trade Union in Cardiff. But not all of them were doing dark business like the Smiths.

Only core members could have access to these matters and few of them knew there were core members in the Trade Union in Cardiff.

Lucia faced up to him and stayed calm allowing him to eyeball her.

"How did you know?" Terry said chillingly and looked gloomy.

"Nothing can be kept secret forever, Terry. But I can assure that I will not let slip."

Terry didn't see through anything on Lucia's face and stopped eyeballing her.
