Chapter 871 Marlena Was More Dangerous Than Terry

"So you are his sister, and I am Marlena. Nice to meet you."

Her smile was sweet. But Lucia could see evil lurking under it.

How could people from the Smiths really be innocent.

Lucia had seen Marlena's details in the materials which says that she is very possessive.

Marlena once had fallen in love with a man, her female classmate had been forced to commit suicide by her means just because the man had talked to her female classmate.

The young life had gone, but Marlena still lived well.

Lucia looked down to cover her thoughts

"Nice to meet you."

After a brief introduction, Marlena was messing with August who felt a bit annoyed even with his sedate character.

At this time, Terry was coming from a distance.

Hearing of it, Lucia nodded seriously, "OK, I will be careful."

August had been better at psychology than Lucia. So she was supposed to listen to him.

But I also need to remind you." Lucia said, "As a woman, I am very clear that Marlana's crush on you should be sincere."

A crazy woman like her could do anything to get what she wanted.

August smiled, "It makes sense. Don't worry. I can deal with her."

He was more worried about Lucia than himself.

Although they pretended to be brother and sister, Marlana was very possessive and would never allow Lucia to be too close to him.

Thinking like that, Lucia sat up from the bed and said, "I think we'd better sleep separately just in case."

August frowned and felt downhearted, "You want to sleep separately from me?"

On the other side, Marlana was lying on the luxury sofa. After hearing what August had said, a noisy current sound came from her headphones.

The bug had been broken.

Marlena took off the headphones. She was not angry but a little bashful with a little infatuation.

This man, even his voice was so sexy.

August's behavior made Marlana more infatuated with him instead of making her panic and guilty at all.

Terry walked down the stairs and saw Marlana on the sofa immediately. He frowned and said unmercifully,

"Marlena, you are disgusting."

He knew what Marlana was doing immediately.

She must have fallen in love with someone.

Marlena had done like that for so many times. Nonetheless, Terry would have felt extremely disgusted every time.

Terry's relentless abuse made Marlana smile happier.

August suddenly shivered in the distance.

He turned around and didn't find anyone following him.

August frowned and didn't know where the feeling came from.

Seeing the looks on his face, Lucia asked, "What's wrong?"

August gathered up the lips and shook the head, "It's OK. Let's go." Lucia didn't ask anything and arrived at Cozy Technology with August.

In fact, Windsor was secretly running this small company which was not popular in Lamar City, and few employees were working here.

They temporarily managed the company for her now in order to build more convincing identities and take actions more conveniently.

They went to the company today to say hello to the employees and collect some chip samples.

The employees of Cozy Technology knew nothing but their boss been changed. So they were welcomed by everyone.

They directly headed for Sam Company nearby after getting out of Cozy Technology.

August's words calmed Marlena down immediately.

"Oh, I've got a professional medical team here. Don't hesitate to let me know if you need them..."
Marlena offered with a faint smile, though the hostility in her gaze were still so palpable. She just wouldn't allow any woman to go around the man she loved, even though she knew Vivian was only Joe's sister. In fact, Marlena was resolved to get rid of this ruddy Vivian sooner or later.

August then took off Lucia's pants. She blushed immediately with a whisper, "August, please don't...we're still in the living room." She still tended to get coy for sex even having been his wife for so many years.

August just went on unheeding as he stroked her swollen shins and began massaging them. Look, they've swollen. Let me treat that for you."

August was actually quite an expert of massage. Lucia now just felt the tension of her muscles easing up. She even fell

Chapter878 Tina Must Have Butted in

Lucia breathed a sigh of relief while keeping her vigilance against Marlana. Their original intention was only to play Terry and Marlana off against each other, and Lucia had thought it a tough task that would at least consume them quite some time. Yet the goal was just achieved so swiftly. That was quite a favorable condition for Lucia and August to wrap up their mission in Lamar City as soon as possible when it was rather risky for them to stay there with fake identities. Lucia went with a suppressed sigh in August's arms. She could only wish things would go smoothly afterwards.

Meanwhile, Terry was drinking his tea with relish in the office when his assistant rushed in. "Bad news! Vivian and her brother have snatched the order of Sam from us." informed the assistant.

But he had no mood to care about that, only staring at his assistant coldly, "Why did Sam change his mind so Chapter879 What a Fool My Brother is!

Knowing he was not able to get the answer from Tina, Terry could only leave in a deflated and sullen mood. Watching him disappearing from her sight, Tina got the gentle smile on her face replaced by a look of hollow apathy.

Marlena could be anything but a fool, growing up in such a rich yet complicated family. A real simpleton could have died one thousand times there. Terry was only stupid enough to think Marlana too innocent to be his threat. He

Chapter 880 Seduction

Thinking of this, Terry narrowed his eyes. A gleam of shrewdness flashed in his cold eyes.

If that was the case, he could use Joe to counter Marlana.

After all, everyone in the Lamar City knew that Marlana was a hopeless romantic.

Terry couldn't wait any longer. He took out his cell phone and dialed a number.

On the other side.

As soon as Lucia and August took the order from Terry so easily, they immediately contacted and visited Mrs. Robert.

In the garden, Mrs. Robert was wearing a sunhat and a typical lady's dress. She listened to Lucia telling the whole story calmly.
