Chapter 901 The Situation Has Changed

The Smith family had almost dominated Lamar City. Even Mrs. Robert would not have barged into the Smith manor so recklessly. Lucia couldn't figure out who would dare to do such a thing. August frowned slightly and said, "It was Marlana."

Lucia was shocked when she heard August's story of what had happened at the pier, "So quickly?"

Although they knew that Tina's influence was far stronger than they imagined, Lucia did not expect that they would move so fast. Over a night, Marlana became the head of the Smith family. The purpose of their coming to Cardiff this time was to completely defeat the Cardiff Business Coalition. Although Terry had gone, Lucia was not happy at all. Because she knew that Marlana and Tina were even harder to deal with.

"The situation has changed. I'll send you out first." August held Lucia and walked toward the entrance of the manor. "When you come back, you can contact Mrs. Robert first. We'll make plans for the next step."

She stared at Lucia for a long time before waving at the few thugs standing behind her with a smile. Several people rushed forward, grabbed Lucia's wrist, and pulled her out of August's arms. August's face was cold, and he tried to stop them. But as August was bare-handed, and the other party was already prepared, they easily separated August and Marlana asked her men to take Lucia away alone so that August won't get any chance to approach her. During this period of time, Marlana had used all sorts of reasons to request August to stay by her side. If August did not agree, she would use Lucia's life to threaten him. In order to prevent him from contacting her, Marlana took away all of his communications equipment. Even if August was a capable man, as Lucia was still under Marlana's control, he could only compromise temporarily.

At that time, the only thing important for him was to find a way to rescue Lucia as soon as possible. The problem was that there were a lot of people guarding Lucia's room. August was even unable to approach it. He could only stay calm down and make another plan.

What happened to Terry was heard by everyone in Lamar City. Daryl also heard the news and felt extremely anxious. In order to avoid exposure, they basically contacted each other privately. Unexpectedly, in just a few days, the situation would change so fast. After hearing the news, she tried to contact Lucia and August several times, but neither of them answered her. So she knew that something must have happened to them. And most likely, they were trapped in Smith Manor.

The next day, Daryl dressed up like a Cardiff woman and followed Mrs. Robert into the Smith manor. Standing at the manor that she had left for many years, Mrs. Robert had no time to be feeling. Under the guidance of the servants, Daryl walked carefully inside the house. Fortunately, this place had experienced a bloody battle a few days ago and many surveillance cameras had been destroyed and it was a lot more convenient for her. She'd guessed that Lucia and August were trapped within the manor, and she'd come here today to see if she could contact them. She wanted to confirm their safety before making a further plan. However, after searching for a while, Daryl did not see Lucia or August.

Mrs. Robert would try to delay time, but she couldn't stay here for too long. Daryl was extremely anxious. If she missed this opportunity, it would be difficult to contact Lucia and August. Just when she was at a loss, a small figure suddenly jumped out of the bushes beside her.

"It's you!" Daryl shouted in surprise. She recognized the child was the little beggar she saw that day. The boy didn't say anything. He grabbed her hand and took her in a certain direction. Daryl followed him and came to an independent house. Through the open window, Daryl saw August was standing inside.

August stood quietly behind Marlana, who was drawing in front of him. August sensed that someone was watching him. He turned his head and saw Daryl was standing not far from the window. Although Daryl had disguised herself, she was wearing the same dress that she bought with Lucia, so August instantly recognized her.

Chapter 904 Marrying My Daughter

Looking at Marlana's back, August frowned slightly and felt a little uneasy. During this period of time, Marlana didn't ask him to get close to any business. This caused him to slightly doubt if Marlana had already found out his true identity. But she didn't look like she knew. August calmed down and followed her.

"You stay here."

Daryl found what Daryl had left there. But before August could even inspect it, a group of people an excuse to leave yesterday, Marlana followed him and unexpectedly heard the conversation between him and Daryl. It was an unfamiliar language. Marlana couldn't understand it, but she already developed some suspicions. She ordered her subordinates to follow the woman and received unexpected gains. They found out the true identities of Joe and Vivian. She'd never thought that Joe was the one who'd taken Reggio away. What made her extremely jealous was that Joe and Vivian were not siblings at all, but a couple. When thinking of this, the anger in Marlana's heart burned. She walked up, grabbed August's neck, and said, "Joe, you shouldn't have

At that moment, Marlana and Tina were sitting beside the bed. When they saw August wake up, Tina's expressionless face showed a little emotion. She said

Tina did not care about the fact that August had arrested Reggio. As long as her daughter was happy, it didn't matter what he had done.

August kept silent. The feeling for Lucia did not allow him to betray her. But if he didn't do so, Lucia and Daryl would be in danger... A trace of struggle flashed in his eyes. Tina did not push him, just quietly stroking Marlana's blonde hair.

After a long time, August finally raised his head and said yes. No matter what, he could not let anything happen to Lucia.

Seeing him agree, Marlana jumped out of Tina's arms joyfully and rushed to August, "You should have made that choice a long time ago, August." With that, she stretched her neck and tried to drop a kiss on August's face, but he dodged it with a sideways glance.

Marlena smiled, asked someone to unlock the chains on August's body, and took his hand, "Come on, August, let's share the good news with her."

Lucia looked at August's cold face, not believing that August would go marry Marlana. The look on his face was as calm as when Lucia and he first met, "I'm not kidding."

Lucia was stunned. Marlana chuckled and leaned toward August. The two of them got closer. Then Marlana said, "Of course he'd choose me over a plain woman like you."

Impossible." Lucia shook her head, tears flowing down her pale face, "August, tell me, these are not true, right? We've been through so much together. You won't marry someone else, will you?"

Lucia stepped forward and grabbed August by the arm. Her eyes were full of sadness, and she sobbed and questioned. But August just took a step back with a frown, and yanked away Lucia's hand on his arm. "I told you," he said coldly, "I'm going to marry Marlana the day after tomorrow. If you don't believe me, come and see for yourself."

Then, the two discussed the plan afterwards. Although Marlana granted August the right to walk freely in part of the manor, she actually controlled him very strictly. If it wasn't for Marlana's initiative to bring him to the door today. August wouldn't even have had the opportunity to reach Lucia. So the only chance would be the wedding day. More than half the staff would be at the wedding to make sure it went smoothly, and they would have a chance to escape the Smith Manor.

"Then the mission about Cardiff Business Coalition..." Lucia had not forgotten that the main mission of this time to Cardiff was to destroy the entire Cardiff Business Coalition. But if they just left, the mission would fail.

'Take things easy.' Said August in a deep voice.

They had been lurking in Cardiff for so long, but now they had to give up. However, they really couldn't do anything else now. The two agreed on a time. After making a detailed plan, Lucia hung up the Marlena's wedding was set for twelve o'clock. As for the location of the wedding, naturally it was the Smith manor, which had a history of hundreds of years. When it was almost the time, the door of Lucia's room was opened, and a somber-looking maid came in.

Seeing Lucia's sportswear, the woman did not say anything, but walked in front of Lucia and led her toward the wedding site. In addition to this maid, Lucia was also followed by at least ten sturdy men.

Chapter 909 What's That?

Although Marlena spoke to August, her peripheral vision kept on watching Lucia's reaction, and soon caught a tiny flicker of expression on Lucia's face. The reason for placing Lucia here was for this moment, and Marlena's heart surged with a crazy pleasure.

This was what she wanted. Marlena wanted this woman to see herself married to the man she loved most, and there was nothing she could do about it. The smile on Marlena's face deepened at the thought of this, and she raised her head at the witness and said softly, "Let's get started."

Then the witness read out the words he had prepared, "In sickness and in health, for richer and for poorer, Marlena Smith, do you take this man to be your lawful wedded husband?"

Along with a cry of shock of other guests, Lucia quickly saw clearly that this yellow figure was a big yellow dog! Lucia's pupils shrink slightly and she recognized that dog at once. This big yellow dog was just the one that followed the little boy before. She subconsciously looked around, but did not find the little boy.

When Lucia turned her head to look for the boy, the big yellow dog came at Marlena's side at great speed before anyone else could react, and opened its mouth with sharp teeth in it, then bit on the calf of Marlena.

Marlena was wearing a white fishtail wedding dress, and the material was very thin, which was pierced by canine teeth in an instant. The dog left four deep teeth marks on the calf of Marlena. At once, the bright red blood stained the white wedding dress. Marlena cried out in pain with tears in her eyes.
