Chapter 921 These Mischievous Children

The plane took off quickly and disappeared like a bird into the blue sky. A tall man appeared at the airport, and he looked a bit disappointed when seeing the plane fly away. Then he took out his phone and made a call. "Amy, get me a jet to Austos City."

They took a direct flight, so Lucia and Daryl were fast asleep when they got on the plane. They both were exhausted. Lucia woke up after five hours and saw Ryan leaning at the window and looking at the thick clouds. "Ryan, would you like to have a rest?" Lucia asked him. Ryan shook his head, and looked so excited. Lucia suddenly understood it. It was because Ryan had never left the Smith Manor before. And it seemed to be the first time that he had got a chance to see the outside world.

brought her sadness. It was a mixed feeling, bitter and complicated. However,

Chapter 922 Something Is Wrong

The messy room did annoy Lucia. She had been away from home for only a short time, but the children made a mess in the house. Ryan didn't dare to say anything as he could clearly sense the anger of Lucia. Taking a deep breath, Lucia cleaned up one of the rooms for Ryan and then continued to do cleaning. She sat on the sofa in the living room waiting for the two kids to come back home after finishing cleaning.

A while later, the door was pushed open after the electronic door lock rang. Timothy felt something wrong when he was opening the door. Then he stopped Janet who was going inside hurriedly, whispering, "Janet, wait." Janet was stunned and stopped her moves as she saw the nervous look on Timothy's face. Instead of pushing the door open completely, Timothy opened a crack and peered through it.

situation inside. He clearly remembered that they had yet to tidy up the house as they were having so much fun last night. However, the house was so tidy at this moment. Someone must have come to their house. Timothy was so confused as they didn't hire a cleaning worker. Thinking for a few seconds, Timothy so many people were paying much attention to him. They couldn't overwhelm the Lion Group fair and square, ending up to use some dirty tricks. Timothy would like to keep things quiet and leave when he found something wrong at home. Poch, which was taking a rest in the house, suddenly raised up its head and let out a warning sob, its ears perking up observantly. Lucia noticed Poch's actions and subconsciously looked towards the door. Then she stiffened and turned their necks like a robot, ending up to see Lucia open the door angrily and glare at them. Before they could express how surprised they were to see Lucia come Chapter 923 Who's The Kid?

Janet was frightened when she got to see Ryan. Looking out from Lucia's arms, she asked, "Who's the kid?" Seeming to be scared by Janet, Ryan hid himself.

Seeing the situation, Lucia comforted them, "Don't be scared. I brought him here." Lucia called Ryan out and told everything that had happened to them to Timothy and Janet.

Stepping forward, Janet held the hand of Ryan and said to him in a soft voice, "Ryan, feel free to stay here. Timothy and I will be your siblings from now on and we won't allow anyone to bully you in the future." Ryan was deeply touched by Janet's kindness to him. He once met some

Timothy felt the whole situation difficult after listening to Lucia, and was so worried when thinking of that Marlana was forcing August to do something he was unwilling to. Lucia added, "We'll go find Flynt be affected." There was some dirt on the box, since it Marlena was fine with the indifferent attitude of August. She pushed the cart in front of August, and then opened the cover of the fancy dishes. 'August, you're from Chillen, so I especially asked the chef to prepare some local dishes for your breakfast. I'm wondering whether you'll like them.' August still looked indifferent, as he didn't know whether Marlana would add something strange in those dishes.

Marlena picked up a dumpling from the dining cart with smile and had a bite of it. "See. It's safe." However, August still didn't move. Marlana swallowed the dumpling in her mouth. "August, how many days can you go without food?" August looked more indifferent, but he admitted that Marlana really could know people's mind. After a moment of hesitation, August began to eat.

Lucia asked Flynt and Daryl home, and the two children also asked for leave to stay at home.

In the villa, Flynt frowned his eyebrows after listening to Lucia's words, "Why did it get so troublesome?"

Terry was gone, and Marlena came in a blink of an eye.

Because of it, Flynt was a little worried about the appearance of another Cardiff Business Coalition, even if the Smith family collapsed and the entire coalition didn't exist.

The future was uncontrollable, but what they could only do now was to settle the current matter.

He raised his eyes at Lucia, "We don't have many people over there. If we want to rescue August, we should use our mind instead of force. What are you going to do?"

Lucia nodded, agreeing with Flynt's thoughts.

It had been planned that they lurked in the Cardiff Business Coalition to collect more evidence and cooperated with Flynt's final action.

But what happened now caught her off guard.

Chapter 926 What a Bunch of Demons

What was recorded in the document was the horrific crime committed by the Smith family, which was shocking even just through written words.

Having known how cruel the Smith family were for a long time, Lucia still felt a sense of anger about it.

"What a bunch of demons!" Flynt couldn't help cursing with anger surging in his eyes.

The crimes committed by the Smith family were beyond description!

After reading these records, Lucia quietly closed the computer, kept the USB flash drive carefully, and then looked at Ryan who was a little confused .

Lucia couldn't help being admired of Alan who was unwilling to join forces with those in the Smith family and made such list despite being born in the Smith family.

Despite not knowing what Alan had experienced in the Smith family, Lucia thought the fact Alan died of an inexplicable illness must have something to do with the Smith family.

Chapter 927 Wedding Invitation

After taking a look at the one who came in, Lucia didn't know the man who might be a newcomer to the Griffith Organization.

The man handed a letter to Flynt. After taking a look at the recipient's name, Flynt passed it to Lucia, "It is your letter."

Feeling surprised for a moment, Lucia removed the cover of the packaged letter to reveal the white invitation letter inside.

After falling her gaze on the gold-plated English letters on the cover, she paused slightly.

This was a wedding invitation.

As for whose wedding, Lucia knew immediately even without second thinking.

By taking a look at the letter, Lucia found the name on it was indeed Marlana, just as what she had expected.

Daryl also saw the name from the side. Frowning her eyebrows, she said with a trace of disgust in her eyes, "What does she mean? She stole your husband and then invited you to her wedding?"

Sophie still remembered the day when she saw Paula. If she hadn't arrived in time, Paula might really have jumped like that.

What happened to Paula was unclear to Sophie. But after such a period of enlightenment and treatment, Paula had begun to get rid of those nightmares. Sophie believed it would not take too much time for Paula to return to her previous state.

She brought Paula out today to have a walk as she thought Paula had been relatively stable. After all, it was not good for health to stay in one place for a long time.

"Why don't we? I heard that a very famous foreign designer has opened a new store here. Let's go and have a look."

By taking the escalator, Sophie and Paula went to a higher floor.

At this moment, her cell phone rang suddenly.

She picked up her phone and saw that it was from Lucia.

The three of them were silent when Lucia's cell phone rang suddenly. She picked it up , and reported the specific location of the restaurant to the other end of the phone.

After hanging up the phone, Lucia said with a smile, "Daryl is coming here.

Don't look so sad, otherwise she will worry again."

Only then did the two cheer up and discuss other topics.

While chatting, they didn't notice that Paul, standing alone in the corner, fell his eyes on them.

Staring at Paula from behind, Paul showed a deep flash in his eyes. It is his fault not to take good care of Paula. He really wanted to know what happened when he was away, but Sophie stopped him when he went to Paula's current residence several times.

Sophie didn't want him to see Paula, neither did Paula herself.

Lucia's words made Sophie's complexion change. She completely protected Paula in her arms, and at the same time stood in front of Daryl, stopping Paul from seeing Daryl.

Looking at Lucia as if her eyes were a knife, Sophie spoke harshly, "Paul, I have warned you not to approach Paula. It will not be good for her health. Do you want to hurt your sister?"

Feeling Paula trembling in her arms, Sophie quickly patted her on the back, comforting her in a low voice.

Seeing the two who treated himself like the enemy, Paul felt uncomfortable in his heart, and failed to speak the words he had wanted.

"Sorry..."

He had originally wanted to leave silently after watching Paula, but Daryl appeared in front of him at this moment.
