

Chapter 1443 You Will Never Find Her

“His recklessness seems to know no bounds when it comes to anything related to Janet.” Harrell shook his head in resignation, leading Darkmoon’s personnel in their duty to safeguard Brandon

As the heiress of Darkmoon, Corinne was always in the know about the organization’s every move. When she received news that Brandon was launching an attack on Jeremy’s lair, her reaction was one of shock and fury. “What did you say? Brandon went to Jeremy’s hideout?”

The underling nodded. “Mr. Larson is already on his way there with his team. It appears Mr. Scott has also followed suit with Darkmoon’s forces.” “It’s too dangerous!” Corinne abruptly rose from her seat. “No, I need to see what’s happening. If anything transpires, I can lend a hand.”

She quickly donned her coat and commanded, “Bring your men along.” “Yes, ma’am,” the subordinate complied

Brandon moved swiftly, taking Jeremy by surprise. By the time Jeremy received the intel, Brandon was already at his doorstep, leaving no time for him to escape

Jeremy’s lab door was kicked open, his guards tossed in, their condition uncertain

Stunned, Jeremy managed to maintain a facade of calm as Brandon’s group charged in. “It’s been a while, Brandon. To what do I owe the pleasure?”

Brandon was in no mood for pleasantries. He seized Jeremy by the collar, his gaze icy with a lethal intent.

“Where’s Janet? Hand her over wisely, or I’ll turn your life into a living nightmare!”

Jeremy surmised that Brandon had caught wind of his claim to have a sister, leading him to become suspicious and trace the lead back here

However, faced with Brandon’s interrogation, Jeremy’s lips twisted into a wicked smirk as he shrugged. “Mr. Larson, I’m at a loss. I departed alone that day. Didn’t your wife return with you?”

Narrowing his eyes, Brandon retaliated wit

Jeremy was sent sprawli

Undeterred, he wiped it off with a smi

Brandon’s patience sna

He bent down, gripped Jeremy’s collar tighter, and uttered re Janet is, and I might think about sparing you some pain.”

Unfazed, Jeremy countered Brandon with a fearless grin other man concern me? I’ve no interest in your spouse.”

“Lunatic,” Brandon scoffed, channeling the fear he’d bests landed fiercely on Jeremy, one punch after the other

Yet, Jeremy derived perverse

So despite the onslaught of punc

“Brandon, don’t waste your energy,” intervened Haral for Jeremy. “Finding Janet is our top priority.”

“You’re right,” agreed

twitched, then he lan

rendering him unconscious

Looking down at the incapacitated Jeremy, Brandon straightened up, adjusted his clothing, and turned to leave, commanding, “Take him with us. We’ll turn this place inside out if we have to, but we must find Janet.” However, despite their exhaustive search of the lab, Jeremy’s villa, and even the yard’s drainage, they found no trace of Janet. Instead, they stumbled upon Suzanne, who’d been missing for quite some time

Suzanne had been kept in a guest room of the villa by Jeremy. H Brandon’s imposing presence, comfortably seated on the sofa. #

An hour later, Jeremy regained consciousness. Nface, he deduced that Janet was yet to be found

He burst into laughter. “Mr. Larson, st

Jeremy’s mockery instantly stoked Brandon’s fury. Aned, “Wait, I think I know who’s been hiding Janet.”

Jeremy’s laughter abruptly halted

Earlier, Jeremy’s provocative statements had d oblivious to others, Jeremy had thrown Suzanne a warning glance. 4