

Chapter 1925 Just Wait And See

Fuming with anger, Lexi exclaimed, "Clyde was secretly taking pictures of you! That's absolutely outrageous! I'll pour coffee on his camera and fix it for him, whether he likes it or not!"

Janet intervened swiftly, shaking her head in disapproval. "Cameras owned by professional photographers like Clyde hold invaluable images. Damaging his camera could lead to financial consequences; even all your money wouldn't cover it."

Lexi's expression shifted to one of shock as she instinctively reached for her wallet.

With a reassuring smile, Janet continued, "Moreover, it's likely his camera is waterproof, so pouring coffee on it won't have the desired effect."

Feeling a tinge of resignation, Lexi remarked, "Next time Clyde shows up, I'll keep a close watch on him. Janet, please stay in the office when he's here. I won't let any harm come to you!"

Janet's smile softened as she observed Lexi's determination. "You're incredibly responsible. Would you like me to talk to Brandon about a raise for you?"

Lexi flushed slightly, feeling a mix of shyness and hope. After a moment, she looked at Janet with anticipation. "Could he really consider a raise for me?"

Amused by Lexi's reaction, Janet paused for a moment before reassuring her, "If you discover something suspicious with Clyde's camera, I'll have Brandon give you a bonus."

Eager anticipation sparked in Lexi's eyes as she turned to Janet, asking, "What should we do?"

With a meaningful look, Janet replied, "Just wait and see."

As Janet stepped outside, she spotted Tasha, who was holding a camera and busy selecting publicity pictures for the studio.

Beside her sat Clyde, sipping on coffee. Upon noticing Janet's approach, he rose with a warm greeting. "Good morning."

Returning the greeting with casual ease, Janet settled down beside Tasha, inspecting the images in the camera and noting Clyde's reliable photography skills.

Tasha seemed particularly eager to preserve each picture captured.

Janet turned to Lexi and instructed, "Lexi, could you make some coffee for Tasha?"

Lexi exchanged a meaningful glance with Janet, interpreting her request as a covert plan. She prepared the coffee with lukewarm water, omitting the ice cubes, hoping to minimize any potential damage to Clyde's camera.

Lexi approached with the coffee, her hands trembling as she presented it to Janet. Just as Janet reached for the cup, her grip faltered, causing her to accidentally spill the contents onto Clyde's pants.

Startled, Clyde rose abruptly from his seat, prompting Janet to apologize, "Oh, my God. I'm really sorry! It's entirely my fault. Well, I have spare suits here that my husband keeps for emergencies. Would you mind selecting one to change into while I arrange to have these trousers cleaned?"

Graciously, Clyde accepted Janet's apology with a polite smile, remarking, "Not to worry. I'll go change."

With that, he made his way to the dressing room.

However, upon attempting to exit after changing, he discovered that the door had been locked from the outside.

Unbeknownst to Clyde, Janet had discreetly locked the door after ushering him inside. She retrieved the camera from Tasha's hands and retreated into the office.

Though puzzled by Janet's actions, Tasha wisely opted to remain silent, simply offering her assistance whenever Janet required it.