

Chapter 2124 Caring Husband

Seeing Brandon meticulously taking notes, Lexi, nearby, stood shocked with her mouth agape.

When Lexi came back to her senses, she discreetly asked the nurse, "Why is Mr. Larson, a CEO, handling such a minor thing himself? Janet has a professional gynecologist to take care of her, doesn't she?"

Upon hearing Lexi's inquiry, the nurse smiled and replied, "Mr. Larson has always handled Mrs. Larson's matters personally. We are just here to assist him."

Having heard what the nurse said, Lexi couldn't help but wear a look of admiration. "Janet is truly successful. Not only does she have a thriving career, but she also has a tamed husband."

Everyone in the ward burst into laughter after hearing what Lexi said.

Everyone except Brandon.

As he continued taking notes with his head lowered, he rebutted Lexi's words, saying, "Everything I do for Janet is of my own volition, not because she tamed me."

"Oh my God! So romantic!" Lexi exclaimed, covering her mouth in wonder.

"Could this be the charm of love?" Sonia asked curiously.

Before Brandon could respond, Lexi chimed in. "Of course, it's the charm of love! So joyful and romantic! Where can I find someone like this?"

"Don't get your hopes up too high. Mr. Larson is one in a million. He's rich, powerful, and good to his wife." Sonia teased Lexi.

Rising angrily to her feet, Lexi replied, "Why can't I find someone like him? You're always so cold. Let's see who dares to pursue you in the future!"

"I'm not cold," Sonia retorted with a frown.

The ward was gradually becoming noisy. Sensing the tension in the air, the nurses quietly stepped aside.

Janet also realized that the conversation was getting a bit out of control. With one hand on her forehead, she had no choice but to intervene. "Alright, enough arguing."

As expected, Lexi and Sonia quieted down upon hearing Janet's voice.

"Janet."

"Janet."

It seemed like both of them wanted to say something, but Janet interrupted again. "There's nothing more to do here. You can leave. I feel a bit tired and want to get some sleep."

As soon as Janet finished speaking, Brandon signaled for someone to escort Lexi and Sonia out.

"You can head back now. Janet is tired. Let's discuss it later."

Brandon promptly shut the door behind them.

Once Lexi and Sonia left, the ward fell silent.

Brandon turned back to the bed and tucked Janet in. "What's the matter? Was it too noisy in the ward just now?"

"No, it's good to have more people here." Worried that Brandon would blame Lexi and the others, Janet shook her head with a smile and denied it. "I'm just really sleepy now, so I asked them to leave."

Upon hearing that, Brandon said nothing more of it. Instead, he simply said, "Alright, sleep well."

"I will," Janet replied. Shortly after, she was asleep.

Seeing this, Brandon gently planted a kiss on her forehead, then quietly opened the door and stepped out.

In the lounge next to the ward, Sonia and Lexi had been waiting for him.

When Sonia saw Brandon come in, she stood up and asked anxiously, "How's it going? Have you found it out? Did Alexandra really come to Barnes?"

"We don't know exactly where he is yet," Brandon replied in a low voice, a touch of impatience flashing in his eyes. "But I believe it's very likely that he came to Barnes."

RE