Chapter 734 Welcome To W Marks!

Draco said calmly, “Well, I’ve decided hire Tasha. Dalores, you don’t have to worry about those things.”

He smiled and shrugged apparently nonchalantly:

“Okay, it’s up to you.”

Then he lowered his head and concentrated on ordering the papers on the table.

He refused to look up upstairs and didn’t talk to anyone.

Tasha looked excitedly at Janet, who gave her a thumb up.

He walked over to Draco to express your gratitude.

“Thank you for choosing me, Mr. Wesley.

I promise to work hard in the future and not let him down Regarding my due date and my unavoidable maternity leave.

i promise i will everything possible not to delay your work during this period.” Draco nodded calmly.

To tell the truth, there was met Tasha once before.

A few years ago, had given a speech at Tasha’s school and Janet, had the opportunity to see the designs of some students even back then felt that Tasha's works were very striking. I was hoping that Tasha would definitely jump right in. filled the design industry, but unfortunately, Tasha got married right after to graduate and gave up his career for the sake of his family.

Now that he was trying to get back into the world of design, Draco thought he was finally making the right decision.

I was just hoping that Tasha could persist in the future. After everything, I needed to start from scratch now. "Janet.

First give Tasha a tour of the study" Draco told Janet. Janet nodded. At first, he had thought that Draco would believe in Dalores lie.

Fortunately, he was a reasonable person and gave the job to the person who really deserved it.

"This is where our stations are. worked.

The tea room is on the left.

If any once you're hungry, you can always get some snacks there." Janet was in a good humor, led Tasha around the studio in high spirits.

After being given a tour of the Instead, Tasha was eager to get started.

A wall of the design department was covered with the W Marks Studio works over the years.

It was very inspiring to see them.

From a distance, Dalores watched as Janet and Tasha laughed happily.

This made her boil with rage.

But since Draco decided to stay with Tasha, no He had no choice but to accept reality.

After Giving her a tour , Janet took Tasha to meet Elizabeth.

Elizabeth was busy with a draft of design when he felt someone give him pats on the shoulder.

when he saw that it was only Janet put down her pencil and stood up.

“Let me introduce Tasha, our latest designer!”

Elizabeth’s look was immediately attracted to the womb Tasha’s rounded.

She marveled at it.

“You are going to be a mother.

I still can’t believe want to work! That is incredible!” I admire Tasha from the bottom of her heart.

Tasha looked down embarrassed and said quietly.

of apology Please bear with me if you caused a problem.” “Oh, don’t worry about it.

We’re a team.

Yes you have any questions, just ask me.” Elizabeth kindly replied, completely unperturbed by the pregnancy of Tasha.

“Besides, I believe in Janet.” Elizabeth le He held out his hand to Tasha and smiled warmly at her.

“Welcome to W Marks!” Relieved, Tasha immediately shook hands Elizabeth with a smile.

He decided to tell Elizabeth the truth.

“In fact, I owe a lot to Janet.

If she hadn’t defended , things would not have gone so well... I was about to back down at the first sign of problems”.

Elizabeth cocked her head to the side.

curiosity.

“What do you mean? did someone make you have a bad time?” Then he realized.

Raising her eyebrows at Janet, she continued, “Let me guess.

It was Dalores, wasn’t it? Janet’s curiosity was instantly piqued.

“She did something like this before?”
