

Abandoned Super Cutie Adopted by Billionaire Clan

Chapter 125

When Kelvin asked his assistant to send the surveillance video to the Yates family and the Holmes family, he watched it himself.

He found that Marian always hated and targeted Yvonne for no reason.

Just like Yvonne standing under the tree playing with the dog. Marian passed by her and suddenly reached out and pushed her from behind.

After pushing, she left as if nothing had happened.

However, the big yellow dog was quite smart and knew how to catch Yvonne with its body when she was about to fall

This kind of unexplained malice made people feel scared in their hearts.

At that time, Yvonne was still very thin. She was suddenly pushed from behind by Marian, so she fell directly on the ground badly.

Fortunately, it was on the grass of the small playground. If it was on the concrete floor, he couldn't imagine what Yvonne would happen.

However, it was not accurate to say that Marian was born evil because she did not harm other children, only Yvonne.

It was so confusing.

After Kelvin asked Yvonne, she didn't even realize that she was targeted by Marian.

In her memory, she and Marian were still friends before the adoption. It was just that she often got hurt when she played with her.

But the injury recovered quickly. The pain was gone in a day or two.

Hearing Yvonne say this with a confused face, everyone in the room didn't look very good.

Richard suddenly asked, "Who is Marian? Who can tell me?"

His muddy eyeballs lit up because of the anger, which was particularly burning.

Kelvin looked back at him puzzled for a few seconds and asked, "When did you come?"

"I came early." He was still a little angry and continued, "I didn't know that Yvonne was back. None of you told me."

They originally wanted to complain to him, saying that Yvonne was now a member of the Holmes family. The two families should keep their distance. It was inappropriate for Kelvin to bring Yvonne back directly.

Richard was very stubborn in some ways, so they thought he would be angry.

As a result, before they could finish speaking, Richard left happily.

The people who stayed behind looked at each other.

Richard was indeed angry, but he was not angry about this but Kelvin didn't let anyone tell him!

Obviously, Kelvin didn't take him seriously!

After arriving, he found them gathered around to watch the surveillance on the computer. He glanced over and saw a strange girl pushing Yvonne to the ground, only to get even more angry.

Richard pointed at Marian on the computer screen and asked, "Why is this girl so bad at such a young age?"

Jeremy's eyes lit up. He quickly walked over to him, holding his arm and explaining eagerly, "That's right, Grandpa. When she was in the orphanage, she was jealous that Yvonne was cute and bullied her. Later, she stole Yvonne's necklace to replace her.."

Jeremy was telling the truth.

From his words, it would make people feel that Marian was heinous.

Sure enough, after he finished speaking, Richard became even more angry.

His wrinkled face darkened, and his eyes were even sharper.

He asked, "Where is she now?"

Jeremy replied, "In the Holmes family. Grandpa, I will accompany you."

He had never been so enthusiastic about Richard.

"Alright, let the butler prepare the car," Richard said.

Seeing that they were about to walk out the door, Vic approached and stopped them.

He said helplessly, "Wait, don't go now. If you go to the Holmes family, Yvonne has to go back today."

Richard and Jeremy, who were originally filled with righteous indignation, glanced at each other. They thought about it and felt that he was right.

They thought, 'We can go and settle accounts with that Marian anytime. However, it won't be easy for Yvonne to come back later.'

So it was more important to play with Yvonne.

The fierce expression on Richard's face changed. He walked to Yvonne's side, bent over, and touched her little head.

He asked with a kind voice, "Yvonne, did you miss me when you were in the Holmes family?"

"Yes!"

Yvonne's answer without thinking clearly put Richard in a good mood.

He smiled with affection on his face and said, "The snake you picked up a few days ago recovered. I'm going to put it on Tiger Mountain to raise it. Yvonne, give it a name."

Richard didn't say that the snake was quite smart. When they got its bandages changed, it didn't bite no matter how painful it was. It didn't run either, as if it knew they were saving it.

Since it was picked up by Yvonne, let her name it.

Yvonne tilted her head and asked in confusion, "Richard, isn't it called Chris?"

"Chris, that's a good name." Richard said, "Well, we will call it Chris."

From then on, Chris would have a better life.

"Richard, are you going to see the kitten?" Yvonne asked curiously beside him.

Kelvin turned his head and looked at Richard expressionlessly. He asked, "Kitten? That's how you deceived Yvonne last time?

Richard replied confidently, "Isn't it like a kitten?"

"Richard," Yvonne called him softly. Her big eyes were full of anticipation.

She added, "I still want to see the kitten"

This sentence was like a surprise, causing Richard to be overjoyed.

His muddy eyes were brightening immediately.

Before he could speak, Jeremy rushed to Yvonne's side with a serious expression.

He was very nervous. "Yvonne, don't say it!"

"What?"

Yvonne was extremely confused. Jeremy's words made her head dizzy.

"What did you say?" she asked.

Jeremy was helpless.

Richard, who had recovered from the surprise, laughed heartily and touched Yvonne's head.

He said kindly, "My darling, how can you be so cute!"
