Chapter 14

This kid's identity was already obvious to Fiona , no need to think about it ..

She didn't get up but just glared at Yvonne with a venomous look like a poisonous snake .

All the crap she went through today was because of this kid !

This morning , her dad came home furious , saying the Adler family had rejected their cooperation and blamed it all on her mom .

Fiona knew her mom came to the Adler family to teach this kid a lesson for her .

Her parents were currently fighting at home , and the fighting was escalating , reaching the point of divorce

She was so angry that she came to the Adler family , hoping to beg Kelvin for mercy , but couldn't even get in the door

Now she got hit by a servant , and worst of all , she was being laughed at by the very person who was responsible for her plight .

Perhaps driven by hatred , she leaped from the ground and lunged at Lillian .

Her move was too sudden .

Lillian didn't expect it and got knocked down .

The bodyguards rushed over instantly but were a second too late .

Lillian's head hit the ground , causing her brain to momentarily go numb from the pain .

She touched the back of her head , her hand covered in blood .

Seeing the bright red , Yvonne couldn't hide anymore and rushed out . " Lillian ! "

The sound was drowned out by the noise , and the bodyguard quickly went to the car , preparing to take Lillian to the hospital .

Yvonne knelt beside Lillian , holding her hand , scared to death as she saw more and more blood-

Then , she turned to look at Fiona , who had just gotten up from the ground , questioning " Why , why did you hurt Lillian Fiona froze mid - action , her gaze dropping . Her voice , icy and venomous , dripped with seething rage as she responded through clenched teeth . " Why did I hit her ? It's all because of you . "

Yvonne was scared by the hatred in her voice .

Her small body trembled , and she didn't dare to speak anymore .

It felt like one more look at the woman would get her bitten .

Fiona took two steps toward Yvonne . Seeing Lillian unconscious in the guard's arms , she felt a bit panicked . Is that old had dead ?

She instinctively stepped back , wanting to leave before anyone noticed .

But when she turned around , she froze , because someone had appeared behind her .

" Hey , 911 emergency .

Yes , I'm reporting an incident " Ian held his phone to his ear . " Someone's been attacked . Please come quickly ! Or she'll get away . "

" Ian ! " Hearing what he just said , Fiona hastily reached out to snatch his phone . You're crazy ! Don't call the police ! "

The moment she reached out , Ian saw through her and leisurely stepped to the side , Standing firm , he raised a hand in front of him , his tone casual . " Ms. Saxon , keep your dignity . Don't stand so near to me ?

At this title , Fiona's face turned ghastly pale . She glared viciously at Ian Saxon was her ex - husband's surname .

" Come on , we're all old acquaintances . Why are you calling the police ? Hurry up and cancel it

Ian raised an eyebrow , his gaze at her lazy and teasing .

Acquaintances ? I am indeed familiar with Lillian , but you . His un-nished words carried a deep meaning . But the silence was more embarrassing than the words .

" Tan , this isn't your business ! " Fiona didn't want to offend him . She had glanced at Ian's phone screen earlier and saw he really had called the police .

So she was now in a hurry to go home and discuss a solution with her mom .

It's all the kid's fault ! With red eyes , she glared fiercely at Yvonne , then frantically rummaged through her bag for the car keys and sped away .

Watching her leaving , Ian chuckled , saying inwardly , Think you can run ?

After Fiona left , the bodyguards drove the car over . Two bodyguards carried Lillian into the car together .

Only Yvonne was left at the doorstep , looking utterly lost . She looked up at Ian several times , thinking he was amazing - just a few words and the scary woman was scared off .
