

Abandoned Super Cutie Adopted by Billionaire Clan

Chapter 171

Hearing this, Yvonne left contentedly.

The servants and bodyguards who had come to protect her also dispersed and returned to their posts to perform their duties as quiet again under the osmanthus tree.

Yvonne was a little late when she was sent to school, and the school gate was empty.

Today, her little schoolbag was exceptionally heavy, and the panda decorated outside was also bulging. From a distance, it looked like she was carrying a doll.

led her to the door and watched her enter before leaving.

At noon most of the children were sent by the nanny as soon as they woke up, and they were listless at the moment.

The most energetic person should be Anna

She watched Yvonne step by step, happily reaching out and hugging her.

Yvonne. I thought you weren't coming this afternoon."

Yvonne smiled at her sweetly and explained softly. "My master came to the house, and I was late because I went back to see

Is it the master your family found for you?"

"Yes. Dad said he's super amazing!" Yvonne said as she pulled open her little backpack.

She tugged at the opening like a treasure offering, and her large and round star eyes were bent into the shape of a crescent.

"Anna, look, I brought you a lot of oranges."

The light was abundant, and Anna could see that the yellow oranges inside were round and sweet, which was particularly delightful

"Is this the little orange you mentioned?"

"Yeah"

Anna excitedly approached and hugged her tightly, rubbing happily. "Thank you, Yvonne!"

Before she ate the orange, she was already moved.

"I love you so much. You always save the best treats for me!"

"Well..." Yvonne grabbed one and put it in her hand, her big sparkling eyes full of anticipation. "My mother and master both said it was delicious. Try it now."

Anna was moved to take the little orange. She peeled it and split it in half.

"Well, half for each of us

After saying that, she put her half into her mouth.

The moment the juice spread in her mouth, Anna felt like she was about to faint with happiness. What kind of divine little orange is this?!

"It's delicious!" She was even more moved, holding Yvonne in her arms.

e. you are a fairy! You are an orange elf!"

At the same time, she praised her from the bottom of her heart, "Yvonne, you

Yvonne, who was giddy with praise, laughed foolishly, and half of the little orange in her hand had not been eaten yet.

Rachel, who was sitting in front of the two, turned her head curiously when she smelled it.

"Yvonne, Anna, are you two eating oranges?"

"Yeah!" Yvonne handed the little orange in her hand and asked softly, "Rachel, do you want to taste it?"

Rachel shook her head. "We've got loads at home sitting on the table, and I don't even feel like eating them."

Seeing Anna's happy face, she said enthusiastically, "If you like oranges, I can bring you some tomorrow. But our school doesn't allow children to bring food in. Don't be discovered by the teacher."

After Rachel said this, Yvonne nervously covered her little schoolbag.

Only then did she know this rule. "But I also brought a lot in before."

Seeing her nervous expression, Rachel smiled kindly. "It's okay, I've brought it before, too. Just eat it secretly

As long as these kids didn't share their snacks with others, the teachers usually turned a blind eye.

Yvonne stuffed the half of her hand into her mouth and ate it, then zipped up her bag and handed it to Anna, which was heavy with oranges.

Anna took it skillfully and gave her bag to Yvonne.

The two little girls exchanged words.

Their almost psychic coordination made it obvious that they'd clearly done this sort of thing many times before. "Yvonne, I'll take it back to wash it for you tonight, and we'll change it when we come to school tomorrow morning."

"Okay."

The aroma of orange in the drawer kept tempting Anna, but she had strong self-control and resisted.

She kept telling herself in her heart to endure it until she could eat it when she got home from school.

However, what she didn't expect was that just as the class was over, a fat boy suddenly came over.

"You are eating oranges in class. I saw it."

This little boy was Kevin

He had been staring at Yvonne for the past few days, and it was because he had been paying attention to her that he saw the scene of eating the orange.

After class, he couldn't wait to run over.

Twill tell the teacher. The school does not allow food, and you brought so much."

After saying this, the eyes of the three little girls were a all on him.

Yvonne froze for a moment, then said before Anna, "I brought it, not Anna."

Kevin couldn't help but feel a little proud. He wanted to do more to attract Yvonne's attention

"Then I'll tell the teacher that you brought it."

The innocent Yvonne opened her mouth and wanted to say something more, but was stopped by Anna.

Anna calmed down a lot and took Yvonne's hand to comfort her.

"It's okay, Yvonne. If the teacher knows, I'll ask her to call my grandfather and ask him to send someone to take the oranges away."

After placating Yvonne, she raised her little face and looked at Kevin coldly, without fear. You can go and complain You sue anyone you want, or the principal."

Seeing Kevin's face become dull and stiff in an instant, she looked indifferent.

"My grandfather won't scold me if he finds out, and Yvonne's mother won't scold her if she finds ou. You can't threaten us

And she said, "Yvonne, would your mother or your uncle say anything about you?"

Yvonne shook her head in confusion and said in a sweet voice, "No."

She was sure that even if she moved an orange tree into the school, her mother wouldn't scold her.

Her mother and uncle will only help her move together.

"Then it's fine."

Kevin was a little embarrassed and clenched his fist hanging by his side awkwardly.

His face was a little red, but he still said something cruel, "I'll go find the teacher now!"

After leaving these words, he turned around and ran out.

Watching his back disappear at the door of the class, Yvonne looked back, still a little worried.

Her big watery eyes kept staring at Anna. "Anna..."

That adorable little face had Anna smiling nonstop. She couldn't resist giving Yvonne a hug

"It's okay. My dad said before that if I bring food, I shouldn't give it to my classmates. If they eat and get sick, we should compensate. The school sets this rule as well."

She had a good memory and knew a lot.

Yvonne and Rachel lay on the table and listened with admiration.

"Your little oranges are only for me to eat, and we didn't share them with others. The teacher won't say anything about us" Hearing what she said, Rachel patted her chest happily. Fortunately, I didn't eat just now."

She breathed a sigh of relief and joined Anna in comforting Yvonne.

Tr's okay, Yvonne, you and Anna are good friends. It's normal for the two of you to share things. The teacher won't scold you."
