

Abandoned Super Cutie Adopted by Billionaire Clan

Chapter 250

Chapter 250

The test results for the grapes came in the next day. When the lab assistant brought the report to Taylor, he was in the middle of a discussion with Mike.

55%

Mike, who had been shamelessly hanging around, had spent the entire morning in Taylor’s office, talking and pulling him in different directions.

In the past, Mike would have kept his distance from Taylor due to his bad temper. But ever since the Holmes family started sending all kinds of delicious treats, Mike had been getting closer.

During these snack-filled sessions, Mike had discovered that Taylor wasn’t as strange as he appeared. While Taylor seemed serious, he was actually quite approachable.

Now, Mike had mastered the art of free snacks and drinks.

And now, he had finally gotten his hands on the grapes he’d been craving.

When the assistant placed the report on Taylor’s desk, she noticed the two were deeply involved in their discussion, so she didn’t interrupt and left quietly.

Halfway through their conversation, Taylor suddenly noticed the unfamiliar envelope sitting on his desk.

He hesitated for a moment before picking it up, puzzled. ‘Who had sent this? It wasn’t there earlier.’

As he opened it and saw the first line of text, he understood immediately.

It was the grape’s test results.

“Test report.” Mike stood up, walking over to peer over his shoulder.

The report was full of technical data that was difficult for anyone who wasn’t in the field to understand.

Mike couldn’t make sense of it, so he focused on Taylor’s reaction, eagerly asking, “What does this mean, Taylor?”

Taylor didn’t answer immediately. He stared at the report for a few seconds, rubbed his eyes, and looked again.

He was a researcher, so he was highly sensitive to numbers.

Sometimes, he even had a strong reaction when seeing numbers like those on his experiments, such as car plates, road signs, or times—his heart would leap.

Last night, he had made a rough estimate of the grape’s data, but now, seeing these results, he realized he had been far too conservative in his guess.

The numbers were far beyond what he had expected—and by a wide margin.

In shock and awe, he couldn’t help but feel elated.

With this certification, a breakthrough was inevitable.

Mike, noticing the changing expressions on Taylor’s face, couldn’t contain his curiosity and asked again, “So, what does it all mean?”

“The nutritional content in these grapes is off the charts. The resveratrol level is exceptionally high—about ten times higher than ordinary grapes. It can inhibit the growth and spread of cancer cells. Additionally, two key values have powerful antioxidant properties, which can greatly aid in skincare and anti-aging…”

1/3

18:25 Thu, 10 Apr

Chapter 250

These numbers were nothing new to Taylor, he had studied similar data in his towers betor

As he spoke, he went into detail, sharing his knowledge freely

Mike, who had been half-heartedly listening at first, gradually became more fooned, huangbog on every word.

Once Taylor finished, Mike was left in a state of shock. “So, these grapes are basiccry like ‘mate dat?

He had an idea and quickly pulled out his phone, requesting a report for a skincare produser

As the vice director, Mike had a lot of connections.

This skincare product was from a well-known international brand and was very poplar, chen vote der by worsen

He printed the report from his phone using the office printer, making two copies—one for himself and one for Taylor

“Since Taylor used to study medicine, I figured you’d understand the contents of this repon

Taylor glanced over the A4 paper and nodded.

He understood it well, though a few terms from the beauty industry were a bit foreign to him, but they weren’t significant.

Mike, still not fully understanding, waited patiently for Taylor to finish reading, eager to ask his next question “Taylor, the primary function of this skincare product is to combat oxidation and delay aging, After seeing the numbers, which one do you think has a stronger effect: the skincare product or the grapes?

Without hesitation, Taylor answered, “The grapes

Mike had already suspected this, but hearing Taylor’s firm answer made him even more impressed

He explained, “You might not know, but this skincare product sells for 2,500 dollars a bottle nationwide

Women’s money was indeed easy to earn. If he compared the test results of this skincare product with the grapes, they could sell for far more than 100 thousand dollars.

For the first time, Mike thought the price wasn’t unreasonable because the product had been underpriced.

Upon hearing this, Taylor felt like he was missing out.

After all, this was the small apprentice of his, so tender and adorable, nursing those little grapes beside the tree—it made him feel emotional just thinking about it.

Seeing Taylor’s moved expression, Mike knew his goal had been achieved.

With a friendly smile, Mike offered some advice.

Taylor, these grapes are definitely underpriced. To avoid selling other fruits at a loss in the future, how about I give you an idea?

Taylor, intrigued by this suggestion, turned to look at him. “What idea?”

Mike grinned, “Next time you get fruit, let them send it over for testing first. Once you have the report, compare it with similar products on the market, and give the Holmes family a reference price. That way, you won’t sell too cheaply or too expensively

Taylor thought the idea was great, and he felt grateful for Mike’s suggestion.

He looked at Mike with a sincere expression and said, “Thank you, Mike. I’ll call them and discuss it”

2/3