Chapter 321 Worried about being noticed , the subordinate lingered outside the mountain about 0 pm , when the moon was desecrated .

He was confident that only his employees were in the on hand and finally left .

He worried whether five employees were enough for such a large orchard .

He sympathized with them , recognizing that the wealthy Adler family could afford to hire more help and ease their burden .

He felt the person in charge was exploiting them , making it a challenging workplace . Once the five employees were confirmed , the subordinate reported to Layne .

By then , news of the state banquet had gone viral online , dominating every platform .

It was unavoidable for Layne , unless he avoided his plunger . He seemed drawn to it against his will , uncomfortable if he didn't look , and uncomfortable for a whole day if he did .

Now , as he scrolled through his phone , that familiar discomfort returned .

Upon receiving the news from his subordinate , Layne immediately ordered his men to execute the plan .

His desire for success and vengeance drove him so much that the prosperity of Seaview Pavilion valued him more than his financial losses .

He promptly dispatched someone to inspect the land that day , and they chose a location near the Adler family orchard , though not directly .

adjacent to it .

The land's value had recently surged for unknown reasons , and numerous development projects had sprouted up around it .

It was hard to believe this area was desolate just six months ago , Layne opted for collective land , which required only an application rather than an action .

While the process could be lengthy .

, connections could expedite it .

All the details , including the intended use and timeframe , were predetermined , so Layne didnt need to be involved .

He was deeply attached to the land , so he participated in the negotiation despite his reservations .

Confident his connections would secure him the property , he was caught off guard when things unfolded unexpectedly .

Ochoa , weve received bids from over ten companies for this land , so well decide the winner through a public bidding process More than ten ? Layne was shocked .

That number far exceeded his expectations .

The person nodded , seemingly familiar with this .

All the land around here is like this now .

Everyone in the industry recognized the potential , but Layne was lagging .

While he had the money , outbidding the twelve other interested companies would require significant investment and cuts elsewhere .

He decided to investigate before making a decision , as he didnt know the identities or backgrounds of the other bidders and therefore couldnt analyze them .

However , he remained optimistic about finding a good deal .

He hoped to secure the project , so he sent one of his project managers to the bidding meeting .

However , they were outbid by over a dozen other companies .

His proposal couldnt match rival domestic firms strong technical skills and solid reputations .

Confident it would secure his return , he was blindsided by a major setback right out of the gate .

His staff and project manager comforted him , saying , Good things take time , and the inevitable frustrations were normal , as success often comes after many twists and turns .

Layne realized there was logic in what they were saying if he couldn't find it nearby, he'd have to expand his search.

Rushing this wasn't an option.

He had his team scout alternate locations and simultaneously contacted the Adler family orchard's employees, developing a detailed plan to befriend them.

This meticulous strategy proved successful when he eventually befriended an employee.

The next step involved discreetly gathering information about the orchard using subtle hints and indirect questions, slowly causing the employer to lower their guard. The recent college graduate was quite naive. Once, after a few too many drinks, he started complaining about his job, saying "I slack off all day every day. I feel like I'm wasting my college education, despite my top-notch gaming skills." Layne's team was stunned, confident they had misheard.

With only five employees, the one hand was already stretched thus, making their proposed plan. They barely paid attention as the young man began to fit again.

If I quit, I'll never find another job this easy and well-paying, but if I stay, my intoxication led him to dwell on the line, but the cold wind up his muddled mind. Nutritious things what a day. Chapter 321 He cautioned himself against another night of drinking.

Getting drunk might lead to rash decisions, like resigning, that he'd regret when sober.

With the hour growing late.

he bid farewell and hailed a taxi for a swift ride home.

He realized returning later wouldn't matter, as he could always nap in the break room tomorrow after work.

This realization made him wonder where else he could find such an ideal job if he ever left.

On his way back, he cringed, remembering his drunken ramblings, and realized he'd shared them with the stranger.

He felt compelled to spill everything. The young man wasn't very strategic but decided to limit his outings.

The person could hold his liquor well and never get drunk.

He preferred a company that was more similar to his drinking habits.

He then declined every subsequent invitation , and after several refusals , the other party grew suspicious and reported the situation to Layne .

Laynes recent streak of bad luck left him feeling even more disheartened by this news .

He believed others sensed his misfortune and were Frustrated after two failed attempts , he devised a new and daring plan .

What if we just went in to take a look ? E

Chapter 322 Laynes vivid imagination made it even harder to resist inside .

He fantasized about closely examining and photographing the equipment , observing the cultivation techniques , and using that knowledge to decipher the structure upon his return .

The problem was that Layne couldnt risk upsetting the Adler family .

They couldnt stand to hear his name , let alone receive more requests from him .

With a sigh .

Layne realized hed have to find another way .

Frustrated by constant setbacks , he couldnt help but dwell on his past collaboration in exposing Seawise Pavilion .

Despite the difficulties , he felt no remorse , only a more profound resentment toward Seawise Pavilion .

The situation wouldnt have occurred if an exception hadnt been made initially , and the Adler family wouldnt have blocked them .

He and Seawise Pavilion were destined for conflict .

Layne , firmly believed his success was directly tied to Seawise Pavilions failures .

He believed that he would thrive if they were doing poorly , and vice versa .

This belief fueled his years of relentless attempts to sabotage them .

So , he was shocked when , in a mere month , they had a stroke of luck and completely turned the tables , His lack of progress and the overwhelming online attention given to Seawise Pavilions success after the state banquet made him feel even worse .

His companys branches in Strate City were empty , while Seawise Pavilion was overflowing with customers .

Despite the high prices .

Seawise Pavilions pastries were so popular that demand outstripped supply , and snagging one became a point of pride .

The eagerness to buy these pastries , regardless of cost , was remarkable .

Their stores s were suffering , and their revenue would soon decline if the situation persisted.

Therefore , even disregarding any personal motivations Layne might have had , action was necessary .

At that moment , someone shared , Mr.

Ochoa , I heard Mr.

Richard originally went to Seawise Pavilion to make a cake for his granddaughter .

He brought his ingredients , and the staff noticed something special about them .

Thats how the whole venture began .

Layne , already annoyed , was not interested in rehashing this open secret .

Frowning , he glanced at the speaker and asked irritably .

Whats the point of bringing this up now ? I dont need a history lesson , I need a solution His lousy mood made everyone hesitant to approach him , but one person , despite a moment of pause , decided to speak up , believing it was the only way to improve the situation .

Bracing himself against Laynes anger , he said , Mr.

Ochoa , I thought that if our food impressed the young lady , perhaps Mr.

Richard might forgive our past mistakes for her sake Laynes anger dissipated as he listened , his brow furrowed in thought .

That makes sense , he thought , rubbing his chin .

Why didnt I think of that before Richard initially used his homegrown fruit in his pastries , convinced of its superior quality .

He wanted his granddaughter to savor their meals , and if using his fruit would bring even a moment of joy to her , even if it meant setting aside past differences , he would gladly share it .

Kid : were easy to please , if they enjoyed a treat , theyd beg their loved ones to buy it .

Knowing how much Richard doted on his granddaughter , he wouldnt refuse her .

His path was clear win over the child .

Laynes mind sharpened , realizing that the little girl was the key , Richard would do anything for her .

Determined to win her over , Layne immediately called a meeting , challenging his team to find creative ways to entice the little girl with their delicious pastries .

He exuded confidence , a testament to his familys once renowned brand .

After a lengthy discussion , they devised a multi phase plan : first , they would release a line of visually appealing pastries to capture childrens Then they would leverage this initial popularity to market these pastries online , emphasizing their customizability and kid friendly designs to gain broader interest .

By then , the overwhelming publicity and widespread online praise will surely reach the girl , even if only through those around her .

To attract young girls , they would also offer enticing items like dolls and dresses alongside their usual pastry selection .

Layne had someone discreetly map the childrens route to school and then asked the branch to decorate its exterior with eye catching decor hoping to pique the childrens curiosity on their way to school Perhaps his string of recent setbacks contributed to his plans success .

The shops , adorned with two brown teddy bear at the entrance , captured many children passing by .

The enormous bear , dressed in a dainty floral dress , held a tray of pastries .

1/2 Chapter 322 Layne spared no expense finding a craftsperson to create these two large , incredibly soft bears .

The children adore cuddling them , especially their Dufly legs .

The dismissal time e for kindergartens in Strate City was generally the same , leading to increased traffic congestion as many parents pick up their children Richard , despite his busy schedule lately , managed to pick up Yvonne from school today .

Chapter 323 Having seized the opportunity from Ian , Richard was glad to be older and happily gathered his things to pick up Yvonne from school .

In this family , he would get away with anything by using his age and seniority as an excuse .

Plus , he had been preoccupied lately , working long hours and not spending much time with Yvonne ..

He often left for the day before Yvonne woke up .

With most of his work done , he delegated the remaining tasks to Ian , freeing up his schedule to pick her up from school .

Richard inquired with the principal while picking her up today to confirm the schools holiday schedule , even though he was already aware of it .

When their holiday officially began , the thought of taking Yvonne out the day after tomorrow brought a cheerful laugh to Richards face Richards laughter broke Yvannes thoughts .

As she was distracted , her gaze was drawn to something outside the car window .

Her head turned towards it , her soft , delicate hand resting against the window , her clear eyes sparkling .

Grandpa , look at all the decos ! she exclaimed , her voice bubbling excitedly .

Richard smiled , gently rubbing Yvannes head with his aged hand .

Caxing out the window , he said , Well , it was beautiful , then turned back to her with a smile to explain further .

New Years is almost here , he said indulgently , a broad smile spreading across his face as he looked at his adorable granddaughter , Yvonne .

Grandpa will give you the biggest gift this year .

The biggest gift had no boundaries .

He had even seriously considered how Jeremy had been constantly arguing with him lately , showing no respect for his age , so he decided to quietly dock part of his gift as punishment deducting that portion and providing it to Yvonne as a reward would be preferable Richards smile unsettled Yvonne , so she blinked her large , clear eyes and looked away , back out the car window .

She seemed accustomed to his unsettling smile , Two brown teddy bears , each holding a plate with a cute little cake , were displayed outside a roadside shop .

A child , her big eyes fixed on the bears , leaned curiously towards the car window .

On this stretch of road , traffic was heavy and slow moving , giving Yvonne ample time to observe the scene .

Beneath the two teddy bears lay numerous children , clearly enjoying the soft , fully feel of the new toys .

Yvonne turned , grabbed Richards hand , and excitedly showed him the teddy bear shed found Look , Grandpa , she exclaimed , its the Boonie Bears ! -to date and had watched cartoons with She remembered the Boonie Bears and realized Richard must know about them , too , since he was up to Yvonne , including the one with the two bears .

Richard squinted at the two large bears Yvonne was pointing at , his voice hesitant .

Is this the right color ? He still remembered the two bears , their dark brown fur , who spent all day eating and drinking , their demeanor not particularly gentle .

Yvonne hesitated , leaning on the car window to study the bears .

Her careful observation revealed subtle differences between the four bears .

It seems I was mistaken , she admitted sheepishly , a playful lilt in her voice .

They aren't Boonie Bears Richard felt warmth spread through him as he observed Yvonne , who was well behaved .

After noticing their stalled progress in traffic , Yvonne found her gaze drawn to the two bears a constant source of amusement since Richard had picked the child up from school .

Richard could only see Yvonne , who was well behaved .

He wasn't interested in the two bears , but Yvonne was .

Find a place to park , he told the bodyguard in the passenger seat .

Then go into that shop , buy something , and ask them where they had those bears made Richard couldn't recognize the store's name because the sign was too far away .

Although his eyesight had improved , it still wasn't as sharp as Yvonne's mother's naturally bright eyes .

Yvonne , too , had remarkably bright eyes .

He decided against buying the bears , figuring their seemingly new appearance might have accumulated dust from the roadside traffic .

He preferred to customize new ones , especially since Yvonne favored bright colors .

While Richard was initially keen on the colors , he added some pink touches to the house for Yvonne's sake .

Over time , after buying many pink items himself , he grew to appreciate their beauty and clean aesthetic , finding them visually soothing and pleasant .

This feeling was new to him , unlike the mischievous kids back home .

He decided to have two identical pink teddy bears made .

Yvonne would be on vacation soon , and he looked forward to taking photos of her with the bears in the background they'd make the pictures even better Upon receiving the order , the bodyguard immediately sprang into action .

Yvonne , overhearing this turned to Richard , hugged his arm , and asked softly , Grandpa , is the big bear very expensive 1/2 Chapter 323 She figured if it were too pricey , she'd stop Richard from buying it because she didn't want it that badly .

But if it was cheap , she could buy one for herself and , when Anna visited for the holidays , she and Hudson could play with it together Richard lovingly touched Yvonne's head , his eyes brimming with relief and adoration .

It doesn't cost much , he assured her , knowing that price was insignificant when it came to Yvonne's happiness .

a childhood , no He believed money was meant to be spent , especially on Yvonne's happiness .

He was devoted to providing her with a wonderful mother the cost .

Richard wished that something would spark these memories when she grew up and bring her happiness .

Yvonne , overjoyed , couldn't decipher Richard's thoughts .

As she watched the bodyguard sprint towards the imposing bear , she impulsively reached out , embracing Richard's arm and nestling against him .

Thank you .

Chapter 324 Richard was nothing but fair , though it was hard not to compare such a well behaved kid to the peers .

Heartwarming scenes like this always made him think about how differently the other children would have acted .

was a naughty Their relationship used to be much more strained and Jeremy wouldn't have dared act out like this in front of Richard back then .

He was a child , always running around , wearing Richard down .

Having one child at that age was difficult enough , but Richard had several .

It was a nightmare to imagine how chaotic it would be .

As they matured , their personalities became more defined , and they grew quieter .

However , Richard found that his interactions with them no longer brought him joy , only frustration .

Yvonne remained the best in his eyes , Unlike other children at her age , she was well mannered , sensible , and composed , Richard acknowledged her quiet personality but knew even if she were more spirited , his love for her wouldnt waver The bodyguard hurried back with a pastry box , delicately wrapped .

Once inside the car , he relayed his findings to Richard , The answer came quickly because , coincidentally , someone had asked the same question just thirty minutes earlier .

The clerk had located the manager , who had called for the answer , saving everyone time .

Here , the bodyguard said , carefully offering the pastries he carried .

These are the most popular cakes for children at that bakery He explained how busy the shop had been and that he had picked one up for Yvonne The purpose of this trip was to find out where the bear was customized , but Richards interest was piqued by the mention of children .

He eagerly grabbed the package , carefully unwrapping the box to reveal a delightful surprise a small , light purple bunny shaped cake .

Seeing the logo on the packaging gave the old man pause .

Why this shop he wondered , his hand hovering in midair .

The driver turned his head and asked , Sir , shall we go ? Richard looked away indifferently , but the girl beside him was captivated by the cakes beauty .

Her bright , wide eyes were hard to miss Heres your cupcake , Richard said , handing it to her with a fork .

Just eat half , or you wont have room for dinner later , and I will get in trouble .

He winked , mainly worried that her mom would stop letting him take her on outings Yeah ! The little girl beamed , her eyes curving into crescents .

Accepting the beautiful cupcake , she pondered where to take the first delicious bite .

As their car pulled away , the two bears moved to follow behind .

Richard was simply curious , why the store had so abruptly shifted its target customers .

He found it rather odd and intriguing The obedient little girl carefully cut the rabbit shaped cake in half , exactly as she was told , leaving the other half untouched .

As they neared home , she asked Richard what to do with the rest of the cake .

Richard grabbed the empty cake box and said without hesitation , Its alright , you can take it back for your brother .

He found Jeremy helpful only at times like this , because although he disliked sweets , the doctor forbade him from eating them As usual , Richard first took Yvonne back to the Holmes family and then returned across the street to their own home .

This time , after dropping them off , the driver took the car to the parking lot .

Only after stepping inside the Holmes family home did Richard realize he'd forgotten to give the bodyguard the cupcake and had accidentally brought it inside .

Upon the little girls entrance to the foyer , the room fell silent .

Stefan sat opposite him , a familiar looking paper bag resting on the coffee table beside him .

The little girl , searching for her mother , was so preoccupied that she didn't see it .

Richard couldn't help but find it familiar , as though he had seen it recently but couldn't quite put a finger on it .

Finally , he asked , Stefan , what is that on your table It looks so familiar but it's on my left hand .

For a split second , his casual expression froze Hearing his voice , Stefan's gaze swept over him , finally landing on Richard followed Stefan's gaze down to the cake in his own hand .

You didn't get this from that place with the two bears out front , did you ? Stefan didn't answer , but his expression told Richard he was right .

The two were indeed grandfather and grandson , their choices uncannily similar .

Richard placed the box on the table , and took a seat .

Yvonne already ate half ; she can't have any more .

Too many snacks will spoil her appetite Stefan hummed in agreement .

He wasn't disappointed , because he hadn't gone there for the cake in the best place .

Passing by after leaving his d Chapter 321 mend he had noticed two bears at entrance , swarmed by children hugging their legs and climbing them .

Impressed by the quality , he entered the shop , ordered a signature cupcake , and inquired about the two bears .

hoping to customize a pair .

Back home , he paused at his door , deciding Yvonne should try the cupcake , though it didn't matter if she declined .

Without even glancing at the cupcake , he casually remarked .

This is for Jeremy It might have seemed like favoritism , but it was simply because Vic Adler wasn't around , and Charles couldn't eat it .

Giving it to Jeremy was his only option .

Richard smiled again , recognizing their unspoken understanding .

Jeremy was not out of school yet he was almost two hours later th than Yvonne .

As they spoke , Kelvin arrived .

The servant told him about Yvonne's location .

As soon as he entered , both Richard and Stefan's eyes instinctively darted to the bag in his left hand .

Richards face briefly contorted in thought before he released a significant sigh .

It seemed like the men of his family grandfather , father , and son -shared the same way of thinking .

Seeing the two cakes on the table , packaged identically to the one he held , Kelvin fell silent .

Chapter 325 Did you get this from the shop with the two large bears out front ! Richard asked as he approached .

All three of them were drawn in by that bear at the entrance .

Like father , like son , and like grandson .

Kelvin immediately knew what had happened upon the sight of the two bags together on the table .

Yvonne must have already eaten her cupcake since they had bought identical ones before he returned .

Agreeing with Richard that she shouldnt eat too much before dinner , he put the cupcake with the other two Give this to Jeremy Then , he called a servant to take it to the Adler family .

Upon returning .

Jeremy was taken aback by the sight of three cakes on the table , his mind momentarily blank .

Whats all this about ? he wondered .

Why would all three of them suddenly buy me cakes ? The servant stood beside him , seriously repeating the nonsense Richard had instructed .

These are all rewards for your hard work in school Thats so kind , but Im not hard working at all .

With his sharp mind , he handled everything with ease .

Opening the box , he peered inside , surprise coloring his voice .

Why pink ? He turned to the servant , suspicion in his eyes .

Are you certain this is mine , not for my sister ? The servant kept a straight face and answered firmly , Yes , its for you , dispelling any doubt he might have felt .

Jeremy responded , his voice tinged with disappointment .

Probably all those years of pressure must have finally sparked some guilt in their hearts , and these cupcakes worked as a peace offering The cupcakes were identical , all from the same store and even seemingly the same kind of item based on their packaging .

The lack of effort was obvious , almost insulting .

After taking a bite and finding it delicious , he remembered his sister .

Looking up , he asked the servant , Does my sister have any of this cake ! The servant hesitated for a moment and shook her head .

They didnt get one for Yvonne ? Jeremy asked in disbelief .

How could they ? This has to be a joke .

Tell me this isnt my last meal .

He was flattered , but feeling a bit unfairly favored over his sister , he feigned seriousness and muttered , Its not right how much my family dotes on me , even after all three of them have wronged me .

He was talking about how they had all three beaten him up , likely the only time in his life he had ever been beaten up .

The maid was confused , not understanding a single word he said .

After slicing the bunny cake in half , Jeremy paused , then carefully put it back together .

Ill share it with Yvonne .

The maid tried to stop him when Stefan entered .

She curtsied , greeted him , and excused herself .

Even as she walked away , she thought about how fortunate Stefans timing was , saving her from having to explain herself , Stefan walked in just as Jeremy mumbled to himself while repackaging the cakes .

He frowned and said with exasperation , Just eat it yourself .

Its a mess .

How could anyone give this as a gift ? Jeremy glanced at him but ignored him , continuing to wrap the cake .

As if to emphasize his point , he snorted and declared his close bond with his sister .

You dont understand , Yvonne and I are incredibly close .

She deserves to have everything I have .

Stefan frowned at him for a moment , ent , struggling to understand .

Finally , he asked seriously .

I was going to share with Yvonne .

The manager of the State City doll customization company was used to see six large islers come that evening , It turned out they were all going to the same address .

The manager understood the situation and immediately contacted the factory to request expedited overtime work .

He also mailed a note to thank the benefactor After giving instructions , the manager called a customer to express gratitude .

The phone rang a few times before being answered by a slightly confused sounding Layne .

The managers voice overflowed with enthusiasm .

Class , thank you so much ! Thank you for favoring us with so much business Confused , Layne pulled the phone away from his ear , checked the caller ID , and frowned .

Wrong number ? Upon hearing Laynes voice , the manager still responded enthusiastically , No , Mr.

Ochios , Diu calling to thank you .

Layne frowned even more , The manager was overjoyed , radiating positivity despite Laynes demeanor .

Chapter 326 Layne was caught off guard by what he was hearing .

What bear ? Remember the teddy bears you customized with us recently ? We wanted to thank you for giving us the opportunity .

A heavy sense of foreboding weighed on him .

After all , each bear cost a fortune so who would be extravagant enough to buy six at once ? Layne stopped listening to the managers rambling and his mind raced .

He hung up the phone and immediately called his branch He was told three people inquired about the two bears at the store this afternoon .

Surveillance footage showed two resembled bodyguards , while the third was a striking young man .

Of course , Layne checked his video first , but immediately lost his cool because he knew him .

After all , he had been in this city for so long .

He watched the other two videos .

The guards were definitely disguised , and their faces were unfamiliar , but Stefans presence in the videos told him everything he needed to know about what happened that afternoon Lanyes eyes lit up when Stefan came in and immediately chose a cupcake .

He was thrilled as if he had struck gold .

He even chose pink .

It must be for the girl at home , no need to doubt .

No child could resist the temptation of sweets , and this stores pastries would definitely win her over .

the same time , Jeremy , feeling sick after eating too much cake , pressed his hand to his forehead .

He looked up at Stefan , who was sipping tea beside him , and said .

I cant eat anymore .

Please dont buy this cake again .

Even the most delicious food becomes tiresome when eaten in excess , not to mention that these pastries were far from Jeremys favorites .

He much preferred the fruit his sister planted .

Layne asked the branch staff to wait , but even after three days , the Adlers still hadnt purchased any more of his products .

Jeremys personality demanded he do more than just tell Stefan .

He also informed Richard and Kelvin , hoping to incite guilt .

However , his actions inadvertently sabotaged Lanyes plan .

He spent days harping on this one small mistake .

Whenever Richard tried to speak with him , he would bring it up again .

Remember when you bought all those cakes for Yvonne ? She couldnt finish them , and I had to eat them all ! So whats the big deal that I messed up a little this time ? The old man paused for a moment , choosing not to argue with the boy The teddy bears in the factory were customized very quickly .

They even added a night shift and were working overtime to fulfill the increased demand When it was delivered , Yvonne was already on vacation .

At noon , Richard , who had already gotten the news , went up to Yvonne with a mysterious smile and told her he had a surprise .

Then , he led the lile girl to the door .

The row of pink teddy bears didnt surprise Yvonne , but it frightened Richard .

I only ordered two , he said .

As he looked around for the person in charge , he noticed someone already talking to them at the front can Stefan arrived two minutes later and was also stunned by the sheer number of teddy bears .

He approached the person in charge , frowning slightly , and asked , Are you certain all six are meant for delivery here ! I only ordered two He chose the pink cudor because his current room was ridiculously pink .

Richard approached the deliveryman and asked , Why are there so many ? Im sure I only requested two ? Stefan already knew the answer .

Without a word , he took the order form , glanced at it , signed his name , and confirmed receipt .

As for who made the other two orden th answer was obvious .

He flipped the page and glanced at the next two .

He regretted not asking that day when he returned with the same cake .

Yvones sturdy figure moving swiftly , hurried past Richard and into the house .

She lingered at the door , her gaze fixed on the large teddy bears .

As anticipated , Tinley requested that Wendy prepare a spacious room designed to resemble a bear park , complete with six large bears and MANTICOS Smaller dolls for added effect Richard smiled with relief and went to play with Yvonne .

The decoration of the beautiful teddy bear room at the Holmes residence was soon completed .

A pink , fluffy carpet covered the floor , and six large teddy bears were really eye catching , surrounded by many smaller dolls .

Jeremy , who wanted to come to play with Yvonne , stood at the door .

The little girl happily hopped over with her doll and excitedly called him in for fun Despite Yvannes invitation , Jeremy insisted on keeping the room untouched .

He knew how much she cherished this pristine , rosy haven , perfecily tailored to her taste , and he wanted to preserve its unique charm While women like Anna Lawson or Aunt Tinley were allowed to visit and play with Yvonne , men like Jeremy were not permitted , as he adhered to strict social customs .

Since getting the room , Yvonne rarely played outside with him .

Before , she would join him for a walk after dinner , but now she retreated to the little bear room Jeremy was not the only one who got abandoned .

While Richard should have been happy that Yvonne liked his gift , he realized that her excessive fondness for the bears was making her neglect him , leaving him feeling lonely once more .

One day , after lunch , he ended a call with an old friend who had invited him fishing .

He then went over to the Holmes residence , where he found Yvannes room .

He quietly cracked the door open and peered inside .

Seeing his granddaughter peacefully napping on the furry carpet with the little fox , he quietly closed the door , his heart filled with tenderness .

Without her by his side , he felt no desire to go anywhere .

Several friends of his had developed a passion for fishing .

They invited him on several outings , which he thoroughly enjoyed .

Now , whenever their schedules aligned , the group arranged a fishing trip to the lake .

After his initial successes , Richard consistently returned home without catching any fish .

Maybe his early luck had faded , but seeing the other angler : reel in catches made him feel a bit envious He hated being teased , especially on his way home carrying that empty bucket , so he returned , dejected , only to find his granddaughter , Yvonne , waiting for him .

The little girl noticed that her grandfather was in a bad mood and hurried over to ask him what was wrong Seeking solace , Richard confided in her about his recent streak of bad luck fishing .

The kind little girl thought for a moment before hugging her grandpas leg and whispering , Grandpa , can I go fishing with you next time ? Richard was distracted and didnt fully grasp the situation .

Taking his granddaughter fishing would be a joy , whether or not he caught anything Just her sweet face would be enough to lift his spirits .

Her big , round eyes curved into a sweet smile as she looked up at her grandpa .

Youll definitely catch a fish , Grandpa! she said in her childish voice .

Richard was deeply moved .

Richards success piqued the interest of the other anglers .

They were puzzled , having just arrived and with their lines still cast , to see he had already Landed several fish .

Doubt crept into their minds , This is weird .

Richard has always been down on his luck .

What happened ? Upon closer inspection , they noticed something different : he had brought his granddaughter .

The sound of laughter and the little girls compliments sparked a twinge of envy in their hearts .

They tried to brush it off .

We dont care , not one bit ! But their eyes betrayed their true feelings , sneaking glances towards them .

Just 30 minutes later , Richard called his bodyguard , requesting a larger bucket be brought to his home as the one he had was already full .

He looked around , full of pride .

The lile girl next to him kept telling him , Grandpa , youre so awesome ! Grandpa , I want to eat this fish tonight .

What a big Bah , Grandpat This is the biggest fish I have ever seen ! The overflowing harvest , his granddaughters cheers , and the envious glances from fellow fishermen filled him with the joy of a successful catch .

It was the first time he had experienced this feeling , and it ignited a passion for fishing within him , especially fishing with Yvonne .

Chapter 328 Richards fishing buddies were calling him again , but he didnt go .

To him , fishing without Yvonne was pointless .

In fact , he feared being ridiculed again , especially as he aged and cared more about self esteem .

In fact , he feared being ridiculed again , especially as he aged and cared more about self esteem .

He wandered around for a while and finally went back disappointedly .

Not long after he returned , the butler hurriedly found him and said something .

There e were guests from the Adler residence at the end of the alley : Upon hearing this , Richard paused for a moment in thought before the realization dawned on him it was his eldest son and daughter in law .

He had been so content lately that his children had slipped his mind .

Feeling bored , he assumed Yvonne was asleep and wouldnt play , so he let the couple inside .

Richard thought they were there to invite him back to the Adler residence since it was already December .

So , before they could even speak , he went to the point .

If youre here to ask me to go back , you can leave after you finish your coffee Richard could think of no other reason for the two previous visits than this .

Gavyn tried to say something but stopped and looked embarrassed when he heard his fathers words .

Carol seemed even more unnatural Gavyn cleared his throat awkwardly and replied .

No , your happiness is all that matters to us .

Richard hummed softly , his face blank , a sense of unease growing as he waited for their response .

So there must be something here .

Despite the time apart and unusual circumstances , Gavyn still longed to connect with his father .

After all , there was no grudge between themn .

Richard was getting old , and since they were not living together , Gavyn knew he should spend more time with him while there was still a chance So instead of rushing into his reason for visiting , he decided to chat with his father casually .

Carol, sining next to him , grew impatient as their conversation dragged on .

The old mans numerous uncertainties made her doubt whether he might send them away , She found it more urgent to get down to the point and secretly kicked her husband under the table , assuming Richard couldnt see her .

The first few times

brushed it off and kept talking about how much he cared about Richard .

Then came the second time and the third time .

Gavyn wasnt in a hurry , but Richard was the first to break the silence .

He met the other maris gaze , Tell me , he began , his tone implying he had already sensed the tension between the two , what brings you here today? Carol gave an awkward laugh .

Well , we came to see you today for Lauras engagement with the Jill family .

They only had one daughter , so her marriage was a significant event and Richard had to attend the engagement party in two days .

Richard was a formidable figure , and his presence would demonstrate the Adler familys begard for Laura , which would in turn cam her more respect from the grooms family .

Attending his granddaughters engagement ceremony Richards duty , and Gavyn and Carol had planned on it all along But no one could have foreseen this turn of events .

Although Richard had always enjoyed spending time with Laura at the Adler residence , to their surprise , the engagement was just a few days away , and there was no sign of him , let alone him coming back to stay This made Gavyn and Carol anxious , and after a whole night of discussion yesterday , they decided to come to talk to Richard in person today .

Despite his disappointment with his children in law and his clear favoritism towards Stefan , Richard couldnt possibly miss his granddaughters engagement party .

They were right .

Richard hadnt mentioned it because he had simply forgotten .

The butler reminded him last month , but he was too busy at the time to commit it to niemory .

Whale he treated all his grandchildren fairly , he did have a soft spot for Yvonne .

This might be because his other grandchildren were raised by their parents and , being intimidated by him in their younger years , weren't as close to him , He was more fond of Yvonne , having watched her grow up , but he would still attend Lauras engagement party He nodded.

I was a little busy a while ago and forgot .

Ill be there The butler knew everything about the hotel , so there was no need to ask .

1/2 234 PM d' d' Chapter 328 The couple exchanged hesitant glances after he finished , unsure of what to say next .

Just say it .

Richard was impatient .

Gavyn suggested .

Dad , why don't you come back and stay for a few days , and then we'll set off with Laura on the day of the engagement ? He also wanted to make use of this opportunity to spend more time with his father .

This feeling never crossed his mind when they used to live together , but now , having to navigate layers of security just to see his own father , he couldn't help but feel a growing sense of bitterness and regret .

Richards frown deepened as he refused without hesitation .

I won't go back .

I go directly there .

His tone was firm , silencing his sons attempts at persuasion .

After achieving her goal , Carol gently tugged his hand and silently signaled that they could go .

Helpless , Gavyn could only say goodbye .

Seeing Gavyn's sadness as they left the Adler family estate , Carol reassured him , Don't worry .

Your father has a whole team tending to his every need .

Haven't you noticed how much healthier he looks ? His complexion is far better than before .

Theres nothing to worry about .

Gavyn still frowned .

That might be true , but

His wifes voice chimed in .

But what ? Hes already quite elderly .

If hes happy where he is , let him be .

Dont forget , he was still sharp enough to butmaneuver the Jones family and acquire most of their assets just two days ago .

He stopped talking glanced back at the house , and left .

Chapter 329 Richard did feel energetic now , especially since he had left the Adler residence and moved to the house opposite the Holmes family He unswervingly chose to buy the house opposite the Holmes family back then , which was the most correct decision he had made that year , even though the house he lived in now was bought by Kelvin .

If it hadnt been for the fact that he was a bit slow at taking action , the house would have had his name on it .

After Gavyn and Carol had left , the butler who had been with Richard for decades came over .

It was a rare opportunity for Richard and the butler to have some free time , so they sat together and chatted for a while , marveling at how quickly the children had grown up .

In Richards mind , Laura was still the delicate little girl .

He couldnt believe she was about to get engaged .

Gavyn , Richards son , only had one daughter , Laura .

He and his wife had doted on Laura since she was a child .

Even when she was five , they carried her everywhere , reluctant to let her take a step alone .

They even spoon fed her .

Laura wore her clothes and shoes only once before throwing them away .

She was raised more delicately than a princess Richard disapproved of that and thought Gavyn and Carol spoiled their daughter , so he scolded them with a stern At that time , Richard probably didnt think there would be a day when he would be treated like that .

He could see that Laura was kind and intelligent .

She had always been a prodigy among girls of her age .

No wonder her parents loved her so much .

Richard thought a good child would be spoiled by them if that continued Although Gavyn and Carol were reluctant , they did not dare to disobey Richards wishes and restrained themselves a little .

Upon thinking of Laura , Richard couldnt help but think of Widi Contrary to Lauras situation , Widis living environment was almost the opposite of Lauras .

Laura and Widi were seven or eight years apart in age .

When Widi was three , Carol took our Lauras worn clothes as Laura was little and said she wanted to give them to Widi .

When Teresa , Anthonys wife and Widis mother , heard that , she was furious .

She thought it was an insult to them and then ran to Richard to complain .

Richard remembered it was past one oclock in the afternoon in sununer .

He was taking a nap when the butler woke him up and said Teresa was crying outside .

He got out of bed and went out to listen to Teresa and learned the reason .

Gavyns family and Anthopys family had always been at odds.

They were outwardly friendly but inwardly hostile .

Each of them was not short of Somehow , Carol suddenly said she wanted to give Widi her daughters used clothes to wear , and Teresa felt humiliated .

Teresa cried before Richard , accusing Carol , Why should Widi wear Lauras used clothes ? Carol is going too far ! To be honest , Richard didnt think it was a big deal .

Laura only wore all of her clothes once when she was little , except for the ones she especially liked .

And the ones she especially liked had been put away by her parents and kept for her as memories .

So the ones that could be given away were all new , and Richard later saw them , and some even still had their tags on and their dust bags unopened .

It was really making a mountain out of a molehill for them to bring the minor matter up to Richard .

Rx hard had a headache from all the noise , so he asked someone to call Gavyn and Carol over , along with the clothes that were the culprits .

In addition to that , Richard had Widi , who was playing with pebbles outside , brought in As soon as Gavyn , Carol , Anthony , and Teresa met , they began to bicker .

Richard coughed impatiently , and the room fell silent 1/3 Chapter 329 Then , he asked Widi for her opinion .

Widi , your sister Carol is all grown up now and cant fit into these clothes , so she wants to give them to you .

Do you want them It has to be said that Gavyn and Carol doted on Laura , whose clothes cost about 30 thousand dollars each , and a dress of hers even came with matching accessories and jewelry

Widi , the three year old girl , saw so many beautiful dresses and sparkling hair clips .

She nodded without thinking It was easy since Widi liked it .

Richard let Widi choose for herself , keep whichever clothes she liked to wear , and leave the rest for Gavyn and Carol to deal with .

They could be sent the clothes to a place that specializes in recycling these dresses to be cashed out , or they could be given to others After Widi nodded and said she wanted them , Teresas face changed again and again , becoming awful ..

She looked at Widi threateningly , her eyes full of reproach Widi was happily picking out a dress from the maids hands when she saw Teresas look and let go in fright .

Richard also saw it .

He was angry and scolded Teresa Widi was only three .

What did she know ? She just took what she liked .

The two families each had different ideas about raising their daughters .

When Laura was three years old , she dressed in layers upon layers , like a delicate and beautiful cupcake .

Her jewelry was also expensive , and the servants were often seen looking for her lost hair clips and bracelets .

In contrast , Widi dressed more simply .

ay for her Anthony and Teresa wouldnt mistreat Widi when it came to clothing , but they wouldnt go out of their way .

Widi had never worn such a gorgeous dress before .

That was why she wanted it So , when Teresa was dissatisfied , Richard calmly questioned her , If you buy it for her , will she still want these ? Then Teresa fell silent ..

The inatter came to an end , but there were countless similar incidents afterward .

Richard had a headache every day just dealing with those matters at home .

Moreover , those boys were either arguing or fighting when they got together Just when Richard passed by them a second ago , he had seen those boys huddled together and having a great time .

Yet , as soon as he had walked about fifteen yards away , the sound of their arguing came from behind him .

These little brats are so annoying , thought Richard .

All his old friends said it was a blessing to have many children and grandchildren , but Richard felt he hadnt enjoyed any blessings , only suffering .

Yvonne is still the best .

Yvonne is truly wonderful , thought Richard With that in mind , Richard took a sip of coffee from his cup and asked for the time .

Upon learning that it had been an hour since Yvonnas nap , instantly felt refreshed .

Yvonne should be awake after sleeping for so long .

I have to go and see her , thought Richard again .

With that in mind , Richard stood up and swayed toward the Holmes family opposite He stealthily pushed open a crack in the door as if he were a thief and peeked Inside .

As expected , Yvonne was awake .

Her luck was facing the door , and her round back looked like a round and furry rabbit .

She was surrounded by many teddy bears .

She was muttering to herself .

Richards mood instantly brightened when he saw her wake up .

He smiled , closed the door , and k I knocked on it seriously c c Chapter 329 The door was not was not closed tightly , and he could still hear Yvonne's sound running toward him .

The sound got closer and closer and finally stopped before him .

Then , the door opened .

After seeing Richard outside , Yvonne raised her head , smiled , and shouted to him in a milky voice , Grandpa ... Richard smiled .

His voice and attitude unconsciously softened .

What are you doing ? Yvonne pointed to several teddy bears arranged in a circle in the distance and explained to him enthusiastically , Grandpa , look .

This is me .

This is Anna ... She ran to get all the little teddy bears and explained happily .

Richards smile froze as he heard her next sentence .

This is my baby with Anna , said Yvonne .

Confused , Richard tilted his head slowly .

Is this right .

Yvonne ? thought Richard .

Richards eyes widened in shock He was a rather traditional man , the type who wouldnt even let his grandchildren dye their hair .

But at that moment , he didnt explain too much .

He simply thought it was normal for a child to play pretend Besides , if Daddy Yvonne said were replaced by a boy , Richard would be even more unacceptable .

So , in comparison , Richard suddenly found it acceptable .

Having figured it out , Richards smile became more genuine .

He went along with Yvannes words .

Yvonne is right .

I misunderstood .

Grandpa , its okay .

Come play with me .

Yvonne invited him expectantly .

Richard hesitated before shaking his head ..

It wasnt because of Jeremy , but because he knew his limits .

Yvonne , this is your secret world .

I won't go in .

After saying so , Richard bent slightly .

I came to ask if you want to go out and have fun with me .

He thought it was not good for Yvonne to stay in the room all the time .

She should go out with him to breathe fresh air .

Kunming and jumping more would make one more cheerful and healthy .

After hearing Richards words .

Yvonne hugged her little teddy bear and thought for a second , then resolutely put down the little teddy bear Grandpa , okay , said Yvonne .

On the way out with Yvonne , Richard was still discussing with her .

Yvonne , your cousin Laura is getting engaged in two days .

He walked in and happened to hear Tinley's voice talking to the person on the other end of the phone .

Find a few more people to buy them in batches and bring them all back to me .

The person on the phone said something .

As Richard sat down , he heard a familiar voice After Tinley had hung up the phone , Richard asked , Is it Adrien ? He's coming back soon , right ? Upon hearing Tinley's definite answer , Richard cheered up a little .

He didn't rush to tell Tinley about taking Yvonne out to play in two days , so he started talking about this first .

What did he find out ? asked Richard .

Richard knew what had happened to Yvonne .

He had been helping to find some things since he knew , but nothing had been gained .

He used a lot of connections , but the resurrection from the dead was too strange to be told .

There was no useful news yet .

Although he only heard one sentence of the call just now , his intuition told him they were talking about Yvonne Tinleys next words confirmed it .

Adrien found out about a special kind of pill that appeared three times locally .

Everyone who bought it said it was a miracle medicine .

Before Tinley knew about Yvonne's ability , she didn't think there were any immediate miracle medicines in the world .

Even if it could temporarily restore a person's energy , it would come at the cost of their remaining life force . However , according to what Adrien had investigated , miracle medicine circulating in the local town had no side effects .

After taking it , it could relieve people's pain .

He had even heard of a dying man who had lived two years longer after taking the medicine .

Its medicinal effects were compared to the elixir of immortality .

The matter caused quite a stir in that small town .

When a man from the town went to the city to buy medicinal materials , he mentioned it in the pharmacy .

An attentive clerk wrote it down and told his colleagues after work .

The word spread to a local gold shop .

Then , Adrien's people reported it to him .

Upon hearing the news , Adrien immediately left for the small county .

The phone call just now was the one he made after he landed in the county .

Tinley was certain , that she hadn't let the medicinal herbs she cultivated flow out after she found Yvonne .

The things sold were all fruits , grapes at most , and the tangerine tree in the yard last month .

According to the description , the so called miracle medicine contained strong vitality .

Using flowers , grass , or fruits to refine it wouldn't achieve the effect at all .

It must be herbs .

It was just like the several herbs that Taylor brought back and Yvonne slowly cultivated .
