

Super Mommy 86

Chapter 86

Only by doing so could they prevent Bailey from being swallowed by the controversy and kicked when she was down.

Without saying a word, Artemis tapped his fingers lightly on the table. The solemn rhythm that filled the room simply made the already tense atmosphere feel more intimidating.

After a long silence, he responded in a low voice, "Let's not for now. I'll talk to my mother first. Now that Bailey is being mired in scandals, we shouldn't add on to her burden."

"All right. It's good that you have a plan. If there's nothing else, I'm ending the call."

Furrowing his brows, Artemis instructed, "Call Simon and give him five days to return to Hallsbay. Or else, I'll personally travel to Springwyn to get him."

"Okay. I'll let him know."

"Also, don't reveal Zayron's relationship with him yet. We'll get to that once he's back."

"I understand. Don't worry."

Upon ending the call, Artemis chucked the phone on the table before leaving the study.

He had barely reached the stairs when he heard a dog barking from the living room downstairs.

The dog's incessant barking sounded extremely familiar as if it was from his pet mastiff.

As a sense of dread swelled within him, he quickly strode down the stairs and was greeted by a shocking scene.

All he saw was a brown dog hysterically "teasing" his mastiff that was worth millions.

What a f*cking repulsive sight.

TEJ

His eyes shot toward the laughing children as he questioned coldly, "Who did this?"

Ducking his head, Maxton stopped laughing, for he still did not dare to misbehave in front of his father.

Susan, too, stopped giggling as she stared fearfully at the gloomy-looking man by the staircase.

Compared to both of them, Zayron was visibly more relaxed. Laughing uncontrollably still, he sneered, "Who did this? Are you blind? Hado, of course. Can't you see him pinning your precious dog on the floor?"

Speechless, Artemis felt the corner of his lips twitch.

All this while, he had always thought Maxton was naughty. However, compared to Zayron, Maxton simply paled in comparison,

What sort of environment turned him into such an annoying brat? That aside, this dog looks pretty strong.

Too bad there are barely any ingredients at home. Otherwise...

Noticing the change in Artemis' eyes, Zayron felt his heart sink when he realized the former was salivating at the sight.

Damn it, is he thinking of calling my best friend!

"Hado, if you don't want to end up in a stew, you had better back off."

Wood Woof?

The next moment, a brown furry figure flashed past them as Hado swiftly slipped out of the living room.

Had it stayed a second longer, that would have been the end of it.

When the frustrated Artemis stared at the exhausted mastiff on the ground, his lips twitched.

Damn it! How can you lose to a useless dog? What's the point of me raising you?

"What do you want to have for dinner?"

Exchanging glances with Susan, Maxton looked in Zayron's direction.

The latter—with a nudge of his chin—pointed at the mastiff playing dead on the floor. Cocking his brow, he answered, "Isn't there a ready ingredient in front of us? Let's slaughter it and make stew."

Artemis was rendered speechless.

"Sounds like a good idea," Maxton uttered. "I'll get the cleaver from the kitchen. We can take its life while its legs are still wobbly."

This brat...

Artemis almost did not know whether to laugh or to cry.

If it was anyone else, they would definitely have failed to stop the two boys.

* Mr. Luther, Mrs. Luther has come over. She has entered the neighborhood and will be arriving here any minute."

A respectful voice was suddenly heard from outside, interrupting the strange atmosphere in the living room

Upon hearing it, Artemis touched his forehead in annoyance. It was obvious to him what his mother had come for

She must be here to question me after learning that Bailey's son and daughter are living in my pride mansion.

"Maxton, take Zayron and Susan to the playroom on the second floor. Don't come down here unless I tell you to."

Zavrolet out a short. "Isn't Mrs. Luiler here to see me and Susan? Who else can she see if we hide? The darned dog sprawled on the ground?"

Artemis did not know what to say.

With that, Zayron pulled his sister's arm and dashed to the door.

Bailey has become public enemy number one and is feeling miserable all thanks to this old lady. Before I had the opportunity to confront her at the Luther residence, she actually had the gall to make her way here. Very Toell, looks like there will be no respect for her today.

Pinching between his brows, Artemis let out a sigh.

It seems that a battle of the generations is inevitable. I just hope that it doesn't end too badly.

Meanwhile, Felicity alighted from the car, only to be greeted by the sight of a boy and a girl standing on the steps.

With an arrogant posture, both of them glared at her, their eyes filled with defiance.

After I painstakingly attacked Bailey's reputation, my son is keeping her children in his house and fanning the flames of their anger. If this isn't provocation, what else can it be?

The more she thought about it, the angrier she got, causing her to lose her temper.

"Men, kick these two b*stards out."

Four burly bodyguards came out of the car upon hearing Felicity's instructions. Subsequently, they walked up to the siblings.

The first thing she does is cause us trouble?

With his brows raised, Zayron shot Felicity an icy glare.

If one were to look closely, one would notice that his forehead looked similar to Artemis. Even the look in his eyes was exactly the same.

"I came here out of respect, but you abuse your authority as an elder instead. Don't blame me for what I'm about to do, then. If I lose today, I will throw myself out. There's no need for you to bother. In fact, I'll even crawl out on my knees."

He had hardly finished when he whistled toward the bushes at the side.

Woof Woof! Wool?

Hears the ferocious barking of a dog sprang out of the bushes and pounced on the bodyguards in black suits

Even though Ilario was a dog, it had gone through special training-It not only understood humans but could also attack of its own accord. Even four stills were no match for it, let alone four humans.

In die beginning the bodyguards could still restrain it, but the tide of the battle quickly turned within a minute.

The group of men was billen so badly by Hado that they were begging for mercy on their knees.

fucking hell, in hair noter scon such a savage dog before. This beast alone has defeated the four of us. Given its combat prosess, the mastiffs at home are no match for it at all.

“Y-You guys-”

The veins on Felicity’s forehead began to throb as she stared at the immobilized bodyguards on the ground in shock.

At the same time, her gasp caught the attention of the heavily-panting Hado. Turning its head, it then locked eyes with Felicity’s terrified gaze.

It then barked loudly at her, causing Felicity to jolt in fright,

-D-Don’t you come over!”