

Bossy President & Superstar Girlfriend

C7

Qin Junning wrinkled his brows. The investigation didn't say that Tang Xiao Ai had a boyfriend. He signed for a new girl, not allowing the other party to establish a relationship with the opposite sex. This would be detrimental to his future development and promotion.

Tang Xiao Ei was also shocked because that person was Shen Mo.

She hadn't expected Shen Mo to be here. He should be at the basketball court at the weekend.

"You ..." After Tang Xiao Ai was stopped by him, her white face immediately turned red. She was very shy when facing the boy she had a crush on and had once again turned into a conservative girl in the small town.

Shen Mo was not only the target of her secret love, but also her first love.

Before entering university, she would only study hard and bury herself in the sea of books every day, hoping to get admitted into the best school so that her family would have a comfortable life in the future.

Therefore, she didn't even spare a glance at the boy next to her. Coupled with the pure and conservative atmosphere of the town, she left her first love to the university.

"I happen to be having coffee here ..." Shen Mo saw the look of shock on her face and quickly retracted her hand. She seemed to be like the ancient people, always keeping her distance from the boys.

"What a coincidence." Tang Xiao Ai also retracted her hand and lowered her head. She could look anyone in the eye, but she did not dare to look Shen Mo in the eyes.

"Mm ..." The last time I said that we would eat together in the cafeteria, why did you leave without saying a word? " Shen Mo looked at her bag, very politely wanting to take it for her.

"Ah, because... I forgot a book in the classroom..." Tang Xiao Ai couldn't lie so she made up a lousy excuse with a flustered expression on her quiet face.

"Then let's have dinner tonight. We just happened to meet each other this time ..." I'll treat you. " During those few days on New Year's Day, Shen Mo had always wanted to ask her out. However, he found out that she was hiding in the library all day with her eyes red. He couldn't help worrying if something had happened to the introverted Shen Mo and didn't tell anyone.

"No ..." "No, thank you. I'm going to see my brother today." Tang Xiao Ai didn't expect herself to reject him so quickly. She once dreamed that Shen Mo would extend both of his hands to ask her to dance at a grand party, and she accepted it without any hesitation.

But a dream was a dream. Reality was reality.

"Is your brother in this city?" Shen Mo asked curiously, "Is he my little brother?"

"Yes, relatives." Tang Xiao Ai caught a glimpse of herself reflected in the glass of the coffee shop. She looked like an ordinary person.

"I've never heard you say that... In fact, it seems like you rarely chat with others. In all of the college years, we have never talked more than 50 sentences. " Shen Mo smiled. His warm smile captivated many girls.

"I don't like to talk." Tang Xiao Ai also smiled and said in a relaxed manner.

When she first came to university, she tried to communicate with the people around her. However, she later found out that those girls were all talking about brands and boys, so she couldn't interrupt them at all.

On top of that, she only wanted to take a rest day, either doing part-time jobs or recharging in the library. Gradually, she didn't have the time to chat with her classmates.

Moreover, the tuition fees of this art institute is very expensive. All the students here are proud sons of heaven, and 99% of the students here are rich people. As for her, she is one percent of the students who need to be poor.

The children of the rich would not know the weight of life that the girls of the town had to carry.

Shen Mo is also the child of a rich family. I heard that the principal of this school is his relative, and his father is a high official. Perhaps, you can call him the second generation official.

As such, Tang Xiaoyi felt that he was just a dream that she had a crush on.

Qin Junning sipped his coffee as he looked at the two young men and women walking over. He saw that Tang Xiaosi was smiling and her lips were slightly raised, as if all her flowers had bloomed.

Oh, now he was very curious about how Zhong Daoqing knew this girl. Zhong Yuqing also wanted to know why there was a woman in his room that night.

She was not a New Year's gift from Qin Junning. She was not a "midnight snack" that anyone could arrange.

Through the surveillance footage, he saw Tang Xiaoyi, who was drunk and anxious to find a room to sleep, unexpectedly avoid the security guards. She mistakenly walked into his private elevator, went straight to his room, and threw herself on the bed to sleep.

Zhong Yuqing would never waste his precious time on a woman, but this time was an exception. Qin Junning would call him from time to time to harass him, but he would say nothing about that woman!

He would compensate her for that night by giving her a career, but he didn't need to report everything.

"Qin Junning, if you feel that woman isn't suitable for the acting world, I'll have my secretary write her a cheque. From now on, you don't have to waste any more time on her, and you don't have to waste my time either!" Zhong Yuqing took a deep breath and soaked himself in the Jacuzzi. He was the busiest at the end of the year, so he didn't want to hear about anything other than work.

"NO, NO, NO!" Can't you hear what I'm saying? I like this seed very much, it's very malleable, but why didn't you tell me she had a boyfriend? " Qin Junning flipped through the script as he asked leisurely.