

Supremacy 1241

Chapter 1241 Sniping Through The Ground!

She felt like she was watching a higher-ranked player bullying lower-ranked ones.

While her feelings were shared by most viewers, Felix's fans didn't seem to care about the craziness of this situation!

LANDLORD!!! LANDLORD!!! LANDLORD!!!..

They awakened the stadium from its slumber with a unified thundering chant, causing the other spectators to protect their ears from their destructive noise!

"Landlord has eliminated one team in his first minutes of action!! Is this really it? Is this really how the game is going to progress?!"

Their chants had caused Miss Rose to snap out of her daze and continue her commentary...With her hyping the already noisy crowd, the liveness almost caused some fans of other players to escape from the stadium!

"I am really getting ripped off here." Siren sighed in frustration after her champion lost again to Felix.

"Tell me about it." Aspidochelone's eyelids twitched as he looked at Thor and J'rmungandr who were grinning from ear to ear.

One was happy about Felix's domination and the other was pleased with seeing his poison element causing absolute despair in people again.

"No wonder he waited six hours to make a move." Erebus commentated, "He filled up the tunnels with his poison, enabling him to teleport anywhere he desired within the chasm as long as his poison was there."

Erebus was absolutely right as Felix's teleportation spell or even his dimensional mirror wouldn't have worked if he wanted to use his evil vision as his guidance.

That's because he still needed to have an actual three-dimensional location to teleport to if he had never visited the place before.

His poisonous mist allowed him to achieve that since he might not see the tunnel, but he was most definitely able to see his poisonous mist, taking its shape!!

With Knight Guard's evil aura appearing like a sore thumb inside the poisonous mist, Felix was able to teleport next to him without worrying about having part of his body manifesting inside a wall or such!

"There is another reason." Thor chuckled, "Six hours are enough for your little champions to harvest a great collection of minerals for him."

"Pricks, like master like student." Kumiho cursed with a peeved tone.

Since Siren's champion was Knight Guard, she had chosen Ionian Lord Inozuma to represent her...While her champion was still in the game, she knew that his life was hanging by a line.

Unfortunately for her, Felix had chosen him and his partner Shadowborn Ruler Hogan as his next targets.

'What's the plan here? Knight Guard and Mossa are out of the game. They must have been eliminated by him.' Ionians' Lord Inozuma spoke with a solemn tone as he hid within the shadow realm with Ruler Hogan.

Just like the other two, they were also attacked by the poisonous mist and the poison warriors.

When they realized that fighting them was absolutely useless and that the poison's potency was too frightening, they both hid inside the shadow realm.

As the ruler of Shadowborn, Hogan was capable of keeping anyone inside the shadow realm by covering them with shadow energy...He was the best at it as his guests didn't even feel discomfort in the process.

'Let's change our location through the shadow realm.' Ruler Hogan suggested.

There was no better option than just avoiding the poisonous mist entirely since it was rewardless to deal with it.

'Let's go with that.'

Ruler Hogan guided his partner through the shadow realm until they arrived at a rock's shadow that was at least five tunnels below their original location.

Thankfully, they were able to do this because the tunnels had crystalized light on their ceilings, which were used to light up the tunnels for the miners in the real world.

"Looks like Ruler's Hogan team are in the clear." Miss Rose commentated, "As long as they keep putting such long distances from the poisonous mist, they never need to worry about Landlord."

It was really a massive distance since the poisonous mist was incapable of traveling through walls like them.

So, they might be just five tunnels below it, but the poisonous mist wasn't going to reach them unless it traveled through tens of other tunnels!

The chasm's network was extremely complex, which was why Felix wanted to map out some of it at the start.

'I guess I need to roll up my sleeves for them.'

Felix thought to himself, knowing that his poisonous mist was ineffective against them unless he gave it hours to fill up the entire chasm.

He had no intention of wasting so much time when there were other methods of dealing with them.

Without an ounce of hesitation, he teleported to their previous location and looked below him with his evil vision...It showed that both of them had exited the shadow realm and restarted their mining journey.

Just like they have taken means of hiding their presence from other visions, Felix had also drank the shadow cloak potion, which kept him hidden from their detection.

With this kind of information in his pocket, Felix knew that an assassination attempt was the only method to eliminate Ruler Hogan.

As for Ionians' Lord Inozuma? He was an easy target to handle with other methods.

'Sniper Rifle V6.'

So, he manifested his trademark crystallized sniper rifle and a true poison bullet that was protected with a crystallized thin layer.

"Is he planning to snipe them five tunnels away?" Miss Rose raised an eyebrow in confusion, "Is that even possible with the thickness of the grounds between them?"

She displayed the thickness for everyone to see on the big screen, making them realize that Felix's bullet had to penetrate five layers of extremely thick terrain.

The chasm's interior wasn't made out of soft soil or anything like that...Its terrain was as hard as granite, making it extremely difficult to break it apart easily.

The fact that Felix was planning to use a true poison bullet to pull this off made them even more baffled.

Unbeknownst to them, Felix never had any intention of sniping through the ground...

He created a crystalized platform and stood above it. Then, he aimed the sniper rifle at the ground, and to be exact, on Ruler Hogan's scalp.

'Greater Space spell, Interdimensional Delivery.' Felix uttered in his mind, causing his devilish horns to have gray runic letters light up, giving them a bizarre splendor.

As silent as a night breeze, a tiny gray runic hex manifested above the true poison bullet.

Then, it started to shimmer with gray light as well before turning somewhat unreal, like it existed but at the same time, it didn't.

Felix used his mental energy to load up the bullet in the rifle's chamber without removing his eye from the glass scope.

'The exact distance between me and him is one kilometer and three hundred and two meters. Chance of error is 5% give or take.' Felix narrowed his eyes at Ruler Hogan's evil aura as he calculated the exact distance between the barrel's mouth and his target.

He was capable of doing this since he had an impeccable grasp of calculation due to his cognitive reasoning being on the extreme end.

'Bullet's exit point is one kilometer and three hundred and one meters.'

The moment Felix saw that Ruler Hogan had stopped moving for a split second, he immediately fired the bullet.

Unlike the last times, there was no explosion or even a slight recoil...The bullet just disappeared the moment it reached the barrel's mouth and left absolutely no trace behind it.

Miss Rose and the viewers had their unblinking eyes focused on the ground like fools, thinking that it should have penetrated it by now.

Before they could realize that they had been bamboozled, a notification appeared on the big screen, leaving them absolutely dumbfounded.

-Shadowborn Ruler Hogan has been eliminated by Landlord!-

"What...the...f*ck..."

Chapter 1242 Awakening The Chasm's Master.

Everyone switched their focus instantly to the small screen that was showing Shadowborn Ruler Hogan's team.

When they noticed that the Ionians' Lord Inozuma was staring at his fallen partner with a stunned expression, they knew that the notification was as real as it could get...

"Wind Transmutation!"

A split second later, he pushed his raising terror in his heart and immediately transformed himself into a windy storm, escaping as fast as the wind through the tunnel. Obviously, he took the minerals bags with him.

This was the smartest move to make as Felix was preparing another bullet for him if he dared to remain unfocused for a mere second.

'WHAT THE F*CK WAS THAT!!' Ionians' Lord Inozuma screamed in his mind in utter agitation as a replay of his partner's sudden death kept playing in his mind.

He was standing near him, mining in peace, and a split second later, his skull was cracked open and his body was turned into a shriveled corpse before it even touched the ground.

Everything happened so fast, even with his insane reaction speed, he still wasn't able to comprehend his partner's death!

This left him with no other option but to escape.

Unbeknownst to him, most of the viewers were left in disbelief just like him and they actually witnessed the entire assassination attempt!

"What kind of spatial ability is that?" Emperor Lokhil asked as he gave Felix a look of astonishment.

"It must be Interdimensional Delivery...It allows the user to create an entry point and an exit point for any object he wanted. The object will travel through space-time at the same speed before its entry point." High Chieftain Lokaka shared with a peculiar look, "This is what we use for short distant deliveries in our tribes. I didn't think I will ever see it being used in a battle like this..."

High Chieftain Lokaka knew that this spatial ability or spell could be utilized to drop bombs or such in battles, making it extremely useful.

Though, he never actually saw someone using it to deliver a freaking bullet straight into the head of the target!

"But, I believe it's a greater grade spatial spell. It should be impossible for him to master it in less than sixteen years unless he invested all of his time in it."

"What do you think?" Emperor Lokhil eyed Queen Alfreda, their spellcasting master.

"He is immensely talented in spell casting. I don't find it that shocking if he managed to master even three greater space spells in sixteen years." Queen Alfreda answered.

"I never knew you had a such strong opinion of his talents."

It might have looked like this for everyone, but Queen Alfreda knew about the Elemental Galaxy since her permission was needed for Selphie to accompany Felix.

Knowing that the time difference was that drastic made it acceptable in her eyes for Felix to master any runic spell regardless of the difficulty.

Unfortunately, Felix prioritized his elemental manipulations more than his spellcasting since he didn't have his cheat method on him.

Queen Alfreda was under the assumption that Felix's runic comprehension skills were almost just as gifted as Selphie's after seeing him master a couple of lesser spatial spells in less than three years.

Unbeknownst to her, without his cheat method, his talent was dog poop.

"Another one bites the dust." Erebus leaned against his chair with a defeated expression, feeling too depressed to look at the screen again.

"Cheer up, at least our boy was merciful enough to not use the third level of true poison in his bullet." Thor chuckled.

Felix was a lot of things, but he wasn't stupid to completely annihilate the soul of the shadowborns ruler in a game...Especially, when he could easily finish him off using just the first level of true poison.

Just because he had mastered the third level, it didn't mean that his other two levels were weak...A true poison bullet penetrating the brain straight meant that just the first level was enough to finish the job.

"I am grateful for that, but alas...That damn idiot has now wasted his last revival coupon while he was still paying its debt." Erebus replied with an annoyed tone, knowing that Ruler Hogan wasn't going to be participating in any games in the near future in fear for his life.

The primogenitors ignored his whining and returned to watch the game after seeing that Felix had packed up his stuff and teleported near Ragnarok's Sun again.

'You can't run forever...' Felix thought to himself as he observed a chaotic evil aura, flying rapidly deeper into the chasm.

He recognized that it was Ionians' Lord Inozuma.

Soon, he ignored him and looked at werewolves' King Treznor's team.

What came into his eyes was his poisonous mist being blocked by some sort of wall while those two had already put tens of kilometers of distance from it.

'Looks like he used an ice wall to halt it.' Felix didn't seem too bothered by this as he never had any intention of hunting those two as well.

Being allies with King Trenzor was one of the reasons, but the main one was related to the game's rules.

Felix knew that the moment he got rid of them, the game would end with his team coming on top as winners by default even if there was plenty of time left.

He wanted to avoid this since he could really use the remaining six hours to farm minerals in peace, knowing that not a single player would be bothering him.

This was his main plan all along as he wanted empyrean points more than just winning the game.

Though, for this plan to work, he still needed to deal with the last nuisance.

...

Sometime later...

'I think I have gotten far enough.'

Ionians' Lord Inozuma canceled his transmutation ability and recovered his physical form again. The first thing he did was cast an intense repelling wind barrier around him.

Then, he scanned around him with a wary look as he beamed wind energy stones to recover his exhausted energy.

He was flying for more than fifteen minutes as the wind...With his wind sensitivity, he was able to always pick tunnels that lead somewhere instead of dead ends.

This resulted in him getting closer to the bottom of the chasm.

Krrrrr....Krrrrrr...

'I have been meeting with more whistling worms than usual. I must be close to their nest.' Ionians' Lord Inozuma thought with a solemn expression after hearing the all-familiar noise of Whistling Worms.

His theory was proven right away as two gigantic Whistling Worms showed themselves from the other end of the tunnel, crawling on their bellies as slowly as snails.

With the dim light of the tunnel and their brown color, they seemed like two monstrous shadows that would make any kid have nightmares for months.

Still, Ionians' Lord Inozuma didn't seem to faze by their appearance or their dangerous approach.

He lifted his right wing and waved it down in a slow manner like he was merely stretching it.

Slice Slice...

Alas, this little wing movement had resulted in the Whistling Worms' gigantic heads getting severed in one clean motion...

Thud Thud!

They fell on the ground with decapitated heads and began wiggling around, seemingly not dead yet.

Ionians' Lord Inozuma appeared above them in the blink of an eye and halted their revival attempt by turning them into a bloody paste with a highly pressured wind palm.

-You have earned ten empyrean points from slaying two Whistling Worms.-

Queen Ai notified him.

'Ten points? I might as well go deeper and hunt those worms than mine those stupid rocks.' Ionians' Lord Inozuma decided to switch his strategy.

It wasn't because of the clear profit from hunting the worms...He knew deep down that if he dared get closer to the surface, he would get hunted down by Felix.

His partner's incomprehensible death made him realize that only Felix was capable of pulling off such a smooth and freaky assassination out of nowhere.

He still might not know how did he pull it off and he really had no intentions of finding out through experience.

"Looks like Ionians' Lord Inozuma hasn't given up on winning this game even though he lost his partner. Will it be enough though to claim the number one spot by hunting those worms?" Miss Rose commentated while displaying the current ranking of teams and individual tallies.

//1)Unpaid Landlord/Spider Kin's Princess Maeralya: 180 EP/55 EP. Total: 235 EP.

2) Shadowborn Ruler Hogan/Ionians' Lord Inozuma: 0 EP/168 EP. Total: 168 EP.

3)Werewolves King Treznor/Pandions' High Honor Jara: 80 EP/50 EP. Total: 130 EP.

4) Knight Guard N1/Giants' Champion Mossa: 0 EP/0 EP. Total: 0 EP//

Felix's team was taking the lead only because he had looted Knight Guard's team, which was previously number one in the ranking. With Princess Maeralya's points added to the mix, the gap was increased significantly.

Still, Ionians' Lord Inozuma didn't seem too demotivated or dishearted...He understood that just securing number two was enough to keep his empyrean points from getting affected negatively.

This was enough to keep him moving forward.

Though, his idea to do this through hunting Whistling Worms wasn't too relieving...

Felix knew this better than anyone as the moment he planned on making his move on Ionians' Lord Inozuma, his eyes were frozen solid after a new evil aura manifested before him.

An evil aura so strong, so powerful, it literally covered his entire world, making him unable to even see Ionians' Lord Inozuma's evil aura anymore!

Before he could react, two sets of eerie and chilling red eyes emerged on the evil aura...They seemed to be locked in on Ionians' Lord Inozuma's almost invisible evil aura.

'Well, he has awakened the chasm's master...Good luck to him.' Felix retracted any thought he had about making a move on Ionians' Lord Inozuma.

In his eyes, there was no need to make a move when someone else was going to do it for him!

Chapter 1243 A Monster, Through And Through!

It seemed like Ionians' Lord Inozuma didn't seem too afraid of the chasm's master as he kept hunting deeper and deeper into the worms' nest.

Slice! Slice!...

Each time he met a Whistling Worm, he made sure to slice its neck before turning it into a paste...The deeper he had gotten, the more worms jumped him. But, he was glad about this as they were nothing but free points in his eyes.

Whoosh!!

'Hmm? What's with this sudden shift of the wind flow?'

Ionians' Lord Inozuma narrowed his eyes in focus at the depth of the tunnel, where the wind seemed to have changed trajectory.

'Is it the Chasm's master? Am I getting close?' Ionians' Lord Inozuma knew that most of the worms would be near the chasm's master since she was their mother.

'I would get two hundred points if I slayed it, should I give it a go?' Ionians' Lord Inozuma pondered on this crazy thought.

He knew that if he killed the chasm's master, he would obtain a great number of empyrean points, but most importantly, he would have free access to mining perfect minerals!

If he pulled it off, winning this game would actually be a viable option!

'I am already here, might as well give it a try.'

Ionians' Lord Inozuma continued on his path without a hint of fear in his eyes...He was wary, but not afraid.

He had full trust in his capabilities to either kill the chasm's master or at least escape when sh*t hit the fan!

...

After a few minutes, Ionians' Lord Inozuma reached the end of the tunnel, leaving behind him tens of mashed-up worm corpses.

The tunnel's end wasn't a wall or a path leading to other tunnels. It was just a giant gaping hole that was peeking into utter darkness.

Ionians' Lord Inozuma walked to the edge with a focused expression as the irregular wind behind the tunnel's mouth made him realize that there was a gigantic open space there.

He used an intense flashlight of his AP bracelet that was capable of illuminating more than hundreds of meters radius without a problem.

When he reached the edge, his assumption was proven right as the light expanded to illuminate a vast spherical space that made the tunnels resemble tiny holes.

'So, this is the nest.' Ionians' Lord Inozuma knitted his eyebrows deeply at the sight of thousands of giant white eggs attached to the walls.

There was some sort of red sticky wet mucus linking those eggs together with the walls, making the entire space resemble an insect breeding ground.

As much as disgustingly and spooky this breeding ground was, Ionians' Lord Inozuma's mind was focused on another problem.

The chasm's master wasn't at the bottom of the breeding ground!

'There is warm air coming from the bottom, it must have been here just a while ago.' Ionians' Lord Inozuma thought as he scanned the ground.

Using his wind sensitivity, he managed to find many gigantic tunnels on the ground, which were much bigger than the ones he trod on.

'This is my chance to farm those worms and get the hell away from here before it returns.'

Ionians' Lord Inozuma changed his original plan after realizing that the number of worms in the nest was enough to set him off as a winner without needing to go through the trouble of fighting the chasm's master!

So, without a delay, he used his wind manipulation to create sharp blades...However, before he could release them, his instincts tingled like crazy, making him feel like he was being stared at by a predator!

What freaked him out the most was that it was coming from behind him!!

The moment he turned around and flashed his light, his pupil widened to the limits while his heartbeats started accelerating rapidly.

What reflected on his pupils was none other than the chasm's master's freakishly brown head.

It was covered in the same mucousy substance on the eggs. His head was as massive as the tunnel, seemingly a perfect fit.

If it wasn't for the slippery mucus, one could only wonder how could it even move in it.

Krrrrrrr...

It opened its maw, showing its array of sharp razor teeth, and released a low-pitched noise that was almost inaudible.

If it wasn't for Ionians' Lord Inozuma's sensitivity to wind, he wouldn't have noticed the sound waves rushing at him.

Whether it was an attack or not, his wind barrier blocked it easily.

'How? How did it arrive this close to me?'

This was the only thought that was roaming Ionians' Lord Inozuma's mind.

For the life of him, he just couldn't fathom how could such a gigantic creature make absolutely no noise in sneaking up on him.

Hell, it didn't even cause the wind to fluctuate, which was almost impossible to pull off as any slight movement affected the wind.

Unfortunately, he wasn't given the time to solve this mystery as the chasm's master widened its jaw to the limit and suddenly released a flood of disgusting green mucus at him!

Whoosh!!

Ionians' Lord Inozuma waved his right-wing sharply, causing an intense wind tornado to emerge out of nowhere and block off the mucus' flood!

They merged together, creating a mucus tornado that hurled this sticky liquid everywhere!

Ionians' Lord Inozuma's wind barrier blocked those projectiles, but the walls weren't as safe!

Pshhhhh!!

They were extremely difficult to break, yet the moment the green mucus landed on them, they started to melt down akin to meeting with lava!

This sight made Ionians' Lord Inozuma understand that he could never let himself get touched by it!

"It's not working!" Miss Rose expressed loudly at the sight of the mucus' flood overpowering the tornado rapidly!

In the end, wind was still just wind.

Regardless of how much pressure it possessed, anything that had a higher density than it and just a bit of pressure would be able to combat it easily.

The thick green mucus took merely a few seconds to completely blast the tornado and continue on its path toward Ionians' Lord Inozuma.

'Wind Transmutation!'

Knowing that his barrier would get destroyed instantly made Ionians' Lord Inozuma turn into a wind breeze and escape inside the breeding ground.

He turned back to his physical form as he stood above an egg on a wall.

Ionians' Lord Inozuma decided to take the fight in the breeding ground, believing that the chasm's master wouldn't fight near its children while at the same time, such a big space would give him more mobility.

His idea was sound and clever...If this was the chasm's master of the real world!

Krrrrrrr!!!

Without an ounce of hesitation, the chasm's master charged through the tunnel while releasing a powerful soundwave that caused the air itself to vibrate visibly!!

BOOM!! BOOM!! BOOOM!!...

The soundwave blew the eggs one by one, spewing undeveloped hatchlings everywhere!

Before Ionians' Lord Inozuma could process this merciless and barbaric sight, the soundwave landed on him!

BOOOOM!!

Unlike the eggs, his ears ended up rupturing while his body had gotten smashed into the wall.

Not giving him a single chance of recovery, the chasm's master released the same green mucus flood at him!

Whoosh!

Ionians' Lord Inozuma wasn't a weakling to get killed this easily as he manipulated the wind on his path to change the flood's trajectory to the right!

Instead of outright blocking it, changing its pathing was much easier and doable.

This caused the wall, the red mucus, and what remained of the eggs to get turned into disgusting hot smoke like they were hit by acid.

"I had enough!" Ionians' Lord Inozuma cursed with a displeased expression as he swung his wing in a single motion.

Whoosh!!

A giant visible sharp thin wind blade manifested right above the monster's head, resembling a guillotine's blade.

"Cut!"

With one order, the blade fell rapidly at chasm's master neck under the widened and unblinking eyes of the viewers.

Everyone already imagined the scene of the worm's neck getting decapitated by the blade as Ionians' Lord Inozuma had done this to other worms countless times.

Alas, this wasn't any other worm.

This was the chasm's master...A monster that was given up on by even the alliance.

Only now did the viewers realize why as the blade failed to even slice the exterior skin of chasm's master neck...A blade created by the strongest wind elemental in the alliance!

"Impossible!"

Ionians' Lord Inozuma was most shocked by the sight than everyone else as he knew that his wind blades were capable of cutting through even the hardest rock!

He knew that the chasm's master was extremely tough and even able to revive unless one completely erased him from existence, but he never imagined that he wouldn't be able to even cut off his skin!!

Chapter 1244 A Bigger Monster...

"The chasm's master has survived even a nuke!" Miss Rose commentated excitedly, "Its skin is believed to be one of the most durable organs in the entire universe! If Ionians' Lord Inozuma wanted to harm it, he better steps up his game."

Krrrrrrrr!!...

The chasm's master stepped it up before him as it had straight off charged at Ionians' Lord Inozuma with its gigantic horrific mouth wide open!

BOOOM!

The wall was smashed apart like it was made out of card boxes, causing the chasm's master head to get stuck inside of it.

Before the viewers could wonder if Ionians' Lord Inozuma lived through it, he manifested above the chasm's master neck while holding a long katana that was at least three meters long.

The katana was a thing of beauty, its long, curved blade glinting in the light. The hilt was wrapped in supple leather, providing a secure and comfortable grip for Ionians' Lord Inozuma.

"Legendary Artifact, Space Slasher!" Miss Rose commentated passionately, "He is finally going all in!"

Before her words reached the viewers' ears, Ionians' Lord Inozuma had already activated his katana's furtharks, causing it to turn into a brilliant wind blade that seemed to be able to cut off people's eyes just by looking at it for longer than necessary!

"Die!"

With a frigid look, Ionians' Lord Inozuma swung his katana at the chasm's master neck in one single motion, causing an invisible wind blade to emerge and slice through the neck akin to butter!

Krrrrrrrrrrr!!!

The chasm's master screamed not in pain, but in anger, after its head was separated from its body!

Ionians' Lord Inozuma wasn't satisfied yet as he followed the falling body and continued slicing it up in the air!

By the time it landed on the ground, it was already turned into a mountain of flesh lumps.

The viewers were left shocked speechless by the sight of countless thin and smooth spatial cracks disappearing rapidly in the air.

In less than a split second, the space was healed back to normal.

'This really took all of its energy.' Ionians' Lord Inozuma remarked in displeasure after noticing his katana's illuminating wind blade turning much dimmer.

He knew that it was useless now unless he recharged the futharks...That was something only dwarves could do.

Unlike The Executioner in Felix's old maze game, Ionians' Lord Inozuma wasn't using any blade technique to pull off those spatial wind blades.

He was cheating by using a legendary artifact and the price was his inability to keep using this powerful attack freely.

Meanwhile, The Executioner had pulled off his spatial wind blade by mastering his ancestor's blade technique...Something that only a devoted genius could pull off!

That's why he received recognition from primogenitors compared to their disinterested looks as they watched this fight.

'Let's finish this.'

Ionians' Lord Inozuma didn't care about anyone's opinion on his method as he took his katana with him and flew back to the wiggling worm's head.

However, just as he wanted to destroy its brain, his instincts screamed at him to get the f*ck away from it!

BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOM!!!

'Transmutat...'

Alas, before his body could finish its transmutation, he was caught in a sudden unexpected explosion...It came from nowhere but the chasm's head!

The explosion wasn't the problem, but the green mucus released with it.

It ended up covering the upper half of Ionians' Lord Inozuma's body, melting it almost instantaneously!

Still, as one of the most powerful fighters in the alliance, Ionians' Lord Inozuma managed to pull off the surrender coupon right before his brain melted off too.

The spectators were left stunned at the sight of Ionians' Lord Inozuma turning into light particles as everything happened too quickly for their comprehension.

-Ionians' Lord Inozuma has been eliminated!-

Queen Ai placed the notification on the screen, waking them up from their daze.

"Looks like instincts beat intelligence this round." Thor chuckled in amusement, not caring that Kumiho's expression was turning for the worst.

"Knowing that my champion didn't get eliminated like this is somewhat comforting." Erebus grinned widely as he looked at Kumiho, "Thanks."

"Screw you." Kumiho cursed him in annoyance, making his grin get only wider.

"He is a real embarrassment to my brother's legacy." J?rmungandr shook his head in disappointment.

He really didn't care much about Ionians' Lord Inozuma's wellbeing.

He only felt disappointed that not a single descendant of the Great Roc was capable of mastering his wind-blade techniques.

He knew that if just one of them managed to master them, he would be almost unstoppable in the alliance since those blade techniques were just too godly.

Cutting space was merely one of the easiest ones to master and yet, the Ionians' Lord had to use a legendary artifact to pull it off...It was just too disappointing.

Krrrrrrrrrrrr!!!

Everyone's conversation was interrupted after hearing the familiar chasm's master screech again.

When they looked at the source, they found out that all of the sliced body parts had already merged together, and even a new head was born!

"Less than five seconds for a complete rebirth without a single wound...It's like it didn't even fight." Miss Rose commentated with a somewhat freaked tone.

She wasn't scared by this chasm's master, but by the notion that the same monster was existing in this universe. Unbeknownst to her, there were much scarier monsters yet to be found...

Whoosh!!

Just as she was about to switch the camera to the other players to check on them, she was surprised by the appearance of Felix, standing above the same tunnel's edge.

His nonchalant expression made it seem like he was standing there for a while now.

"Don't tell me Landlord is also planning to fight the chasm's master!" Miss Rose and the viewers were startled by the way Felix was looking at the chasm's master.

If it was before, every one of them would have cheered for him, knowing that there was a big chance of him winning...But now?

Ionians' Lord Inozuma's fate made them understand that the chasm's master wasn't to be f*cked with!

Before they could even discuss this situation, Felix already teleported tens of meters in front of the chasm's master giant head.

With the massive size difference between them, it really seemed like an ant challenging a lion, or better put, seeking its death.

Krrr....Krrr.....Kr...

The chasm's master narrowed its glaring eyes at Felix as it kept releasing somewhat of a warning noise.

It was like a monster had recognized one of its kind, making it understand that the fight's result wasn't going to be as easy as the last one.

Still, this was a virtual chasm's master that was wired to attack anything before it instead of prioritizing its safety.

This meant even when its instincts were telling it that the fight wasn't recommended, the chasm's master prepared to charge at Felix!

"You have eaten my loot, you know?" Felix said with a flat tone as he stared at Ionians' Lord Inozuma's mineral bag inside its stomach.

The viewers might not have seen it, but the chasm's master had eaten the bag after it landed on the ground near it...Since its main source of food was minerals, it couldn't give up on it.

KRRRRRRRRR!!!

The chasm's master thoroughly ignored Felix's statement and charged at him while releasing powerful deafening soundwaves that smashed against him!

Besides his crimson hair that was fluttering with the wind, Felix wasn't moved a single inch by the soundwaves' force...Even his expression remained the same like his ears weren't affected by the harmful low-pitch.

He merely stood his ground and extended his palm forward, seemingly unafraid of the charging ferocious gigantic worm!

Just as it was about to reach his comfort zone, Felix uttered with a cold tone, "Destruction Cube."

Suddenly, a dark red cube manifested from Felix's palm and began expanding at a rapid pace until it was almost the exact same size as the gigantic worm!

It was neither in a solid, liquid, or gas form...It seemed like it was made out of an aura.

The chasm's master instincts warned it again that it should stay away from that red cube, but alas...It was already too deep to retract or change its course.

Krrrrrrrr!!

It roared again, but this time a tint of fear was picked in its voice as its eyes were merely an inch away from the red cube.

Before anyone could react, the chasm's master went through the red cube head first and its body followed it in.

Miss Rose, the ten rulers, Felix's fans, and the entire viewer base had their eyes instinctively shifted to the back of the red cube, where Felix was standing.

It was like the rational part in their brains told them, ensured them, that the chasm's master head should exit from the other side.

But this wasn't what occurred...Not even close.

The moment the chasm's master went through the red cube, it was simply erased from existence!

Its long body that was stretching for hundred kilometers kept going through the red cube, responding to the last order of the brain.

By the time the tail disappeared through the red cube, the entire stadium was turned as silent as a deserted graveyard on the darkest of nights...

No one spoke, no one reacted, no one blinked, and no one even managed to process a thought.

They just kept staring at Felix and the red cube as if they had just participated in the greatest magic trick in the history of the universe.

This reaction was understandable when no one had ever seen the destruction element in action before.

"Retract."

Unbeknownst to the audience's reaction, Felix withdrew the destruction cube back into his palm and walked casually toward the mineral bag.

With its indestructibility, it was the last thing that survived the chasm's master...

Chapter 1245 The Biggest Rank Skip In The History Of The Alliance!

-Congratulation to Landlord for slaying the Chasm's Master!-

Queen Ai shared this notification worldwide three times, causing the remaining three players to stare at their tunnel's ceiling in disbelief.

'Is he killing anything that moves?' Princess Maelyra felt chills course on her spine. As his teammate, she was notified of all of Felix's previous kills.

This made her realize that Felix had literally hunted down all the players but her and his allies!

Now, even the chasm's master tagged along...She really started to feel gratified that she was on his team.

'Is he coming for us next?' The Pandion's High Honor Jara raised his guard to the limit.

'He won't.' King Treznor assured him as he continued his mining.

He understood that Felix would never seek to hunt him down with the current friendship between their races...It was just foolish and stupid.

So, from the very beginning, he never had his guard raised against Felix even when he was assaulted by his poisonous mist.

Meanwhile, the ten rulers had a different conversation.

"Destruction element...So, this is his source of confidence." Elder Dragon's expression became solemn.

Nothing that Felix had shown throughout the entire game had made him feel even a bit worried...Even the soul poison was easily blockable in his eyes with his fire element.

But this?

He understood that even with all of his overwhelming strength and power, he wouldn't be able to survive the red cube!

"I can't believe King Mahit has given him his ancestor's bloodline." Queen Alfreda expressed.

"Did he take it from them forcefully? Or he made a deal with King Mahit?" Emperor Lokhil asked with a serious tone.

"I doubt anyone can hunt down the Watchers in their own territory." High Chieftain Lokaka shook his head.

"If they made a deal then, what is it? Nothing moves that old geezer."

No matter how much they tried, none of them would find out about their deal...Neither King Mahit nor Felix had any intentions of sharing it with them.

"King Felix was already scary enough, now with destruction element in his possession, I really don't know if anyone will be able to stop him." Emperor Lokhil stated as he peeked at Elder Dragon.

He knew that Felix's target was Elder Dragon...Before, none of them really bothered with this issue as they were certain that Felix was a long way from even threatening Elder Dragon.

With Felix's unexpected and honestly a bit unbelievable performance in this game, none of them dared to have such certainty anymore.

This was a huge, huge matter.

That's because, for the first time ever since the foundation of the SGAlliance, there was someone with a legit chance of dethroning Elder Dragon from his Supreme Position!

"If you guys really think that this was enough to deal with me, then you really are ignorant about what true strength looks like." Elder Dragon uttered bluntly as he gave them an indifferent look.

Before anyone of them could respond, he took off...

"Is his massive pride and ego causing him to underestimate King Maxwell even after this display, or he is really confident that he can handle him?" Emperor Lokhil wondered.

"A little bit of both." Empress Scarlet replied with a gentle tone.

"What do you mean?"

"You guys have lived long enough, but most of you weren't born during the alliance's foundation. Elder Dragon was considered one of the strongest beings in the universe, which made it possible for the alliance to get founded and maintained without much trouble from the members...His strength and authority made everyone respect and fear him."

"Now, almost two million years later, his strength must have been enhanced to an unfathomable level." Empress Scarlet concluded, "If King Maxwell decided to challenge him, he must bring with him more than just a few destruction abilities."

Two million years was a long period that was extremely difficult to comprehend for the majority.

Felix had gotten this much stronger in merely one thousand and six hundred years of seclusion.

One could imagine how much stronger Elder Dragon had become in two million years with the supply of royal gemstones from the corpses of his people...

...

While the stream chat and the stadium viewers were still trying their best to figure out what kind of ability Felix used to slay the chasm's master, he was seen mining perfect graded minerals at the depth of the chasm.

With the death of chasm's master and the players harboring ill intentions, Felix was having a peaceful time on his mining journey.

To make sure that no one would interfere with his harvest, he sealed all the tunnels leading to the chasm's bottom with solidified poisonous walls.

Fortunately, Princess Maelayra and the other two were smart enough to understand that the chasm's depth had become Felix's territory.

Princess Maealyra wasn't shameful enough to come to enjoy the fruit of his labor after doing nothing to help him while the other two simply respected the silent agreement of staying out of each other's business.

With this kind of mutual understanding, Felix spent the next six hours doing nothing but mining the best of the best minerals.

It wasn't really hard for him as he had help from his gemstone golems in addition to his sensitivity to minerals and ores due to his ancestral dragon heart.

As the dragons' main source of food and nutrition, it was obvious that they would have some sort of detection for them.

Before long, the game ended in this anticlimactic manner as no fights broke off and no more drama occurred.

Though, no one was really upset as Felix had given them what the worth of their tickets was with his performance in the first half.

After the game ended, Felix and the remaining three players were teleported back to the stadium.

"Haha! You really have made our life easier, King Maxwell!"

King Trenznor approached Felix with his usual rowdy laugh and patted him on the shoulder with a gratified expression.

"I just played the game as normal." Felix replied with a faint smile.

"If this is your normal, then we really are f*cked if you got serious." King Treznor joked.

Meanwhile, Princess Maerlya and Pandion's High Honor merely gave a head nod at Felix.

One felt too awkward to speak to him after their previous confrontation and the other just didn't feel the need to thank Felix.

He knew that Felix didn't come at him because of King Treznor, so there wasn't really much to thank.

Since there was still the performance rating process, the eliminated players were called back to the stadium to see the end results.

"King Maxwell, you really went a bit heavy-handed on me." Shadowborn Ruler Hogan appeared next to Felix with a clear displeased expression.

The moment he was revived by Queen Ai, he was watching the game and waiting to get recalled so he could express his grievance at Felix.

As inner circle leaders, there was an unwritten rule between them that they should always give each other a chance to use a surrender coupon if they ended up in a game.

Felix straight off ignored this rule and killed him.

"I could have gone much heavier." Felix replied calmly.

"You..."

"He is not lying, you know?" Knight Guard N1 interjected expressionlessly,
"Somehow his poison is capable of poisoning mental energy and even the souls. He could have ended your life for real if he wanted."

"..."

Knowing that Knight Guard had no reason to lie made him feel chills course on his spine as he looked at Felix's emotionless eyes.

He was already slightly terrified of him after seeing what he did to the chasm's master, but after knowing this? His disgruntlement faded as fast as the way he died.

Before the players could get involved more in this subject, Miss Rose came to the rescue by teleporting next to them and displaying the game ranking.

//1)Unpaid Landlord/Spider Kin's Princess Maeralya: 980 EP/298 EP. Total: 1278 EP.

3)Werewolves King Treznor/Pandions' High Honor Jara: 245 EP/287 EP. Total: 532 EP.

3) Shadowborn Ruler Hogan/Ionians' Lord Inozuma: 0 EP/0 EP. Total: 0 EP.

4) Knight Guard N1/Giants' Champion Mossa: 0 EP/0 EP. Total: 0 EP.//

"This is a bit worrisome..." Miss Rose said as she gulped a small mouthful.

Everyone ignored the others and focused on Felix's insane amount of empyrean points.

"Landlord started this game with an x8 multiplier due to him skipping the entire empyrean list. With his team's victory and MVP title secured, he will get an addition x4." Princess Maeralya a deep cold breath before stating what was in everyone's minds, "This means he will be getting more than ten thousand empyrean points from this game alone..."

"Dear lord..."

"Jeez!!"

"Ten thousand is the limit and he has hit it in a single game..F*cking hell."

Even when they knew that she was about to say that, everyone still felt that this scenario was just too unbelievable and shouldn't be allowed to happen!

Ten thousand empyrean points meant reaching the end of the empyrean ranking!

In other words, the only way forward for Felix would be to challenge the ten supreme for their positions!

This really was the definition of breaking the system as making such an insane rank jump had never occurred in the history of the platform!

"This is counting just the amount of empyrean points he had gotten from the game." Pandion High Honor Jara murmured, "There are still the bonus points from his performance..."

Chapter 1246 A Grandiose Challenge!

"We will leave the calculations to our just Queen Ai."

Miss Rose disclosed this after displaying The Final Ranking list and the Performance Rating Calculator.

Just like God's Raid, the performance rating was calculated from player eliminations, the number of minerals farmed, the number of worms slain...etc.

Even the negatives were counted, such as using the surrender coupon.

Miss Rose started with the players on the bottom.

Although their mineral bags have been stolen and they have been forced to surrender, Knight Guard and Giants' Champion Mossa still managed to get a somewhat decent performance.

Unfortunately, decent performance wasn't going to secure them being in the top 50%.

When the performance of other players was calculated, they ended up still being placed at the bottom of the finalized ranking list.

After finishing with Princess Maeralya, Queen Ai moved to Felix's performance rating.

Everyone seemed to be anticipating how many empyrean points he would be getting from his performance.

"Eliminated three players directly alone: +30 EP."

"Killed fifteen Whistling Worms: +15 EP."

"Stole three mineral bags: +30 EP."

"Total participation in the death of the chasm's master, 100%: +200 EP."

"Activate x12 Multiplier...Total score 15,060 EP."

"Performance Rating is over...Congratulation to Landlord for emerging as the number one in this game."

Queen Ai announced as she placed Felix's name at the top of the final ranking list under the dumbfounded and stunned eyes of the viewers and players!

None of them were really shocked that he was number one but by the total amount of his empyrean points!

"Fifteen thousand...A whole fifteen thousand in one game." Princess Maeralya uttered with the most envious tone ever.

Even the spectating players couldn't help but clutch their hearts in agony at the sight of such a mindblowing number.

It was even worse for the other empyrean players at the bottom and the middle of the list.

"Motherf*cker...I am struggling to earn twenty empyrean points each game." Mipopo remarked with a pissed-off tone as he watched the game live.

"At least you are earning something, I am fighting just to keep my rank from decaying..." His partner sighed, "This feels just too unfair..."

Unlike Felix, the rest of the empyrean players almost never dare participate in a game that was above their average rank.

This meant that none of them would be getting a free multiplier as a base reward for taking such a risk.

This made the multipliers from the win and MVP title way too important...Alas, only one player could get them.

To make matters worse, even if a player had given the best performance in his life, if the other players managed to still beat it, he would end up in the bottom 50% and have either his points reduced or evened.

In other words, climbing the empyrean rank was simply a hellish process that took decades or centuries of hard work and goddess-like luck.

Yet, Felix shattered this grindy system with his brute force in front of the entire alliance!

LANDLORD!! LANDLORD!! LANDLORD!!!...

While the players were feeling upset, Felix's fans were chanting at the top of their lungs, knowing that Felix, a human, was getting closer and closer to the peak of the SGAlliance!

Miss Rose did them a favor as she displayed the current empyrean ranking before everyone.

- 1) Berserth, The Elder Dragon.
- 2) Lokaka, The Space Worm High Chieftain.
- 3) The Hive Queen's Guardian N0.
- 4) Aquiris, The Heavenly Turtles Minister.
- 5) Ygos, Black Dragon Clan Head.
- 6) Azesdirth, The Green Dragon Clan Head.
- 7) Bymid, The Red Dragon Clan Head.
- 8) Noballi, Space Worm Shaman.
- 9) Kyrsum, The White Dragon Clan Head.

10) Alfreda Olafiel, Queen of The Nine Elvish Realms.

11) Unpaid Landlord, The Void Nation's King: 15,060 EPoints.

12) Everley, The Fishermen Queen: 10,000 EPoints.

No one was shocked by the fact that the dragon race was literally dominating the top ten supreme list...They weren't referred to as the strongest race in the alliance for no reason.

If the Watchers ever decided to participate in the games, this list would have drastic changes.

Fortunately for the dragons, they weren't interested in gaining everyone's respect and worship.

"With such a massive point difference between Landlord and Queen Everley, he can be at ease for centuries that no one will be able to surpass him!" Miss Rose commentated excitedly.

"This is really a big deal as he can prepare to challenge the top ten supreme without worrying about those below him gunning for his rank." Shadowborn Ruler Hogan expressed next to the other players.

The others nodded in agreement as they understood that the most annoying thing about being in the eleventh position was being forced into challenging the top ten players to move forward.

Usually, there was nothing wrong with this, but one shouldn't forget that the players behind were able to play games and gain empyrean points.

This meant the eleventh player had two options to secure his rank, either gain a significant amount of empyrean points before hitting the eleventh rank or straightway challenge the top ten.

It was done like this by the SG Committee to make sure that the eleventh player wouldn't feel too comfortable in his position.

"Landlord, is it possible to know when you will start challenging the top ten supremes?" Miss Rose teleported next to Felix and asked with a hopeful tone.

Whether the players, the ten rulers, the viewers, or even the primogenitors, everyone quietened down and focused on Felix with looks of expectancy.

Felix glanced at the mic before lifting his head to stare at the top ten list in silence...Not everyone managed to see it, but his eyes were locked on the number one rank.

Felix turned his head slowly to the mic and stated with the calmest tone ever, "I will be ranked one this year."

Before anyone could react to his bold proclamation, Felix teleported away...

"..."

"..."

"..."

Everyone was left stunned and somewhat overwhelmed as they had never expected that Felix would be gunning for number one so freaking soon!

One year was nothing!

If it was someone else, every one of them would call him out as a fraud or an overconfident moron...But this was Felix.

He had shown them for the past two decades that his words could be weighted as gold!

WHOOOOOOAH!!!!

Felix's fans were the first to break out of their daze and let out their inner craziness and fanatic take over at this grandiose challenge!

No one bothered to even think for a moment that Felix might not even reach rank two...Their loyalty and blind confidence in Felix's capabilities were simply unmoving!

"Can this be considered an official challenge to Elder Dragon?" Miss Rose mumbled with a dazed look.

"What else can it be?" King Treznor grinned widely, "This year is really going to be interesting."

...

Half an hour later...

The news about Felix's challenge had gone absolutely viral as everyone was discussing it with great fervor.

It was to be expected, as no one had challenged the top ten supremes in the past three centuries.

No one was capable of moving past even Queen Alfreda...Don't even mention the rest of the dragon clan heads and Elder Dragon.

Now, Felix came forth and challenged all of the top ten supremes in one year.

If he pulled this off and became ranked number one, it would be the greatest run in the entire history of the SGAlliance!

Chapter 1247 Either Now Or Never.

"You really going to aim for rank one in a single year?" Asna wondered after seeing Felix exit the shower.

"There is no point in delaying it when I need to return the Elementals Galaxy as quickly as possible." Felix answered as he dried his hair.

"You will reach 99% first before you start the challenges, right?"

"Obviously."

Felix might be confident in his strength, but he wasn't foolish to kickstart his climb without making sure to get all the possible free powerups first.

His answer satisfied Asna and made her drop her worries aside as she knew that Lord Shiva's abilities were simply too godly.

Having nothing to do, Felix decided to check his SG Profile as it had been a while.

// Picture: ???

Felix couldn't help but smile a little as the image of his first-ever profile surfaced in his mind.

"It's really hard to believe that two decades ago, you were in the bronze rank of the Human Race SGBranch." Candace expressed.

"It really is..."

Felix closed the profile, not bothering to look at his win streak or click on it to check on mystery chests rewarded.

For the win streak, he has already broken Noble Tibus's record of having seventeen wins consecutively!

He did it before he entered the Elementals Galaxy...For such a historical and magnificent achievement, Felix was obviously showered in love and attention from his fans and all humans in general.

But, he really didn't give crap about it as the achievement merely helped him step up a couple of ranks within the Hall of Fame.

As much as he didn't care about it, the public really, really was obsessed with it...To the point, Felix's haters kept calling for the alliance to acknowledge Elder Dragon's legendary win streak as the official one.

Unlike Felix or Noble Tibus, Elder Dragon had more than twenty consecutive victories under his belt before he reached number one and never budged from it again.

Right now, there was an online petition that was more than sixteen years old with hundreds of billions of signatures to make this change official!

Luckily, the SGCommite ignored this idiotic petition and kept Felix as the official record holder.

Though, this created a long-lasting war between Felix's haters and fans that could only be ended if Felix broke Elder Dragon's unofficial win streak record.

As much as it seemed like this day was about to arrive faster than anyone anticipated, Felix still didn't give a crap about it.

Inside a small cozy living room with a fireplace lit on and soft leathery cushions, Saurous, Wendigo, and Manananggal could be seen sitting near the fireplace.

They had tea and wine on their hands and they seemed to be discussing no one but their favorite pain in the ass mortal.

"From what I have seen, that can't be sixteen years of development." Saurous said with a solemn tone.

"Either Lady Sphinx has done something to him or he must have found a dimension with a significant time difference." Wendigo nodded.

Although he stated two options, none of them really believed that it would be the former.

They knew that Lady Sphinx was great, but there was just no way she could alter his natural-born talent in elemental manipulations...That was something none of them were capable of doing.

It was far more believable that Felix had spent more years in a dimension with a time difference like the ancestral dimensional pocket.

Since the ancestral dimensional pocket was locked, they believed that Felix or his masters must have located a new one.

As for the Elementals Galaxy? None of them even considered it.

In their eyes, it was even less believable than Lady Sphinx finding a way to increase his natural talents!

It was understandable as Felix wouldn't have been granted access even with the favor in hand...The only reason he was allowed in was because of the earring.

"Dimensional pocket or not, this brat is getting stronger faster than my liking." Saurous said, "Sixteen years ago, he was barely able to win an empyrean game, now he is about to dethrone Elder Dragon? What kind of bullsh*t is this?"

"All of this and he still hasn't entered the origin realm." Wendigo said with a serious tone, "I have done extensive research on the human cultivation system because of him. This made me realize that the origin realm always gives more than 70% all-rounded improvement after becoming a new race. Usually, this improvement is still quite trash for normal humans, but in his case?"

Wendigo didn't add further as both of his partners understood the severity of the situation.

Based on Felix's performance, they figured out that his physical strength should be around 600k BF even though he didn't go all out.

70% or 80% of 600k BF was enough to put him in the one million range!

"One million is the separating line between mortals and deities." Manananggal said calmly, "If he managed to cross it after his origin realm, he won't be a mortal anymore and will never be."

One million BF might not seem like much, but the Darkins understood that the moment a being crossed it, his entire body would change drastically.

This would cause his reaction speed and spiritual pressure to be equal to anyone around the one million range.

This was the reason why primogenitors could not overpower each other with their spiritual pressure even if one was an elemental lord and the other was a normal primogenitor.

In the eyes of the darkins, losing the ability to kill Felix with a mere look was extremely serious!

"This isn't even the scariest part." Wendigo narrowed his eyes, "He has integrated with Lord Shiva's bloodline. This means he will be getting his ultimate ability after reaching 99% in his integration...You guys know full well how frightening it is."

The moment it was brought up, shivers coursed down their spines...Manananggal had experienced Void Domain personally and he was still more frightened by Lord Shiva's ultimate ability than it!

The shocking part? Lord Shiva's ultimate ability wasn't even a domain!!!

"I never thought I will be saying this ever in my life, but this mortal is starting to scare me a little." Wendigo said with a serious tone.

"Aren't you guys overreacting a bit?" Saruous sneered, "So what if he entered the origin realm? So what if his strength, reaction speed, and spiritual pressure were on our level? Even Lord Shiva's ultimate ability is useless if it didn't manage to land on us."

"We have spent billions of years mastering ourselves compared to this little punk...Even if he had hundreds of ultimate abilities and was on our level, he will still fail to stand before us."

This might make Saruous seem too overconfident, but he really was speaking the truth. Billions of years of experience couldn't be bridged with some mere improvements.

Even if Felix reached the same strength as the primogenitor, he would still be considered the weakest of them all.

If it was so easy to kill primogenitors just because one reached their level, then they would have slaughtered each other during their Era.

The only way to kill them was by absolutely overpowering them...Saurous might imagine Felix reaching their level, but he could never imagine him reaching a state where he could bring despair upon them.

"I am not scared of him, but of his rapid improvements." Wendigo stated coldly, "We used to believe that there was a chasm separating us and him...Look at the situation now. He is mere inches away from us and it will be utterly foolish to let him take that last step."

Saurous and Mannangal knitted their eyebrows at his last statement.

"Are you saying that we should make a move on him before he reaches Origin Realm?"

"Yes." Wendigo confirmed it with a solemn tone.

"Are you insane?" Saurous retorted instantly, "You want us to get hunted down by Lord Khoas?"

Saurous might want Felix dead more than anyone, but he understood that Lord Khaos had already given them his last warning when he killed Mannangal's clone.

In other words, if they dared make a personal move on Felix, even if they killed him, he would make sure to fulfill his word and end their lives!

"I admit that Lord Khaos is a giant problem, but we just can't stay still and watch that bastard cross over the mortal line. If he made it to the Origin Realm, it will be a hundred times more difficult to kill him than now. At that point, even if Lord Khaos was done with him, it will be too late for us to do anything." Wendigo stressed.

Saruous didn't have a retort against his explanation...He also knew that their options had already been exhausted and the only way to finish off Felix was through them.

If Felix reached Origin Realm, even that option wouldn't be viable anymore.

Forget that Felix would be able to survive their spiritual pressure and have a similar reaction speed to read their attacks, the fact that he still had four primogenitors backing him up already made it extremely difficult.

"It's really either now or never." Wendigo sighed.

"He is already a pain in the ass at his state, I don't want to deal with him after he becomes a deity." Manananggal jumped in with his usual composed expression.

"What do you suggest then? Don't tell me it's the same as him." Saruous frowned.

"Killing him is the easy part, dealing with Lord Khaos is also easy." Mannangal looked at them and said calmly, "It just depends on how much you are willing to give up on your current lifestyle."

"What do you mea...Don't tell me." Wendigo figured out his partner's plan midway, causing his eyes to widen in surprise.

"What? Fill me in." Saruous got annoyed.

Wendigo looked at him and uttered with a stern tone, "He wants us to escape to the other side of the universe after the deed."

Chapter 1248 Destruction Element.

Saruous was taken aback as he knew what that meant.

"Don't give me that look, I already said that it depends if you guys are willing to give up on your current lifestyle." Manananggal said.

"Are you even sure that Lord Khaos wouldn't follow us there? The void realm is covering the entire universe...Even that part." Saruous frowned.

"I am not sure, but I have heard multiple rumors that Lord Khaos is avoiding the other side of the universe." Manananggal shared.

"Is it because of the Paragon of Sins?" Saurous raised an eyebrow.

He might not know about those rumors, but he had heard that the Paragon of Sins was slumbering in the void realm of the other side of the universe!

This piece of knowledge was the only thing that the primogenitors were somewhat sure about when it came to the mysterious Paragon of Sins.

"That's my original assumption." Manananggal nodded.

"Isn't it a bit foolish to risk our lifestyles and probably our lives for an assumption?" Saurous shook his head, "I think it's best to just wait until Lord Khaos is out of the picture."

In his eyes, although this would mean giving Felix his freedom to reach a deity level and potentially irritate them on a whole different level, it was still better than taking such a risk.

"I think we shouldn't be making decisions now." Wendigo said, "The brat still has Elder Dragon in his path. Who knows? He might fall flat on his face before him."

"Even if he got killed by him, the brat is smart enough to get himself the revival coupon." Manananggal stated calmly.

"Hmm, that's true." Saurous suggested, "How about we make a deal with Elder Dragon to ban surrender and revival coupon in their fight?"

"Even if he accepted the deal, the contract needs to be two ways and I doubt that punk will be stupid enough to take such a risk."

"From what I heard from Cherufe, it looks like there is some sort of bad enmity between them." Wendigo pressed, "They might go for it if they wanted each other dead."

"If they want it bad enough, there will be no need for us to intervene." Saurous said.

in other words, if they hated each other that badly, they would voluntarily sign the contract without the Darkins' involvement.

"So? Are we just going to sit with arms crossed and watch that punk keep growing at a rocket's speed?" Wendigo knitted his eyebrows, not too pleased with this ending.

In his eyes, the Asgardian faction had already gotten too strong with the addition of Lady Sphinx.

If Felix reached a diety level, he might be weaker than them, but he would still provide massive help to the Asgardians in case a conflict started between the factions.

"I guess our best option is to do some investigation on Lord Khaos to find out if he doesn't dare step foot on the other side of the universe because of the Paragon of Sins." Manananggal stated.

"I still owe a favor from that trickster." Saurous' eyelids twitched, "I think he will gladly accept using it for some information."

"Are you sure? It's not a fair trade in the slightest." Wendigo frowned.

"If it meant killing that little sh*t, anything is worth it." Saurous said coldly.

"Alright then, get in contact with him." Manananggal said one last time with a serious tone, "Whether we kill that brat or not, our next move will depend on his information."

Five Months Later...

The news about Felix's challenge on the Ten Supremes had just gotten more and more hyped up instead of falling off like any other type of news.

Right now, the entire alliance seemed to be in a celebratory mood and at the same time a bit tensed.

Everyone was anticipating Felix's first challenge against the Queen of Nine Elvish Realms, but at the same time, they knew that regardless of the results, there would be drastic changes happening in the alliance's structure.

That's because if Felix won, he wouldn't be just getting her Supreme title, but the benefits that came with it.

To be exact, there was just one benefit...Still, it was so significant as it was affecting the entire nine elvish realms!

This benefit was none other than being given a passive 1% of streaming revenue of all the games held in the Individual Supremacy Games Platform!

1% might not seem like a lot, but one shouldn't forget that the ISGP was branching out to almost all races with fighting potential.

This meant that there were millions of games if not more being held daily throughout the entire SGAlliance!

Felix had earned trillions from just his latest game and he was given less than 2% of the streaming revenue!

Now, imagine how massive having 1% streaming revenue from all the games on daily basis without needing to lift a finger!

The amount rewarded was so massive, Queen Alfreda was using it to assist the development of the nine elvish realms as it was just too much for a single person to spend.

The same applied to the rest of Ten Supremes as all of them get 1% of the streaming revenue as well.

It didn't matter if they were number one or ten, all of them got the same amount since the alliance couldn't afford to give too much for the sake of the economy's integrity.

Since the dragon race had five members as Supremes, it was only natural that they were considered one of the richest races in the universe.

That's why none of them bother to sell too much of their natural treasures as they never lacked coins due to their leaders' ranks.

The only added benefit was given to the Elder Dragon for being number one...It was none other than becoming the eleventh ruler.

Since he was already a ruler, he was given an additional vote compared to his peers.

Felix was aiming before to become the number one in the alliance for the sake of becoming the eleventh ruler.

But now? He just wanted to f*ck up Elder Dragon and make sure everyone watched it.

At the moment, Felix was sitting on his training room floor in a mediation position.

From the sweat and tools around him, it was clear that he had just finished another integration process.

"60% at last..."

He let out a long exhale as he stretched his limbs, causing his joints to crack akin to thunderclaps.

Whoosh!

His body soon was engulfed in a firey aura as his eternal firestone started recovering his exhaustion.

"Let's see what we have unlocked." Felix closed his eyes to check his newest destruction active abilities.

"Hm? Concept Destruction Tridant?"

Felix quickly snapped his eyes open the moment he read the name and details about this ability, not even reading the other.

His reaction was understandable as this ability's details were something else!

"Isn't this a bit too scary?" Asna remarked after reading the details as well.

"Destruction is meant to be scary." Thor smiled, "It's not called the ultimate offensive element for no reason."

All elements were good at everything in terms of defense, offense, mobility, mind attacks/defenses..etc.

However, each element excelled in one department more than the others.

For example, the gemstone element was more fitted for defenses, the lightning element for mobility, water for flexibility and adaptability, poison for assassinations, charm for mind control, and such.

Meanwhile, the destruction element excelled at pure offense and was considered the best at it.

"Let's test it out and see if it's as scary as it sounds."

With an eager expression, Felix swiftly logged in and went to his UVR's room.

The moment he opened his eyes, Felix faced a snowy mountain that was tens of kilometers away from him.

His entire UVR room was stretched to thousands of kilometers with almost all types of environments.

It would be foolish not to create his world with the kind of money in his pockets.

"Concept Destruction Trident."

He activated the ability without delay, causing his palm to start emitting red destruction particles that turned into a long dark red Trident.

Even though it was created out of an aura, it seemed solid like an actual weapon.

"I can't feel my grip on it, but I still have the sensation that I can control it like I am holding it." Felix experienced this feeling with many other abilities, so he wasn't too surprised.

After scanning the trident for a few moments, Felix turned again to the snowy mountain and murmured, "Let's start with you."

Felix's muscles tensed as he drew back his arm, gripping the trident tightly. With a faint grunt, he launched the trident forward akin to a missile!

The pointed three tips glinted in the sunlight as the small trident spun through the air, slicing through the wind with deadly precision.

As it hurtled towards its target, Felix watched intently as it got closer to the mountain while turning smaller and smaller until it became a tiny dot.

Just as Felix was about to zoom in to not lose it, the trident made contact with the mountain.

Then, there was no then...There was no mountain, there was no snow, there was no space, there was no time, there was no reality, there was just absolute Nothingness...

With a look of utter horrification, Felix's eyes were affixed on a giant silent pitch-black crack in place of the mountain and the sky above it.

Before the overwhelming feeling of staring at pure nothingness could wash over his heart, the crack was restored in a split second, returning reality as it was.

The only difference was that the mountain was nowhere to be found...

"F*ck...Me."

Chapter 1249 Destruction Element X Void Element.

Felix had an idea about the results of the trident, but not in his wildest dreams did he think that it was going to be this brutally destructive!

"That sent shivers down my spine." Candace said with a look of dread on her face.

"I can't believe that there is an entire race capable of such destructiveness." Felix uttered, "I honestly don't know if I should feel thankful that they aren't active in the universe or not."

He ought to feel this way as the trident had destroyed even reality as he knew it...He couldn't imagine if Shiva's Apostles participated in the games against them and used such abilities.

He knew for a fact that the top ten Supremes would be monopolized by them!

"Don't be mistaken...This ability might seem like a common destructive one, but you have lucked out on it." J?rmungandr shared calmly.

"Hmm? What do you mean?" Felix raised an eyebrow in confusion.

"Destruction element can be split up into four categories...There is normal destruction, construction, concept destruction, and lastly total destruction." J?rmungandr disclosed.

He didn't need to explain in detail about those categories as Felix understood each one and what did it represent due to his current arsenal of abilities.

"My destruction cube can be classified in the first category as it is capable of destroying anything inside of it as long as it was made out of atoms."

This was the reason why the destruction cube had erased only the chasm's master existence instead of destroying everything inside of it.

"Meanwhile, my second active ability is Construction cube and it allows me to reconstruct anything that I have destroyed with my abilities. So, this is the second category."

Felix's first two active abilities were Destruction cube and Construction cube...It might seem weird that an element known for just destruction would be capable of construction.

But it wasn't that peculiar in a logical sense.

As he mentioned, Construction cube enabled him to recreate anything physical that he destroyed using the element.

This meant he could have reconstructed the chasm's master if he desired...However, it would be just his corpse since the ability couldn't reconstruct the soul.

In a sense, it was simply reversing what was destroyed, which was still considered one of the capabilities of the element.

The creation primogenitor was also capable of utterly destroying anything he had created, but he couldn't do the same to others.

"This means Concept destruction is capable of destroying even space, time, mental energy, souls, illusion, reality, and even other types of forces, like gravity, nuclear, and electromagnetic force."

Felix paused for a second before asking the big question, "Does this implies that Shiva's descendants aren't capable of creating concept-destroying abilities? Even when they have limited destruction manipulation?"

"All I know is that concept-destroying abilities are similar to advanced abilities in terms of difficulty." J?rmungandr explained, "In other words, it would take a prodigy and an insane amount of dedication to learn and master just one."

"I see."

Now it made more sense to Felix...He just couldn't fathom before that the universe would allow millions of beings capable of destroying reality without trying to balance things out.

Since concept-destroying abilities were considered as advanced in difficulty, this signified that only King Mahit should have mastered one.

Who knows? He might even not have bothered to waste his time mastering them since his entire race was imprisoned.

"Try Destruction Mark passive on it, maybe you will able to control the targeted concept?" Asna suggested with an intrigued tone.

"If it works on my destruction cube, it should work on this too, right?"

Felix was also curious about this as his destruction mark allowed him to control the target for his destruction abilities.

For example, when he used his destruction cube on the chasm's master, he didn't bother to control anything.

However, if he used this passive, he would have been given the option to mark just the mucus on the chasm's master skin.

In turn, this would allow the destruction cube to destroy only the mucus even if the chasm's master head went through it.

This was extremely useful as Felix would have more control over what to destroy and what to leave behind instead of just obliterating everything.

"Let's try something easy to spot like gravity."

Without further ado, Felix manifested another trident. Instead of throwing it away, he used his destruction mark on gravity.

Whoosh Whoosh!

He started waving and playing with the trident around him.

Before he could realize it, the sense of gravity that was keeping him grounded began to disappear!

"It's working!"

Felix smiled widely in delight as his feet began rising after the gravity around him was utterly destroyed!

Everything else was left untouched...Even when Felix tried to cut the grass blades, the trident merely passed through them.

The only thing affected was gravity and nothing else!

After a few moments of screwing around in zero gravity, Felix threw the trident as hard as he could toward a tree.

The trident made no noise as it passed through the tree akin to a ghost!

However, everything in the trident's path was affected by its destruction of gravity, causing the grass blades, leaves, pebbles, branches, and whatnot to start levitating in the air.

Thud!

Meanwhile, Felix fell back to the ground in a few seconds at best...It wasn't by his own choice as the gravity was restored to normal again.

"Looks like the destruction duration depends on what I have marked."

Felix commented as he watched the rest of the objects return to the ground in a couple of seconds as well.

When he used the Concept Destruction Spear, it shattered everything around its contact zone.

However, everything was healed in a split second, which implied that laws still had better domination than destruction.

"That only applies against your trident and other weaker concept-destroying abilities." Thor informed, "Lord Shiva was capable of erasing entire planets and stars from existence without them leaving a trace or the possibility of recovery."

"I expected as much." Felix nodded.

Although Felix didn't unlock many more powerful concept-destroying abilities, he was still more than satisfied with his trident...He was just glad that he unlocked one of them as he had merely four chances to get advanced active abilities before reaching 99%.

It wasn't that easy when there were thousands of active abilities in the pool.

"I was always meaning to ask, is the destruction element better than the void element in terms of destructiveness?"

Felix inquired with a curious tone as he created another trident and marked space as the target.

"Both elements might have a similar goal, which is total deletion until nothingness remains, but they are different and shouldn't be compared." Lady Sphinx clarified, "Void element is energy-based while destruction is a concept. While destruction is an instant process, void energy disintegrates and eats its target on a cellular level until nothing remains."

"So, if we just considered destruction as the sole judge, then obviously, the destruction element is much better since void energy is seeking to achieve the concept of destruction through its disintegration."

"However, the void element being an energy base element was a huge advantage over destruction since it means that it can interact with reality significantly better."

"There is an entire void realm filled with void energy mirroring the universe, intelligent creatures can be born of void energy, and most mostly, there are degrees to the kind of destruction void energy is capable of depending on its purity, unlike the destruction element."

"Destruction mark might allow you to choose what to destroy and what to leave, but you still have no control over the result, which is destruction."

"Meanwhile, void energy can range from taking hours to destroy an object to instant destruction by using the void domain."

"At the peak of both elements, both of their elemental domains achieve the same results at almost the same time, so they are pretty even in this."

"All in all, it's best to avoid comparing elements and judging them to be weaker than another just because one element performs better than the other in a single department."

"I understand." Felix nodded.

Felix's doubts were cleared at once with Lady Sphinx's thorough explanation.

He discerned now that the void element isn't seeking destruction as its main objective, it's just that's how void energy behaved in reality.

Just like water nourished and provided life to most lifeforms in the universe, void energy simply disintegrated anything it touched.

'Speaking about the void element, have you made in progress with the void domain's situation?' J?rmungandr asked.

'It's not looking too promising.' Lady Sphinx shook her head, 'It was already difficult with the previous method as his genes were pretty much stacked up and allow no room for unnatural additions. With more bloodlines adding to the mix, it's getting more impossible to give him the void domain genomes without causing a total meltdown of his DNA.'

'That doesn't sound promising indeed.' Thor sighed, 'Does this mean he has to give up on the void domain?'

Even a primogenitor like him felt his heart pained at the thought of losing a legit domain because of such technicalities.

'All I know is that it's impossible to give him void domain before origin realm.' Lady Sphinx shared.

'Will there be a chance after the origin realm?' J?rmungandr raised an eyebrow in surprise.

'I am not certain yet, but changing the entire DNA field can only mean giving new possibilities.' Lady Sphinx answered.

'Well, I guess we can only hope for the best.' Thor stated as he watched Felix continue testing his trident on other concepts.

He knew that destruction abilities were godly, but a domain was still a domain...

Chapter 1250 Wanting It To Be Real...

After several hours, Felix concluded his Concept Destruction Trident tests. He was pleasantly satisfied with its utilities and flexibility while maintaining its destructiveness.

When he finished it, he moved on to his fourth unlocked active ability. It wasn't an advanced ability like the trident, but still, it had its useful assets and Felix was more delighted to have it than not.

"I guess it's time for a chat with Queen Alfreda."

Felix returned to his house and sat on the couch next to Asna, who was watching a movie in peace.

"She will reject your request." Asna said as she paused the movie.

"It's still worth the shot."

Felix dialed the number and kept waiting patiently for Queen Alfreda to pick up.

Now that he had reached 60% in his integration, he felt that it was time to restart his climb. Since Queen Alfreda was his first barrier to his goal, he was forced to challenge her.

But, Felix didn't want to fight her as he knew that it wouldn't end well for her.

She might be extremely unpleasant and racist towards him during their first meeting, but still, their relationship was somewhat fixed and became neutral, which was something extraordinary when considering that Queen Alfreda hated humans to the core.

Cluck!

"What do you want?" Queen Alfreda asked with a stoic expression the moment her face appeared on the holographic screen.

"You know what I want." Felix smiled.

"It ain't happening." Queen Alfreda narrowed her eyes at him.

"Why? I trust that you are smart enough to realize that you just can't beat me regardless of what you do. Why not just save us both the time and trouble and decline the challenge?" Felix sighed.

"Strength has nothing to do with this." Queen Alfreda shook her head, "If I was a mere player representing myself, I would have avoided you, but I represent the nine elvish realms. It's not dignified or honorable for a Queen to not even accept a challenge."

"I had an assumption it will be that." Felix scratched his forehead as he smiled wryly, "Then, I guess this is happening."

"May I ask why you want me to not fight you?" Queen Alfreda knitted her eyebrows, "I assumed that you will be taking this chance to teach me a lesson for my treatment in the past."

"I might look a bit evil, but I am not that bad, you know?" Felix smiled faintly, "I never wanted conflict with you, I just saught to learn runic spells, nothing more, nothing less."

"I see..."

Queen Alfreda tried her best to keep her expression composed and indifferent, but Felix could see a hint of shame in her eyes.

It was shame produced by her unconditional dislike of Felix after projecting her hatred of her fiance on him.

When she thought about it, besides the incident when Felix had almost emptied their essence fountain water, he had been nothing but a great guest.

He respected his boundaries with her little sister and never took advantage of her even though she was physically throwing herself at him.

He motivated her to work much harder on her spellcasting instead of lazing around before meeting him.

He even took her with him to the Elementals Galaxy, an opportunity that wasn't given to primogenitors.

She might be a stubborn Queen, but she wasn't completely emotionless...

Queen Alfreda regained control of her emotions and asked him, "When are you going to voice your challenge?"

"Preferably today." Felix answered with a faint smile as he stared directly into her eyes.

He knew that she might not have apologized out loud, but he could feel that she reflected on her past behavior and wasn't going to be such a b*tch around him anymore.

This was all that Felix ever wanted.

"I see, good luck then." Queen Alfreda nodded.

Just as she was about to hang up to start her preparation, she stopped herself and asked with a bit of a concerned tone, "May I ask how is Selphie doing there?"

"I thought you will never ask." Felix chuckled, "She is doing much better than me, I tell you that."

"What do you mean?" Queen Alfreda raised an eyebrow in surprise.

"She has already mastered all the known time spells and is focusing on creating new ones. She actually succeeded in creating a new lesser-time spell." Felix shared with a bit of an envious tone.

"Is that the truth?" Queen Alfreda seemed pleasantly joyous at her little sister's monstrous improvements.

She knew that mastering an omnipotent time spell was already an unbelievable achievement, but to start creating her new time spells? That was just unimaginable!

That's because creating runic spells required studying the runic codex and comprehending it at such a high level that it would be able to extract spells from its ancient and holy sentences!

While ancient elves and current highly intelligent researchers elves were capable of extracting spells of all grades from it, none of them had ever extracted a spell of such highly complex elements as space, time, death, life....etc!

Only Lady Yggdrasil managed to do it!

"You don't have to worry about her, she is in good hands." Felix expressed.

"Thank you." Queen Alfreda cracked a faint dazzling smile towards Felix at last, catching him by surprise.

'I guess she is really happy about her little sister.' Asna commentated.

"You're welcome." Felix smiled back.

Queen Alfreda nodded at him one last time before hanging up.

"I may not have gotten what I wanted, but this is good too." Felix said with a pleased tone.

It might not seem like much, but his relationship with Queen Alfreda was clearly on the right path as the bad blood between them was cleared.

This was good for Felix as it meant that he would have Queen Alfreda's side in the ten rulers' assembly, which should facilitate any of his future decisions.

"Since she decided to drop her hatred for me, I might do her a small favor during the fight." Felix chuckled.

"You really are too nice." Asna remarked sarcastically after reading his plan.

"I know, right?" Felix smiled innocently.

"Idiot." Asna rolled her eyes at him and unpaused the movie.

Felix planned to voice the challenge to Queen Ai, but after seeing a kissing scene popping on the movie, he glanced at Asna's plump rosy lips and couldn't help but change his plan.

Felix edged closer to Asna and put his arm around her, before pushing her near his chest gently...Asna smiled in enjoyment as she cuddled with him.

"You know, we had an old famous saying in my home." Felix showed an honest smile as he said, "It's called, Netflix and Chill."

"Hmm? What does it mean?" Asna tilted her head in confusion.

"You will find out soon enough." Felix grinned as his previous harmless hand that was massaging her shoulder, slipped into her marshmallow-soft breasts.

"You really can't cuddle in peace." Asna's cheeks turned slightly red, but she didn't reject his naughty massaging.

"This is how men cuddle." Felix replied with a wolf-like grin as his other hand snuck under her pajama pants and played with her sacred fruit.

Asna's breath got a bit erratic as the pleasure started washing over her body while her temperature kept raising akin to a rice cooker.

When she finally couldn't take it, she lifted her head and started making out with Felix passionately while her hand went to wake up his little general for duty.

'It's getting a bit hot up there.' Thor remarked as he peeked above him with a perverted grin.

'Can you not be disgusting just once?' J?rmungandr's eyelids twitched as he closed the connection, giving those two young lovers some privacy.

'Tsk, I didn't need to watch anyways, I already know the outcome.' Thor clicked his tongue, knowing that those two weren't going to take it all the way again.

They have done everything else but seal the deal, which wasn't Felix's fault at all as he was more than ready.

'Leave her be, it's her first time and she wants it to be perfect.' J?rmungandr said calmly.

'There is no such a thing as the perfect first time, she is chasing fairytales and dragging our boy with her.' Thor retorted, not too pleased with Asna's blue balling his student.

Thor was quite a womanizer in his old days as he had harems of thousands of the most gorgeous women in the universe...So, in his eyes, sex was just sex and there shouldn't be such a big fuzz about it.

'I think she wants her first time to be in the real world. There is no other explanation for dragging this for more than a thousand years.' Carbuncle joined their conversation while chilling under the artificial sun.

'I had the same notion.'

'Ummm.'

J?rmungandr and Thor nodded in agreement.

In their eyes, since those two had done everything else, it only meant that the problem wasn't Asna's shyness anymore.

She was more than ready to take it to the next stage...Her refusal only meant that she desired her first time to happen in the real world, not in a virtual or spiritual world.

UVR might have 100% realism, which meant all the sensations would be the same as the real world, but still...In her eyes, it wasn't going to be the same as in the real world.

While most couples stop having sex in the real world completely and transferred it to the UVR to go nuts without worries about anything, Asna still believed that only reality could convey the true feelings of both partners.

Obviously, Asna wasn't a stone-hearted person. She also was finding it harder and harder to stay true to this belief every time she had gotten intimate with Felix.

Who knows? She might end up completely giving to the pleasure one day and take it all the way even in the UVR...
