

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 181 Learning a new skill

A little while ago, Jake was on the highest point of the academy watching the fight that was about to happen. He had instructed Geo, Alex and Peter to take an army or hundred soldiers each and intercept the beasts that their exit point.

But no matter what they did, they couldn't hold them back and that's when they gave the order or retreat and they headed back to the academy with the beasts hot on their tail.

"Damn! This is bad! They are heading back, I'm not sure the academy can handle this right now after fighting against humans." Jake said as he looked out and could see them already close to the academy.

Immediately they got to the academy, the soldiers proved Jake wrong as they charged towards the beasts with General Paul and Kron in front ravaging the beasts.

"Wasn't Paul fighting earlier?" Jake asked himself as he watched the fight going on. "How can he fight as if he has so much energy?"

Jake also kept an eye on his friends and how they were holding up. To his surprise, everybody were holding up well. At times they struggled, but having already faced this type of beasts, they were holding their grounds nicely.

But what nobody anticipated was that the two different beasts would be working together to take down the humans and that was what made the fight quite difficult.

Then everything changed when the King tier beasts decided to join the fight and that was when they started struggling greatly.

"I need to get down there fast." Jake said as he was about to rush down there when Zee stopped him.

"Wait! If you keep going there trying to play saviour, how will your friends or guild members grow in strength?" Zee asked.

"So should I just let them die?" Jake asked still looking at the tense fighting going on.

"No, just watch them until you see that they are struggling greatly then you help them. If you keep playing saviour each and every time, they won't grow in strength because they would think that you would always show up when there's trouble." Zee said.

"What if you aren't around to help?"

Jake just sighed and went back to his spot to watch the battle with tense feelings.

"You are right. Let's see how they will do." Jake said as he was watching the battle again most especially the Generals fight against the King tier beasts.

He could see that Paul was being sloppy somewhat and was quite weak. Turning around, Jake could see the same thing with almost all his friends as their hits were being weak.

"Oh right, they had just finished fighting a general and I'm sure their Qi has been depleted now." Jake said as he kept watching out.

That was when Jake noticed that all the hits his friends landed on the Gorilla wasn't really doing anything to it and now it just pounded its chest with all six arms in anger while looking at the students that made him angry.

"I don't know how much this will help, I just hope its enough for you all to pull through." Jake said as he went to his system and navigated until he found what he was looking for.

{Activate Guild Skill}

Jake clicked on it and immediately all members of the Fang hunters felt a boost and a surge of strength course through them.

Immediately, they put it to good use fighting with all the strength and force they could muster. Jake was watching his friends especially and trying to see how they would do.

He could see they were doing quite well. Well, as well as they could to a King tier beast.

That was when Jake felt a surge of energy in the battlefield. Turning around, he could see General Paul hitting the beast with everything he could.

He punched the beast, slashed and everything. Then when he was quite far enough, General Paul held his sword tightly and focused then his sword was now glowing quite bright before he threw his sword outwardly.

Then a huge slash came out of his sword and sliced the Gorrila's hands off before General Kron came and finished the Gorrila off.

"Wow! That slash was like a Qi slash or something." Jake said looking at the dead Gorilla then the one that his friends were fighting against.

"I think I should try and learn that skill now, it might just work." Jake said.

"Now?" Zee asked. "I'm not sure there's enough time for that."

"Let me just try." Jake said as he went to the middle of the room and looked around.

Then he saw Lila's dead body with her head severed off and Rowan's dead body also with the destroyed room.

"This should have to do." Jake said as he gripped his sword tightly and focused.

Jake closed his eyes tight and raised his sword up above his head and started infusing it with as much Qi as he could.

His sword was glowing faintly but he was unaware as he was just infusing it with Qi while coating the outside of the blade with Qi also to make it stronger.

Zee who was seeing this, was quite amazed that Jake managed to pull it off in one try because his sword was now glowing as much as General Paul's did.

"Qi Slash!" Jake shouted as he threw his sword outwardly and giant slash that was shaped like half the moon came out towards where his sword was pointing.

And the giant slash cut through the wall easily and finally dissipated.

"Now that's what I'm talking about." Jake smiled.

"Okay, I think it's time you head out to the field." Zee said.

"Yes you are right." Jake said as he was about to head out before he stopped.

"Just one more thing." Jake said. "Inventory!"

"Equip mask and armour!" Jake called out and immediately his mask and armour was equipped on his body.

"Much better." Jake smiled and then he looked at the window before he rushed towards the stairs with as much speed as he could.

He ran down the stairs and then finally he was out of the separate building and could see the devastation on the battlefield. Quickly, Jake swirled his Qi to his feet making it shake in power.

Before Jake knew what he was doing, he pushed off from where he stood strongly heading towards his friends. The place Jake stood earlier had a deep fissure in it and some dust was pushed back.

Now Jake was in the air heading towards his friends before he crashed in front of his friends and blocking the path of the Gorilla.

All of this events led to this, Jake killing the Gorilla and him pushing all the advanced tier beasts back with Echoing wave skill.

And now, the advanced tier beasts were already standing up slowly looking at the intruder angrily.

Chapter 182 Aurora's Victory

Immediately Jake had used echoing wave skill taught to him at the weapon hall, all the 50 advanced tier beast were lifted up and thrown everywhere with such force.

And then they slowly stood up to look at the intruder but that was all they could do as the intruder raised his sword which was now glowing again.

"After I use this, all my Qi would have been depleted since this is the second time I'm using this. But I hope it finishes you all!" Jake shouted as he was in the motion of swinging his sword.

"Lightning Qi Slash!" Jake shouted and immediately, the slash left his sword and crashed into the beast's slicing them off cleanly without any struggle.

After the slash ended, everybody saw rgar out of 50 advanced tier beasts, it was only 20 beasts left.

General Paul and Kron who were far away and couldn't move, were also seeing what the mysterious figure did.

Even Jake's friends, Alex and Simyon were left with their mouths agape.

'That looks like Jake, the mask and sword. But how is he this strong and when did he learn the Qi slash?' General Paul thought.

'Jake, you keep on surprising me anytime I see you, will I ever be able to meet up to you now? I know now that I made the right choice in following you, because you will achieve great things and I would love to be apart of it.' Alex thought as he looked at Jake with an amazed look.

"Hey General Paul, who is that?" Kron asked as he looked at Jake.

"He is the werewolf slayer." Paul said with a smile on his face.

"How is he so strong? He just killed 30 beasts with that single slash." Kron exclaimed.

"I mean being a Qi specialist, I know what one needs to have that amount of power in the strike. You need an immense amount of Qi reserve and you need to have the strength to contain it otherwise, the recoil from the gathered energy would destroy the user's vessel." Kron explained.

"Which begs the question, how strong is he? Even the sergeants do not have the strength to produce that attack because they aren't strong enough, does that mean he is as strong as a General?" Kron asked.

"I don't know, all I know is he is the werewolf slayer and I made the right choice following him." Paul smiled.

"Wait, werewolf slayer? As in the werewolf slayer that chased that Beta werewolf away?" Kron asked and Paul nodded along.

"Now I'm not really surprised." Kron said as he looked at what Jake would do next.

'Jake, you keep growing stronger and stronger, will I ever be able to stand beside you equally? Won't I just be a burden to you?' Kate thought as she looked at Jake sadly.

Meanwhile Jake after performing that attack, looked at his sword.

"My Qi has just gotten depleted finally." Jake said as he now looked at the beasts remaining.

"But I'm still strong enough to f*ck you all up!" Jake shouted as he pounced off from where he stood strongly causing a deep crack in the ground.

With a swing of his sword, the head of a mosswovern beast fell down then from the corner of his eyes, he could see an Earth shaker heading his way.

"Stun strike." Jake said and the Earthshaker stopped dead in its track.

Quickly turning around, Jake sliced the head off although it was a struggle since the beast's hide was quite strong.

Then pouncing off, Jake activated {Strength surge} and his strength increased before he used {Step shift} to get behind two beasts.

Stabbing his sword in their back, they fell down dead. That was when Jake felt a slight pain in his leg.

Looking down, he could see the sharp tusks of an Earthshaker in his legs.

With anger, Jake punched the Earthshaker's head before it could escape therefore breaking its head in a single hit.

Before he darted off to the next beast. The remaining beasts seeing this, were now quite afraid of the masked fellow as they could feel the intense amount of energy coming off from him and they tried to escape.

But one of them was unlucky as Jake grabbed its tail. Before he raised it up and slammed it down forcefully.

"This is my academy, no one messes with it!" Jake shouted at the now retreating beasts that only remained like 8 after Jake's rampage.

The soldiers seeing this, gave chase as they wanted to finish them off which they did. After seeing the Werewolf's Slayer strength, they felt a new surge of hope and strength as they went at the beasts.

Seeing the humans attacking them again, the beasts retaliated but it was futile as Alex who was in front of all the soldiers along with Sergeant Sunny, were killing them off quickly.

And finally, all the beasts were now dead, the beasts that decided to attack Aurora Academy for one reason or another, were dead and not a single one managed to escape all thanks to the Werewolf Slayer.

The soldiers came and started cheering on to the werewolf slayer with joy as they had just won tough battle.

"Thanking you for helping us werewolf slayer, when I joined the Fang hunters with the promise of safety, I was skeptical. But now, I'm glad I did." A soldier said.

That was how many of the soldiers were praising the werewolf slayer. Looking at his friends who were all smiles, looking at the Generals and all the soldiers, Jake raised his hand signalling they should hold on their comments and thanks.

"This academy was betrayed by one of your Head Generals and even some Generals and a sergeant helped." Jake said and the soldiers looked at each other confused.

As they hadn't been informed about this nor did they know. Even Kron was looking at Paul who just nodded his head confirming the werewolf's slayer's words.

'I wonder where you are going with this Jake.' Paul thought.

"Which is why, this academy would be under the control of the Fang hunters since most of your powerhouses have all fell." Jake spoke.

"So why don't we make our new powerful guild. Let's change this academy for the better. And if you don't like this change, you are all welcome to leave." Jake said looking at everybody.

"What did you say? This academy in your hands?" A voice was heard shouting and then walking through the crowd was the last remaining Head General.

Head General Humfree along with General Wilfred and the remaining thousand soldiers that all went out on a mission of some sorts with the Head General and General.

After the battle between Aurora Academy and the beasts was over, Jake made a brave statement that got everyone talking.

He stated that the reigns of Aurora Academy would be in the hands of the Fang hunters and those that didn't accept were free to leave the place.

The soldiers didn't have the time to contemplate further as they heard a shout coming from the last remaining Head General that had gone out for a mission before all this whole mess.

"What did you say? This academy in your hands?" The head general said as he walked forward with a thousand soldiers that had gone out with him and General Wilfred by his side.

"Who are you to say such a thing?" Humfree asked with his Qi spilling out of him and shaking the ground around him.

Wilfred who stood beside him was feeling nauseated but Jake who it was directed to was not even twitching the slightest as he looked at the Head General in the eye with his mask still covering his face.

"Who am I to say such?" Jake asked as looked at the Head General with anger evident on his posture as he gripped his sword tighter ready for a fight.

"I saved this academy twice!" Jake shouted looking at Humfree.

"And where were you at that time huh? These soldiers can testify, each time they were in trouble, I always show up to help while you run away saying there's an emergency of some sorts."

"Just because you saved this academy, does that give you the right to claim ownership of it?" Humfree asked in anger while his Qi erupted outwardly towards Jake who still stood his ground.

"Yes it does. The big three after saving the world, claimed ownership of it. Every humans here practically worship them like some sort of god and you said I can't do the same?" Jake asked.

"I built this academy from scratch!" Humfree shouted.

"And I saved it twice from threats and danger!" Jake retorted back. "Face it, you all owe me a favour for doing that twice."

Seeing the tension between them, everybody were tense especially Alex.

'I don't know what you are planning on doing Jake, but whatever it is I will back you up no matter what. Even if it means putting that old man down, I will do it.' Alex thought.

'Jake, I had already promised you to follow you in your crazy ambitions. So I will back you up as much as I can when necessary.' Kate thought gripping her bow tighter.

'Hey buddy, I hope you know what you are doing.' Peter thought watching their body languages ready to jump in if a fight occurred but it never came as the next action of Humfree shocked them all.

"Hahahaha." Humfree laughed as he held his belly with two of his hands. And he laughed out loud.

"To be honest, I'm amazed you can stand your ground against me even though you knew that I could beat you up rather quick." Humfree said.

"Oh really, how about we put that to the test?" Jake asked gripping his sword ready for an attack.

"Oh please, pipe down." Humfree said with a tear in his eyes which he cleaned away from laughing out loud.

"I'm not going to fight you." Humfree said and everyone were shocked.

"Did you think I didn't know everything that went on in this academy? From the planned attack on Aurora by the werewolves, Gunter's betrayal, your little fan club and the beasts attack."

"Huh?" Jake asked with a raised brow.

"How about we talk about this in the meeting room." Humfree said as he was walking forward towards the academy casually.

Jake stood there for a second before General Paul came to him and led him to the academy.

"Alex, Wilfred, Peter, Kron, and Sunny. Let's go." Paul said as they made their way towards the meeting room inside the academy.

"The rest of you get rest and heal yourselves." Paul ordered as they were now inside the academy fully and they went to the meeting room that was used by all the higher authorities in the academy.

Entering in, they could see Humfree sitting there casually as if there wasn't a care in the world. Jake sat down across from him and so did the rest of them that followed him followed suit.

Humfree then looked at Jake.

"Firstly, I'm thankful that you saved my academy twice from dangers. What's your name again?" Humfree asked.

"Ah yes, werewolf slayer or shall I call you Jake Lucas." Humfree smiled.

Jake was shocked so were the rest who sat at the table. Jake touched his face and could feel the mask firmly planted on his face so how did Humfree know all this?

"I told you, nothing could escape my eyes and ears in this academy. I knew everything that was going on that was why I chose to remain quiet and played along."

"Before we start, how about you remove that ridiculous mask since I know who you're." Humfree said and Jake complied by de-equipping the mask causing it to disappear in front of them all.

"Interesting." Humfree said as he saw the mask disappear.

"How did you know all this?" Jake asked.

"Now now, if I tell you my secret, it wouldn't be a secret right?" Humfree asked.

"But let me explain myself while starting from the beginning." Humfree said.

"I knew the academy would be betrayed by Gunther and someone would rise to defeat him but I didn't know who at that time. But I was told that the person would come from the younger generation."

"Told? By who?" Jake asked with a raised brow.

"By a god." Humfree smiled.

"god? Are you making fun of me right now?" Jake asked.

"I'm honest. Anyway if you believe me or not, is none of my business. Just listen to my story." Humfree said.

'gods? Are gods even real?' Jake thought as he looked at Humfree.

Currently, Jake along with all the remaining Head Generals and Alex together with Peter and Sunny were in a meeting with Humfree as he just declared that a god had revealed all these to him.

"I know that you are confused and surprised, so in order for you all to understand, let me start from the beginning." Humfree said.

30 years ago, after the first war with werewolves, in a man-made looking cave, with a huge stone in front of the entrance

Three men were seen bowing to a huge orb that was practically glowing with intense amount of energy making them aware of the orb's power.

"As you commanded, I have created an academy for the young to learn how to fight and survive in this world and I have also recruited 2 young men to help me in my work." Humfree said as he kept his head down.

"Good." The orb spoke with its sound neither high pitched nor low pitched making them uncertain of the orb's gender whether it belonged to a male or female.

"All that you said is good and I have seen the impact the academy would have on young ones in the future." The orb spoke again.

"I'm glad everything worked out as per your wish." Rowan spoke out.

"There's also another reason why I asked you Humfree to create this academy and I'm glad you didn't ask me the reason. Which is why, I will tell you now so you would be prepared." The orb said.

"I'm glad you find me worthy enough to tell your plans." Humfree said.

"The reason I asked you to build the academy is because I want you to train youngsters that are interested so they can be able to defend themselves."

"And the real reason is because I saw a vision where someone who would go through this academy, would be the one to save you all. He is going to be the beacon of hope and salvation to you all." The orb spoke.

"I thought the big three were the ones you sent for the world?" Humfree asked politely.

"Big three?" The orb asked with a short laugh. "Yes, they would help, but the kid would save you all. And listen to one more thing, when he is off age, he would request for the reigns of the academy. I want you to give it to him."

"What?" Gunther shouted in anger. "Why would we give the academy we built by ourselves to a young kid? We don't even know if your silly visions are legit."

"You dare call my visions silly?" The orb spoke with anger evident in its voice and the cave was shaking furiously with pieces of rocks falling down and the orb was glowing brightly and furiously that it almost blinded those in the room.

"I apologize on behalf of my subordinate, please forgive him." Humfree apologized while bowing so low that his head was touching the ground.

"Fine. I will forgive him because of you Humfree." The orb spoke and Gunther just scoffed.

Which earned a shin kick from Rowan telling him to shut up.

"I have said what I want to say, the rest of you can leave except Humfree." The orb spoke.

Gunther was the first to leave angrily with a sour taste left in his mouth from the orb's words. Then Rowan followed suit.

After Humfree made sure the giant stone was closed and they had left, he went back to his bowing position as he waited for the orb to speak again.

"That your subordinate would betray you in the future, keep an eye on him." The orb spoke.

"What? If it's because of his earlier attitude you came to that conclusion, then I think you are wrong." Humfree said.

"I trust Gunther and Rowan since I handpicked them to help me out myself. So I trust them with my life."

"Humans." The orb said. "I have told you what I saw, it's your call if you choose to accept or not."

"Just keep whatever I said at the back of your mind and watch out for all the younglings that would pass through your academy. Once he has arrived, I would inform you and you will keep an eye out." The orb said and the glowing bright light faded signalling it was time for Humfree to leave.

Back to the present

"So you see, that's how I know almost everything that went on in the academy with you creating your group, and some of my Generals joining." Humfree said.

And then the room fell silent as they tried to process all what Humfree recounted for them.

'gods? I didn't know they existed, I thought they were just mere myths.' Jake thought.

"If you knew Gunther was going to betray, if you knew that the werewolves were going to attack, then why didn't you act and help us?" Jake asked while gritting his teeth furiously.

"You could have saved a lot of lives that day the werewolves attacked, my friend Vynn would have been alive now."

"I'm sorry your friend died, it wasn't my intention but the god asked me to make up an excuse to leave the academy that day." Humfree said.

"It said if your friend hadn't died, you wouldn't have pushed forward to grow this strong and grow your own group. It needed you to focus and that's why it allowed everything play out."

"That damned god!" Jake shouted as a tear dropped down his face.

"Once I find who it is, I'm gonna skin it alive and that's a promise." Jake declared.

"I'm sorry Jake that you had to go through all these." Humfree apologized.

Jake didn't reply as he kept his head down trying to process everything calmly.

"As per the god's will, this academy is yours and will be in the hands of you Fang hunters." Humfree said.

"I was told to step down after you realize your position and I will but I have something to ask you." Humfree said as he stood up and Jake looked up at him ready for anything but the next action from Humfree surprised him.

"Please allow me to join the Fang hunters." Humfree said as he knelt down with his fist on the floor.

Chapter 185 A New Era

Humfree just finished explaining what happened from the start and how he knew almost everything that went on in the academy and his role in it.

Then he made his request to Jake asking to be part of the Fang hunters therefore surprising everyone in the room after they heard this.

"Please allow me to join the Fang hunters." Humfree said as he knelt down with his fist on the floor.

Jake was now shocked as he looked at Humfree confused why he would suddenly ask him for that favour.

"Why do you want to join the Fang hunters?" Jake asked.

"Because the god chose you for a reason and I would like to know what that is. So what better way than me joining you and seeing how you will be a beacon of hope for the world." Humfree replied.

"You know there's no going back from this." Jake said.

"I don't care, I will adhere to the god's wish to the latter and which one of them includes keeping you safe and guiding you on the right path." Humfree replied.

Hearing the god's name again, Jake gritted his teeth in anger remembering how it could have helped save Vynn but it chose not to. Jake even contemplated not accepting Humfree's request.

"Don't do what I'm thinking you want to do." Zee quickly said.

"I know you want to refuse him but don't, I want you to accept him."

"Why?" Jake asked Zee quietly.

"Having him with you will boost the strength of your guild tremendously and secondly, you would have a link to that god." Zee said.

"You do have a point there. If I accept him, I can always try to get to that orb he spoke of so I can talk to that damned god." Jake quietly said.

"Fine, let's do this." Jake said as he quickly sent a contract invite to Head General Humfree who accepted without a single hesitation.

Seeing his Head General doing it, Kron also asked to join and he was also invited. And just like that, a Head General and three Generals were under Jake's thumb.

"Before we end this meeting, I have one more thing to say to you all." Jake said as he looked at all the people in the room.

"No one, absolutely no one apart from you all that I will refer to as the core members of this guild should know my real identity. I want to keep up the image that the leader of the Fang hunters is this strong fellow that would always help them when they are in trouble not that of a student."

Your next journey awaits at empire

"And you have permission to invite those you can trust. And also, I won't change much here, the academy would function as usual but it will also act like a guild. And the name of this new academy and guild is the Fang hunters!" Jake declared strongly.

"Head General Humfree, I know your plan was to take the fight to the werewolves, but trust me, it's not yet time. Let's first of all grow our strength so that no one can mess with us. Then when we make our place at the top of the ladder, we can finally take the fight to them." Jake said.

Hearing Jake's words, Humfree couldn't help but smile at the boy's decision making.

'I see what you saw in him in just a few minutes of being the leader, he is making good decisions that I wouldn't expect from a 17 year old.' Humfree thought with a smile on his face.

"Alright, since the academy have changed, I have one more thing to add. The academy along with the guild will be somewhat separate. We would use the academy to grow strong soldiers and if we trust them enough, we would invite them into the guild." Paul said.

"I like that idea. But, the name of it all is going to be the Fang hunters." Jake said.

"For the guild part, I would pick those that I trust and I want with me to help lead the guild tomorrow. For now, I think we should all get some rest." Jake said as he stood up.

"Inform everyone that Aurora has changed and a new leader has emerged. The students shall all train as normal and so will I. The meeting is dismissed." Jake said walking out of the room with Peter and Alex behind him.

Leaving the higher authorities of the former Aurora Academy behind.

"How did that little kid of yesterday grow so much in such a short span of time?" Sunny asked as he stared at Jake's back.

"I mean, I'm also confused. He is making decisions like that of an elder." Paul said.

"It's a good thing. Change was very much needed in the academy and I'm glad it did happen. But I'm worried that this will upset the world's balance." Humfree said.

"A new guild emerging suddenly, and claiming the academy for itself, I'm sure that when the news spreads, we would have a major fight on our hands." Humfree said stroking his long beard which was already a habit of his.

"What ever happens, we would be ready for it." Wilfred said.

"Alright then, let's do what our new leader said and rest, we would announce the new change tomorrow. For now, the academy needs a well deserved rest to recover." Humfree said.

And they all stood up and left the meeting room one by one to organize the soldiers and get their own rest for the big day of the announcement tomorrow.

Chapter 186 The Big Three

Two months later, a big change occurred in Aurora Academy all because of one person; The Werewolf Slayer. No one knew who he was or where he came from but he just came like a storm and took Aurora by surprise.

He saved the academy once from the werewolf attack then he proceeded to save it from beasts attack making him much more popular among soldiers and students especially as they were now practically idolizing him.

Then after the beast attack, he declared Aurora Academy as his from now on and turned it from Aurora Academy to the Fang hunters Guild.

When the announcement was made, everybody were afraid that so many things would change but to their surprise, nothing much changed. The academy functioned as normal by training students and soldiers too.

While those that were talented, were taken into the Guild part of the academy. A huge building had been constructed in the academy that served as the guild hall and the Guild's base.

The plan was that adventurers that came could take quests from there and upon completion, they would be paid. The building also doubled up as the base where the higher ups have their meetings.

And the higher ups were called core members. Those that were close to the leader and probably knew his identity.

Since Jake wanted to continue his life as usual at the academy like a student, those he appointed as part of the core were required to wear a mask.

There was also a rule, if someone wanted to be part of the Fang hunters Guild, they needed to accept the contract which was not forced on them. If they wanted to accept, they could.

Those that were part of the core members were: Kate, Peter who became second in command to Jake. Alex, Simyon, Geo, Paul, Kron, Sunny, Emily, Wilfred and Humfree.

These were those that knew Jake's real identity and they were the ones that made up the Fang hunter's core members.

But Jake had further divided them into those that he truly trusted and those that would run the guild together with Humfree.

These were Kate, when she had been chosen, her eyes welled up as she didn't believe she would have a part to play in all these. She had just been practically promoted to an equal position like the Head Generals.

Then Jake chose Alex to be next to run the academy beside Humfree and Kate. So currently, these were how Jake decided to let the guild be.

And Jake made one rule, when the core members wanted to make an appearance, they had to use a mask so that their real identities would be protected and the people won't think that the guild was being run by kids.

After the cool save Jake did during the hunt, practically all the remaining soldiers asked to be invited into the guild especially after hearing how the guild skill saved a lot of lives.

That was how all the two thousand soldiers left in the academy had been invited into the guild as members while the students were still being trained.

So when they are done with their three years of training, if they wished they could join the guild alongside the normal soldiers.

Since Aurora Academy declared itself as a guild, they had been given a rank which Jake was unaware of earlier. All the Guilds had ranks just like the adventurers.

The ranks ranged from F to AA and currently, The Fang hunters were given the F rank; the lowest of the ranks meaning that they were currently weak and they need to hunt beasts and submit it into the system to level up.

When the world learnt of this, some of the parents whose kids were in the academy were now worried but when their kids went back for the holidays, they had been told stories by their kids about how a certain individual the werewolf slayer saved their lives.

That was how the name of the werewolf slayer spread far and wide. It was safe to say that the name of the werewolf slayer had spread even to the whole Earth making him a popular figure now.

This worried the practical rulers of the world known as the big three because they didn't know how this new guild would be for them.

They were fine with the academy being created as they would help to train young ones so they would be useful in the war against the werewolves. Since they needed the help of everybody they could get.

And now, overnight, a new guild emerged and took over the reigns of Aurora Academy and nobody, absolutely nobody knew who was the leader of the Fang hunters making even the big three dread the worst.

That was why currently, all the leaders of the big three families were in a meeting over this worry.

Sitting around the round table, were three men. One of them was Rex Slade; the leader of the Slade family. The one who practically founded Qi before the others knew about it.

Then sitting by his right side was another man who had brown hair and fierce look to his eye. He held a walking cane but it was more like a style for him rather than to aid him in walking.

The cane had a dragon head designed to it. This man was who was known as Rivoock Dem; the leader of the Dem family; Jack's father. The Dem family had powers that was quite kept secret from the world and nobody knew about it.

The other big three knew they held powers but they didn't know what it was. Because Rivoock had just used his brute strength to aid in the war and that was what made their family dangerous and also what earned him the seat at the top.

The last person on the table was a man who had black hair and had a slim athletic build. And he was none other than Bane Josh; the leader of the Josh family.

The creator of advanced technologies that was spread all around but hadn't reached the towns nor the city Aurora Academy claimed because they wanted the children to focus on the training rather than fun.

He also held power over technologies that were dangerous and that was what also earned him a position at the top with the rest. And currently, all these great men were in a meeting over the new guild that called themselves the Fang hunters.

Chapter 187 Blip's ambitions

Currently, after hearing the news of a new guild emerging and taking over the academy, the big three and all the big powers in the world were worried about the status quo of the world.

That was why the big three leaders were in a meeting over this issue that was troubling them.

The first to speak up was Rex as he was furious about this matter.

"How did Aurora Academy allow this to happen?" Rex shouted.

"I heard there was an internal issue that culminated into betrayal and that was how Aurora fell." Bane said.

"Well isn't this just too convenient, the academy being betrayed, a new guild emerging." Rivock said.

"I wouldn't have felt bothered if it was any other guild that rose up to this level but I heard the leader of the guild is the werewolf slayer." Rex said.

"Ah yes, the one that went toe to toe with that Beta werewolf once." Bane said.
"Do we know who he is?"

"Not at all, he is said to wear a mask that conceals his identity keeping it secret." Rivock said.

"Then what are we going to do? How do we solve this problem?" Rex asked.

"Why do we need to get involved?" Bane asked.

"Because it's likely possible for them to disrupt the status quo that has been for years now." Rex said.

"Why don't we just leave them be and see how long they would last." Rivock said.

"What nonsense!" Rex shouted as he slammed his hands on the table almost breaking it but it didn't break it only cracked.

And why would it break? After all it was made by Bane and he used the strongest and rarest material known to man to create almost all his techs which is Hyperalloy.

"You need to calm down." Bane said.

"Why should I keep calm? Who knows maybe that werewolf slayer would be a threat to us." Rex said.

"We won't know for now. My advice is to just let them be and see what happens." Bane said.

Rex just scoffed at this. "And why should we?"

"Because we need all the strength we have right now to win this war." Bane said.

"We have our strength, the independent Guilds and your techs, what else do we need?" Rex asked.

"And do you think they are enough to win this war?" Bane asked.

"Look, we shouldn't be arrogant to think that we can win this war with just what we have, we need all the powers we can get right now." Bane said.

"But what if they become a big problem in the future? Won't it be wise to squash them when they are still small?" Rivoock asked.

"Well they will surely be squashed, but not by us." Bane smiled.

"By who?" Rex asked.

"Blip." Bane replied.

"Right, that troublesome Blip. He wouldn't want them to grow more than this, he would try all his best to squash them like the little bug they are." Rex smiled.

"But can Blip do it? We all know that Head General Humfree is part of the guild, and we all know his strength very well. It would be safe to place Head General Humfree at the AA rank." Rivock said.

"And let's not also forget the werewolf slayer too. We don't even have a grade of his strength, we just have to go by the fact that he chased the Beta werewolf on his own which is an impressive feat on its own." Rivock added.

"I'm sure Blip can handle it. He isn't that weak." Rex said.

"Let's see how long they can last in the cruel and competitive world." Rex smirked.

In a huge city, with skyrise buildings, a meeting was taking place in a huge skyscraper.

In a meeting room, there were three men sitting in a round table with an almost similar setting to the big three meeting but this one, a single man was sitting in a higher chair to the others that sat on either side of him.

"Report!" The man said. The man had a scar across his left chin with a menacing look to him and he had a long ponytail on his head.

This man was known as Blip, the leader of the Iron Fist Guild. The most notorious and active independent guild in the world that had a reputation for being troublemakers.

"Sir, the Fang hunter's guild has managed to rebuild themselves and are fully functional." The man on his left hand side said.

"Yes sir, people are trying to migrate to the city after hearing about who the leader of the guild is. Although, the migrations is small." The man on the right hand side said.

"Hmm." Blip said as he stroke his bushy moustache. "How is Raven city doing?"

"We are receiving incomes and taxes nicely but it is quite small and the citizens are complaining that the taxes are to much."

"What!" Blip shouted as he slammed his hands on the arm rest of his chair.

"How dare they complain to me after I have being generous to them by protecting them from any troubles." Blip said.

The men didn't reply as they kept their heads down.

"I think I have been to lenient with them, increase the tax amount to 3 more percent." Blip ordered.

"But sir." The man on the right side said.

"Are you trying to question my orders?" Blip asked.

"No sir." The man quickly said.

"Good." Blip said as he finally relaxed as he took a pack of cigarettes of to the side and put it in his mouth.

One of the men by his side quickly rushed over to light the cigarette for him. After taking a few puffs, Blip finally relaxed.

"Any other news?" Blip asked.

"Yes sir, for you plan, we need more lands so we can have enough resources to execute it perfectly."

"I thought after taking Raven city for ourselves, we would have enough lands for my plan." Blip said.

"Yes we thought so too but the situation is now different and that's why I brought it to your notice."

After taking a few puffs of his cigarette and stroking his bushy moustache, Blip finally came to a decision.

"How big is Aurora city?" Blip asked.

"Big enough for our plan to actually work if we combine it with Raven city and our city."

"Perfect, I want you to make sure they are unable to function properly. I mean block all the entrance point to the city and demand exuberant taxes from those that wants to go there." Blip said.

"Without people migrating there, they would slowly weaken and they are weakened enough, we strike and take the city for ourselves."

"And nobody would be able to stop us. Not the Head General on their side, nor the one called the werewolf slayer. Victory will be ours." Blip smirked.

"Victory is assured!" The two men bowed. Enjoy more content from empire

Chapter 188 A leader's response

A week later, an emergency meeting was called between the core members of the Fang hunters and surprisingly, it wasn't Jake who called the meeting, it was called by Kate and Humfree and they had requested for all the core members to be present.

Read new adventures at empire

Currently, Jake along with Peter were on their way to the guild base.

"Do you know why the meeting has been called?" Peter asked.

"I don't know, I'm also surprised that a meeting has been called so suddenly. Which makes me wonder if a problem has suddenly cropped up." Jake said.

"Whatever it is, we are going to find out now." Peter said as they now stood in front of the giant building that was the guild's base.

Two soldiers stood in front the building with their weapons drawn.

"Students are not allowed here unless they are part of the guild." The soldier said.

"Students? He is the lead..." Peter wanted to say until Jake gave him a kick to the leg shutting him up.

"Just call Head General Humfree, he would talk to you all." Jake said.

"There's no need to call him, just state your reasons for being here or go back." The other soldier said.

Jake was now annoyed. 'I wish I had worn my mask.'

'Wait, I don't have my mask but I have something that might help.' Jake thought as he turned to his system and sent a message to Humfree.

In two minutes, Humfree was already outside.

"Let them in at once." Humfree ordered.

"Yes." The soldiers both said at once as they moved out of the way for Jake and Peter to go in.

"I think anytime you want to come here, you should put on your mask." Humfree said.

"Yeah, I was already regretting not doing that earlier." Jake said.

"So what's the meeting about?" Peter asked curiously.

"You will find out soon, just be patient." Humfree said.

And then after climbing a few stairs, they stood in front of a huge double door. Bigger than the one at the Head General's meeting room.

Standing in front of it, Humfree placed his hand on it and waited for a few seconds before the doors opened wide revealing a huge room that had a long table in the centre.

Chairs were all around the table and a small staircase led to a throne like chair with a red black design to it.

Walking up to the table, everybody had their seats. All the core members of the Fang hunters sat down while leaving the huge throne like chair empty.

Jake naturally walked up towards the chair and grazed his hands on the arm rest and then everybody in the room got down on one knee.

"We greet the leader of the Fang hunters!" They all said at once including Head General Humfree.

Jake on hearing that phrase, was coughing out loud.

"What in the word!? I didn't ask you all to do that." Jake shouted in shock.

"Please you all should get up and stop making this guild look like an occult group of some sorts." Jake said.

They all stood up one after the other and sat back down in their chairs.

"Thank you. First this throne like chair, and now this..." Jake said. "Please stop treating me like am better than you all, I'm just an ordinary kid that got dragged into this out of his own will."

"But you are still our leader that managed to get us all together and saved us all from certain danger." Simyon said.

"I know. And being the leader of the guild is enough for me. You don't have to do all that for me, what if someone else sees you all, they would have a bad impression of me." Jake said.

"Fine, your wish is our command." Geo said.

Jake just slapped his hand loudly on his forehead and shook his head before heading to the throne like chair and sitting down.

The chair was comfy and soft to Jake's touch and then he stared at the others.

"So what was this meeting about?" Jake asked.

Then Humfree stood up from his seat.

"After Aurora Academy disbanded and the Fang hunters took over and turned it into a guild, we are being looked down upon and being underestimated." Humfree said.

"They view us as weak and we would have been attacked by now if it wasn't because of you." Humfree said.

"Me? Why me?" Jake asked.

"The others are hesitant to attack us because they don't know your strength, they only have the rumours of the werewolf slayer chasing the Beta werewolf away on his own." Humfree said.

"So isn't that a good thing? Why call a meeting then?" Peter asked.

"That's because a certain group has all decided to act and they have made their move which is why I called this meeting." Humfree said.

"Which group?" Jake asked.

"The Iron Fist Guild." Kate said as she stood up.

Hearing the name, caused Jake's eyes to twitch.

'Iron Fist Guild, isn't that the guild that took over Helen's father's guild; the Raven's wing. It's the same guild which I had run into their low ranking members in town before.'

'Why are they trying to cause problems for me?' Jake thought.

"How are they causing problems?" Jake asked.

"They have stopped people from entering into the city, and they have been threatening merchants from doing trade with us." Humfree said.

"This has caused us to take a hit in the necessary resources that we need."

"Have you thought of sending soldiers to combat the Iron Fist members there?" Jake asked.

"We did but the idea was quickly dismissed because they can keep doing this forever while we can't. We need to conserve our energy because I think they are trying to weaken us for an attack of some sorts." Paul said.

"So what are we going to do?" Alex asked.

"That's the reason for this meeting." Kate said.

The whole room fell silent as they were going through all the options they had.

"Do we have any idea where their current location is? Or where their leader is?" Jake asked.

"Yes, currently he is in the Raven's city rather than theirs." Wilfred replied.

"Great then, this will be killing two birds with one stone." Jake said.

"Meaning?" Wilfred asked.

"I will just take a small strong team with me to Raven's city to try talk some sense to their leader and if it doesn't work and it's a fight they want, then that's what they are going to get." Jake said.

Chapter 189 The Aeroglide: Departure

After the meeting, the core members put the plan that had been proposed by Jake in motion. It was now left to decide who will go along with Jake on his adventurous journey to Raven's city.

After a bit of deliberation, two people were chosen who fit the criteria of who could help Jake when in trouble. So currently, in front of the Academy's gate stood Jake with two others beside him as he looked at those that were about to bid them goodbye.

"Kate, I want you to take care of the guild for me in my absence." Jake said and Kate's eyes welled up in tears as she looked at Jake.

"I hope to see you soon." Kate said as a tear dropped down her face.

Jake was confused as to why she was crying but he just shrugged it off.

"My man." Jack said as he gave Jake a handshake and a hug. "Take care of yourself bro and I want you to kick that arrogant Leader's arse."

"Although I think it's quite possible but I have seen you do the impossible before so this should be a walk in the park for you." Jack said as he released Jake from the handshake.

"Weakling, take care of yourself." Sophia said as she approached Peter who had been chosen to accompany Jake.

"I will and when I get back, I will be stronger than ever to keep getting ahead of you." Peter smiled.

Sophia just scoffed. "Very unlikely."

"Alex, please take care of yourself." Emily said as she approached the last person that was accompanying Jake.

"I will." Alex replied as he gave Emily a hug which made her cheeks flush up.

"Jake, thirty thousand credits has been sent to your account, please use it wisely." Paul said.

"30 what?" Jake shouted as it looked like he was about to faint.

Although he was now the leader of a fast rising guild, Jake hadn't expected to own this much funds. Growing up without anyone by his side, Jake struggled so much to even feed himself.

Now hearing he had been given a whooping some of 30 thousand credits which would have made small time Guilds fight over, he didn't know how to react.

"I Know it's small right? It's small because we needed some funds to rebuild and get some things done. But don't worry, once the Fang hunters is up and running like a normal guild, you will have access to as much money as you want." Wilfred smiled.

Jake just smiled back as he didn't know how to react at this gesture.

"Thank you everyone for your help and everything. Don't worry, I will be back soon." Jake said.

"So, how are we meant to travel?" Peter asked.

"In this!" Sunny shouted as he drove something towards them that made a soft humming sound.

Turning around, Jake and all the students eyes was met with a sleek, futuristic transportation vehicle that hovered above the ground.

"This here, is an Aeroglide." Sunny said as he pointed beside him.

"This is so awesome!" Peter exclaimed as he grazed on the vehicle's body feeling how smooth it was.

"How come I have never seen something like this?" Jake asked as he practically had stars in his eyes.

"That's because this is not really common in poor towns. No offense Jake." Alex said.

"Only the more advanced town have this and this thing is practically used very well in the big cities so we will seeing more of this. Although it is quite expensive."

Listening to Alex and seeing the Aeroglide, everybody were amazed looking at the vehicle.

The Aeroglide was a sleek, wheel-less transportation vehicle that looked like it used advanced magnetic levitation technology to hover and glide smoothly over various terrain. Designed for personal and small group transportation, it was perfect for navigating urban landscapes, rural areas and waterways.

Jake went to check the designs and exterior as he was just excitedly checking everything out like a kid that was out shopping for the first time.

The exterior had a Sleek, aerodynamic body made of lightweight, durable materials.

It was Curved, with wing-like protrusions for stability and maneuverability

It also had a glistening metallic finish with LED accent lights

With it spanning around 20 ft (6.1 m) length, 8 ft (2.4 m) width, 6 ft (1.8 m) height.

Opening up the Aeroglide, Jake checked the interior out.

It had a spacious cabin while allowing for around 4-6 passengers to sit in comfortably so it had enough space to house just three people.

It also had advanced control panel with holographic display and AI-assisted navigation.

And it also had a panoramic windows for breathtaking view

And it was a mix of beautiful colours that blended in perfectly. It had metallic Silver color (Aeroglide Silver) with deep navy Blue (Aeroglide Blue) and also a neon Green colour.(Aeroglide Glow)

"This is perfect." Jake exclaimed as he kept staring at the Aeroglide.

"It was made by one of the big three." Paul said.

"I guess those oldies are much more useful than I thought." Jake mumbled.

"Alright, let's hop in and get going." Peter clapped his hands. "I can't wait to test this baby out."

Getting their belongings into the Aeroglide, they were now ready for take off.

"Remember guys, please keep out of trouble and take care of yourselves."
Wilfred said.

"We will." Jake said.

And as they prepared to depart, they were suddenly stopped by a loud voice.

"Wait!!!" A voice was heard shouting and someone was seen running towards the group from inside the academy.

Seeing the person, Jake quickly recognized him.

"Dame?!" Jake said.

"I came to give you this as a parting gift." Dame stretched his hand a pair of silver coloured gauntlets could be seen.

"How did you know I was leaving?" Jake asked because Dame didn't know who he was since all this was a secret mission and only the core members knew about this which Dame wasn't.

"Oh please, how won't I know that the werewolf slayer is leaving?" Dame winked at Jake.

"Werewolf what? Where is he?" Jake asked twisting his head around looking for the 'werewolf slayer'

"Do you take me for a fool? It saddens me that you decided to lie to me." Dame said as his face showed that of disappointment.

"Did you think I wouldn't recognize the armour I made for you? I saw it on the body of the werewolf slayer the day he saved the academy from the beasts attack."

"Oh, I'm really sorry." Jake said.

"It's okay, I get it. You were protecting your identity. Anyway, here is the gauntlet I made for you." Dame said.

Jake happily collected and used inventory on it making it disappear.

"Thank you." Jake smiled.

"Shall we go now?" Peter asked impatiently.

"Alright bye everyone, take care of the academy." Jake said and then Alex started the vehicle as it lifted off the ground hovering above the ground.

And then, it shot off quite fast leaving dust behind in its wake.

The others were now waving at the long gone vehicle before they started dispersing slowly all except Kate who still stood there waving. Experience more tales on empire

"Hey what's wrong?" Sophia asked as she noticed Kate standing there with a tear trickling down her face.

"Nothing, I just feel like we made a bad decision sending them away like that." Kate said as she cleaned her face.

"C'mon, you are just worried for nothing. I'm sure they will be fine." Sophia said.

"I hope so." Kate mumbled as she walked towards the academy.

'But my heart keep thumping louder and louder for some reason. Oh please someone out there look after Jake for me.' Kate thought.

Chapter 190 Aurora border confrontation

After departing from the academy, the small team of Jake, Alex and Peter were on their way to Raven's city in a futuristic vehicle that glided above the ground quickly getting from one place to another.

They passed through the town where Jake usually comes to. The town that had the government Guildhall and where Jake had encountered werewolves therefore granting him a system that made him a force to be reckoned with.

The town was just at the border of Aurora city. Jake looked at the window as he could see happy smiles from the children as they pointed up at the Aeroglide.

That was when the Aeroglide headed towards the forest, the forest where Jake had almost died if it wasn't because of him gaining the system.

'Thinking of that, I never did find out how that orb ended in my pants.' Jake thought.

'Oh well, that is for another day.'

"Why are we headed to the forest?" Peter asked.

"Because that is the path that leads to outside Aurora and it will now take us to our destination." Alex responded as he was the one behind the wheel.

"How long will our journey take?" Jake asked.

"Normally, it would have taken one and a half week to get there if we were on foot but with this baby, we would get there in three days time." Alex smiled.

Peter then looked out at the window of the vehicle at the tall trees that flew past them.

"If the border of the city is on the forest, how do people get here? How do they cross this dangerous place filled with beasts?" Peter asked.

"That's because of some of the soldiers in the academy. With them, they create a safe passage for merchants, citizens and innocent civilians that wants to get to the academy." Alex explained.

'Is that how the sergeant that brought me from the forest that day found me? Was he trying to create a safe passage for some people when he found me passed out?' Jake thought.

That was when something pulled him out of his thoughts.

"Do you hear that?" Jake asked as he looked through the window.

"Hear what?" Alex asked.

"This low humming sound." Jake replied.

"It must be the Aeroglide making the noise." Alex said with a chuckle.

"Exactly, it sounds almost like the Aeroglide but I'm sure it's not." Jake replied.

"I hear it too alright." Peter said holding onto his axes looking at the window also trying to spot where the sound was coming from.

"Brace yourselves!" Alex shouted as he suddenly manoeuvred the Aeroglide abruptly and then quickly made an emergency landing.

The manoeuvre threw Peter off balance as he had been standing earlier while Jake stood firm.

And then Jake saw a sharp, long projectile that flew past their vehicle.

"What was that?" Jake asked as Alex had successfully made an emergency landing.

Then that was when the humming sound could be heard again this time louder than before.

Looking at the window, they could all see that they had been surrounded by some vehicles that had wheels on them and people standing on it.

The vehicle had two wheels, one in front of it and the second one behind it while two people each were on the vehicle.

They were around three vehicles in total with two people on it each.

"I'm guessing the reason for our abrupt landing is because of them." Peter said.

"Let's just see what they want." Jake said walking to the door of the Aeroglide with Alex and Peter behind him as they descended causally from the vehicle.

"Look at them, walking so casually as if they own the land." One of the men said.

Jake turned towards Alex. "We are still on Aurora border right? We haven't crossed it yet right?"

"Yes we haven't." Alex replied.

Turning back to the men, Jake then smiled.

"Then we surely own the land."

"Who do you think you are?" Another person asked in anger.

"Oh me?" Jake pointed towards himself.

"Nobody of significance as of yet but if you keep messing with me, then I will become your worst nightmare."

"You cocky brats!" Another man shouted as he was about to dash towards Jake but another man raised his hands and he stopped in his tracks.

Seeing the man, Jake had a thought that this was surely the leader of this group.

The leader had a mohawk style on his head with a black sunglass on his face and he was currently wearing a cool leather jacket and by his side, were two daggers.

The man didn't look like a warrior or a fighter, rather he looked more like a model that was going for a shoot of some sorts.

"Do you know who we are?" The leader asked calmly.

"Should we?" Peter asked.

"Hahaha." The leader laughed. "Such arrogance and confidence coming from you kids."

"For your kind information, we are members of the Iron Fist Guild, and not any members, we are C class adventurers. So that should give you an idea of our strength."

Hearing the name of the guild they were from, Jake's body tensed up but he had quickly relaxed it in fear that this would be high ranking members.

But hearing that they were just C class adventurers, Jake knew he had nothing to worry about.

The only ranks he was weary of were the B class and above. Those were the ones who would give him a tough time. And the leader of the Iron Fist Guild was a supposed double A rank or so.

"Are we supposed to be scared now?" Alex asked with his arms folded as he looked at them all.

"You should be and you will be when we are done with you kids." The leader said.

Alex then turned to the two others with him. "Two people can actually handle this, there's no need for the three of us to fight against them right?"

"Sure, but how do we decide?" Peter asked.

The men on the vehicle were astonished as they saw the audacity of the kids in deciding how they wanted to fight but the leader was being patient so did they.

"How about rock paper scissors?" Alex asked.

"Yeah I think that will be great." Peter said.

Then the two of them; Alex and Peter closed their hands and shook it.

"Rock paper scissors shoot!" Alex said.

"Yes! I got to have some fun." Peter laughed as he had chose paper.

"Jake, care to join in the fun?" Peter asked. But Jake didn't respond as he confidently walked forward.

"What did you all plan on doing after stopping us?" Jake asked.

"Rob you rich arrogant brats of course." One of the men responded.

"And?" Jake asked with a raised brow.

"What else, and kill you afterwards so there won't be witnesses." Another member replied with a smirk on his face.

Jake then sighed and shook his head before he turned back to look at Alex and Peter.

"Do you guys mind if I take this one?" Jake asked.

"Sure go ahead and knock yourself out." Peter said heading back to find somewhere to sit.

"This will be easy job." The leader smirked.

"Oh, bad train of thoughts!" Peter shouted out loud.

"Attack that brat!" The leader shouted and immediately, the five members charged forward towards Jake with their weapons drawn.
