

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 211 I'm gonna f*ck you up!

The team that were currently in the Raven city had just encountered different trouble of their own and they were shocked seeing the trouble that came looking for them.

Currently Alex, Peter, Helen and Berg were still in Steve's cottage and they received a message from Jake asking where they were.

They were just about to leave when something strange happened.

"I think it's high time we took our leave." Alex said as he stood up and so did the rest but that was when they could see that the door to the cottage broke off its hinges and went flying while a person was seen walking through.

"I can't let you all leave now can I? After hearing what you all said." A voice was heard saying and then five men were seen stepping through with a man in front of them all.

"You!?!!" Peter said while gripping his armour casing tighter.

The man in front of them all that came in with five men behind him was none other than Andrew, the guy they met at the shop who battled with Peter for an armour.

"You do know that the armour is mine fair and square right, as per the deal, anyone who won the duel gets the armour and I won fair and square so you can't take it." Peter said.

"Oh cut the crap, I don't care about that armour, it's you all I care about." Andrew smirked.

"What do you want with us?" Helen asked.

"You see, I know almost everyone in this city because of who I am. Then I spotted you all in the shop, although it wasn't anything of concern, I noticed that you didn't know who i am and you were awfully confident." Andrew explained.

"You were so confident to the extent that you decided to fight against me because of an armour. Now, I wouldn't have thought anything of it but you were able to use Qi so well and you were quite strong. So I decided to follow you a bit more and this led me here and I heard everything you said."

"Is that why you hired dogs to come after us? Because you couldn't fight with us alone?" Alex smiled with his arms crossed while looking at Andrew.

"Haha! You see, I knew that you didn't know who I am. Everybody knows me." Andrew smiled.

That was when Alex and Peter could hear teeth chattering behind them and so they turned around to see what was causing that noise.

"Steve is everything okay?" Peter asked.

"That's... that is... that's Andrew, Blip's son!" Steve said.

The others hearing what Steve said were now shocked and as well as on guard as they quickly turned around to eye Andrew up.

"Ha! I thought I lost my influence around here." Andrew smiled.

"What's the big deal? I beat the guy before, and I can surely do it again." Peter said as dropped his armour casing on the table and held his axes tightly while looking at Andrew.

"Are you sure about that?" Andrew smiled as he unsheathed his Katana blade from its sheath.

Everybody could feel tension in the air between Peter and Andrew and they could see invisible lightning strikes in the air between them as they kept on staring at each other.

"Attack!" Andrew shouted at the men behind him.

And right on cue they all unleashed their different weapons and Qi and so did Alex and his group while they got ready to clash against each other.

"Leave that cocky one for me and get rid of the rest now!" Andrew shouted as he leapt towards Peter strongly while the remaining men went for Alex and the rest.

Meanwhile back at the city, Jake was in a tight corner of his own as he stood in the middle of the streets with a man in front of him claiming that Jake had ruined his life.

"It's you!" The voice shouted and Jake turned around to see who was causing a ruckus and he raised an eyebrow in confusion.

"You son of a bitch! You ruined my life and you have the audacity to come here?" The man said walking over towards Jake.

"Huh? Who are you? Because I think you have got the wrong guy here." Jake said about to head off when the man placed a hand on his shoulder stopping him dead in his tracks.

"How dare you? You ruined my life and now you are acting as if you don't know me!" The man said in anger.

"I'm gonna make you pay now!" the man said as he dashed towards Jake with his sword in his hand.

Jake quickly acted fast and equipped his sword from his system and quickly blocked the hit from the man that was heading for his neck that he kicked the man in his stomach hard that sent him skidding.

"Are you crazy? Who attacks a person like that out of nowhere? I don't even know you, I said you got the wrong person." Jake said in anger.

"And if you don't want to heed my words, I will just have to beat some sense into you." Jake said as his boots appeared in his legs.

"I know you won't recognize me but I recognize you. Maybe this will jog your memories." The man said as he pulled down the hood that was covering his face earlier.

Jake hadn't notice the man's strange attire because he was racking his brain to see who this person was. Immediately the hood came off, it finally clicked in Jake's mind where he had seen him from.

"Scar!?!!" Jake said then he suddenly went into a laughing fit. "So it's you? Haha! Come to get revenge?"

The strange man that had attacked Jake was Scar. A long time ago, after his first beast hunt that ended in disaster as he and his friends had encountered a werewolf in Planet Caladie.

After coming back to the academy, Jake decided to head over to town. On getting there, Jake had met Helen for the first time and he went to the town's Guildhall to register himself as a traveller.

That was when he met Scar an individual that was part of the Iron Fist Guild. Scar and his gang were extorting credits from the people in the Guildhall and when they asked Jake to pay up, he refused.

This caused Scar to get angry and order his gang to collect the money from Jake by force but it ended up in a beating for them and they were the ones that ended up getting extorted by Jake.

Unknown to Jake, when he had beaten them up, Scar had made a report to his leader and his leader was angry that a kid managed to extort Scar. This caused his leader to kick him out of the guild.

Ever since Scar had been kicked out, life had become difficult for him but only one thing kept pushing him forward; his revenge. Everyday, he tried to get stronger and also live so he could take revenge on the person that ruined his life.

And now, the heavens had brought him right to him and he wasn't going to let this opportunity go in vain.

"I'm gonna f*ck you up so badly that you will be hardly recognized." Scar said as he readied himself to dash towards Jake.

"I guess the first beating didn't teach you a lesson, maybe a second will do the trick." Jake smiled.

"Arghh!" Scar made a battle cry while charging towards Jake. "I'm gonna skin you alive!"

Scar said as he swung his sword towards Jake.

Chapter 212 I'm gonna kick your arse!

In Raven city, in Steve's cottage, a huge fight was about to erupt between Alex and his friends and Andrew and his gang just because Andrew was Blip's son and he had overheard what they were talking about.

Right now they were in a tense situation as Peter and Andrew kept glaring at each other and also throwing words at each other.

As Andrew couldn't take it anymore, he ordered an attack.

"Attack!" Andrew shouted at the men behind him.

And right on cue they all unleashed their different weapons and Qi and so did Alex and his group while they got ready to clash against each other.

"Leave that cocky one for me and get rid of the rest now!" Andrew shouted as he leapt towards Peter strongly while the remaining men went for Alex and the rest.

Immediately Andrew leapt off, the flooring beneath his feet broke in pieces as he went straight for Peter who gripped his axes tightly waiting for Andrew to come at him.

Andrew was now upon Peter as he fell from above with a sword strike that was blocked by Peter but the strength of the attack made Peter's legs to buckle and before he could hit the ground, Peter strengthened his legs with Qi.

This made him stand strong and then he pushed Andrew off. As Andrew had been pushed off, he flipped in the air before he landed smoothly on the ground and smiled at Peter.

'How is this possible? It's like he has gotten stronger than when we fought at the shop.' Peter thought as he twisted his wrists and then took a stance.

"Oh! You still wanna fight? Didn't you realize from our short exchange that I'm stronger than you?" Andrew smirked as he threw his sword in the air.

Then Andrew jumped up and strongly kicked the sword on its hilt strongly and it went flying towards Peter.

In just a split second, the sword crashed into Peter but luckily, Peter managed to use his axes to block but he was still pushed back as he was skidding and also breaking the flooring beneath his feet.

"You are such a fool!" Peter heard a soft whisper from behind him and then, he was kicked hard on the head.

The hit was so strong that Peter went flying and crashing into one of the walls of the small cottage.

"I told you, you won't be able to defeat me because I'm much stronger than you are and I had been hiding my strength when we fought." Andrew smirked and then he felt something wrong in the air.

Quickly, Andrew leaned backwards just in time to avoid an invisible Qi strike and then he could suddenly feel an immense amount of pain in his stomach.

"Gotcha!" Peter said as he blasted Andrew in the stomach with a Qi strike from his hand.

The palm Qi strike managed to cause Andrew to go flying as he crashed into wall of the cottage.

Peter then stood upright as he cleaned the little drop of sweat that had formed on his face. And then he could see Andrew walking slowly towards Peter.

But with each step, he was wincing in pain and clutching his stomach where he had been struck by Peter.

"I got to admit, you are strong, strong in Qi and combat. Usually I will try to get you to join the Iron Fist Guild but I can see you have joined another subpar guild." Andrew smiled as he stood a metre away from Peter.

"The Fang hunters isn't a subpar guild, I'm certain that our leader can beat you easily." Peter said.

"Oh really! Ha!" Andrew chuckled lightly. "You fool! I know he can defeat me easily because for him to be the leader of Aurora, he has to be strong but is he strong enough to defeat my father?"

"He will kick his arse!" Peter said as he lifted his axes up high above his head and then glared at Andrew.

"When the time is right, he will kick your asrehole of a father's butt while I will kick your arse here!" Peter shouted as he rapidly swung his axes at Andrew.

Andrew could hear rapid sharp strikes in the air and he quickly lifted his sword while trusting his ears to help him block each of the strikes.

Andrew was hitting the strikes quickly but he was slowly being overwhelmed.

'I'm sure this is an active skill of his axes but it's weak. That means his weapon is on the advanced tier.' Andrew thought as he narrowly avoided another wind strike.

But another one struck him in the arm therefore causing an injury on it that went an inch deep. And slowly, more wind strikes were hitting Andrew and causing injuries on his body.

The injuries were building up even though they weren't really hurting Andrew and then, that was when Andrew felt that the wind strikes had stopped.

He was about to move when he saw Peter in front of him.

"I told you right, I will kick your arse!" Peter smiled as he quickly placed his hand on Andrew's stomach and used the palm Qi strike again.

Peter tried to blast Andrew away with his strong Qi palm strike but he was met with a surprise as Peter now felt a huge amount of power in his stomach that blasted him away while Andrew stood there with a smirk on his face.

Rather than being the one to blast Andrew away with his Palm Qi strike, Peter was the one who got blasted into one of the cottage walls again.

Chapter 213 Savage Skirmish

Immediately Andrew had ordered for an attack, the five men including Kilborg didn't waste time as they dashed towards the remaining people in the room.

Alex, Berg and Helen readied themselves for a tough fight as Steve was currently unreliable due to his fear of Blip and his son.

Kilborg and one other went towards Alex who they deemed as a major threat among those in the room.

Kilborg was already in front of Alex in a split second as he thrust his sword out towards him but Alex had already pulled out his giant sword and blocked the strike with ease.

"Oh common! As you were following that brat around, I thought you were going to be strong." Alex said as he flicked his wrist and easily pushed Kilborg back just in time because the other man was already upon Alex with a thrust to the head.

Seeing the spear, Alex leaned sideways and avoided. Then he swung his leg out fast and it connected with the man's side and he went skidding.

"I'm impressed, you are quite strong to not go flying." Alex smiled.

But his talk was interrupted by Kilborg who was upon Alex with multiple sword strikes but each time, Alex was able to block easily.

Kilborg swung his legs lightning fast towards Alex that it connected in a split second which caused Alex to flinch and skid.

Then immediately Alex skidded, the spear man was upon him from behind as he aimed for Alex's head. And as if sensing it, Alex shot out an invisible Qi strike towards the man which he had easily dodged.

But it gave Alex enough time to leap towards Kilborg that gave him much trouble.

Kilborg swung his sword out towards the charging Alex but Alex quickly coated his sword with Qi and met Kilborg's strike head on which caused shockwaves to erupt around the room.

Then not relenting, Kilborg shot out a visible Qi shard towards Alex which caused him to jump back and use his sword to strike it but he was struggling a bit.
Discover stories with empire

'The problem with these visible shards, is that they are much stronger than their invisible counterfeit. They are much stronger and faster.' Alex thought as he finally made the shard disintegrate.

That was when Alex heard a sharp sound in the air as a spear lunged into his back.

"Finally!" The spear user smiled but then his smile turned to dread.

The spear only caused a white scratch on Alex's body and even the tip broke. Alex just turned around and wacked the spear user with his giant sword.

He turned around to face Kilborg just in time because a flying kick was heading towards his face with tremendous speed and strength. The kick managed to connect with Alex's head.

The kick was strong enough to make Alex crash to the ground that the flooring broke and he lay there unmoving.

"You should have stayed in your city and not come here." Kilborg said as he lifted his sword high above his head and was about to smash it on Alex with so much force and Qi.

But Alex had quickly rolled over and then stood up. Then he kicked Kilborg in the face which caused him to skid back a few feet.

"If only you knew who I was, you wouldn't have dared to attack me." Alex said as his fiery red hair was now standing strong as if floating.

Everybody in the room could feel a sudden chill in the air. Then it became hotter and hotter.

Kilborg was now moving back slowly.

"I hate using this because it's for a last resort and I kinda need to get outta here soon because the boss is waiting." Alex smirked and in Kilborg's eyes, this man looked like a demon.

Meanwhile, Berg and Helen were also deep in their fights that they couldn't help one another. Berg was currently in combat with two men while Helen was fighting against a single man with all her might.

The man thrust his spear towards Helen's stomach but she had quickly used one of her daggers to hit the spear down while she slashed at the man's arm that was holding onto the spear.

The dagger didn't go in deep as he was coating his body with Qi. But Helen wasn't aiming for that, rather she was aiming for the small twitch the man made.

Helen took advantage of that by stomping her foot hard on the ground sending waves of invisible Qi towards the man which threw him off balance.

Helen quickly followed up with an attack by swinging her dagger towards the man's neck but he was quick to react as he had kicked Helen on her shin sending her tumbling a few feet away.

The man didn't waste any time in coming right at Helen that was just getting up from the ground. The man's spear had almost crashed into Helen's head when it was suddenly stopped by a sword.

"I'm sorry I didn't act on time." The person holding the sword said.

Meanwhile Berg was also in a tight corner himself. He was currently fighting against two skilled warriors. One of them was using a scythe, the other was using double swords which made it hard for Berg to land a hit.

The scythe user quickly swung his scythe towards Berg's arm but he had swiftly hit the scythe back while sending a huge Qi wave to hit the man therefore causing him to tumble.

And before Berg could recover his footing to go after the man, the sword user came at him by swinging his sword at Berg's neck.

Berg quickly blocked with his sword and then another sword from the man came swinging from the side towards his neck which he couldn't defend against in time.

Chapter 214 Revenge gone wrong

Jake was currently in the middle of the streets about to go look for his friends when a weird man who turned out to be Scar tried to attack him for revenge.

Jake and Scar were about to clash with each other as they glared at each other.

"I'm gonna f*ck you up so badly that you will be hardly recognized." Scar said as he readied himself to dash towards Jake.

"I guess the first beating didn't teach you a lesson, maybe a second will do the trick." Jake smiled.

"Arghh!" Scar made a battle cry while charging towards Jake. "I'm gonna skin you alive!"

Scar said as he swung his sword towards Jake who just casually leaned backwards avoiding it totally and Jake just stepped back a bit to look at Scar with a smirk on his face.

"How?" Scar said as he turned around to look at Jake who was still standing there with his arms crossed and a smirk on his face.

"No, I still need to take me revenge!" Scar shouted as he leapt towards Jake who still stood there unfazed.

Scar twisted in the air two times and his Qi was currently swirling in his body giving him a speed boost.

Scar was currently heading towards Jake with tremendous speed while his sword was pointed outwardly towards Jake.

Then in a blink on an eye, Scar crashed into Jake while throwing dust up everywhere and also blowing heavy air outwardly that struck those that were causally walking.

"What's going on there?"

"I think a fight is going on."

"I feel bad for the person on the receiving end of that clash."

"Exactly, the force of that hit even hit us that are far away from them. I hate to imagine how the one on the receiving end looks like now."

Immediately Scar crashed into Jake, he quickly flipped backwards and stood around three metres away from Jake to examine him.

When the dust settled, everybody were surprised to see that the man was standing there strangely fine while his clothes were ripped. His shirt had totally blown off while leaving his upper body bare.

The females there that were seeing the man's body, felt their faces heat up as they couldn't stop staring at the man's perfectly carved abs. His body was so perfectly toned that it looked like it was carved by an artist.

"Oh I wish I could run my hands on that abs." A woman exclaimed as she was about to move forward when a man grabbed her hand.

"Where are you going to? You dare admire another man's body in my presence?" The man that was seemingly her husband asked.

"It's not my fault that you aren't as hot as that young man is." The woman said as she pouted her mouth while turning around to look at Jake with stars in her eyes.

"You... how are you perfectly fine?" Scar asked.

Jake just sighed as he looked at his bare upper body. "You just had to go ruin my clothes didn't you."

Jake then looked up at Scar. "Then it's fair if I also ruin your clothes right?"

Before Scar could reply, Jake had quickly activated {Step shift} and he was suddenly in front of Scar.

"You made a mistake by ever messing with me." Jake said as he slammed his hand into Scar's face and he was lifted and thrown on the ground forcefully while tumbling and bouncing on the ground.

Scar was seen standing up slowly while his face was suddenly swollen. Scar could feel something in his mouth and the thing was quite hard so he quickly spat it out onto his hands.

"A tooth? My tooth?" Scar said as he felt his heart thump in fear.

Scar quickly looked up and he could see Jake standing in front of him.

"Oh, you survived that?!" Jake said genuinely surprised while Scar was practically shaking in fear.

'I did everything, trained harder, pushed myself to the limits so I can take my revenge from him. And he totally overwhelmed me, how is this possible? Who the hell is he?' Scar thought as he felt like he was staring into the eyes of the devil himself.

"Hmph, your clothes is still in perfect condition." Jake said as he quickly navigated through his system and activated Inventory.

"Don't worry, I can fix that." Jake smirked as a sword materialized in his hand and then in a split second, Jake was moving like blur.

Scar couldn't even see Jake but he could feel pain coursing through his body in every part of his body and then after a few seconds, Jake stepped back to examine Scar.

"Perfecto." Jake smiled while the spectators burst into laughter as they stared at Scar.

Scar could feel the cool breeze hitting him in every part of his body especially on his legs that was supposed to be covered. Looking down, Scar could see his little soldier dangling in the air while his body was currently devoid of any clothes.

"Arghhhh!" Scar shouted as he quickly covered his little soldier and his body as he slowly moved back while glaring at Jake.

"I promise you, this isn't over and I will make you pay ten folds for this." Scar shouted as he quickly swirled his Qi around his legs and sprinted quickly away from the streets.

"Don't you think you went overboard with that." Zee said.

"That was the only way to make him learn and not really strain myself in fighting." Jake shrugged as he de-equipped his sword and scanned around the streets looking for a shop.

And then his eyes landed on a cloth shop.

"Time to go shopping. After that, I will go look for the rest, I hope they are okay." Jake said as he quickly sprinted off.

Chapter 215 Desperate gamble

Andrew and Peter were engaged in a tight fight with one another while they were displaying high level skill and Qi usage therefore breaking the cottage bit by bit by the force of their exchange.

Peter was somewhat gaining the upper hand with his use of his double handed axes and Qi. Peter even used his axes active skill to send wind strikes Andrew way.

The injuries were building up even though they weren't really hurting Andrew and then, that was when Andrew felt that the wind strikes had stopped.

He was about to move when he saw Peter in front of him.

"I told you right, I will kick your arse!" Peter smiled as he quickly placed his hand on Andrew's stomach and used the palm Qi strike again.

Peter tried to blast Andrew away with his strong Qi palm strike but he was met with a surprise as Peter now felt a huge amount of power in his stomach that blasted him away while Andrew stood there with a smirk on his face.

Rather than being the one to blast Andrew away with his Palm Qi strike, Peter was the one who got blasted into one of the cottage walls again but this time, Peter burst through the walls and landed outside the forest like area that masked out the location of the cottage.

Peter was currently on the ground in pains as he felt his stomach aching badly while his Qi was running rampant.

"What the hell was that?" Peter asked himself as he slowly stood up while clutching his stomach in pain. "I didn't see his hands move and suddenly, I was blasted in the gut by my own Qi strike. How on Earth is that possible?"

Peter was about to move when he suddenly felt a disturbance in the air and then Andrew was charging right at him.

"What was it you said again?" Andrew asked as he was in front of Peter and he threw an uppercut that landed on Peter's face flinging back with so much force that he crashed into the trees for two metres.

"Right, you said you were gonna kick my arse. Ha! Who's kicking who's arse now?" Andrew asked as he could see Peter getting up and coming over from where he was blasted.

"You are confused right? How you got blasted?" Andrew asked with a chuckle as Peter halted his steps while glaring at Andrew and also trying to get his Qi to settle down.

"I know you are too dense to figure it out so I will help you out. You see, my armour allows me to redirect any energy that is heading my way back to my opponent. Pretty cool right?" Andrew asked with a chuckle.

"Too bad it's going to be broken right now, right here." Peter said as he made his way towards Andrew causally which caused Andrew to raise an eyebrow.

'Why is he so confident? Does he have another truck up his sleeves?' Andrew thought as he took a fighting stance.

When Peter was a few feet away from Andrew, he halted his steps.

Stay updated via empire

'I have seen Harry do this multiple times, and it was pretty effective. Seeing it, I think I got the hang of it.' Peter thought as he smirked towards Andrew.

Andrew having enough time of waiting, was now running towards Peter while Peter stood there rooted still smiling.

Andrew was now in front of Peter as he quickly swung his sword lightning fast towards Peter who narrowly escaped the strike by flipping backwards very quickly and now he was one metre away from Andrew who was getting ready to charge towards Peter again.

"Ignite!" Peter shouted as countless explosions erupted around Andrew while dust and smoke were thrown up.

Peter was currently smiling as he felt weak and he fell on one knee while looking at Andrew's silhouette that was still shrouded in dust.

Finally, the smoke settled and Andrew could be seen on his knees with his armour broken while bits and pieces of the armour was clinging onto his body.

That wasn't all, Andrew was bleeding all over his body including his mouth as he had used a lot of energy to prevent himself from dying.

Andrew was on his knees as he glared at Peter weakly.

"What... what did you do?" Andrew asked as he went into a coughing fit.

Unknown to Andrew, Peter had used Harry's famous Qi explosions to injure him to this degree. When Peter stood rooted the other time, he wasn't just doing anything.

Peter had been planting his Qi into the ground and it wasn't in any small amounts, Peter had technically emptied his core for this skill to work.

The Qi explosion took up half the user's Qi to use and Peter didn't have much Qi left to begin with as he had been fighting with Andrew while using everything he had from the start so Peter had been left with just a few points of Qi.

And he had practically gambled it on whether Andrew will fall for his plan and come close enough for the skill to work. And to Peter's surprise, it worked and now both of them were seriously injured and weak as they glared at each other weakly while they were on their knees.

"I was right to try and get rid of you all, you are all dangerous." Andrew said as he used the remaining strength he had to slowly stand up and so did Peter as they were ready for another round although they were weak.

That was when the both of them could feel an intense amount of energy coming from the cottage. The energy was almost suffocating while being familiar.

"Is that Qi I can feel?" Andrew said as he stared in the direction of the cottage.
"Why does it feel so intense?"

Peter could also feel the Qi and he couldn't help but be worried.

"Who the hell is strong enough to emit such intense amount of Qi? Just what on Earth is going on in there?"

Chapter 216 Energy Overload

Back at the cottage, everybody were in a tight spot of their own. Helen was currently in battle with the spear user and she was finding it hard to land a successful hit since the man had the advantage of range while Helen used daggers.

She was about to be stabbed by the spear user when a miracle happened and she was saved.

After hitting Helen on her shin that sent her tumbling back, the man didn't waste any time in coming right at Helen that was just getting up from the ground. The man's spear had almost crashed into Helen's head when it was suddenly stopped by a sword.

"I'm sorry I didn't act on time." The person holding the sword said.

Helen looked up to see who saved her and she could see it was Steve.

Steve quickly pushed the spear away from his sword and stood in front of Helen trying to protect her with his body.

"Steve? I thought you were scared?" Helen said as she slowly stood up.

"I was, but when I saw that you were in danger, I couldn't standby and watch Raven's city last hope die." Steve said.

"Thanks for the help." Helen smiled as she got her daggers ready.

"This is a little unfair if you must say." The spear user said. "2 V 1 is pretty unfair."

"In a fight for life, it doesn't really matter what you do as long as you win. I thought that was the Iron Fist's motto." Steve said.

The spear user just sighed. "Fine, let's get this over and done with shall we?"

Steve readied his sword in front of him as he stared at the spear user while Helen stood beside him with her daggers ready to back Steve up.

Steve quickly leapt off from his position strongly while heading towards the spear user who still had his spear out in front of him. Steve swung his sword to the left of the spear user and he skillfully blocked with his spear.

The hit from Steve was strong but the spear user hadn't moved even one bit from his position as he smiled towards Steve when he heard a sharp sound coming from his back.

He quickly kicked Steve who easily blocked the kick with his sword and then the spear user kicked off from Steve's sword while turning around to block whatever was coming from behind him.

The spear clashed with Helen's dagger and he was pushed back a little. At that instant, Steve heard another sound from behind him but he was too slow as the sword crashed into him sending him flying.

The spear user slowly stood up with anger visible on his face as he gawked at Helen and Steve that were standing away.

"You two are quite troublesome and I'm tired of this exchange so it's better I kick it up a notch." The spear user said as his Qi was pouring out of him and into his spear.

Helen and Steve bore a face of horror as they looked towards the spear user who's spear was now glowing a bit.

"How about I get rid of the most troublesome one." The spear user smiled as he bolted towards Helen and Steve with incredible speed.

Experience new stories on empire

And in an instant, he was in front of them while he quickly unleashed a thrust towards Helen who instantly blocked with her dagger but the force of the spear, cracked her dagger and it broke while sending her flying back that she broke through another wall.

"Miss Helen!" Steve shouted as he looked at where she had been thrown.

"Don't worry about her, worry about yourself." The Spear user said as he thrust his spear again towards Steve's head.

Steve knew he was too slow to react so he just closed his eyes accepting death when suddenly the whole room had a certain chill to it and it got hotter.

The whole place was suffocating with immense amount of energy that the spear user fell on the ground and so did Steve as they were finding it hard to breathe.

"What the hell is... going on? Where is this amount of energy coming from?" Steve asked as he felt his skin crawling and soaking in sweat.

Meanwhile, Berg was currently in a tight spot with the two men that were attacking him.

Berg was in a tight corner himself. He was currently fighting against two skilled warriors. One of them was using a scythe, the other was using double swords which made it hard for Berg to land a hit.

The scythe user quickly swung his scythe towards Berg's arm but he had swiftly hit the scythe back while sending a huge Qi wave to hit the man therefore causing him to tumble.

And before Berg could recover his footing to go after the man, the sword user came at him by swinging his sword at Berg's neck.

Berg quickly blocked with his sword and then another sword from the man came swinging from the side towards his neck which he couldn't defend against in time.

The sword was about to hit Berg so he did the only thing he could and that was to create an invisible Qi shield that rose in front of him blocking the hit.

The sword crashed into the Qi shield and it withstood the hit as a ringing sound was heard and Berg was okay. Instantly, Berg hit the sword user back with the hilt of his sword.

That was when the scythe user came towards Berg with a swing from the side that crashed into Berg and he was thrown into the ground while he was bleeding from his side.

"Darn it! If it wasn't because of my Qi, that hit would have killed me." Berg grumbled while he was getting up and that was when he saw a sword pointing at his neck.

"It's over for you." The double sword user said as he swung his sword at Berg when they suddenly felt an immense amount of heat hit them and they all fell down at once as they couldn't resist the suffocating power of the energy.

Chapter 217 Let him go!

While everybody were fighting with all they had, they were fighting with all their energy and power trying to survive, Alex was fighting as if he was on a field trip and he wasn't even taking the fight much seriously until something happened.

Alex had just been kicked by Kilborg and he went tumbling on the floor while he lay unmoving.

"You should have stayed in your city and not come here." Kilborg said as he lifted his sword high above his head and was about to smash it on Alex with so much force and Qi.

But Alex had quickly rolled over and then stood up. Then he kicked Kilborg in the face which caused him to skid back a few feet.

"If only you knew who I was, you wouldn't have dared to attack me." Alex said as his fiery red hair was now standing strong as if floating.

Everybody in the room could feel a sudden chill in the air. Then it became hotter and hotter.

Kilborg was now moving back slowly.

"I hate using this because it's for a last resort and I kinda need to get outta here soon because the boss is waiting." Alex smirked and in Kilborg's eyes, this man looked like a demon.

Alex was currently overflowing with energy as his Qi was spilling out visually. Usually when a person uses Qi, it doesn't show outwardly or visually but in this case, Alex was using the special techniques taught to all powerful people.

After all, it was his father that discovered Qi so he would also know the techniques used to create visual Qi. And he was using this right now. The only downside to this is that it took up all the user's Qi to cast.

Alex's body was now being surrounded by Qi flames while his red hair was floating slightly above his shoulder.

Finally, the energy calmed down a bit and then in a flash, Alex was in front of Kilborg.

"Time to feel the power of the big three." Alex smiled as he grabbed Kilborg's face.

Kilborg was currently being burnt alive by Qi which he never thought was ever possible. The Slade's family visual Qi had a fiery effect and now, Kilborg was feeling it in full force.

"Arghhhh!" Kilborg shouted as he was being burnt alive by Qi of all things.

"Let him go!" A voice was heard shouting and in the next instant, Alex was hit sending him skidding a few feet while letting go of Kilborg.

"You are here?" Alex asked as he stared at the young man in front of him trying to shield Kilborg away from him.

"If you are here, then where's Peter?" Alex asked as his Qi spread out again this time more fierce than before.

The young man in front of Alex was Andrew and he didn't look to be in a good shape as he was bleeding from all over his body while his hands were scorched seemingly from trying to punch Alex away.

A moment ago, Andrew and Peter were outside the cottage while they were engaged in a stand off albeit weakly until they felt a huge amount of suffocating energy that felt like Qi.

"Do you feel that?" Andrew asked.

"I'm not that dumb that I wouldn't recognize Qi when I feel it. But why does it feel so intense?" Peter asked.

"The right question here is who has that much energy that they are able to emit it this much." Andrew said.

Peter didn't say anything as he had a suspicion that he knew who owned that immense energy source but he wasn't sure.

"I'm worried about Kilborg more than our stupid feud." Andrew said as he glared at Peter.

"And I also care about my friends more than our fight." Peter said as he walked forward a bit.

"Good, but this is not over." Andrew said as he sprinted off towards the cottage while Peter was a little behind him.

And finally, they were in the cottage and the first thing Andrew saw was Kilborg being held by one of the people he attacked.

Without thinking things through, Andrew bolted towards Alex and gave him a solid punch that was enough to make him move away from Kilborg.

"If you are here, then where's Peter?" Alex asked as his Qi spread out again this time more fierce than before.

"I'm here and I'm fine." Peter said entering in while panting hard as he was trying to catch his breath.

They were about to move when the they all felt a rumbling in the cottage. Everybody looked around in panic as they saw the cottage shaking while cracks were forming.

"I think the cottage is about to collapse!" Andrew said.

"We have pretty figured that out genius." Peter said.

Those that were on the floor earlier because of Alex's suffocating energy, were now getting up as they felt the cottage rumble again.

"My precious cottage." Steve said as he looked around.

"We need to get the hell outta here now everyone!" Andrew said as his men surrounded him.

"This isn't over and I promise I will find y'all one way or the other and I will eliminate you all." Andrew said as he and his men bolted out of the cottage.

Immediately they left, Alex along with his friends also ran out of the cottage into the forest area. And right on cue, the cottage collapsed.

Immediately they were out, Alex fell on one knee as his energy dwindled and he was now out of breath.

"I'm sorry for the destruction of your cottage." Alex apologized to Steve.

"It's not your fault, it's those damned Iron Fist Guild members and Blip's son." Steve said as he clenched his hands in anger while gritting his teeth.

"I promise I will make them all pay. No this has ever been the same ever since Blip took over this city." Steve said then he turned around to look at Helen.

"Miss Helen, I'm gonna help you take revenge and take back this city from Blip's grip."

Helen gave him a small nod of acknowledgment.

"Then for that, we need to regroup with Jake and share all the information we managed to gather then we can plan our next move." Alex said as he slowly stood up and then they were on the move.

Chapter 218 The Path Forward

After dealing with Scar, Jake had sprinted towards a shop that sold clothes in order to purchase something to replace the shirt Scar had blown off.

Entering the shop, he could see the owner sitting down working on designs. The owner was a female.

"Hi." Jake called out as he entered the shop and the woman raised her head up.

The first thing her eyes laid on was Jake's body and his chiselled jaw.

"The gods have descended upon us." The woman said as she kept on staring at Jake.

"Excuse me?" Jake said and his voice snapped the woman out of her thought.

"Did I say that out loud?"

"Yes, you kind of did." Jake replied.

"I'm so sorry." The woman apologized as her cheeks were now flushed up.

"What can I do for you?"

"I need a new shirt." Jake said.

"Sure, right here." The woman led Jake to a section that was filled with shirts. Different types of shirts. Continue reading at empire

And then after glancing at every shirt there, Jake's eyes laid on a shirt that was black in colour while it had red stripes around with a fang design on it.

"Perfect." Jake smiled as he picked it up and showed it to the shop owner.

"That will be 30 credits."

"Alright." Jake said as he went to the counter and paid while the woman released the shirt to him.

"Bye, please come again." The woman said while waving towards Jake who had already walked out of the shop with his new shirt on him.

"What the hell am I saying?" The woman said as she slapped her forehead loudly.

Meanwhile after exiting the shop, Jake was now on the streets thinking of where his friends would be now and how to meet them and that was when a message came into his view.

{We are back at the inn, where are you?}

The message read and Jake breathed a sigh of relief as he proceeded to reply.

{On my way}

And then Jake took off running towards the inn with full speed without stopping for anything and in less than twenty minutes, Jake was in front of the inn and he proceeded to go in.

That was when Jake saw a person waving towards him while calling him over. Recognizing the person as Peter, Jake briskly walked towards him.

"What happened to you guys? And who the hell is this?" Jake asked as he could see their terrible condition while he glanced over at Steve.

"Just sit down, because we have a lot of explaining to do." Peter said and Jake proceeded to sit.

"Start your explanation with how the hell you all ended up like this." Jake said.

Alex sighed. "It was Blip's son; Andrew. He attacked us with some men."

"Blip's son?" Jake asked as his eyes narrowed down like a slit and his hands were clenched.

"Let me explain everything from the start." Alex said as he proceeded to recount all what happened from when they were on their way to meet up with Helen's source, how Peter decided to do shopping and they encountered Andrew.

Then Alex proceeded to recount how Peter and Andrew battled for the armour. Then they went to meet Helen source, they dueled again to prove their strength, went to Steve's cottage, got the information they needed.

Then Andrew and his goons came barging in and a fight broke out between the two sides and hence their condition.

Listening to everything, Jake grabbed some key points and which was about who the person sitting beside them was, and especially the fight that broke out.

"How strong was Andrew?" Jake asked while looking at Peter since he was the one that fought against him.

"Fairly strong, but nothing I couldn't handle." Peter said with his arms folded.

"How can you all be so careless? What if it was someone stronger than Andrew that popped out?" Jake asked as he glared at everyone there.

They could all feel the anger coming from Jake and they just sunk back into their chairs while avoiding his gaze.

Steve who was there took note of their expressions.

'Even when Andrew attacked, they didn't show any ounce of fear. And here they are, cowering in fear from this young man right here. Are they saying he is stronger than Andrew?' Steve thought as he eyed Jake up.

'Even that especially strong one that could use Qi in wondrous ways, is also scared of him. Is this the werewolf slayer they were talking about?'

"Take it easy, at least they are okay." Zee said.

Jake then sighed and eased up on his seat and that was when the others felt the invisible pressure on them recede.

"I'm sorry for my outburst, I was just scared." Jake said.

"I understand. Especially after what happened with Vynn, I will also be worried for my friends." Peter said.

Hearing Vynn's name, Jake's thoughts drifted to their time together. That was when Jake remembered something.

"Helen, I know where your father is being kept and I gotta say, it's going to be hard to break him out." Jake said and then he noticed that Helen's face didn't have that happy glow as he expected.

"I also know where he's being kept. Steve here, told us everything." Helen said.

"Oh." Jake said as he glanced at Steve again.

"Okay now, what do we do next?" Alex asked.

"We try to strike a meeting with the Iron Fist Guild in order to negotiate, and if they still don't comply, they will get what's coming to them." Jake said.

"Okay, how do we do that?" Peter asked. "We can't rely on Steve's help."

"I have been informing Kate about everything we have found over the system and she said she will try to strike a meeting with them." Alex said.

Right on cue, Alex heard a notification ding in his head. The others saw Alex's expression as he was suddenly focused.

"What's it?" Jake asked.

"It's Kate, she has replied. She says the Iron Fist Guild have responded."

At Aurora Academy, the core members of the Fang hunters were in an emergency meeting as they have finally gotten a reply from the Iron Fist Guild.

After everybody settled into their seats, Kate stood up to address everyone.

"I'm sure you all are wondering what's with this meeting, I'm sorry for pulling you all out of your busy schedule but this matter is important." Kate said.

"What's the matter?" Sunny asked.

"Alex had earlier informed us to set up a meeting with the leader of the Iron Fist Guild but we were told that he wasn't in Raven city so we still sent a message to them anyway." Kate said.

"And what's their reply?" Jack asked getting impatient.

"Their response is here and it's quite surprising." Kate said.

"Well, what is it?" Simyon asked impatiently.

"They have agreed to the meeting but they have a condition." Kate said.

"What condition?" Paul asked.

"That we should send over our leader for the meeting and in this case, our leader is Jake." Kate said.

"That's absurd!" Emily shouted. "Their leader ain't even there and they want our leader for the meeting?"

"Exactly, it feels disrespectful since their leader isn't there just the second in command. Which makes it feel like this meeting isn't even important to them." Sophia said.

And everybody in the room were nodding their heads to this statement as they agreed with Emily and Sophia while Humfree kept stroking his beard.

"What do you think Head General Humfree?" Kate asked.

Humfree just sighed and looked at everybody in the room.

"Why are we making the decision ourselves?" Humfree asked.

"Meaning?" Wilfred raised an eyebrow.

"They said they want Jake, then let Jake decide for himself after all, he wanted to go for this meeting himself. And now, they have accepted the meeting and a representative is even there so let Jake decide if he wants to attend regardless of whether their leader is there or not." Humfree said.

"I think you are right. You definitely have a point there." Kate said.

"Alright then, it's settled. Let's inform Jake and let him decide." Kate said as she turned towards her system.

And then she sent Alex a message informing him of everything.

After she was done, Kate turned back to the meeting.

"So how's the academy faring?"

"Good. And the students are more than eager to train than ever before after witnessing everything that happened." Paul said.

"Great. Sophia, what about my offer?" Kate asked.

"Look, I have told you that my allegiance is with my family and what do you think they will do if they found out? They will wage war against this academy and you know we aren't strong enough to defend ourselves from an attack with one of the big three." Sophia said.

Some days back, Kate had offered Sophia a contract to join the Fang hunters but she refused on the spot and said she was going to think about it more.

Listening to Sophia's answer, Kate just sighed and turned towards the remaining members seated.

"So any further plans?" Kate asked.

"Actually there is." Humfree said standing up.

"And which is?" Kate asked.

"I propose we grow our strength, let's become strong enough so no one would mess with us. And I don't mean individual strengths, I mean let's grow the Fang hunters strength and ranking so we can be more respected and not looked down on." Humfree said.

Everybody on the table were nodding their head at this proposal and even had beaming smiles on their faces.

"And how do we do that exactly?" Sunny asked.

"We have now become a guild right?" Humfree asked.

"Yes." Sunny said.

"And what do guilds do to grow their strength?"

"They hunt." Paul answered.

"Exactly!" Humfree smiled. "So I will propose that we choose some members out of the core members here, and when I say members, I don't mean the generals. I mean the students here and the sergeants."

"Once they have been chosen, they would go out to the other planets to hunt beasts and use it to push the Fang hunters up the ladder a bit while at the same time increasing their own individual strengths and adventurer rank."

"I like the sound of that." Geo smirked.

"I need to know one thing, after hunting the beasts, how will our ranks increase?" Kate asked with a face of confusion.

"Alright let me explain for you students here." Humfree sighed. "So you see, the big three have a technology that registers guilds and their ranks and some of the mini versions can be found in all the registered guilds. We have the technology here so once we have hunted the beasts, we can input their crystal cores into the tech and our ranks will be updated."

"Right now, we are considered a F rank guild which is the lowest. Once we hunt more beasts, the higher the tier of the beasts, the higher our Guild will go."

"Like right now, we have a portal that would lead us into a planet where we can hunt King tier beasts but I will advice not to. For now, we will hunt advanced tier beasts to push us up. If we managed to hunt up to a hundred advanced tier beasts, we would be classified as a low B rank guild." Humfree explained and everybody listened attentively.

"What is the Iron Fist Guild's rank?" Kate asked feeling worried.

"They are classified as an A rank guild." Paul answered the question.

"A freaking rank?!?!" Simyon shouted as he shot out of his seat.

"Yes." Wilfred nodded.

"How the hell are we meant to handle them? And how will Jake be able to handle things if they go south?" Sophia asked.

"I just hope he keeps a calm head on." Humfree said.

"Ha!" Jack laughed. "We all know Jake right? If one of us were in danger, which I'm pretty sure will happen if the Iron Fist are involved, Jake will snap and we all know what he will do."

"He will try his best to rescue us even if it means getting into a full on fight with the guild." Kate said feeling the gravity of the situation.

"Then all we have to do is inform Jake of everything we know and see what he does." Sophia said.

"Right, and I will get to work on that. In the meantime, let's choose the teams that will go out into the portals we have in an attempt to increase our strength so by the time Jake comes back, he will be in for a surprise." Kate smiled.

Chapter 220 The Price of Revenge

In Raven city, Jake, Alex, Peter, Helen, Berg and the new addition Steve, were in the Golden Raven inn and bar and Alex just finished informing Jake of everything Kate had sent to him.

"Bullshit!" Peter shouted albeit lower. "They want our leader but wouldn't send theirs? It's clear as day that they do not view us as people of significance."

"Yeah, and it's pretty annoying." Helen said.

"What do you say Jake?" Berg asked.

Jake was deep in thought as he was wondering what to do when a small smirk played on his lips.

"Actually, I think it's a good thing." Jake smiled.

"Good thing how?" Steve asked with a raised brow.

"Right now, they view us as a bug, as lesser than them and they keep underestimating us which is good." Jake said.

It finally clicked in Alex's head about where Jake was heading to and he couldn't help but smile at this.

"If they keep underestimating us, then they will be lax around us and which will make it more easier to take them down In case things go south." Alex smiled.

"Exactly my point." Jake said.

"Oh!" Peter said suddenly realizing where Jake was headed. "But do you think they will be that lax? I mean the whole world practically knows who the leader of the Fang hunters is."

"The person who went toe to toe with a Beta werewolf, the same person who saved Aurora from dangerous beasts attack and finally took the reins of Aurora."

"But it's clear they don't care about all these. They are currently thinking that the tales are exaggerated or, they have immense faith in that second in command." Jake said as his brow suddenly furrowed.

"Which means we got to be on guard and that's why, Alex I want you to send a message to Kate to try and negotiate. I want them to allow me bring one person for the meeting."

"Right away boss." Alex smiled as he got to work in sending Kate a message.

After a few minutes, Alex heard a ding in his head.

"She says she's gonna try." Alex said.

"Great. That settles it." Jake smiled.

"So who are you going to take along?" Helen asked.

"I haven't decided yet and I will later. For now, y'all need some rest so your injuries can heal." Jake said as he stood up to head outside.

"And where are you headed?" Steve asked.

"To plan my next move and get stronger." Jake said as he left.

"Get stronger? How does he plan on doing that just in time for the meeting which I suppose will happen soon." Steve asked.

Alex and Peter just shrugged.

"Jake always has his way. And if he says he wants to get stronger, then I guarantee you by the time he gets back, he would have increased his strength to take down almost anybody." Peter said.

"And do you think a person who managed to go toe to toe with a Beta werewolf would be weak by any means? I bet even Blip hasn't accomplished that feat yet." Alex smirked.

"I'm sure the tales are exaggerated." Steve said as he took a sip of his drink.

"Ha! Exaggerated? All of us here were there on that day. All the Generals, strong students me here and even Alex couldn't do anything against it not even a scratch and that all changed when Jake arrived." Peter said and then Steve went into a coughing fit.

"You... you all fought against the Beta werewolf? Even you miss Helen?" Steve asked as his eyes almost popped out and then Helen nodded confirming his questions.

'If... if what they are saying is correct and which I'm pretty sure it is now then that means Jake is very strong and dangerous at the same time.' Steve thought then a small smile played on his lips.

'Blip better watch out for what is coming for him. He wouldn't even know what hit him.' Stay updated through empire

Meanwhile, immediately Jake left the inn, he was out on the street again.

"So what's the plan?" Zee asked.

"I hunt beasts, try to increase my strength, get crystals and at the same time increase my adventurer rank." Jake said.

"You know it's almost late." Zee said.

"I know and that's why I'm just heading to the Guildhall in order to try and gain any important information about any strong beast I can take on to also try and level up." Jake replied.

"You still haven't forgotten about that huh?" Zee said.

"Hell no, forget about that cool price? You kidding me? Once I get to level 20, and I gain whatever ability I was promised, then I'm pretty sure there's nobody I can't best except the top 1 independent Guild leader and the big three for now that is." Jake smiled.

"Then soon, when I have grown my strength enough, they would be nobody strong enough to challenge me. Not even the top 1 guild or even the big three." Jane said as he made his way to the Guildhall.

In a deserted part of Raven city, in a dimly lit alleyway, a man was sitting with his legs tucked while his hands were hugging his body and he had an angry expression on his face.

"I promise, I will still get my revenge on you for destroying my life and also humiliating me." Scar promised as he clenched his fists in anger then he opened his fists back to look at his hand.

"But I'm not strong enough, I need to gain more strength so I can complete my revenge."

"I will grant you your wish." A voice was heard coming from the entrance of the alleyway and then a man wearing a robe could be seen coming in.

"What?" Scar asked.

"You want to grow strong? I can help you that is if you are willing in serving me." The man said with his hand held outwardly while his palm was facing up.

Scar didn't hesitate to think his decision through as he quickly took the man's hand.

"Anything... anything to grow strong enough to make him pay for what he did to me I will do it. Even if it means me working as your slave, I will do it." Scar said with firm resolve.

"Very well then, I will grant you your wish. But I gotta warn you, this will be painful." The man said.

"I don't care!" Scar screamed.

"Alright then." The man said as he snapped his fingers and then Scar felt a sting on his neck.

Then he fell on his knees while holding his neck in pain as he felt immense pain coursing through his body.

"Arghhhhhhhh!" Scar screamed into the night in pain.
