

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 231 Qi Fist

Alex and Peter were currently engaged in a battle with a fearsome assassin by the name of Jacko and they were all using everything they got to win the fight. But each time they thought they had Jacko up the corner, he always pulls through.

And now, Jacko had decided to use the Iron Fist Guild special technique. What is it? It was anyone's guess.

"Did you think the Iron Fist is just a name?"

"Isn't it?" Peter asked with a raised brow.

"Ha! Ignorant fools! The name was derived from our special Qi technique." Jacko said and right on cue, the air was feeling both distorted and heavy at the same time as if a pressure was being mounted on them.

"Let me show you all the power of the Iron Fist Guild!" Jacko shouted as he darted towards Alex and Peter with immense speed while the air was still feeling pressured and heavy.

With a swing of his sword, Peter almost had his head cut off but he had quickly blocked with his one remaining axe. The hit was still enough to push Peter away.

Before Jacko could go for Alex, Alex came for him with a swing of his giant sword, his fiery Qi extended out and wrapped around his sword.

Then Jacko turned around and swiftly blocked with his sword. A shockwave erupted everywhere while Alex felt vibrations running through his hand from that clash.

"Ha! I thought with your fancy talk, you had anything good to show." Alex said as he was gritting his teeth while trying to push Jacko back.

"Be patient." Jacko smiled and then with a flick of his wrist, Alex was pushed back just in time as Peter had quickly come in again.

But this time, it wasn't with his axe, rather he was coming in hot with his foot. But it was grabbed by Jacko as he used the hilt of his sword to hammer Peter's leg down forcefully making the ground crack from the strength of the hit.

Peter gritted his teeth in pain as he was about to move back to regain his footing when he felt a heavy pressure on him making him almost kneel but he pushed through as he fought back with his Qi letting him remain standing.

"Ah you're quite strong! But it's not going to be like that for long." Jacko said.

That was when rumblings were heard beneath all of their feet including Jacko's and then bursting through was an intense amount of energy that everyone was familiar with as Qi.

The energy shot out towards Jacko and wrapped around him making him restrained while also burning him slightly as it was Alex Qi.

"Now that I have you standing still, it's time for a comeback." Alex smiled as he lifted his sword up to wack Jacko away when an immense amount of pressure crashed onto him from above making him fall flat on the floor and was able to stand up.

It wasn't only Alex as everyone on a five metres radius felt this energy hit them making them all fall face flat on the floor while trying their possible best to stand up but all they could do was twitch.

The only person unaffected of course was Jacko as he stood there laughing out loud at the sight of everyone.

"What now? No more energy to use?" Jacko laughed.

"Anyway, I won't waste my time in exchanging words with y'all, I will just finish the job right away." Jacko said as everybody felt a heavy energy from above.

Struggling, they managed to look up and seeing this, their hearts all skipped a bit as they could see a humongous fist in the air that covered a six metre radius.

The fist was so huge that if it crashed into them, they knew that they would be flattened straight away.

"You see, the Iron Fist Guild isn't just a name. It comes from our technique that was passed down from our leader and which is to create a huge fist in the air that is made up of entirely Qi." Jacko explained while taking a cigarette stick and lighting it up.

Before taking a puff from it nonchalantly. "This fist can cover any distance we want as long as we have the Qi to go with it. Sadly since I'm a B rank adventurer, my fist can only cover about six metres. Now imagine how dangerous the leader is." Jacko laughed.

"This fist also has a gravitational effect making those that were under it to be affected by gravity not letting them move and then the fist would do the rest of the work. Thanks to the Big three for the Qi techniques and thanks to Blip for sharing his techniques." Jacko said.

"So any last words?" Jacko asked with a smile on his face.

"Yeah." Alex said as he slowly stood up while evident struggle were seen on his face and all the veins on his body were bulging as he was struggling to fight against the gravitational force.

Slowly, he was able to kneel and wasn't facing the ground and he glared at Jacko. Jacko was confused, surprised and scared of this act and he let the fist slowly descend making the gravitational force to become stronger which can be seen as those on the floor were wincing and twitching in immense pain.

But Alex was still kneeling with a smirk on his face.

"F*ck you!" Alex shouted as his fiery Qi that surrounded him, expanded outwardly from his body. It totally detached from his body and traveled at the speed of light towards Jacko.

And in an instant, it swallowed Jacko whole while burning him alive because of the fiery properties of the Qi. But Jacko was still very much alive and for this, Alex pushed his body to the limit as he squeezed his body for the last remaining drop of Qi.

And then he sped towards Jacko and glared at him as he frantically scratched his body while trying to get rid of the fiery Qi. Seeing Alex, Jacko lifted his hand and swung it down therefore letting the fist descend.

But Alex was faster as he swung his sword with all the remaining strength he could muster and then Jacko's head was detached from his body.

Immediately Jacko died, the fist energy dissipated and Alex fell down with a thud.

Chapter 232 Falcon gauntlets

Some days back when Jake was about to leave Aurora Academy AKA The Fang hunters Guild, Jake received a special gift from a friend. And the gift was in the form of a silver coloured gauntlet that reached up to Jake's elbow while covering his hands.

That day on the Aeroglide, Jake had used his inspect skill on the gauntlet to see its stats and Jake couldn't help but be happy for what Dame had crafted was a masterpiece.

These were the stats the inspect skill displayed for the Silver gauntlets.

{Name: Falcon gauntlets.}

{Tier: Advanced tier}

{Stats: +10 strength; +30 Defense}

Jake was so over the moon when he saw these stats making him want to test the gauntlet right away but he wasn't chanced not until now.

Jake was currently surrounded by four C rank adventurers while the last one was far back observing what was about to happen. They had been observing Jake for so long waiting to see what he was going to do against the beasts that attacked him.

But each time, Jake pulled through and kill the beasts easily as if they were nothing. When they thought Jake was tired, they decided to finally go on the attack against him.

"ATTACK!!!" Dim shouted and immediately, all the four remaining C rank adventurers lunged towards Jake.

"Big mistake!" Jake smirked as he immediately activated his new skill.

{Rampage}

Immediately Jake activated the skill, he felt a significant boost that made him smile in happiness and just to be sure, Jake quickly opened up his system tab.

<Status>

<User: Jake Lucas>

<Level: 19>

<Skill level: Trained>

<XP level: 9750/10,000>

<HP: 50/50>

<Strength: 70 (+22) {Max}>

<Agility:70 (+8) {Max}>

<Endurance: 60 {Max}>

<Stamina: 35/60>

<Defense: 30/30>

These were Jake's current stats. With +10 stat points in strength from the gauntlet while the remaining 12 points was from the skill<Rampage> bringing his extra stat points into 22 and plus his earlier strength which was 70, Jake was now immensely strong.

A new attribute opened up when Jake equipped the gauntlets and which was the Defense attribute.

And with all these immense jump in power, Jake wasn't even in the slightest worried seeing the men charging right at him. The first man that got to Jake's position, swung his chains towards Jake.

The chains were about to wrap around him when he grabbed it while the man struggled to pull it. The man was even supplementing his strength with Qi but he couldn't even budge the chain one bit.

Then the second adventurer was upon Jake with a strike from above but he quickly pivoted sideways still holding onto the chain causing the sword user to crash on the ground.

Jake quickly pulled the chain towards himself making him the chain user flip towards the sword user and they both crashed into the ground. Your next chapter is on My Virtual Library Empire

That was when from behind, a spear user thrust his spear towards Jake's open back but suddenly, an armour appeared on Jake's body blocking the hit and not even scratching the armour one bit.

'I will really thank Dame for these amazing weapons he got me.' Jake smiled as he turned around to face a still stunned spear user.

Seeing Jake stare at him like so, the user was about to run away when he felt a sudden strong hit in his gut that made him throw up all the food he ate in the morning.

And then standing in front of him, was a man with a curly black hair while his blue hazel eyes was shining and then a twisted smile was on the man's face.

'How did he manage to get here so quick?' That was the question on the man's mind before he passed out from the force of the punch to his gut.

Jake then turned around towards the last remaining man that was using a dagger. Rather than running, the man stood his ground as he raised his daggers up while signalling for Jake to come at him.

Jake was about to move when he felt a sudden restraint to his movements. Looking down, he could see that the chain user had already gotten back up and had quickly tied Jake's waist with his chains.

While the sword user as well as the dagger user quickly lunged at Jake. They were now almost close to Jake who was just smiling.

They finally got to Jake's position with a strike of their own. But to their surprise, they had clashed against each other causing a mini shockwave to spread around.

Then looking around, they saw Jake two metres away from them while waving towards them with a smirk on his face.

They were now terribly confused about how this happened. It was only Jake that knew what happened.

Before they could clash with him earlier, Jake had activated {Shadow Step} a skill that allowed him teleport two metres away from certain danger and could only be used once a day.

The three C rank adventurers were now worried as they could see the strange strong man walking causally towards them. Then he stopped just four feet away from them.

"You all decided to attack me for no reason whatsoever. You tried to take my life. And you also broke my cherished sword. Because of you all, I won't be able to use lightning Qi Slash for a while just because you decided to attack me." Jake said.

"So how about I take your lives?" Jake said as he raised his hands up and then swung it repeatedly releasing Qi projectiles after projectiles.

Before they could go forward, Jake had also formed a Qi fist and then swung his hands forward letting the attacks go forward at an immense amount of speed.

In less than a second, they were about to crash into the three C rank adventurers but before it could, an Ice Pillar rose up to block all the strikes. H

Chapter 233 Is that all you got?

Jake was in a fight with all the C rank adventurers and he was using high level skills that they didn't understand making them take hit after hit while Jake was using all his monstrous strength knocking them out quickly before they could do anything.

Out of all the four C rank adventurers that attacked, there were only three left and Jake planned to finish them all with one hit.

"You all decided to attack me for no reason whatsoever. You tried to take my life. And you also broke my cherished sword. Because of you all, I won't be able to use lightning Qi Slash for a while just because you decided to attack me." Jake said.

"So how about I take your lives?" Jake said as he raised his hands up and then swung it repeatedly releasing Qi projectiles after projectiles.

Before they could go forward, Jake had also formed a Qi fist and then swung his hands forward letting the attacks go forward at an immense amount of speed.

In less than a second, they were about to crash into the three C rank adventurers but before it could, an Ice Pillar rose up to block all the strikes.

Then slowly, the pillar melted and fell back down revealing Dim standing in front of the scared adventurers.

"That's it, my weapon's active skill has went on cool down." Dim said staring at his gauntlets before he turned back towards the other C rank adventurers.

"What the hell is wrong with you all? It was 4V1 but you were all unable to defeat a single man?" Dim scolded them and they shrank back under Dim's stare.

Dim then sighed and turned around to look back at Jake.

"I gotta say, I'm totally impressed by your show of strength and skills. But you fought against some low level C rank adventurers."

"Yeah? Are you a high C rank adventurer?" Jake chuckled.

"How about we have a go and you can find out for yourself?" Dim said as he took a stance with his feet apart and his hands in front of him signalling Jake to come at him.

Jake just laughed at this and was about to charge forward when he heard a loud ding in his head.

{Ding!}

{Quest Alert!: A dangerous opponent has been discovered, defeat opponent for rewards.}

{Rewards: 1000XP}

'A thousand XP?' Jake thought with a smile on his face. 'Now I can't wait to deal with him and level up.'

"You silly host!" Zee shouted at Jake as he was about to pounce forward. "Didn't you read the quest properly? The system deemed the guy strong enough to warrant a quest and also called him dangerous. Aren't you supposed to be cautious?"

"Relax. I got this." Jake said as he readied himself for a good fight.

"C'mon, what are you waiting for?" Dim asked while gesturing for Jake to attack.

"You asked for it!" Jake said as he lifted his foot up and took a step then in the next instant, Jake was already in front of Dim after using {Step Shift}

Dim was stunned but he quickly regained his composure as a fast Jab was heading towards his face. Dim quickly grabbed Jake's hand stopping him straight in his tracks.

"Seeing you use the sword so well, the thought of you being a close quarter combat fighter didn't cross my mind." Dim said as he still held on to Jake's hand.

"Well there's still so much you don't know about me. And I will make sure you realize that you messed with the wrong person!" Jake said as he lifted Dim up with a single hand and slammed him on the hard orange ground.

The hit was so strong that a crater was formed beneath where Dim had been slammed and he had even coughed out blood.

'Darn! My internal organs has been ruptured just from that single slam. And for f*ck sake, I was using Qi.' Dim thought as he wriggled his way out of Jake's grip.

Dim was now two feet away from Jake and he causally wiped the blood stain on his mouth away.

"Nice hit, but you won't get the jump on me ag..." Dim was about to say when he saw a hook heading for his neck.

Quickly pivoting sideways, Dim avoided Jake's hook and grabbed onto his arm then he swung his leg towards Jake's legs causing him to tumble down and go crashing on the ground so hard that he bounced a few times.

Not wasting time, Dim powered his legs with Qi and darted forward towards Jake and then he swung his legs towards Jake's stomach but his leg was grabbed effortlessly by Jake.

"Even though Rampage skill has ended, I'm still plenty strong especially with my gauntlets!" Jake said as he threw Dim's leg aside.

Then Jake powered his hands with Qi still on his laying position then he slammed his hand on the ground forcefully. The immense amount of strength made the ground break and Jake went flying up with a piece of the ground stuck behind him.

Then in one smooth motion, Jake kicked off from the piece of ground and was propelled forward towards Dim. Jake was looking like a flying rocket heading straight towards Dim.

In a flash, Jake crashed into Dim who was lifted off his feet and went flying off in the distance.

Jake calmly landed back down after sending Dim away.

"I gotta say, you have gotten better at fighting than before. You are using your head more." Zee said with a chuckle.

"Will you keep quiet and let me focus?" Jake said angrily as he took a stance because he knew it wasn't over yet.

And he was right as right on cue, Dim was seen walking over looking unhurt and without a limp.

"What happened? Is that all you got? If yes, then this fight is over." Dim said while infusing his gauntlets with Qi.

"Ha! Not even close to over because I haven't used everything I got. I didn't want to use this so soon but you forced me." Jake smiled and then called in his head.

'System! Activate Gauntlets active skill.

Chapter 234 Level Up!

Your next journey awaits at My Virtual Library Empire

Jake and Dim had been fighting for long non-stop without rest. They had been fighting with everything they got from the on set. Well not all of them, because Jake still had one more trick up his sleeves.

"What happened? Is that all you got? If yes, then this fight is over." Dim said while infusing his gauntlets with Qi.

"Ha! Not even close to over because I haven't used everything I got. I didn't want to use this so soon but you forced me." Jake smiled and then called in his head.

'System! Activate Gauntlets active'

And immediately, Jake's gauntlets glowed a little bright before it dimmed again making Dim shrug but Jake smiled at this.

Without warning, Jake had used {Step Shift} to get in front of Dim.

{-5 stamina}

He threw a cross towards Dim's head that landed and lifted him slightly off the ground while Jake's gauntlets glowed again before going dim.

Dim quickly stood up from the ground and wiped himself off the dust that was on his body.

"You do know you caught me off guard right? With that move and words, I thought you were about to do something special." Dim said as he pumped his gauntlets together.

"I'm not done yet." Jake said as he swirled his Qi to his feet and then he sprang off towards Dim with speed beyond anything Dim had ever seen.

Jake then in one smooth motion, jumped up, rotated his body and delivered a strong hook to Dim's head that lifted him off the ground, and swung him five metres away.

Before Dim could get up, Jake was already in front of him about to stomp on him but he had quickly rolled over and grabbed onto Jake's legs pushing him away.

"How's this possible? That hit was stronger than before, how did you do it? Are you growing in this fight?" Dim asked as he rubbed on his head.

Jake just smiled as he remembered what his gauntlets active skill was and what he did when he saw it.

It wasn't only the stats increase that got Jake excited when he cast his inspect skill on the gauntlet, seeing the active skill also made him happy.

The gauntlet had an active whereby every successful hit on opponent, will increase the user's strength by 1 percent. It might not sound a lot at first, but when Jake thought about it properly, he was pumped up.

If he kept delivering successful hits on his opponents all the time, his strength would keep increasing by one percent and that was what he showcased in this fight.

The first hit Jake delivered on Dim charged up the gauntlet and increased his strength by one and now, the second hit, had increased his strength and he wasn't ready to lose this power up.

"Now I know that man's suspicion of you was right, you are a danger to the iron fist guild." Dim said.

"Man? Which man?" Jake asked as he was suddenly intrigued.

"There's no need for you to know." Dim said as he bolted towards Jake with top speed.

Dim swung his fist towards Jake and Jake managed to duck under it but Dim's fist skimmed past Jake's face a bit.

Jake felt a slight sting on his cheek but he ignored it and got ready to move again when he felt a chill on his cheek. Touching it, Jake could feel his cheek was ice cold.

"Good thing my gauntlets active skill has come off cool down." Dim smiled and then in an instant, he shot out an ice shard towards Jake.

Quickly, Jake activated his skill; {Shield of Will}

{-10 Endurance}

And the Ice shard crashed into Jake but he only skidded an inch.

"How the hell did you stop that? It should have pierced you." Dim said looking surprised.

Jake just wiped the speck of blood on his lips.

"Well I got many more surprises for you." Jake said and then he stumped on the ground very hard with all his might and Qi.

The piece of ground rose up then Jake jumped up and gave it a strong kick sending it flying towards Dim at breakneck speed.

Dim seeing the piece of hard orange ground, quickly encased his gauntlets in Qi and then pulled back his hand. Then in a flash, he slammed his hands into the rock causing it to break and fall down in front of him.

Dim was about to move when he felt a huge sharp pain in his abdomen. Looking down, he could see a hand go through his stomach and a blue eyes was reflecting back at him.

"I don't like killing humans but you forced me to." Jake said and then he stabbed his hand that he shaped as a claw and stabbed through Dim's chest while piercing his heart.

"Rest in peace." Jake said as Dim body fell down with a loud thud.

{Ding!}

{Quest completed! Rewards would now be distributed.}

{1000XP has been granted}

{Congratulations! User has levelled up to level 20}

{Congratulations! New attribute has been unlocked; The magic ability attribute}

{Ding! Two magic abilities has been granted to user}

{Ding! +10 stat points to all stats attributes for levelling up.}

Jake was suddenly overwhelmed with notification and he couldn't help but smile at all the sweet rewards he could see in front of his face. But he didn't have the time to check them all as he could feel some people heading his way.

Jake quickly took a stance as three C rank adventurers were seen heading his way with a frown on their faces.

"You killed Dim?! How? Who the hell are you?"

"I already told you, I'm the Devil that will haunt, torture and kill you for trying to take my life. So do you still want to fight and forfeit your life, or do you want to walk away quietly?" Jake asked with his finger pointed at them all.

"I will..." One of the adventurers was about to move when he felt a hand on his shoulder stopping him.

"Are you crazy? Didn't you see what he did to Dim? Dim was the strongest among us. Let's just get the hell out of here if we want to live."

"Good call." Jake smiled. The truth was that Jake was exhausted and didn't have the strength to fight anymore and that's why he threatened them knowing that they would be afraid to attack.

And it worked as the adventurers had believed his bluff and were about to leave. They took Dim's dead body and also the unconscious body of one of the adventurers Jake had rendered unconscious and they all left after turning on the portable telepoter.

Immediately the portal closed up behind them, Jake fell down in exhaustion.

"That was tiring." Jake said. "Now time to check my rewards and see the magical abilities I gained." Jake smiled while rubbing his hands greedily.

Chapter 235 Magical abilities

Jake had just finished a tough fight with Dim and he was currently resting while trying to view his new magical attributes and what they were.

"That was tiring." Jake said. "Now time to check my rewards and see the magical abilities I gained." Jake smiled while rubbing his hands greedily.

Before doing anything else, Jake pulled up his Status Screen.

<Status>

<User: Jake Lucas>

<XP level: 750/15,000>

<HP: 100/100>

<Strength: 80>

<Agility:80>

<Endurance: 70>

<Stamina: 20/70>

These were Jake's new stats after leveling up and he was totally impressed and couldn't stop grinning widely. Not only did his total HP bar increase, his stats didn't have any restrictions on them and he could continue growing his strength.

Currently his stats were pretty even out and Jake couldn't help but pity his future enemies especially with his equipment too, Jake was pretty much stronger than anybody except for the Big three and the top 2 independent Guilds.

"But the total XP bar to the next level up is quite huge. It will take some months I guess to level up except I get an instant level up quest." Jake said feeling dejected until he decided to check his magical attribute with a smile on his face.

<Magical Abilities>

<Magical points: 30/30>

"Uhm Zee, why does this attribute have a magical point stuff?" Jake asked.

"That will signify how much power you have and how long you can use your abilities for. For example, a certain skill will take a certain amount of points to use for a specific time." Zee explained.

"Okay, I understand that." Jake said as he went on to the next tab.

<Ability Tab>

<Blink (LV1): This allows the user to teleport away for a distance of one metre only twice; Cool down:(2hr)>

<Lightning(LV1): This skill allows the user to create lightning strikes from their hands that could paralyze the opponent and also electrocute them. This ability cost a total of 5 points per hour to use.>

Jake after seeing the abilities was technically grinning from ear to ear at this and then he burst into a maniacal laugh.

"Hahaha! This is so dope! I can use the lightning attribute for just 5 points per hour which is meager considering I have 30 points in total." Jake said still looking at the abilities over and over again.

"And this blink, it would help me evade any dangerous attack. I could use it twice, the first to get away from the attack, the second to strike back. It's almost similar to Step Shift but will be much more powerful the more it levels up. I could practically teleport to a far away place." Jake laughed loudly.

"That will be helpful indeed. Imagine teleporting into the enemies base and taking them out before they could react and the teleporting out again without leaving a trace." Zee added.

"That will be deadly indeed." Jake smirked.

"I think that is enough for now, I need to get back to the others and also add these crystals to my adventurer System and then, get ready for the meeting." Jake said as he stood up and activated the portable telepoter button and then he stepped through it.

The portal zapped loudly and then closed behind Jake. After a few seconds, Jake was on the other side; he was back in the human world and he was currently in the Raven city Guildhall.

"Today was exhausting." Jake said as he stepped out of the teleport room and was in the hallway of the Guildhall. Then he took a straight part and he was now in the main guildhall and he could see all the adventurers there happily chatting away.

Looking around, his eyes met with the grumpy man and immediately their eyes met, the man shivered under Jake's gaze and was practically trembling in fear as beads of sweat was now dripping down his forehead.

Jake briskly walked towards the man and he almost made a break for it seeing Jake heading his way.

'He wouldn't do anything in front of all these adventurers right? Did those C rank adventurers tell him I was the informant? I saw Dim's corpse and the condition of the others. What if he silences me?' The man thought as he was now shaking like a fish out of water.

"Hi, I'm here to input these crystals into my adventurer System." Jake said as he handed the man the crystals.

Your journey continues at My Virtual Library Empire

"What... what?" The man asked as he felt like he was hearing things.

"I said I want to input these crystals into my adventurer system." Jake repeated himself again with a frown.

'I'm saved? But how? Did they not snitch on me?' The man thought while heaving a sigh of relief.

"Let me do that now." The man said as he took the crystals off Jake's hand and got to work.

While Jake was waiting, he heard some familiar voices coming from behind him and he turned around to look at who they were.

"Peter?" Jake said as he could see Peter and Berg helping Alex to walk while Steve and Helen were walking behind them.

"Here is your..." The man was about to say when he laid eyes on the people walking over while he stuttered.

'Damn it! Who are these people? They also survived and attack from Jacko? But how?' The man thought then he saw the young mysterious man in front of him walk up to those that were heading his way.

"Alex? How are you all in this condition?" Jake questioned.

'He knows them? That means there is something going on here but what?' The man thought.

"We will explain when we get to somewhere private so let's go." Helen said.

"Sure." Jake said as he quickly went back to the counter and snatched the crystals out of the man's hand while thanking him and they all left the Guildhall.

Meanwhile, in a huge mansion with so many stories and men standing around, a man could be seen in a throne like chair while two men were on their knees giving a report.

"So that is what happened sir." The second man finished giving the report.

"So you mean Dim was killed by a mysterious stranger after they got in a fight?" The man sitting on the throne like chair asked.

"Ye.. yes sir." The second man replied while breaking out in a sweat.

That was when the door to the room was swung wide open and an adventurer was seen walking in hurriedly with panic evident on his face.

"I'm sorry for disrupting your meeting sir, but I have an urgent news to deliver."
The adventurer said.

"What urgent news do you have that can't wait?"

The adventurer gulped loudly in fear before replying. "Sir, we just got news that Jacko was found dead on an orange portal after he was sent after the female that was supposed to be Helen Rave and a few men."

"What!?!?! What the hell!?!!" The man shouted as he sprung out of his chair in shock.

"How did Dim and Jacko just die on the same day and time? Jacko was a strong B rank adventurer and Dim was a strong C rank adventurer. I was sure that whoever they went up against, as long as they weren't an A rank adventurer or higher, they would be able to pull through."

"So how the hell did they just die? I want you to find who the hell did this and bring their heads to me right away!"

"Blip left this city to me in my care and I won't let some strangers destroy it. If it means me going out on the field, I will go and I will make sure they regret ever been born."

Chapter 236 Meeting Scheduled

"What the hell is going on in this city?" Jake shouted out loud in his room in the Golden Raven Inn and bar. And he wasn't alone as Alex, Peter, Berg, Helen and Steve were in the room with him.

But Alex was out cold as he had just come off a tough battle while Peter's wound was being tended by Helen.

Berg had just finished recounting the tale of how they got in this situation and Jake couldn't help but feel annoyed at this.

"What's going on here? I was also attacked by some C rank adventurers and they also sent a B rank adventurer to you guys too." Jake said annoyed.

"What!?!?! You were also attacked by C rank adventurers?" Peter asked surprised.

Jake then recounted his own tale of hunting beasts and then some C rank adventurers came to attack him but it didn't end well for them. Jake omitted the part where he got magical abilities as it didn't seem as important at the moment and there was no need to inform them.

"It's clear someone wants us dead, but who?" Berg asked.

"Isn't it obvious? Of course it's those that are in control of the city at the moment that wants us dead." Steve said.

"Well, I think it's high time I taught them a lesson..." Jake said and then he stopped as his system pulled up in front of him with a notification.

"What's wrong Jake?" Peter asked.

"It's a message from Kate." Jake replied.

"Well, what does it say?" Peter asked feeling impatient.

"She says, she tried to contact Alex through his system but couldn't so she decided to contact me. She wants to inform me that she has gotten a response from the Iron Fist Guild about my request." Jake said reading the system message out loud for the others.

"Well, what's their response?" Steve asked.

"They have accepted. They said I can bring just one person along with me for the meeting. And the meeting has been scheduled for tomorrow noon at their main base." Jake said.

"Well isn't this convenient?" Peter smirked. "We get to take them down in their own base."

"Who are you going to take along?" Helen asked.

Jake didn't reply immediately as he looked over at Alex and could see he was still out cold.

"I haven't decided yet. Hopefully by tomorrow I should have been able to make up my mind." Jake said.

"Well, we will be in our room then. Today has been truly exhausting and we need our rest so we will see you later." Helen said as she, Berg and Steve swiftly left the room.

"Let's also get some rest." Jake said as he went to lay on his own bed while Peter went to his.

While they were resting, Peter had quickly fallen asleep which was unusual to him but he welcomed the much needed rest as he wanted to feel refreshed.

While sleeping, a voice kept echoing in his head, mind and dream making him toss around the bed while mumbling some inaudible words.

Some words kept repeating in his dream.

"Come find me Peter, I'm in danger."

"Danger!"

"Please...find... find me..."

"Dan...Danger."

"Danger!" Peter shouted as he jolted awake.

"Peter, what's wrong?" Jake asked as he rushed over towards the still stunned Peter.

"It's... it's nothing, I just had a nightmare." Peter said as he touched his forehead that was now sweating.

"What's the time now?" Peter asked.

"Thirty minutes have barely passed since you fell asleep."

'Thirty minutes? What the hell was that nightmare I had? Who is in danger that needs my help?' Peter thought worriedly.

"Peter!" Jake shouted which caused Peter to snap back to reality. "What happened? I have called you like three times now."

"It's... it's nothing. I just need some air." Peter replied as he got out of bed and walked off out of the room.

"What is wrong with him?" Jake mumbled and went back to his bed to relax hoping that Peter was okay.

Meanwhile, when Peter left the room, he didn't have any destination in mind as he just walked back to the bar to get something to drink.

While drinking, Peter's mind was still on the nightmare when he saw dozens of men walking about outside which was somewhat weird.

So Peter decided to look out better and he could see that they were members of the Iron Fist Guild and they were escorting some people in chains.

Peter just sighed and went back to his seat. "Jake wanted to investigate what this slave trade is all about. But I guess it can wait for now."

After thirty minutes, Peter went back to his room and he could see Alex wide awake while sitting up and talking to Jake.

"You are awake!" Peter said as he took a seat.

"Yeah." Alex said.

"How are you feeling?" Peter asked.

"Good, tired, strained, and exhausted." Alex chuckled.

"Yeah I hear you." Peter said with a smile on his face.

"So Jake, I heard that the Iron Fist Guild have replied and accepted your proposal." Alex said.

"How did..." Jake wanted to say when Alex smiled.

"Kate had sent me a message earlier and since I couldn't have a look at it, I'm guessing she had contacted you. The message is what I'm currently reading." Alex said.

"Oh!"

"So who are you taking along?" Alex asked.

"I haven't decided yet."

"Well, you need to decide fast." Peter said. "And it better be me because I really need to teach some Iron Fist members a lesson."

"Well, you all need your rest then. So you will be in top shap tomorrow because I know that the Iron Fist Guild won't bend to our demands and we will have to fight our way through." Jake said.

"You're right." Alex replied as he lay back down. "I really need my sleep now."

"Same here." Peter jumped towards his bed and lay down.

And they all went to sleep in anticipation of the meeting that was going to take place tomorrow at noon.

Chapter 237 Cut Off

It was finally the next day, the day of the meeting between the Fang hunters and the notorious Iron Fist Guild. And for this meeting, everyone had woken up early while going to the bar to discuss possible strategies in case something goes wrong.

They were all discussing formations and everything to do with the meeting. And for this strategy, Helen and Steve took the lead as they knew the place in and out so they told Jake everything they knew.

"I just realized something." Berg said. "Jake you always wear a mask to conceal your identity therefore adopting the identity of the werewolf slayer, but what about those that follow you?"

"Simple, they wear their own mask. Each core members of the Fang hunters, have their own special masks." Jake said folding his hands.

"That makes sense." Helen said nodding along. "So When are we going to get our own mask?"

"When you get back to the Fang hunter's base." Peter replied.

They kept on discussing possible strategies and all. Then after a long few hours of waiting, it was almost time for the meeting.

And per the Iron Fist Guild's words, they were going to send someone to come pick them up. So before the person would come, Jake quickly decided to pick who he would be taking along.

"Before the representative that would come to get us comes, it would be best I decide who to take along. So the rest of you, if I don't select you, please don't mind because you would have a task as equally important as this." Jake said and everyone kept quiet to listen to Jake while nodding to his words.

Jake then took a deep breath while looking at each of their faces carefully and then he breathed out.

"Alex!" Jake said.

"What!?!?!?!" Peter shouted.

"Look don't feel bad Peter, I have a reason for picking Alex and it's not because of strength or anything because I know you are also reliable when it comes to fighting." Jake began.

Hearing that Jake didn't pick Alex because of his strength, Peter quickly relaxed back in his seat to listen to Jake's reasons.

"The reason I picked Alex is because he is smart and always keeps a cool head in every single situation which will be helpful in any tough challenge. Whereas you Peter, you are quit hot headed sorry to say." Jake said.

Peter just scoffed and didn't reply anymore as he could see that Jake's reasoning was right.

"The rest of you, when we leave, I want you all to be on standby. Try to get to their base as soon as possible and wait for further information. I want you to remain on standby just in case things go south and then we can hit them hard."

"So are we in? Does everybody understand?" Jake asked placing his hand forward with his palm facing upward.

"In!" Helen said as she quickly placed her hands on Jake's then Berg followed suit, so did Peter, Alex and finally, Steve placed his hand and then they all smiled.

Immediately they disengaged their hands, right on cue, a man was seen walking into the bar. Steve quickly spotted him and could see the level of authority he commanded and the air of authority around him.

"Guys, I think he's here." Steve said.

Jake didn't waste any time as he quickly equipped his mask while Alex hurriedly put on his mask and the rest left the table.

The man finally spotted Jake's table and headed over there. Seeing the ridiculous mask, the man knew that this was the person he was to pick up.

"Werewolf Slayer, I'm here to pick you up for the meeting." The man said with a frown on his face.

"Let's go." Jake said as he stood up and walked towards the door with Alex following closely behind him.

'How arrogant! If it wasn't because I was cautious about the rumour of him going toe to toe with a Beta Werewolf, I would have put him in his place.' The man scoffed as he briskly walked towards the door.

The others that were in another table, on seeing the man leave, they waited a little bit more.

"Alright, let's go." Peter said and they all left the place together.

Immediately Jake and Alex had left the inn, they could see a familiar vehicle in front of them; The Aeroglide.

"That's our ride." The man smiled. "I'm sure the Fang hunters do not have this type of ride back at their base."

Jake and Alex didn't deem it necessary to reply as they walked towards the door and took their seats waiting for the man to start the Aeroglide.

'How arrogant can they be? Can't they just accept that we are better than them?' The man thought in frustration as he went to take his seat.

'I can't believe that a B rank adventurer like me has been reduced to a driver for these arrogant fools.' The man thought as he started the Aeroglide and then it slowly rose up to the air and then in a flash, it took off heading to their destination.

Jake and Alex watched the Aeroglide weave past all the buildings, even the tall ones as it flew at tremendous speed. The journey that would have taken them hours to cover, they were sure they will cover it in a few minutes.

And they were right as ten minutes later, they could see the Aeroglide heading towards a mansion like building that stood tall among the other buildings that surrounded it.

The Aeroglide slowly descended and they all got off. Jake could now see dozens of adventurers each with their different weapons surrounding the whole building.

Jake didn't waste time in casting his inspect skill on each and everyone of the adventurers and he could see their adventurer ranks. The majority of them all were C rank adventurers making Jake breathe a sigh of relief as he and Alex had nothing to worry about.

The B rank adventurer headed towards the gate then the building while signalling for Jake and Alex to follow suit. Entering into the building, they could see that the place was quite huge and grand.

And they also noticed that there were adventurers scattered around either chatting or just walking around.

'How many men do the Iron Fist Guild even have? I could have sworn that I had counted at least fifty men so far.' Jake thought looking at every one of them.

That was when they saw the B rank adventurer take the stairs so they followed suit while ascending higher and higher until they stood in front of a wide hallway with a huge double doors a few feet away from them.

Immediately the B rank adventurer stood in front of the door, he gave it a gentle knock.

"I have brought you your guests sir."

"Let them come in." A loud voice could be heard coming from inside.

And Jake didn't hesitate to push the door open as he and Alex walked in and then the door closed behind them loudly. That was when the whole room lit up and they could see a dozen men standing around with a man sitting down on a throne like chair with a round table in front of him.

Out of the dozen men, six of them were calmly seated on the chairs around the table while two chairs were left empty for the supposed guest.

The room looked big enough to fit at least a mini football pitch in it.

"Isn't this too much for just a meeting?" Jake asked with his voice slightly altered making it sound deeper and menacing.

"Are you nervous? Is the great werewolf slayer nervous?" The man sitting down on the throne like chair who had a bandana on his head with his beard neatly trimmed asked.

This man was the second in command to the Iron Fist Guild leader and he went by the name of Clark. Clark was a strong A rank adventurer who struggled before he could stand beside Blip.

"Ha! Nervous? Why would I be nervous? Let me tell you something, in order to be able to even restrain me, you would need the whole of your guild to put me down." Jake smiled as he took his seat calmly while Alex did the same.

Immediately Jake sat down, he immediately noticed something was off and he decided to communicate with Alex privately with the use of the system.

{Did you notice it?} Continue your adventure with My Virtual Library Empire

{Yeah I did. Immediately we entered, I have been trying to contact them and am unable to.} Alex replied.

{That means they have something that blocks off communication to the outside. Which means we are alone now and we wouldn't be able to ask for help from the rest.}

Chapter 238 No one threatens those I care about and live!

Jake and Alex were in the meeting room with a dozen men from the Iron Fist Guild and also with the second in command of the Iron Fist Guild.

That was when Clark asked a question that earned him an answer which put a bad taste in his mouth.

"Are you nervous? Is the great werewolf slayer nervous?" Clark asked.

"Ha! Nervous? Why would I be nervous? Let me tell you something, in order to be able to even restrain me, you would need the whole of your guild to put me down." Jake smiled as he took his seat calmly while Alex did the same.

This response from Jake caused the men sitting at the table to frown and were about to unleash their Qi and wrath on the two men in front of them. Jake seeing this just scoffed and turned to Clark.

"Tell your dogs to power down or else there will be a blood bath here which I'm sure you don't want." Jake said while staring at each of them all.

'I wonder who is beneath that mask. He is so confident even though he is in the middle of enemy territory. Is he that strong?' Clark thought while playing around with the ring on his finger.

"Stop everyone!" Clark ordered and the men all relaxed.

"Now shall we start this meeting?" Alex asked nonchalantly.

"Sure, why not?" Clark smiled.

"The purpose of this meeting is to know why the hell the Iron Fist Guild had been hindering the Fang hunters from having any migrations." Jake said.

"Oh! That was because the Fang hunters were disrespectful." Clark replied with a smile on his face.

"Disrespectful? How so?"

"Your guild took over Aurora all of a sudden and we don't have a problem with that. But what upset us is that after taking over, you didn't come over to pay your due respect to your seniors." Clark said.

"So we decided to just give you all a little punishment."

"What the hell? Is that your reasoning for blocking the path to the Fang hunters?" Alex asked.

"Yes." Clark lied through his teeth. Of course it wasn't because of that, Blip wanted to take over the Fang hunters Guild for himself and for that to happen, he needed them to weaken.

So what better way than to obstruct those that wanted to migrate therefore making their growth stagnant and then Blip could swoop in to take the Guild for himself after they had weakened.

"Now we want you to call off this stupid scheme and let the migrants into the Fang city." Jake said.

"Is that an order or a threat?" Clark asked with a mischievous smile on his face.

"Take it anyhow you want to. All I just want is for you to talk to your asrehole of a leader to stop this shit." Jake said.

"How dare you call Blip an arsehole!?!?!" Clark shouted with anger evident in his voice and face.

After all, Blip was the one who invited him into his Guild, and also made him the person he was today so he wouldn't sit around and let someone talk down on Blip like that.

"Yeah, I called Blip an asshole so what? Will you talk to him to call off this shit or should I act?" Jake asked while twirling his fingers.

"Hahahaha!" Clark burst into laughter. "Act? You wanna act? You do realize you are in our territory right? Did you see the amount of men outside? Just one call from me and they will come barging into this room."

"I wouldn't have to lift a finger and you and your puny sidekick would be taken care of."

"You know I wasn't wrong in calling your men dogs because I know you can't even put a scratch on me. Did you remember what I said earlier?" Jake asked.

"In order to restrain me, you will need the whole of the Iron Fist Guild and I don't mean those weaklings outside and in here, I mean all your members in total including your leader."

"Now I really won't feel bad if I kill you right here and right now." Clark said.

"And I want to see you try." Jake said while relaxing back on his seat with his arms folded.

'Why is Jake this confident? Right now, I feel nervous of the outcome of everything and he is so calm. Between him and Peter, there's no difference. They are both just hot headed.' Alex thought as he readied himself in case anything happened.

"Will you do what I asked you to do or not? Or will you let me destroy this place now." Jake said.

"And what if we don't huh? What are you going to do about it?" Clark asked.

"Just refuse to do it and then wait and see what I will do." Jake replied.

"You really are gutsy, talking to us anyhow in our own territory. You do know that you are outnumbered here right? Even if you were the werewolf slayer that battled against a beta werewolf and then took the reins of Aurora, you are still one man against us." One of the men at the table said.

"And when we are done with you, we will go for your little guild next and then take away those you care ab..." The man stuttered as he felt a sharp pain in his chest area.

Looking down, he could see a hand in his chest with his heart on the other side in the palm of the hand, while his eyes were fading in and out.

"No one threatens those I care about and live."

Chapter 239 Blood bath

The meeting between the Fang hunters and the Iron Fist Guild was going terribly as both sides had erupted in an argument and then a statement from one of the men at the table annoyed Jake to the point that he snapped.

"You really are gutsy, talking to us anyhow in our own territory. You do know that you are outnumbered here right? Even if you were the werewolf slayer that battled against a beta werewolf and then took the reins of Aurora, you are still one man against us." One of the men at the table said.

"And when we are done with you, we will go for your little guild next."

Immediately the man said that statement, Jake knew what was coming next and he couldn't sit down and let him finish his statement so he quickly activated one of his newest skill and attribute.

<Blink (LV1): This allows the user to teleport away for a distance of one metre only twice; Cool down:(2hr)>

And immediately, Jake was behind the man who was unsuspecting that someone was behind him so did the others as Jake had instantly disappeared in their presence.

"And then take away those you care ab..." The man stuttered as he felt a sharp pain in his chest area.

Looking down, he could see a hand in his chest with his heart on the other side in the palm of the hand, while his eyes were fading in and out.

"No one threatens those I care about and live." Jake said as he had coated his hands with Qi making it sharp as a claw and then he had stabbed through the man's chest pulling his heart out.

Jake then swiftly pulled his hand back out of the man's body while still holding onto the dead man's heart. The man's body fell down face flat on the table with blood quickly soaking the table wet.

"Now is there anybody that wants to threaten me?" Jake asked as he smashed the heart on the floor causing it to pop.

The others were stunned by this scene as they all saw Jake sitting not too long ago and then he was around one metre away with a heart in his hand seemingly from killing one of the Iron Fist Guild's men.

'Jake what have you done?' Alex thought while gripping his hands tensely.

"You... you killed him?! How dare you kill one of my men?" Clark shouted in anger as his Qi was fully unleashed suffocating those in the room while also increasing the gravity drastically in the room.

This caused almost everybody to fall down while only Alex, Jake and Clark were left standing. Seeing his men on the floor, Clark realised his mistake and quickly dispelled his Qi letting everyone stand up.

"All of you! I want you to bring me their heads at all cost!" Clark shouted to the eleven men in the room and they quickly got to work.

Jake didn't fret as he clicked on his inventory and equipped his armour, gauntlets and boots all at once then he looked at Alex.

"Lend me your sword now!" Jake ordered and Alex quickly pulled his sword out and gave it to Jake without questioning. Your adventure continues at My Virtual Library Empire

The sword was pretty heavy in Jake's hand so he held it with both his hands while the men were almost upon them.

Jake quickly held the sword and poured out all his Qi into the sword and in less than a second, Jake's sword was shaking with immense amount of power.

'Over the months, my Qi control has become better and now I can do this quickly.' Jake thought as he quickly pulled the sword and slammed it on the floor dispelling some of the energy out of the sword towards the men that were mere feet away from Jake.

The slam caused the eleven men to be lifted off their feet and chucked far back to the end of the room even indenting the wall a bit from the impact.

'What type of monstrous power is that?' Clark thought seeing how Jake dealt with his men at once.

What Jake had just done was use the Echoing wave taught to him by Von therefore dispelling a huge wave of Qi at the men. Usually the skill would only cause them to stumble and not go flying like that, but Jake's Qi pool was huge making the skill more effective.

The eleven men were seen standing up while holding their ribs in pain and they were about to charge right at Jake again.

"I didn't expect for that to take care of you all, I had to use that to prepare for this. Since I'm not used to the weight and feel of this sword, I knew this would take longer and now I got the hang of the sword already so here it goes." Jake said as he lifted the sword up above his head while patiently waiting for the men to get close enough.

And finally, they were in position for Jake to do what he wanted to.

"This is for threatening me and my guild!" Jake said as he lifted the sword up high properly.

"Qi Slash!" Jake shouted as he swung the sword outwardly towards the men and the coming from the sword, was a huge crescent yellow energy that crashed into the men and then decimated their bodies while also still crashing into the wall.

Causing the wall at the back of the room to break and that was when the energy finally dissipated.

And now, the damage could finally be seen as the dozen men in the room had all being killed by one man who stood there in a victory pose of some sorts.

Jake then handed the sword back to Alex and then pointed at Clark.

"I told you right? Before you can restrain me, you would need the whole of your guild to." Jake said as he bolted right at Clark with immense speed.

Chapter 240 Unexpected Twist

Jake had just finished massacring the adventurers that were in the meeting room with his famous Qi Slash which caused the whole eleven adventurers to be sliced apart in half from the force and strength of that strike.

Even their Qi wasn't enough to save them from Jake's wrath as they had all been decimated. Jake did as he said he would, he said he will cause a blood bath and he did just that as rivers of blood could be seen on the floor.

The blood looked like a mini river in the room as it poured out of all the bodies in the room. After causing his blood bath, Jake handed the sword he took from Alex back to him and looked at Clark.

"I told you right? Before you can restrain me, you would need the whole of your guild to." Jake said as he bolted right at Clark with immense speed.

Jake swung his hand that was covered in his gauntlets towards Clark who quickly spun around towards the side avoiding the hit. The strength from Jake's punch caused a bang to resound in the room as the air from his fist that had crashed into the wall cracking it a bit.

"Impressive! You were able to avoid that. I guess you aren't an A rank adventurer for nothing then." Jake said.

"You monster! You killed them, you killed them all without flinching a bit!" Clark shouted as he was still in shock.

"Oh! I'm the monster now? So when you were threatening to kill me and those I care about, you weren't monsters right?"

Clark couldn't say anything as he kept staring at all the bodies of his comrades. They were close to him as they had all gone on missions together regardless of their ranks.

"Enough of sulking around, it's high time I avenged their deaths by killing you!" Clark shouted as his Qi was pouring out of his body while he was shaping it around his hands like a Qi gauntlet of some sorts.

"A little warning, I'm going all out!" Clark shouted as he sprung across the room towards Jake like the speed of light.

Clark threw his fist towards Jake and to his surprise, he didn't feel any weight behind his hit as he had struck the air. While his fist carried on forward and crashing into the wall totally breaking it apart.

'How could he avoid that? How is he moving so fast?' Clark thought and that was when he felt a solid hit in his gut that sent him crashing into the meeting table and breaking it totally.

'How is this possible?' Clark thought.

Unknown to Clark, when he threw a punch, Jake had used {Shadow Step} to teleport two metres away from him then he used {Step shift} to get in again and delivered a solid hit causing him to go crashing into the table.

Clark was seen slowly standing up while holding his stomach as he felt like his internal organs had been ruptured by that hit. Looking around, Clark could see the werewolf slayer's sidekick standing around observing the fight keenly.

"Who are you? How are you this strong?" Clark asked as he knew he couldn't win this fight based on the level of unknown skill and techniques the werewolf slayer showed.

"I don't need to answer that!" Jake said.

'The rumours weren't exaggerated one bit, this guy packs a punch and I doubt he was even using Qi.' Clark thought and then he looked back at Alex.

"Aren't you going to join in the fight?" Clark asked.

"Why should I? The boss is kicking your arse properly so why should I join?" Alex asked back.

Clark sighed. "Fair enough."

"So what do you want to do? Keep fighting or surrender?" Jake asked.

Clark then sighed and a chuckle followed suit. "Surrender? Not possible. You are a good fighter, in fact strong and skillful but you lack one insight."

Jake just raised his eyebrow. "What are you talking about?"

Clark just smiled. "You should learn to pay attention to your surroundings!"

Immediately Clark finished talking, he swung his hand down and then suddenly, the whole room became heavy to the extent Alex fell on his knees as he couldn't stand again and in the next second, Alex was laying flat on the floor while feeling suffocated.

Jake felt the energy crash into him and he fell down on one knee in pain then he heard a loud noise from above. Quickly looking up, Jake saw a huge yellow fist made entirely of Qi in the air above him.

Before Jake could move, the Qi fist crashed into him while dispelling huge waves of shockwaves around and the ground close to Alex was cracked even the windows all broke at once while the wall behind Jake also broke and the outside could be seen.

"Hahaha! You know nothing about us, or our techniques and how strong we are, you also underestimated us and that was your downfall." Clark laughed as he turned around to look at Alex who was twitching on the floor.

"Now that I have dealt with your boss, time to get rid of you too." Clark said as he grabbed Alex on the head while pulling him up with his hair.

Alex was seen struggling but he could hardly move as Clark held onto his head with one hand and was trying to squeeze on tight when he heard a noise from behind him.

Quickly dropping Alex down, Clark turned around and his face was met with a strong hit that flung his head backwards while also breaking his teeth and causing it to fly out with chunks of blood too.

Clark was sent into another wall in the room. And in his place, Jake was seen standing there with his clothes torn, his armour cracked and even part of his mask was broken and almost revealed his face.

Clark managed to get out of the wall and he could see Jake standing there in front of him although not really fine, but he was still alive.

"How the hell did you survive that?" Clark asked when he suddenly coughed loudly and blood came out of his mouth.

A little while ago, when Jake was almost crushed by the giant Qi fist, he knew he would die if he didn't do anything so he activated his armour's active skill that created a wall made from Earth in front of him, then he quickly activated {Shield of Will} and finally, he coated his body with all the Qi he had left.

And that was how Jake managed to survive the hit. When he stood up, he could see Clark holding onto Alex and without thinking twice, Jake activated {Step Shift} and he got in front of Clark delivering a powerful punch that sent him flying into a wall.

"Never you dare touch him again!" Jake said and was about to move when his mask broke down totally and his face was fully revealed causing Clark to move back a bit.

"You... you are so young! How the hell is someone so young so strong?" Clark shouted.

Hearing Clark's words, Jake touched his face and could feel that the mask had come off totally.

"It doesn't matter if you saw my face or not because you are not going to be alive anymore to tell anybody what I look like!" Jake said as he activated {Blink} and in an instant he was teleported in front of Clark.

Jake threw his fist that was now covered with Qi towards Clark's chest when he noticed a smirk on Clark's face and then a loud ringing clang was heard in the room as if steel hit steel.

And then Jake was swung back forcefully causing him to stumble backwards and then he could now clearly see what stopped him from ending Clark's life.

Jake was shocked out of his mind at what he saw as he could see a sword but that was not what shocked him, it was the person holding the sword.

"Alex!???!!!!!"
