

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 241 Electric Justice

Jake and Clark had been going at it for so long with everything they got. Each hit that landed further destroyed the room and it was at it's breaking point especially after the giant Qi fist Clark unleashed on Jake.

The hit made the ground beneath Jake break into pieces even cracking the ground further away from it.

After thinking he had dealt with Jake finally, Clark went for Alex next as he had grabbed Alex's head and was squeezing it tightly trying to make it pop when Jake intervened and then his identity was compromised.

Jake threw his fist that was now covered with Qi towards Clark's chest when he noticed a smirk on Clark's face and then a loud ringing clang was heard in the room as if steel hit steel.

And then Jake was swung back forcefully causing him to stumble backwards and then he could now clearly see what stopped him from ending Clark's life.

Jake was shocked out of his mind at what he saw as he could see a sword but that was not what shocked him, it was the person holding the sword.

"Alex!???!!!!!"

"Alex? What the hell is going on?" Jake asked as he was confused as to why Alex would save Clark's life and go against him.

"Hahaha! Alex isn't home right now." Clark said with a chuckle as he looked at Jake's dumbfounded face.

"You! What did you do to him?" Jake asked with anger evident in his voice and face.

"Technology has come a long way hasn't it?" Clark asked while twisting the ring around his finger that was now glowing red.

"Every single day, special equipment, technology and materials are discovered that could be used in different ways and one of them is getting your friend under my control. And don't even bother trying to break him out of the control because it won't work unless I will it to or you kill me that is." Clark chuckled loudly.

"And which you won't be able to do especially with your friend against you and you being in this pitiful state of yours."

Jake was listening intently at what Clark was saying and he was now angry beyond belief as he was squeezing his hand tight. Squeezing his hand, Jake finally noticed something.

'I'm not as strong as before. The fight has gone on longer than I anticipated and my Qi has totally being depleted while Alex is still fresh.' Jake thought in despair.

"What happened? Feeling scared already? Do you want to keep on fighting or will you surrender now?" Clark asked with a devilish smile on his face.

"In order to free Alex, I just have to kill you right? Then that's what I'm going to do!" Jake said as he activated {Strength surge}, {Adrenaline rush}, and finally, {Restore}

Immediately Jake had clicked on all these skills, a smile played on his lips as in front of Clark, all the injuries dealt to Jake was being healed like magic and an air of power was surrounding Jake while the grin on his lips was wider than before.

"You made a mistake by turning my best friend against me and you will pay with your life!" Jake shouted as he was suddenly propelled forward at an immense speed seemingly from {Adrenaline rush} as it increased his speed temporarily.

Alex seeing Jake coming towards Clark, quickly swung his sword that was coated in huge amount of Qi towards Jake who quickly twisted his body around avoiding the sword and then he grabbed onto Alex's hand.

"I'm sorry bro." Jake said as he smashed his hand on Alex's elbow causing it to pop and his bone to come sticking out. Then in one smooth motion, Jake kneed Alex very hard in his stomach that totally knocked the wind out of his mouth and he fell down with a loud thump unconsciously.

Immediately Jake finished dealing with Alex, Jake felt a strong hit on his stomach that sent him skidding a few feet then a human was seen dashing towards Jake again and then with a spin, Clark threw a roundhouse kick towards Jake's head that caused him to crash into the ground strongly while totally cracking it.

"Ha! I can't believe I'm kicking the werewolf slayer's arse." Clark said with a loud chuckle when he felt a disturbance in the air then a crackling sound was heard.

Looking down, Clark couldn't see Jake again and he could see Jake standing two feet away from him while Jake's hair was floating in the wind and his eyes was glowing with power.

"What's going on with you? What are you doing?" Clark asked while a feeling of dread washed over him as his heart thumped louder and louder looking at Jake.

Jake was still standing there and then suddenly, sparks were seen in the room as the floor beneath Jake's feet was being torched and struck causing it to blacken slightly.

"I told you earlier right? Before you can put me down, you need the whole of your guild but I think I was wrong. You don't need your guild as your leader won't be able to do anything against me." Jake said as he smirked and twirled his fingers around in a circle.

Find more chapters on My Virtual Library Empire

"You won't need your guild, rather you would need the big three to even think of taking me down." Jake said and then he threw his fingers outwardly and a lightning bolt was seen heading Clark's way and then it crashed into him while electrocuting him and making him paralyzed.

Then in one smooth motion, Jake pounced from his position and moved like a blur towards Clark and then he hit him hard in this chest while slowly skidding on the floor behind Clark.

For a second, Clark was seen standing fine and then a hole appeared in his chest as blood was dripping down his chest. Clark swayed a bit before he fell backwards towards Jake who was standing directly behind him.

Clark's back crashed into Jake's back while Jake was unmoved as if he was a mountain. With a twist of his body, Jake turned around and twisted Clark's dead body's head in a weird angle while letting the body fall to the ground.

And that was the end of the second in command to the Iron Fist Guild. Unknown to Jake the amount of damage he had just dealt to the Iron Fist Guild from this one incident.

Chapter 242 Aftermath

Jake had just finished dealing a major blow to the Fang hunters by killing their second in command and now, he was gently walking towards Alex who was still out cold on the floor.

Jake's body was still sparking so he used that to touch Alex and immediately, Alex felt a jolt of lightning go through him which jolted him awake as he snapped his eyes wide open and then he looked around when his eyes landed on Jake.

Jake was still on edge as he was wondering if Alex was back or not and then he saw Alex smile.

"I can't believe you completely overpowered me without allowing me to even put up a fight. You are truly a monster." Alex smiled as he slowly got up while twisting his elbow that was broken by Jake and then he swung his hands around.

Seeing Alex back, Jake finally relaxed as the lightning coursing through him receded and Jake fell on one knee as he was exhausted but he could still fight.

Alex stood up and supported Jake while glancing around the room and his eyes laid on the damage that had been dealt to the room and also Clark's body which was laying in the pool of blood.

"Damn! You really did a lot." Alex commented.

"And the fight isn't over yet." Jake said.

"What do you mean?" Alex asked.

Jake didn't respond as he snatched Alex's sword away from him and then he opened the door of the meeting room while glancing at the long staircase that had all the adventurers in the building running up on it heading towards the meeting room. Explore more at My Virtual Library Empire

"Oh! I see what you mean now." Alex sighed.

"Since we are out of that room, I'm sure that our communication is back. Contact Helen and tell them to come over." Jake ordered and Alex got to work.

"Oh!And Alex, I will be a little weak after this." Jake said as he lifted the giant sword in the air above his head as he stared at the dozens of men heading their way with their different weapons.

Jake instantly poured all his Qi into the sword making it not only glow bright, it was shaking tremendously and even cracks were starting to form on it as it couldn't contain the amount of energy Jake was giving it.

'I thought this sword was strong enough to handle this much energy but I guess I was wrong.' Jake thought as he was finally done and he opened his eyes to see the men almost close.

In one smooth motion, Jake quickly swung the sword down and called out. "QI Slash!" And a humongous size of crescent yellow Qi energy came out and crashed into the men at the front slicing them all easily without any resistance.

The energy kept moving and slicing through all the men. Some tried to use their Qi or weapons to combat and try to break the energy but they were unsuccessful as the energy passed through them and totally destroyed them.

Some even tried running away and they were somewhat lucky as the energy finally disappeared after going through five rows with each row having about 20 adventurers heading Jake's way.

So in total, the Qi slash killed 100 men while leaving a measly 20 men alive. Alex who was at the back watching had his mouth open in shock and then dread quickly filled his heart.

'This guy keeps getting stronger everytime. How is he doing this? Although he wouldn't be able to defeat my dad, Jake will surely give him a tough time with the way he is getting so strong.' Alex thought.

"Alex!" Jake called out as he threw the sword towards Alex and he had easily caught the sword by its handle.

"It's all up to you now." Jake said as he weakly walked away from the still stunned adventurers.

Alex not wasting time, jumped from where he was and landed in front of one of the adventurers who was at least seven feet away from him and in an instant, the man's head was seen rolling on the floor.

'I wasn't able to do anything against Clark as he had completely overwhelmed me. Then Jake came over and completely overpower me also making me feel weak and useless. But now is my time to shine!' Alex said in his head as he looked at the adventurers that were ready to fight back.

"I'm sure he isn't as strong as that other monster, let's kill him and finally we can get rid of that monster while he is at his weakest!" an adventurer was heard shouting.

"Well, I can't stand around and let you hurt the boss now would I?" Alex asked as his Qi quickly expanded outwardly and was now visible outwardly like a flame.

Then the Qi flame slithered towards his sword while making it burn bright and strong.

"Although I have a huge Qi reserve than others, but compared to Jake there, it's nothing. But my Qi reserve is still enough to do this!" Alex said as he quickly swirled the Qi to his feet to give him a speed boost.

And in flash, Alex pounced from his position to one of the adventurers nearby then he slammed his sword into his head therefore killing him immediately. Another one threw out lots of Qi projectiles towards Alex and he was able to avoid each and everyone of them.

Then in the next second, the man's head was rolling on the floor. Alex was currently moving almost like a blur as everywhere he went to, dear bodies followed and out of the 20 men, 10 were left.

Then to the adventurers, Alex did something strange as he flipped backwards causing him to land in the exact same spot Jake stood on earlier then he lifted his sword high above his head.

To those watching, it was almost a repeat of what Jake did and they knew what was coming so they tried to make a break for it but before they could, they felt something restraining their movements and no matter how much they tried to move, they were unable to.

Unknown to them that Alex had used the last bit of his Qi to create invisible chains that made them stuck in their position. After getting them to stay still, Alex continued what he was doing.

As his sword was now vibrating with more power and the cracks on the sword was getting larger and larger while the fiery Qi was burning fiercely. In one smooth motion, Alex swung his sword down and an aura of fiery Qi spread out and crashed into the adventurers.

The adventurers felt their bodies being sliced up while still burnt alive. And after a few seconds, they were all dead like the rest of their comrades.

Immediately the last body fell down, the doors to the hall burst open and four familiar faces were seen walking through the room.

"What the hell did you guys do!" Peter said in shock.

Chapter 243 Reclaiming the city

Jake had just dealt a huge blow to the Iron Fist Guild by eliminating their second in command and also killing dozens of their men in one strike. So he was currently resting as he felt slightly weak after using all his Qi in that one attack.

Jake was watching how Alex destroyed the remaining men there like the monster he was known to be. Alex definitely proved that he was the son of Rex Slade the stronger Big three as he kept on killing the men in one fell swoop.

And that was when Alex did the same attack Jake did but with a little modification as he finished the remaining men with one strike.

Immediately the last body fell down, the doors to the hall burst open and four familiar faces were seen walking through the room.

"What the hell did you guys do!" Peter said in shock.

"We cleaned up the place." Alex replied sheathing his blade back on his back while Jake came walking over calmly.

"What about Clark?" Steve asked as he knew that the second in command was there and he wouldn't let them go easily.

"He is dead, I killed him." Jake said causally as he examined the bodies of all the adventurers Alex killed.

"What!?!?!!" Steve caught himself screaming out loud.

Even Helen and Berg were in shock as they heard what Jake said. Because they knew how strong an A rank was and Jake just said he killed him and he even said it causally.

"Wait, you killed Clark?" Steve asked again to be sure he wasn't hearing things.

"Yes, any problem?" Jake asked looking back at Steve.

"There is a huge problem!" Steve exclaimed.

"What do you mean?" Alex asked.

"Do you think Blip will keep calm after hearing this news?" Steve asked.

"What if he doesn't keep calm, how is that our business?" Peter asked as he walked around the place.

"He will wage war against the Fang hunters and I don't mean a small scale war, he will wage a large scale huge war against you guys." Steve said.

"And so? If he wants a war, then that's what he will get." Jake said standing up after examining the bodies.

"No, you don't understand. Although Blip is a notorious trouble maker, there are people that supports him and he even has strong people under him that will do anything to please him." Steve explained.

"Let them come. We aren't scared, if they want a fight, then that's what they will get." Peter said with a shrug.

Steve just shook his head in frustration at this and just quietly went somewhere else.

Meanwhile, Helen and Berg rushed into the meeting room to confirm with their eyes if what Jake said was true. Even Alex, Peter and Steve followed suit as they were now in the former meeting room.

"What the hell happened here?" Helen asked as she was shell shocked by the condition of the room.

"It looks like a huge tornado erupted in the room." Peter commented.

Steve went back to look at Jake from the corner of his eyes as he was deep in thought.

'Did he do all these? How can one person be this strong? I feel like he is the one humanity needs to win this war.' Steve thought.

Helen slowly walked forward and could see Clark's body on the floor with a hole in his chest and his head twisted in an unnatural angle.

Then they surveyed the room that was totally destroyed as the walls had been broken, the floor was caved in, windows broken and a dozen men dead on the floor with a strike that looked like it came from the sword.

"Did Jake do all these?" Peter asked finding it hard to believe.

"Yup, dude didn't even give me the chance to help. He totally handled the situation himself." Alex said.

"Damn bro! You could possibly rival the big three with this amount of strength." Peter said.

"Ahem!" Alex coughed. "May I correct you, even with all this strength, Jake isn't still strong enough to go against them."

"Why so?" Jake asked because he also felt he could go against the big three.

"Should I be honest with you?" Alex asked to which Jake nodded. "If you are able to defeat the leader of the Phoenix guild, and I don't mean just defeat him, I mean overpower him like you did me today without him putting much of a fight, then you stand a chance against the big three."

'Is Alex underestimating me currently? Or is he overestimating the big three and the Phoenix guild. No, Alex has been with me and even witnessed my strength and he is also the son of Rex Slade. So that means they are way out of my league.' Jake thought as he clenched his fist.

"Okay, we need to report all these to Kate and let her figure out what to do." Peter said.

"Already on it." Alex replied.

"And Helen, congratulations." Peter smiled.

"For?" Helen asked with a raised brow. Your journey continues at My Virtual Library Empire

"For getting your city back! Jake has just helped you reclaim your city from the Iron Fist Guild and now you can manage it yourself till you can rescue your dad." Peter said.

Which caused Helen to smile and then turned to Jake. Then she quickly threw her arms around him happily.

"Thank you so much for this. I know you didn't mean to, it was a by-product of what you intended to do but I truly appreciate this." Helen said.

"It's okay." Jake said awkwardly as he wasn't comfortable with the hug.

'Why do I feel this way? Helen is a pretty and cool girl but I can't just bring myself to even hug her because I feel like I'm doing a wrong thing.' Jake thought as he awkwardly hugged Helen back.

Zee just sighed in frustration. "So you don't even realize this."

"Realize what?" Jake asked in his mind.

"You silly host, you are in love!" Zee screamed.

Hearing Zee's scream, Jake quickly pushed Helen away and grabbed his head.

"Darn you zee!" Jake said.

"Zee? Who is zee?" Peter asked.

Jake then looked up and looked at the others.

"It's nothing, don't worry. And Helen, I'm sorry for pushing you." Jake said as he swiftly left the room.

Chapter 244 Invasion Imminent

1 Week Later

The Raven city was now somewhat up and running better than before under the reign of Helen as the only place that needed rebuilding was the main base that the Iron Fist used which was destroyed in the battle between Jake and Clark.

The people of Raven city were ecstatic after learning that Helen was now in charge of the city and their oppressors had all perished. They also learnt that the werewolf slayer also helped Helen to reclaim the city and now they were more than grateful.

Since some of the adventurers that worked for Blip were killed, the city was now in heavy recruit for adventurers to help defend the city and a barracks was built for that with Steve and Berg in charge of the recruiting.

"Arghh! This is so frustrating! This guys are not even worth our time." Steve exclaimed in anger as he kept on sifting through the list.

"Let's just keep performing the assessments." Berg said as he called on all the recruits that stood in front of them.

"Alright, who's next?" Berg asked and a man stepped forward.

"This test is simple, firstly, to be an adventurer, you need to know how to use Qi even if it's the first stage. So all you just have to do is to use your Qi to punch that huge boulder over there and if it is cracked, you move onto the next stage." Steve explained as he pointed at a huge boulder that looked very thick and heavy.

The man calmly walked over to the boulder and then readied himself while closing his eyes and breathing in and out gently while also envisioning the Qi moving around him.

With a snap, he punched the boulder with all the strength he could muster leaving just a scratch on it.

"Inspection!" Steve shouted and a man was seen heading towards the boulder and inspecting it.

"Just a scratch!" The man shouted.

"Hmph! Pathetic. Next!" Steve said as he called on the next person to take the test.

The people kept coming one by one while just leaving a single scratch on the boulder and getting rejected one after the other.

"Don't you think you are being too hard on them?" A voice was heard saying from the crowd.

And like a wave, the crowd parted while letting a lone figure walk forward. The figure had curly black hair with blue hazel eyes. The figure was Jake as he walked calmly to the front.

"You do know that they are weak and can't even do what you asked them to. So why making the test hard?" Jake asked.

"If they can't even make a crack on the boulder, then they are weak and useless in defending the guild." Steve said.

"Yes, I know they are weak but as long as they could put a scratch on the boulder, then they pass in my eyes. You know that even you can't put a crack on the boulder. I'm the only one who can." Jake smiled as he finally stood in front of Steve.

"Who the hell is this guy that he can talk to Steve so causally like that?"

"I don't care who he is, I just know that he called us weak while also claiming to be able to damage the boulder."

"Right, if he claims so, then he should prove it!" A person shouted in anger.

"You can see what you caused, you have just riled them up." Berg said.

"Who cares, as long as they can't do anything to me, then no problem." Jake shrugged while his voice was loud enough for the others to hear.

"What?!?! How dare you challenge us like that?" A brazen person asked.

"Fine, let's do some modification then. Rather than hitting this boulder, I will make an exception for you all. If you can land a single hit on me, then you pass and will be considered apart of the Raven guild." Jake smiled as he faced the crowd.

"I will gladly take you up on that." The brazen man said as he walked forward with his sword in his hand.

"I won't use any weapon, while you can use whatever weapon you want. As long as you land a single hit on me." Jake smirked.

"Your loss!" The man shouted as he bolted forward towards Jake at an impressive speed.

Then he swung his sword towards Jake who just pivoted sideways avoiding it easily. There was a clear opening for Jake to hit him back but he didn't as he just moved back to give the man space to come again.

The man came again and swung his sword from the side while also shooting out an invisible shard towards Jake.

'Impressive, he can use the second stage.' Jake thought as he dodged the sword and then used his finger to catch the invisible Qi shard with his two fingers before it reached his face.

'How is this possible? He caught it, who the hell is this?' The man thought.

"He pass!" Jake said out loud.

"What!?!!" Someone shouted from the crowd. "He didn't even land a hit on you, how did he pass?"

"You all were too weak to notice this but in the fight, he used the second stage of Qi against me which is more than enough to make him pass as he is skillful with sword and Qi." Jake explained.

"And I don't need to give any explanation whatsoever to you all." Jake shouted again while unleashing his Qi at them all making them shiver in fear as they could feel the killing intent and the strength behind the aura.

"Berg, I came here to inform you that Helen wanted to see and she also said you all should be done with this recruiting process soon as I will be leaving soon." Jake said and was about to go when a man was seen running towards them all panicking.

Read exclusive chapters at My Virtual Library Empire

"Sir Berg, sir Steve." The man said as he quickly went on his knees.

"What is wrong?" Berg asked.

"An army is heading our way and miss Helen asked me to inform you all as this attack is from one of the other guilds." The man said.

Chapter 245 New Identity

The Raven city was being rebuilt and everything were being set in place while a recruiting barracks was built for new adventurers to come in.

Jake had gone over there to oversee how the recruitment process was going and in the process got into a duel with one of the recruits.

After passing the man, a messenger came to deliver a news to Berg which made them uneasy.

"An army is heading our way and miss Helen asked me to inform you all as this attack is from one of the other guilds." The man said.

"An army?" Jake asked the messenger who looked Jake over from head to toe wondering who he was.

But since Berg didn't say anything, the messenger thought the man was quite important.

"Yes, an army. And it's coming from one of the guilds." The messenger replied.

"Is it from any guild we should worry about?" Steve asked.

"Not really. But considering our current size and strength, it's going to be difficult." The Messenger said.

"Which guild is attacking us?" Berg asked.

"The Viper's nest." The messenger replied.

'Viper's nest?' Jake thought. 'Isn't it the guild which Jack told me were on the number fourth position of the strongest independent Guilds?'

"How many men?" Jake asked.

"About six hundred men."

Steve was seen panicking as he didn't know what to do. The city currently just had two hundred adventurers defending it and they needed more if they were going to defend the city.

Jake calmly looked over at Berg. "Is my mask ready?"

"Yes." Berg replied.

"Where are Alex and Peter?" Jake asked again.

"Working on some things." Steve replied.

Jake then turned towards the messenger again. "Where are the army coming from?"

"From the west."

"Alright." Jake said as he looked at Steve.

"Send Alex and Peter over there now and also out of the two hundred men in the city, send a hundred and leave the rest to defend the city." Jake ordered.

"Got it." Steve replied.

"And also, Steve continue the recruiting process like normal while Berg, you are with me. Let's go!" Jake said as he ran towards where the supposed army were with Berg behind him.

'Who the hell is this guy? He is able to order Berg and Steve around like they are beneath him and they obey him like he is important. Who is he? Is he the werewolf slayer?' The messenger thought as he could see Jake's back off in the distance.

'Nahh! That's absurd.' The messenger chuckled quietly.

Meanwhile, Steve got to work by continuing the recruiting process like normal after sending the messenger to go inform Helen of everything Jake had ordered.

Meanwhile, Jake and Berg were still running to the west where the army were supposed to be with Berg trailing behind him. They passed the city and the people who were happily walking around unaware of the impending danger looming over them.

"Jake, will we be able to do this alone?" Berg asked.

"No! I'm not overconfident to think just the two of us can hold off six hundred men on our own. But I will try my best to delay them as much as possible for Alex and the rest to arrive." Jake said as they passed through a forest like area.

Jake kept running as fast as possible putting his eighty points of agility to good use while Berg had to use his Qi on his feet to even be able to keep up with Jake.

'Not only does he have immense amount of strength, he also has some monstrous speed. He is truly the one who will help us in this perilous war against the werewolves.' Berg thought watching Jake's black curly hair flow in the wind as he ran faster.

They finally passed through the forest area and they were now in a more open area with sand all around like some sort of desert area with no single trees in sight.

Just sand and more sand in the distance.

"This is the west side." Berg said slowly panting as his chest burned in pain from minutes of running.

It wasn't the running that got him tired, it was trying to catch up with Jake that got him tired.

"But I can't see anything." Berg said looking around.

"They are coming, I can hear them off in the distance." Jake said looking straight ahead.

"Really? How? Because I can't hear anything." Berg said.

"Focus your Qi to your ears." Jake said as he stretched a bit.

Berg did as Jake said and he could finally hear the hundreds of footsteps heading their way with a steady pounding rhythm.

"Yup, I can hear them and they are pretty much many." Berg said while gulping loudly.

Finally, the men could be seen slowly matching through the sand with their weapons drawn.

And finally, the men stood several metres away from Jake and Berg as they stared at them weirdly. Then a man who seemingly looked like the leader of the army stepped forward with a stern look on his face.

And he had a mohawk haircut on his head which was tinted color yellow making it shine brightly in the sun. The man wore a leather jacket on his body with black leather gloves on his hand.

The man certainly didn't look like a fighter as he seemed more like a gangster of the old.

"Who are you both?" The man asked.

"I don't think there's any need for introduction." Jake said with his arms folded.

"Oh there is, I want to know who are foolish enough to come out here boldly to try and stop an army of six hundred men all by themselves." The man said.

Jake just sighed and looked at the man. Then he unfolded his arms and laid out his palm towards Berg who handed something over to him then it disappeared from his palm instantly.

"Over the months, I have adapted several identities either from playing games or saving people." Jake said with a smile on his face.

"But there's one identity and name I like the most." He said and a metal mask immediately appeared on his face.

This mask was different from the one Jake always wore as it looked like it was designed from someone's nightmare.

On the body of the mask, it was coloured red and with tints of black while the head of the mask had little horns designed on it with fangs also designed on the bottom part making Jake look like a demon.

"I would call myself the devil that will haunt, torment, torture and finally kill you all!" Jake declared.

Chapter 246 All on your own

Jake and Berg stood a few metres away from the army that was led by a gangster looking man when he asked a question pertaining Jake and Berg's identity.

"I would call myself the devil that will haunt, torment, torture and finally kill you all!" Jake declared.

"Ha!" The man laughed. "Just because you donned a scary mask, you think you are a big shot? Do you even know who we are, who I am?"

"You're from the Viper nest's guild, and so what?" Berg asked.

"Ha! And so we are going to take over your little city. And in case you don't know, I'm a B rank adventurer." The man smiled.

"Oh, I'm so scared and intimidated." Jake laughed sarcastically.

The man looked like his vein was going to pop out his head in frustration hearing the strange man talking to him so casually.

"Fine, I guess I will just have to teach you both a lesson." The man said as he casually walked towards his men and then looked out at Jake and Berg.

"I will give you a second chance right now. Surrender and leave here without a scratch or die and be eaten right here by beasts. Pick one." The B rank adventurer said.

"Let me ask you a question." Jake said as he stepped forward a bit. "Are you a big shot from your guild?"

"Ha!" The man scoffed. "Of course. I'm the second in command of the Viper nest."

"Good." Jake said as he glanced back at Berg. "I have stalled as much as I can. The others should be reaching here soon."

"Well? What's your response?" The B rank adventurer asked.

"I will say, Screw you!" Jake said with his middle finger pointed outwardly at the man.

"I want fifty of you all to attack that arrogant fool with the man beside him also!" The man shouted out loud and immediately, fifty men charged right at Jake and Berg.

"What tier is your sword at?" Jake asked Berg.

"Advanced tier." Berg replied.

"Good enough. Lend it to me now." Jake ordered with his hands outstretched.

Without wasting time or hesitating, Berg handed his longsword towards Jake who causally swung it around getting a hang of the weight.

Then he put the sword in its sheath and started infusing his Qi into it while his feet were wide apart and his hand on the hilt of the sword while staring at the fifty men heading their way.

'I haven't tried infusing my Qi into the sword in its sheath before, this will be my first and I'm excited to see the results.' Jake thought with a smile on his face beneath the mask.

Jake stood there unmoving as he waited for the men to get within range but it didn't take long as the men were finally a metre away from him.

Then in one smooth fast motion, Jake drew his sword out quickly and then he sheathed it back while turning around to look at Berg. Then he handed the sword back.

Berg was confused and so was the others as nothing happened. They just saw Jake draw his blade quickly like a flash then he sheathed it and handed it back to Berg.

But their confusion was soon cleared as the men that were charging right at the enemy, felt something wrong and without warning, an invisible Qi strike hit them all decimating them all alive.

It didn't take a second for the bodies of the fifty men to fall down with cuts on all their necks spurting out blood.

Everybody's mouths were wide agape including Berg as they didn't understand what happened here and how a single person could kill fifty men with a single swing of his sword.

'This guy is growing dangerously strong every single time. Is there even anybody that could contend with his strength at this rate?' Berg thought.

All of them were unaware that this skill was the same as Qi slash that he always performed but the difference here was that the strike was invisible making it hard to track unless the opponents had high level Qi sense.

Then the strike was also very fast and so the performer must do all the movements very quickly therefore unleashing the slash which would move very fast towards the opponent and deadly killing them.

(It was almost similar to a wind strike that mages performed)

"Was... was that Qi?" The B rank adventurer asked in shock.

'Who the hell is this? From the start of the fight, he has been oddly calm and causal about everything. I didn't know he has this amount of strength.' The B rank adventurer thought.

Then he shook his head snapping him back to reality as he watched Jake's smug looking posture which got the B rank adventurer furious.

"I will make sure you pay for what you just did you s*n of a b*tch!" The B rank adventurer shouted in anger.

"Oh! You haven't realized yet have you? Haven't you realized that I'm stronger than you?" Jake chuckled.

"No matter how strong you are, you won't be able to match over five hundred men!" The B rank adventurer shouted then he turned towards his men.

"All of you! Attack that man and bring me his head!" The B rank adventurer shouted.

The men didn't waste time as they all charged right at Jake with a battle cry of some sort.

"Darn it! I can't do this alone, where the hell are Alex and the rest?" Jake shouted in frustration as he equipped his Gauntlets.

"Right here boss!" A voice shouted. "I'm sorry we are late."

Jake turned around and he could see Alex coming over with Peter by his side and over hundred men walking behind them.

"Someone made us take a detour." Alex said while glaring at Peter.

"What? Won't I shop for new weapons?" Peter asked sharply.

"Well, as punishment, you all are all on your own." Jake said as he went back and let the others take the front wheel.

"What?!?!?!?" Peter shouted.

Chapter 247 Chaos

Jake had just finished killing the fifty men from the Viper nest's guild with one strike therefore stunning everyone there. After a bit of back and forth, the B rank adventurer ordered for the remaining five hundred and fifty men to attack Jake.

Jake was now stunned on what to do. Although he could possibly handle the men, he won't come out unscathed especially with so many men.

He might even come out the fight as a cripple but he wasn't ready to back down as he took a stance and was wondering where Alex and the backup where.

"Right here boss!" A voice shouted. "I'm sorry we are late."

Jake turned around and he could see Alex coming over with Peter by his side and over hundred men walking behind them.

"Someone made us take a detour." Alex said while glaring at Peter.

"What? Won't I shop for new weapons?" Peter asked sharply.

"Well, as punishment, you all are all on your own." Jake said as he went back and let the others take the front wheel.

"What?!?!?!!" Peter shouted.

"That's going to be your punishment and your test." Jake said stepping back from the fight and stood there folding his hands.

"You mean you aren't going to fight at all?" Peter asked.

"Nope! I have already killed fifty of their men already so I'm quite tired." Jake said.

Although he had truly killed the fifty men, he was in no way tired and could still fight but he wanted to step back and let Alex along with Peter take the front wheel for once and observe them more.

"What's wrong? Are you scared? Baby Peter can't fight without his father Jake." Alex laughed.

"You!" Peter said in anger until Berg cut him off.

"Guys focus! We have over five hundred men charging right at us and you are here arguing." Berg scolded them.

"Relax! This won't take long." Alex said causally then he looked behind him at the hundred men that were brought along.

"Range fighters, keep your distance and keep supporting us. The rest, with us!" Alex shouted as he unsheathed his giant sword that was somewhat cracked because of Jake from his back.

"Remember why we are fighting, we are fighting for those we left at home. We wouldn't want another guild to come oppress us and take us as slaves like the Iron Fist Guild. We want our freedom that we had when the Rave lord was here!"

"Remember, if we lose here, we would lose our families at the other side. So fight with your life on the line so you could protect your families on the other end!" Berg shouted as he saw the enemy army already a few more metres away.

"We shall achieve victory in this battle!" Berg shouted with his hands raised.

"Yes!!! Victory is assured!" The hundred men all shouted at once feeling ready for battle.

"Charge!!!" Berg shouted while pointing outward and in an instant, he, Peter and Alex charged forward with the hundred men running behind them.

It didn't take long for them to all collide with the incoming enemy as swords were heard clanging loudly while blood were quickly being spilt on both end.

Everybody were fighting with so much vigour that the sand was being blown around while bodies were seen flying around.

In the middle of this chaos, Alex and Peter were in front of the army as they totally destroyed the enemy especially Alex. With a single swing of his sword that was filled with Qi, a dozen men were seen decimated and their bodies flung around.

That was when one of the enemy men quickly sprung towards Alex from behind about to stab him. The adventurer stabbed Alex with his sword but to his surprise, his sword broke and there was no scratch on Alex's body.

"Oh! You surprised? That felt more like a mosquito sting. Do you even know how to use Qi?" Alex kept on talking while the man felt his heart almost escape his mouth with the way it was currently beating loudly.

"It wouldn't have mattered if you knew how to use Qi because it wouldn't even harm me!" Alex said and he simply flicked his wrist and his sword flashed in front of the man killing him on the spot.

Before the blood could fall on Alex's body, he used the flat side of his sword to hit the blood away causing it to fall on the sand. Before he moved onto the next man that would soon lose his life.

Then the second person causing damage was Peter as he kept on slicing the enemies left and right.

"This is not as good as my former axe, and it is not even the same tier but I can still kill you all especially with my Qi coating it!" Peter shouted as he jumped up and bashed his sword on one of the adventurer's head with all his strength.

Causing the man's head to cave in from the strength of the hit. Without losing momentum, Peter stepped on the man's head then he used his Qi to boost him forward as he saw one of their men struggling against the enemy and he was about to lose his life.

Peter could now be seen falling down with an axe kick from above that caused the enemy's head to explode on itself and in the process, saving his men.

"I will show Alex who is the strongest here. How dare him tell me that I'm scared!" Peter mumbled in anger.

"I guess staying with Sophia for so many years, her competitive nature has rubbed off on me. But darn it, Alex is so annoying!" Peter shouted as he grabbed one of the enemy that was about to skewer his head.

Then Peter bashed the hilt of his axe into the man's face totally bursting his lips and some of his teeth could be seen flying out while the handle of Peter's axe also broke.

"Darn it! My new axe!" Peter shouted as he grabbed the man angrily and then smashed his face into the sand with all his strength throwing up sand everywhere and the man lost consciousness.

The B rank adventurer watching all of these from the back was taken aback.

'I thought the curly haired individual from earlier was the only one to be weary of but who the hell are these other people? At this rate, we would lose this war especially if that curly haired one join the fight.' The B rank adventurer thought worriedly.

While Jake who was watching, had a mix of emotions as he watched the fight going on.

'Alex is so calm and is using his head to analyze and make his move which makes him quite dangerous and especially with his body that is always coated with Qi making it strong, they will find it hard to injure him.' Jake thought.

'Then Peter on the other hand, the fool is so hotheaded making him act irrationally. How and when did he even change this much? He was always calm before but all of a sudden, he acts hotheadedly. Well, I guess that's what makes him fight better in his fight.'

'Through to my word, I won't interfere in this fight unless that B rank adventurer makes his move. I can tell that the others won't be able to handle him so it's best I conserve my strength so I could make them regret they were ever born.' Jake smirked as he watched on.

Chapter 248 Job Weldon

The battle raged on as both sides incurred loss while the others received terrible injury in this fight. Even Berg wasn't unscathed as he sustained injuries left and right.

He was currently surrounded by four adventurers and based on their strength, they looked like C rank adventurers and they were currently smiling at him.

"Seeing you stand with that strong young man from earlier, we thought you would be someone to be weary of but I see we were wrong." One of the adventurers laughed.

'It's true, I'm not really strong. I was hired to guard miss Helen right from when she was little and I did my job perfectly. I was away from major fighting and I'm here, losing a fight.' Berg thought annoyed.

'Think of miss Helen, if I lose this fight here, this b*stards would be let lose in the city and what would happen to Helen? No! I can't let it happen.' Berg thought as he gripped his sword tightly.

"I won't let you b*stards into my city!" Berg shouted as he swirled his Qi around his body evenly distributing it to his leg, hands and body.

Even his sword wasn't left out as Berg was vibrating with power. Then he leapt towards one of the men and swung his sword quickly towards his neck but another one quickly came in with his shield blocking the hit.

When Berg's sword collided with the shield, it rang out loudly and the man was seen skidding a few feet. Then a chain user came in and swung his chain towards Berg.

But he quickly spun around and wacked the chain away with his sword but before he landed back down, a spear user came in with a thrust of his spear towards Berg.

The spear lunged in but not too deep as Berg had bashed the hilt of his sword on the spear with all his might cracking it a little.

Berg finally landed back smoothly but he fell on one knee with his hand on his bleeding side with his face twitched in pain.

The four adventurers regrouped and smirked towards Berg who was slowly getting up from the ground.

"Aren't you going to give up? It's clear you're losing this fight. It's currently 4V1" the chain user laughed.

"How about we even the playing field a little?" A voice was heard coming over with a smile on the individual's face.

"Jake?!?!" Berg said with a raised eyebrow and a confused expression on his face.

"I said I wasn't going to interfere but I can't watch you fight like this and then lose your life at the end. If you died, what do you expect me to say to Helen huh?" Jake asked with a sigh.

The men were seen sweating slightly after seeing Jake and they couldn't even stand properly in his presence remembering what he did to the fifty men from earlier.

"How is this fair? You are currently a one man army and you say you want to even the playing field?" The shield user asked.

"Oh!" Jake raised an eyebrow. "So it's suddenly unfair right? When you grouped together against one person, it wasn't unfair right?" Jake asked and then his armour appeared onto his body.

The armour was cracked terribly after his fight with Clark from the Iron Fist Guild.

"I need to end this fight quickly and go back to observing." Jake said as he clicked on two skills on his system.

{Blink} and {Lightning}

In everyone's presence, Jake suddenly disappeared and appeared in front of the chain user and he quickly grabbed his head electrocuting him on the spot.

Before anybody could react, Jake had blinked towards the shield user and repeated the process of electrocuting him too. Then Jake was suddenly back to his starting position beside Berg with a smile on his face.

The men could hardly react as in a flash, two men were electrocuted on the spot and were unable to move as they were slightly paralyzed.

"Sword!" Jake said and Berg handed him his sword.

"Now that the most troublesome of you lot has been immobilized, time to do the same to you all." Jake said as he clicked on two more skills.

{Stun strike} and {Lockdown}

These two skills totally immobilized the remaining two members as they stood rooted and were unable to move at all.

Jake then calmly sheathed the sword and started infusing it with Qi while at the same time going through his foot technique.

By moving his feet two feet apart and his shoulder a little forward while his hand was on the hilt of the sword that was in its sheath.

In one smooth motion, Jake pulled the sword out unleashing an invisible Qi strike that cut through the four men throat and that was when they could finally move as their hands were seen holding their throats.

And then they suddenly fell down with a thud. Then Jake handed the sword back to Berg and causally walked back.

"Handle the remaining ones." Jake said as he walked towards where he stood earlier when a sharp sound was heard coming from behind.

And without turning around, Jake caught the arrow that was heading for his head with two fingers. Turning around, Jake could see an archer standing with the B rank adventurer off to the distance.

He just sighed and started infusing the arrow in his hand with Qi from the tip to the bottom of the arrow. Coating it with quite a lot of Qi.

Then Jake took one step back and pulled his hand back a bit aiming at the sky. The archer along with the B rank adventurer seeing this were wondering what Jake was planning on doing while the archer was scared out of his wits seeing this.

'Is he planning on throwing it? But it won't be able to reach me from that distance right?' The archer thought and his answer was soon to be answered as his widened in shock.

After pulling his hand back, Jake swung the arrow forward with all his strength and the arrow left Jake's hand with a bang as it flew across the battlefield with immense speed to the extent that as it moved, it kept on gaining more speed while a mini tornado was forming at the bottom of the arrow.

Find your next adventure on My Virtual Library Empire

Every single person on the battlefield turned around after hearing the loud sharp noise and they could all see an arrow heading several metres with tremendous speed then it slammed into the head of an individual that looked to be an archer.

The arrow slammed into his head and popped right out the other end and landing a few feet away from the archer. A big hole could be seen in his head as he fell to his knees and then on the floor.

Everybody now turned towards where the arrow came from and they could see a masked individual with his hands clasping together.

"Now, that is a job Weldone." Jake said.

Chapter 249 Punishment Worse than death

The battle was going bad on either side as both side were losing men left and right especially on the side of the Raven wing as the numbers of the Viper nest's guild were too much and so overwhelming.

But the luck they had on their side was the two that were currently ravaging in the middle of the Viper nest guild with everything they had.

Those two were Alex and Peter as they currently were destroying the Viper nest's members left and right. Alex with his skillful nature and Peter with his aggressive nature.

They didn't stop for anything and their bodies were currently riddled with minor injuries especially Peter who had a cut on his hands and face.

But they still kept and fighting and weren't willing to stop for anything not until they had a loud resounding bang and they could all see an arrow flying.

Everybody now turned towards where the arrow came from and they could see a masked individual with his hands clasping together.

"Now, that is a job Weldon." Jake said.

"Did... did he just throw that arrow across that distance with only his hand?"
Someone asked.

"Who is this monster?"

"I don't really care as long as he is on our side and helping us."

"Are you daft? Didn't you hear when he said he wouldn't help us?"

"If he isn't helping us, then why did he throw that arrow huh?"

"Whatever reason he has, at least he has reduced their numbers by one and that's one less problem to worry about."

Meanwhile, the B rank adventurer had his mouth wide agape seeing his archer fall down to the floor after the one who called himself the 'devil' threw an arrow with his hand.

"That does it!" The B rank adventurer said.

And then a long thin blade was seen sticking out his jacket's sleeve. The blade was shining brightly and he gently marched towards the battlefield.

The Raven guild members that saw him, quickly charged right at him. As one of them swung his sword, he suddenly stopped moving as a thin blade could be seen protruding out his neck.

"Know your place you fools!" The B rank adventurer said as he quickly pivoted sideways avoiding a spear strike from another member.

Then he unleashed a quick shin kick towards the man's legs totally breaking the man legs and then a thin blade was seen protruding his neck also.

Pulling his blade out, the B rank adventurer flicked the blood away towards the ground in disgust then he kept on moving.

Anybody that stood in his way were killed brutally and quickly without putting much of a fight at all. Alex seeing this, quickly kicked one of Viper nest's member away then he swirled his Qi to his feet and quickly exploded towards the B rank adventurer.

Alex was seen coming in with an overhead strike but he suddenly heard a clang and he could see a thin blade in the air blocking his strike.

Alex poured his Qi into his sword trying to push further but he wasn't able to. With a flick of his wrist, the B rank adventurer threw Alex out of the air and leapt towards him with his thin blade pointed outwards.

Quickly regaining his footing, Alex lifted his sword and was able to block the strike heading towards him but then he heard a loud cracking sound.

Crack!

Looking down, Alex could see that a large spider-web crack had formed on his sword and then it slowly spread.

"Is it going to?" Alex said and his fear was confirmed as the large crack spread and then like a fragile glass, his sword broke into a hundred pieces.

"My sword!" Alex cried. He didn't even have time to think as a knee kick smashed into his face sending him flying and crashing into the others that were fighting.

"Pathetic!" The B rank adventurer said as he took a single step.

"What the!" He was about to say when his face was grabbed and smashed into the ground beneath him totally breaking it and throwing huge amounts of sand up in the air even blowing the hair on the others that were fighting.

"What was that?" Someone asked.

"I think an earthquake occurred."

"Don't be silly, an earthquake isn't possible."

"I'm not sure if I was hallucinating or not, I think the leader of this army was the one that was hit."

"Ha! You must be delusional." Someone else laughed.

Slowly, the sand that was blown up, was starting to settle and a man in a mask could be seen standing smugly while the B rank adventurer was seen laying down in pain beneath the masked figure's feet.

The huge impact caused those that were fighting to look up from what they were doing as the ground had shook beneath their feet almost stumbling them.

Slowly, the B rank adventurer stood up and quickly moved away from Jake but then he fell on his knees as he was feeling quite light headed.

"Kuh! Kuh! Kuh!" The B rank adventurer coughed loudly as sand, spit and blood flowed out his mouth.

"You know, when you said you were the vice leader of the Viper nest's guild, I expected you would be strong but I can't believe they sent a weakling like you here." Jake said while shaking his head.

"If it wasn't that your leader was so stupid, did he think he will succeed where the Iron Fist Guild lost? They also lost their vice leader and it was to me." Jake laughed loudly as held his stomach.

Find more chapters on My Virtual Library Empire

'The Iron Fist Guild lost their vice leader? To him?' The B rank adventurer thought in fright.

The news that Clark had died hadn't reached the others yet as Blip had been trying to keep everything under the wraps while planning his revenge.

'Impossible! Could it be? Could he be the werewolf slayer?' He thought as he looked up at Jake who was still laughing seemingly having a field trip.

'But this is not the mask which the werewolf slayer always wore, and besides this man called himself the devil so he isn't the werewolf slayer. If truly the werewolf slayer was here, we would have all been wiped out already starting with me.'

'But who cares about all these? I need to prove that I'm by no means weak and my position was hard earned.' The B rank adventurer thought as he slowly stood up with a determined look on his face.

"Oh!" Jake raised an eyebrow. "You are still trying to stand? I guess some dogs do not learn. You see, I was planning on taking a backseat in this fight but since you dared to touch Alex and almost killed him, I was forced to act."

"And for trying to kill my best friend, I will make sure I give you a punishment worse than death and you will beg for death but you won't be given until I deem it fit!" Jake declared firmly as he heard a ding in his head.

{Ding!!!}

{Quest Alert: Torture and finally kill the one that dared to try kill your friend!}

{Rewards: +2 stat points to all stats and an extra +4 stat points to allocate anywhere you want.}

Chapter 250 Punishment fulfilled

The ongoing battle had just been paused and that was because of one reason, the fight that was about to happen between the supposed leader of the Raven wing's army and the leader of the Viper nest's army.

Seeing the pause from the enemy side, the Raven wing's decided to take the opportunity to rest and try to recover as much Qi as they possibly could.

Alex who had been sent flying finally regrouped with Berg and Peter as they stood side by side together about to watch Jake's fight.

"What happened? Where's your sword?" Peter asked.

"Got broken." Alex replied. "What about you? Where's your axes?"

"Also got broken." Peter replied.

"Figures." Alex said clicking his tongue.

They all kept quiet as Jake and the B rank adventurer were currently in a stand off.

"And for trying to kill my best friend, I will make sure I give you a punishment worse than death and you will beg for death but you won't be given until I deem it fit!" Jake declared firmly as he heard a ding in his head.

{Ding!!!}

{Quest Alert: Torture and finally kill the one that dared to try kill your friend!}

{Rewards: +2 stat points to all stats and an extra +4 stat points to allocate anywhere you want.}

'Wow! A quest for what I was planning on doing already.' Jake thought excitedly as he opened up his system tab and scrolled over to his skill tab prepared to move at a moment notice. Read exclusive adventures at My Virtual Library Empire

"Torture and kill me? Ha!" The B rank adventurer laughed. "Just cause you killed those weaklings earlier, then you got the jump on me, you think you have the power to torture me?"

Jake just sighed. "They always say the same line until they are about to die."

Jake just clicked on two skills and was prepared to act.

{Strength Surge} and {Adrenaline rush}

Strength surge that increased his strength by 10 percent meaning his strength was going to rise from 80 to 90 while Adrenaline rush will temporarily increase his speed and agility by 2 percent for 2 minutes.

Without any prior warning, Jake leapt towards the B rank adventurer while kicking up sand beneath his feet. He threw a punch towards the man's face that landed successfully therefore flinging him backwards and tumbling on the sandy area.

"I'm not done with you yet." Jake said as he activated.

{Step Shift} and he suddenly crossed a distance of three metres with a single leap.

Then Jake grabbed the B rank adventurer by the hair and lifted him up about to punch him in the face when a sharp sound was heard coming behind Jake.

Quickly letting the man go, Jake turned around and could see a thin blade heading for his head. He quickly activated his armour's active skill.

And a wall made entirely of earth appeared in front of him but to Jake's surprise, the blade went through the wall and hit him across the chest sending Jake flying and tumbling this time.

The B rank adventurer stood up and lifted his hand up then the thin blade flew to his hand that was open and grabbing it by the handle, he smiled albeit in pain.

"You see, even though you have monstrous speed and strength on your side, I have my sword." He said with a chuckle.

"My sword's active skill allows me to move it around by just using my mind and it also has the added strength of Qi making it twice as strong and fast."

"And the good thing is that the active skill last for an hour and I haven't even fought for ten minutes now." The B rank adventurer laughed heartily.

Jake was seen standing slowly. While standing up, his armour was breaking and finally falling down in pieces as he only had his gauntlets on his hands and his mask on his face.

"Oh! Your little armour got broken. I'm so sorry, want me to get you a new one? What am I even saying? A dead person doesn't need an armour right?" The B rank adventurer asked.

And then he suddenly saw a distortion in space and he knew what was coming next as Jake came in with a roundhouse kick to the B rank adventurer's head that sent him skidding.

Quickly, Jake flipped backwards just in time to avoid the sword heading for him again.

'That blade, it was able to break my armour. Even though it wasn't in a good condition, it was still strong enough to withstand a hit especially with its active skill.

But that sword broke through it like it was nothing. If it were to hit my body, then I'm definitely a goner. I need to be careful and get rid of that sword.' Jake thought as he clicked a system skill that he thought would help him.

{Qi Sense}

'With this, I would be able to sense if the sword is coming but it will only be active for a minute.

Then I just have to make it count.' Jake thought as he clicked two more skills.

{Magnet} and {Lightning}

Immediately, the B rank adventurer lost control of his body as he felt a pulling effect on him and he was unable to control himself as he felt himself moving towards Jake at a tremendous speed.

"No! Wait, come back!" The adventurer shouted at his body but to no avail as he was suddenly closing in towards Jake.

Meanwhile Jake stood there rooted with his body starting to spark and crackle. And slowly, his body was shining blue with lightning showing on his body especially his hands.

"I promised to torture you, and that is what I will do!" Jake shouted as the B rank adventurer was now in grabbing reach.

Jake grabbed him by the face with his lightning covered hands and the adventurer was currently screaming in pain as his body was being electrocuted and pumped with dozens of joules of electricity.

He kept screaming as his hair was burnt, his skin was burnt and he wasn't able to do anything.

"And don't think this will end soon as I have enough magical points to do this all day." Jake said as he let go of the man causing him to slump on the ground while twitching.

Jake was about to grab him again when he heard a ding in his head.

{Ding! Part 1 of the quest completed}

"Oh! The system has deemed your suffering enough. So how about I end your life then." Jake said with a twisted smile on his face that was hidden beneath the mask.