

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 271 A New sword effect

"What's wrong?" He asked and then Alex moved aside un-obstructing his view and Jake could finally see why Alex stopped dead in his tracks.

"This is going to be tricky." Jake said as he could see about a dozen beasts in front of them standing guard a few metres away from the castle and without doubt, they were all king tier beasts.

The beasts were all pack of wolves as they stood on all fours growling loudly at Jake and Alex. They all had brown coloured fur with sharp fangs on their jaws and they were currently drooling while slowly growling and walking towards Alex and Jake at the same time.

Quickly to be sure, Jake cast his inspect skill and he could see that the beasts were all king tier beasts but before he closed the system, a notification popped up.

{Host has encountered a dozen of king tier beasts! System has recognized that host has an ally! Modifying quest!}

{Host needs to defeat a total of six wolves for rewards!}

{0/6 defeated}

"Ha!" Jake sighed and then held his sword tightly while taking a stance. "Alex! Kindly help handle six wolves on your own, when I'm done, I will come over to help you."

"Sure boss!" Alex said as he unsheathed his sword from his back and held it diagonally.

The growls from the wolves became more louder and in a flash, they leapt towards the two humans in front of them quickly.

{Rampage (LV1): Increases Strength by 12 percent and agility by 8 percent for 10 seconds also increasing damage dealt by 8 percent during that time.}

And like a flash, Jake dashed towards the beasts and in less than a second with his increased speed, he was already in front of the beasts.

Swinging his sword from below, it crashed into one of the beast causing a slight cut on its face. Swiftly turning around with his sword in front of him, he blocked a fang bite from another wolf and then he shot out an invisible Qi strike towards the wolf.

But it felt like it had felt the disturbance in the air so it quickly jumped back and then another wolf quickly leapt towards Jake but he had quickly used {Step shift} to get away from them.

{-5 Stamina}

{Stun strike} he called out in his head and two out of six wolves froze right in their tracks.

{Step shift}

{-5 Stamina}

Jake quickly crossed a distance of three metres again and then with his sword coated in Qi, he slashed at one of the wolves on the neck but it only went an inch deep.

Flipping backwards, he had narrowly avoided a fang bite by the skin of his teeth. Then he looked towards the wolf he had struck on the neck just now.

And he could see it wriggling around in pain and then its eyes changed colour from the normal brown to fierce red and slowly, it squirmed before hitting the ground with a thud.

{1% defeated}

"One down, five more to go!" He smiled as he quickly took a glance at his sword.

The advanced sword made from the Toxix wolf he had battled when he visited the Raven wing city. The sword had an acidic and poisonous effect.

When Qi had been used on the sword, it will activate the poisonous and acidic effect on it so when it grazes an enemy's skin, it will poison them slowly. But when it cut the enemy drawing blood, the effects would be stronger.

{Magnet (LV1): Attracts all enemies within a one metre radius towards the user.
(Casting speed: 10 seconds)}

Immediately, all the remaining five wolves that Jake was looking at, were suddenly attracted to him as they were running towards him with full speed.

{Stealth Lv1} immediately, it felt like Jake had disappeared from the battlefield as his scent, aura, face, and footsteps were suddenly gone.

The wolves halted their charge in confusion as they looked around. But a loud whimper occurred around them as another Wolf fell down in pain from being poisoned.

{2/6 defeated}

A minute later, another wolf fell down again with a loud howl. Jake was currently moving around the place like a blur taking down the wolves one by one while being invisible.

The advanced sword on its own wasn't strong enough to kill a king tier beast but with his Qi and the poison ability, it was deadly enough to do damage against the beasts.

Immediately the notification popped up, Jake was suddenly thrust into the field while staggering a bit as he was breathing hard with his hands on his knees.

"Darn! That was difficult!" He said and then he heard loud howl as a wolf suddenly appeared in front of him and then leapt up biting him on his shoulder hard drawing blood.

"Arghhhhhhhhh!" Jake shouted in pain and then he struck the wolf on the head with his sharp sword causing it to let go and whimper away.

Before he could move again, another wolf grabbed his leg with its fangs sinking it deep causing Jake to stagger and fall down on his knee.

"Arghhhhhhhhh! That hurts!" He shouted into the air then he swung his sword diagonally causing it to crash into the wolf's head slightly drawing blood but it was more than enough damage for him.

{4/6 defeated}

{5% defeated}

The two wolves he had struck were now dead but Jake was on his knees in pain as he glared at the last remaining wolf that was about to charge towards him.

"I almost forgot that they were king tier beasts and I shouldn't have let my guard down around them. As their speed are on a whole different level." Jake mumbled and then he could see the wolf charging towards him.

When it was close, it leapt into the air with its jaws wide and quickly clamped down on the human in front of it but it didn't feel any weight as it chomped down on air.

Twisting its head in confusion, it tried to search for the human when it heard a voice around six feet away.

"Looking for me?" Jake asked as he lifted his sword with one hand and then glared towards the wolf angrily while it prepared to attack him again.

{Lockdown} he called out in his head and the beast froze unable to move.

"I have you where I want you!" Jake said then he looked up at a struggling Alex.

"Alex! Move away now!" He shouted and Alex didn't think twice as he jumped away then Jake lifted his sword above his head.

His sword was now glowing bright yellow while shaking with power.

"Poisonous Qi Slash!" He shouted as he swung his sword outwardly and a huge crescent yellow slash appeared and quickly consumed the wolves on the battlefield.

{Ding! Quest completed!}

{Rewards will now be distributed}

Chapter 272 Experiment: A generous system

{Ding! Quest completed!}

Looking up, Jake could see that the dust was finally being cleared and Alex could be seen a little feet away panting hard on one knee.

When the dust finally cleared, Jake could see that all the beasts were killed including the ones Alex was fighting against except one of the beast which was currently injured and unable to move.

'I completed the quest?' He thought as he looked at the shimmering blue screen in front of him.

"Jake? Are you okay?" Alex asked as he could see him standing rooted in a spot looking blankly.

"Yeah, I'm fine, just doing something. I will be like this for a while." Jake replied as he proceeded to check his rewards.

"I will just have to extract the crystal cores then while you are busy being a statue." Alex said as he slowly walked around extracting the crystal cores from all the dead beasts.

{Ding! Quest completed!}

{The quest given to host is the hardest he has ever performed and he has gotten injured than ever before so the system wishes to reward him adequately for completing the quest. So rewards will be given in two stages}

"Huh? In stages? Does that means it will give me more than one reward?" Jake wondered aloud while smiling at the flashing screen.

{Choose rewards! Stage one/ stage two}

"Oh! So it wants me to pick which I want to see first huh." He smiled and then proceeded to take his pick.

{Stage one has been selected}

{Rewards under stage one: two skills}

"I wonder what the two skills are!" Jake wondered as he clicked on it.

{Skills: Void; control}

"Huh? Void? Control? What weird skills are these?" Jake thought then he clicked on one of the skills.

{Void: This skill allows the user to store living beings or creatures in it infinitely without ever running out of space.}

"Huh? A storage space? But I have inventory! No! That's not right, inventory allows me to store any object or weapon in it while this void is all about living beings and creatures.

But why would I even want to store living beings with me? This skill is useless to me." Jake said annoyed as he went towards the last skill under stage one.

{Control: Allows the user to get any form of living being under his control as long as they make eye contact. This skill cannot be broken unless the being under the user dies or the caster dies. (Note: Skill will only work on beings weaker than the caster.)}

Reading the description, Jake's eyes widened in surprise as he read it over and over again with a grin so wide on his face that it went from ear to ear.

"This is amazing! With this skill, I can get anybody under my control and form my own little army without any worries of betrayals or anything cause I know that the skill won't be broke easily." Jake mumbled happily.

"I need to test this out!" He said as he looked around thinking on what he can use the skill on when he spotted Alex walking towards an injured beast while lifting his sword up about to end it's life.

'A beast is also a living being right? So it's gonna work!' Jake thought as he quickly ran towards Alex with a limp.

"Hold on Alex! Don't kill it yet!" Hearing Jake's voice, he quickly paused and turned around with a raised brow.

"Why?" He asked.

"Cause I want to perform an experiment." Jake replied and he stood in front of the beast that was trying to claw at Jake but it wasn't able to reach him.

Bending down, Jake looked the beast in the eye with a wicked smile on his face.

"Control!" He called out and immediately, his eyes glowed bright blue and so did the beast as it slowly stopped trying to claw at Jake but it was still trying to resist but Jake kept it going.

{Skill successful, king tier beast successfully under host's control!}

{Slot remaining (1/15)}

"It worked? Ha! Now!" Jake smiled as he stood up and left the beast's presence and then looked up towards Alex who was now confused about why the beast wasn't attacking again.

"Up for an experiment?" He smiled and then turned towards the beast.

"Growl at him!" He ordered and immediately, the beast began growling at Alex loudly and furiously while even trying to move but it's legs were terribly injured.

'So I can control those that are under my control! That's why its called control!' Jake chuckled while Alex still had a bewildered look on his face.

"Jake, what is going on?" He asked.

"I can't explain since it's a long story so just forget about whatever you will see now or in the future." Jake said and then turned towards the beast that was still growling.

"Stop!" Immediately, it stopped growling.

"Wait! What if..." Jake wondered with a smile then he turned towards his system.

"Void!" Right on cue, a small black shadow appeared beneath Jake's feet but he didn't notice.

So he turned to the beast confused and then the small shadow beneath his feet moved towards the beast's shadow and in a flash, it disappeared.

"What the hell?! Where's the beast?" Alex asked loudly as he kept turning his head looking for it.

"Right here!" Jake pointed beneath his feet and a small shadow appeared with the beast popping out of it.

"Remember I said no questions right." He said looking at Alex seriously and he nodded in response.

'What's with what Jake is doing? How is he doing all these? What type of sorcery is this?' Alex thought confused.

"Huh? What is this?" Jake asked confused as he looked at the beast over and over most especially its legs.

'It's legs aren't bleeding anymore, how is this possible? Does the Void have some sort of healing effects? I guess there's only one way to find out.' Jake thought and then he cast the Void skill causing the beast to disappear.

"Alright, I will check on it later, let me have a look at the other rewards." He smiled.

{Stage two rewards: a skill and a privilege.}

"Huh? A privilege? What's that? I will just have to check it out later." He mumbled and then decided to see what the new skill was.

{Cloning: This skill allows the user to clone himself five times allowing him to have a small army of five of himself. But they will only have half the user's strength and they can act independently if the user chooses.(Note: This skill will last a total of 30 minutes before it is required to go on cool down of 24 hours.)}

"This...this... this... this is so dope!!!!" Jake caught himself shouting aloud but luckily, Alex didn't care anymore as whatever Jake did or said sounded like gibberish to him so he causally walked around.

"The ability to clone myself? This is practically making me too OP! But the issue is that they will only have half of my normal strength. But who cares? It doesn't really matter right now.

With this, I could take on a small army on my own." Jake chuckled.

"This system has just given me the best rewards I could ever ask for. Let me quickly check what the privilege is about before we continue our hunt." He said.

{Privilege: the system is granting the user the privilege to max only one skill out to the highest level it could ever be!}

Seeing this, it felt like Jake's head was about to explode by what he was currently reading.

"It's like the system has decided to be generous for once." Zee said.

"You said it." Jake replied with a wide smile and then he quickly pulled up his skill tab.

{Void: This skill allows the user to store living beings or creatures in it infinitely without ever running out of space}

"Now which skill should I level up?" Jake wondered as he surfed the system up and down looking for what to level up.

"I had thought stealth was useless until I used it today so leveling it will make me practically invisible. But I think leveling stun strike will be better because with the current level, I'm unable to stun an opponent stronger than me.

But what if it gets levelled up to the max, I could possibly stop someone stronger than me in their tracks." He said while hovering his finger over the skill.

"Wait! Aren't you forgetting one more skill?" Zee asked.

"Huh?" Jake said wondering what Zee was getting at until it suddenly click in his head.

"Right!" He said and then he pulled up the tab.

"Blink! What if I levelled it up to the max? I wonder what it can do." He wondered and then his hands hovered on it. "I just hope I'm not making a mistake here."

{Are you sure you want to level up Blink to the max?}

{Yes or No?}

"Yes!" Jake said.

{Very well then! Blink levelled up to the max}

"The system keeps blowing my mind!" Jake chuckled loudly. "I have no comment right now on what I'm seeing."

"Aren't you done yet?" Alex asked as he came over to see Jake still standing there.

"Yeah, I'm done! Let's go!" He replied and they began walking where the huge castle was. They hadn't walked for five minutes before they stood in front of another dozen wolves.

Chapter 273 Jake the OP fighter

They hadn't walked for five minutes when they came across another dozen wolves growling at them.

"Ah c'mon!" Alex shouted as he gripped his sword tighter while taking a stance.

"Let me handle this." Jake said as he stepped forward and then turned to his system.

"Cloning!" Jake called out and right in front of their eyes, a huge puff of smoke appeared all around them.

"What are you doing?" Alex asked.

"Dealing with the mess." Jake replied and right in front of their eyes, the puffs of smokes began forming shapes and not any shape, but human shapes.

Within three seconds, it was finally done and both Alex and Jake were both looking around with stars in their eyes as there wasn't only one Jake anymore, there were now six of them.

Looking at them, there was no way to distinguish who was the real one or not as all of them all looked the same and they were currently holding onto the same weapon with the same expression on all their faces.

"Jake...!" Alex called out and all the Jakes turned around to look at Alex.

"Alright, this is creepy." He said.

The real Jake then turned towards the clones and back to the wolves that looked almost confused also but they were still growling.

"All of you listen up! I want you to attack those beasts but don't kill them, injure them but still keep them alive!" He ordered and all the Jakes nodded in response.

Right on cue, the wolves didn't wait as they all dashed towards the humans in front of them. Swiftly, the real Jake quickly grabbed Alex and moved back so he could observe what was going on.

Immediately the clones saw the wolves coming, all at the same time they performed step shift getting away from the fangs heading towards them.

But their step shift only took them one metre away but it was still enough as the wolves halted their advances abruptly when three of the Jakes lifted their hands at once.

Looking at the wolves, they shot out Qi projectiles at the same time that crashed into the beast's only causing shallow injuries but they didn't relent as they kept on bombarding the wolves with Qi projectiles causing small explosions that threw up dust everywhere.

That was when the remaining two Jakes took a stance like as if they were about to run and then nodding at the other clones, they stopped bombarding the beasts with Qi projectiles.

But before the dust settled, they both dashed into it quickly but not as fast as the real Jake but they were still fast enough for some people to avoid.

One of the Jake swung his sword at a wolf and it slightly grazed it before he moved on to another wolf stabbing it with his sword that went just an inch deep.

That was when a wolf quickly lunged towards the Jake and caught him in its fangs that sunk deep into its neck causing it to go away in a puff of smoke like it was created.

Before the wolf could move, it felt a sting in its neck before its eyes went blood shot red and then it collapsed on the ground with a thud.

The real Jake who was watching everything unfold was impressed by what he was seeing.

"I see, with the slightest hit, they get killed and they go up in a puff of smoke. The good side of this is that they have good coordination among them." Jake mumbled while Alex watched on in amazement as out of twelve beasts, nine were left.

From where they stood, Jake could see that they were incredibly close to the castle as it was only a metre away from them and he couldn't wait to get things done with here so he could explore the castle and what lay there.

Immediately the third beast fell, the remaining four clones quickly flipped backwards so they could regroup while staring at the wolves that were slowly rounding the place.

And like a flash, the wolves all darted towards the clones with incredibly speed as they tried to chomp on them with their fangs but one of the clones was quick to use Step Shift to get away then he used Shadow Step to get close and then stabbed it in its stomach.

Another beast swiped its paw at one of the clone and he was slow to react as the paw crashed into its head killing it and causing it go up in smoke.

"Two down, three remaining." Jake mumbled as he looked on.

The remaining clones seeing this all nodded together and as if their minds were linked, they waited for the beasts to get close which they did as all remaining eight wolves quickly lunged at them.

Seeing this, they quickly used Step shift to get away from them. Then they lifted their swords at once in sync above their heads while infusing it with the little Qi they had as they could see it was glowing slightly.

"So they can use this huh!" Jake smiled seeing what the clones were doing.

The wolves halted their advances while looking around for the humans and when they spotted them a metre away, they quickly lunged at them again but it was too late.

The clones had swung their swords at once at the wolves and a small slash half the size Jake usually produced came out of each their swords at once and then conjoined together before it sped towards the beasts at tremendous speed that they couldn't avoid it.

And then it hit them hard slicing part of their limbs apart but not killing them as they could be seen whimpering around.

"Phew! For a second there, I thought they were about to use poisonous Qi Slash but luckily they only did the normal Qi slash." Jake said and then he quickly ran out into the field with full speed and quickly got in front of the beasts.

"Control!" Jake quickly shouted and immediately the beasts' eyes all glowed blue before they dimmed back and they stopped moving.

"Void!" He called out again and the beasts all disappeared from view.

{Slot remaining (9/15)}

"That was close!" Jake heaved a sigh of relief and then he could see Alex walking towards him with a confused expression.

"Okay, I can't take this anymore. What is going on Jake?" He asked.

"Fine!" Jake sighed and then opened his mouth to say something then he quickly closed it back up as they could both feel and hear a loud rumbling beneath their feet and all around them.

"What's going on?" Alex wondered as they were losing their footing as it felt like an earthquake was occurring.

"GRHHHHH!" A loud roar was heard behind them and Jake along with Alex quickly turned around to face where the castle was situated about one metre away from them.

They could both see the castle shaking heavily and a huge roar erupted again that almost sounded ear piercingly loud. That was when they could see a huge flammy hand erupt from around the building.

Immediately Jake set eyes on the hand, red alarm lights began flashing in front of him.

{Danger! Danger! Danger!}

"What the hell is the system talking about?!" Jake wondered in fear.

Chapter 274 Cindy's last stand

Raising his right hand in the air, Humfree stared out towards the members of the Iron Fist Guild and his eyes then narrowed down looking like a slit.

"Let me show you all the power of a head general and the power of a double A ranked adventurer!" Humfree shouted out loud and everybody heard a loud noise from above that sounded like the rumbling of thunder.

But when they looked up, everybody including the members of the Fang hunters' froze in fear as all above the battlefield above the Iron Fist Guild, they could all see a lot of swords in the air about two hundred or so.

"Die!" Humfree shouted with a wicked smile on his face as he swung his hand down and the hundreds swords followed down raining on the battlefield killing the members of the Iron Fist Guild.

"Have we ever seen Head General Humfree fight before?" Wilfred asked with a gulp as he looked at what was occurring on the battlefield.

"Nope, not at all. But I guess we will witness it now." Kron replied.

"Did he just say he is a double A ranked adventurer?" Paul asked.

The swords that were raining started slashing the members of the Iron Fist Guild totally killing them quickly. Each sword killed about a dozen men before it completely disintegrated into nothing.

The men all tried everything possible to fight against the raining sword but there was nothing they could do as they got killed too easily. After about two minutes of total destruction, the swords finally disintegrated into nothingness but the destruction it left in its wake was shocking.

As the two hundred Qi swords killed about two thousand, four hundred men on the enemy side. With just one move, Head General Humfree had totally impacted the battle as only about 57 thousand men were left.

Enjoy new chapters from My Virtual Library Empire

The leader of the men was seen sweating in nervousness while looking at the destruction caused by a single man.

'This... this was caused by one man? He called himself a double A ranked adventurer, this... this is his strength? I haven't even faced the werewolf slayer yet darn it!' he thought worriedly.

"I'm not done yet!" Humfree shouted as he suddenly took a stance while his hand was on the hilt of his sword.

The stance he took was of one leg in front of him while one was behind and he leaned his weight onto the leg that was in front of him and like a lightning bolt, Humfree was seen in middle of the army.

"You made a mistake by underestimating our guild!" He shouted as he slammed his sword he unsheathed into the ground causing the men to feel unstable as they were stumbling down.

Then like a blur, Humfree was no longer being seen as he began decimating the men alive. Since they couldn't see him, they were unable to react as he was currently killing, slashing and slicing men alive.

'I only have five minutes left before I become weak! But I will make it count!' He screamed in his head as he went from one person to the next.

With just two moves, about twenty men were dead before he moved to the next batch. No one could see his movements, they only heard screams of pain and there was no way to track his movements.

"This... how... how is this possible?" Peter asked out loud as he could see the destruction Humfree caused.

"I thought Jake was the only one strong among us, but even he can't do all these."

"I'm just glad that we didn't get to fight against him on the day of the take over." Jack added with a gulp. "Imagine he had betrayed the academy that day, we would have been doomed as we will be dead by now."

"Agreed." Sophia said.

After five minutes of total destruction, Humfree was now seen sliding on the floor in his earlier starting position while huffing and panting. The remaining men could now see Humfree in front of them sweating terribly while the leader of the army looked around at the damage done by Humfree.

In just five minutes, Humfree singlehandedly killed a thousand men on his own plus the two thousand, four hundred kills earlier, Humfree had killed a total of three thousand adventurers all on his own.

The men from the Iron Fist Guild seeing Humfree felt their hearts skip several beats as they slowly backed away step by step.

"Don't move! Can't you see, he is already weak. Finish him!" The leader shouted and Humfree gripper his sword tightly.

"C'mon! Head General Humfree is feeling weak, we need to back him up now!" Paul shouted and the five thousand men along with the core members ran out into the battlefield.

But the men from the Iron Fist Guild were unwilling to move after seeing Humfree's display of strength.

"Now! Or else you will have Blip to answer to!" The leader shouted.

And hearing their leader's name, snapped them out of their daze and worries. Without wasting time, they ran towards Humfree who took a stance.

"Fire!" Kate ordered and immediately, showers of arrows were seen falling onto the men from the Iron Fist Guild.

The most skillful ones were able to avoid them and were slowly inching towards Humfree when something was seen flying towards one of the men quickly killing him.

On a closer look, it was a dagger and soon enough, Simyon was seen standing beside Humfree then Peter came next as he had blocked a strike heading towards Humfree before he delivered a strong kick to the man sending him skidding.

A man was also seen running on mid air then he suddenly fell down into the midst of the enemy and he began swinging his sword slashing the men precisely killing them skillfully.

Another man was seen with his bare hands standing in front of Humfree then he began swinging his hands rapidly then he also switched to pointing his hands like a pistol of some kind firing away.

Waves of fist made out of Qi were hitting the men in their gut knocking them out cold immediately then a rapid fire of bullets made out of Qi was seen hitting some men in their necks or heads killing them.

"Let's show them the power of the Fang hunters!" Jack shouted as he avoided a thrust to his stomach and delivered a strong hit in the gut of the man knocking him out cold.

"Yes!" A feminine voice was heard responding and then a female was seen spinning the air before she delivered a strong kick to someone's head knocking him to the ground.

Another female was seen skidding on the floor quickly then she made a fast thrust towards another person's stomach killing him on the spot.

These were Sophia and Cindy as they were teaming up to take down the enemy.

"I guess I have to go all out then!" A masculine voice was heard shouting then his body began electrifying.

But the electricity was yellow in colour and like a blur, he began moving around the battlefield quickly striking the enemy precisely killing them on the spot.

This was Harry and the way he was moving felt like the way Humfree moved earlier but Harry's attack was more brutal as he hit a man in the jaw sending him flying and crashing into others.

"I have only done this on a small scale, but it is time to go big!" Harry shouted and then he zipped quickly into the midst of around fifty men before he zipped back out.

"Now!" He said clicking his finger and a huge explosion erupted killing them at once.

The leader seeing this was feeling enraged as he could see the skillfulness of the Fang hunters' and it felt like they will lose at this rate.

"I guess I have to take matters into my hand. So how about I take care of the weakest in this group huh?" He said and like a blur, he manoeuvre around the battlefield killing anybody that stood in his way.

His eyes were set on two females that were working together seamlessly as if they had practised teamwork countless times.

Jumping up, Sophia used Cindy's shoulder as a foothold as she was seen falling down with a strike from above and slicing a person's head off.

"My turn!" Cindy smiled as she pushed off from where she was swiftly then she performed a spin and zig zag running and she impaled a sword into a man's neck.

Swinging her sword, she heard a loud clang and then a man with a scarf around his face appeared.

"How about you have a go with me!" He said and then he pushed off strongly causing her to stumble back but she managed to regain her footing as she came at him quickly with a swing from the side.

But he had swiftly blocked it easily with a smile on his face.

"Too weak!" He said and then he stumped the ground strongly causing Cindy to stumble back a little.

But that was enough for the man as it was the slip up he needed as his sword flashed in front of Cindy and then she felt a sharp pain in her abdomen as blood gushed out of her in waves.

"Cindy!!!" Sophia shouted loudly as she turned around to see Cindy being impaled by a sword.

Chapter 275 Victory!

"Too weak!" He said and then he stumped the ground strongly causing Cindy to stumble back a little.

But that was enough for the man as it was the slip up he needed as his sword flashed in front of Cindy and then she felt a sharp pain in her abdomen as blood gushed out of her in waves.

"Cindy!!!" Sophia shouted loudly as she turned around to see Cindy being impaled by a sword.

Without thinking twice, she kicked the person in front of her away and then she dashed towards where Cindy was seen falling and then she quickly caught her while she fell on the floor.

"Cindy!!! You will be okay, please don't close your eyes!" Sophia said while shaking Cindy's face in panic.

"Soph...don't cry, my time is up." Cindy said as he coughed a mouthful of blood.

"Hahahaha!" The man laughed loudly as he looked at how pathetic Sophia looked.

"Cindy! Please don't say that, what do you want me to tell Jake when he gets back?" Sophia shouted while tears were streaming down her face.

"Tell...tell him that I will see him in the next life." Cindy said as the pain in her stomach grew.

"No, you can't do this to us!" Sophia screamed.

"Tell...tell...tell... tell Jake that...I love...I love him, and I...I wish we can be together in...our next...life. Please take care of yourself...tell Peter how you feel before it's too...too late." Cindy said and then her hand that rested on Sophia's face fell down limply while her eye lids became shut.

"Cindy!!!!!" Sophia screamed so loud that possibly those across the whole battlefield heard her.

"She's gone, time for you to join her too." The leader of the Iron Fist Guild army said and then he swung his sword swiftly aimed towards Sophia that she was too slow to react.

"I'm gonna make you pay for taking Cindy's life!" A voice was heard shouting and a kick landed on the hand that the man used to hold his sword causing him to drop it.

Then an axe swing was seen heading for his neck but he quickly leaned backwards avoiding it just in time then he unleashed a swift kick towards his attacker's rib which got blocked by an axe.

Then using his axe to hammer down on the foot, the wielder dashed towards the man in front of him swinging his axe from the side towards him which got avoided before a kick landed on the axe wielder's stomach causing him to skid an inch.

"Peter?" Sophia said as she could see a shadow cast over her so looking up, her eyes landed on Peter's face.

"Yes, and I'm here to take revenge!" Peter said while gritting his teeth and looking over Cindy's body. "And it's not the right time to grieve or mourn, we still have to get revenge for Cindy by killing her murderer."

"Then you shouldn't turn your back against me!" A voice was heard shouting and then a sword was seen heading for Peter's back when Sophia quickly exploded from where she was kneeling and grabbed her sword blocking the strike which caused the two swords to clang loudly.

"You are right, now I'm gonna make him pay! Take Cindy's body away from here, I'm going to handle this!" Sophia said while gritting her teeth and using all her strength to push against the sword that was on hers.

"No! I can't leave you here, I'm going to help you take him down!" Peter said with his hands tightly clenched.

"No! I don't want Cindy's body to get destroyed in this fight, we need to give her a proper burial after this fight so go Peter!" Sophia shouted while glaring at him.

Peter was stumped on what to do as he looked between Sophia and Cindy then he sighed. "Fine! But I'm coming back to help you so don't die or else I'm gonna kill you myself!"

"I wasn't planning to." Sophia smiled and Peter grabbed Cindy's dead body and quickly sprinted away from the battlefield.

"Now! Where were we?" Sophia said when she could see a roundhouse kick heading towards her head.

In response, she also unleashed her own kick blocking the hit from her head causing shockwave to spread out.

Immediately her leg touched the ground, Sophia shot towards the man and then she swiftly performing the Primary guard taught to her by Von which landed on the man's shoulder breaking his shoulder pad and going a metre deep.

"Arghh!" The man gritted his teeth then he twisted around before he landed a kick towards Sophia's head that caused her to crash into the ground throwing up sand.

'She has been fighting for so long, but she still has this much energy? What is going on?' he thought when out the small dust that was thrown in the air, he could see a sword heading for his head.

Acting quickly, he lifted his sword blocking it but he then heard a loud crack before he was sent skidding. Regaining his footing, he looked down on his sword and could see that it was slightly cracked.

"How's this possible?" He mumbled.

"You know, I never planned on using this but you have forced my hand so how about I show why you should never mess with the Josh's!" Sophia said as a dangerous glint appeared on her expression.

Then she tapped on a small ring that was on her finger which caused the man to raise an eyebrow. Out of the ring, a small pin the size of a needle came out.

And quickly stabbing it into her sword, it glowed slightly before it swiftly split into two with each one being on one hand and then the swords curled and formed into a gauntlet of some sorts with a long, sharp and pointy blade at the edge.

"Ha! I thought you wanted to do something special." The man said as he took a stance while glaring at Sophia.

"You will be surprised!" Sophia said and then like a speeding bullet, she was seen heading towards the man.

'She's fast! I thought she might have exhausted her Qi by now, so how is she moving this quickly?' he thought as he could see a blade heading towards his head so he did the only logical thing by lifting his sword up but that was his mistake.

Immediately the blade from Sophia's gauntlet connected with his sword, it shattered into a thousand pieces before he was sent skidding a few metres.

"I'm not done with you yet!" Sophia shouted as he sped towards him but one of the men from the Iron Fist Guild stood in front of her about to hit her with his spear.

Without slowing down, she pivoted sideways sharply avoiding the thrust then she delivered an uppercut to the man's chin and her blade went in deep from his chin to his head.

'She has become dangerous all of a sudden!' the leader thought when he could see her coming at him from the side.

Sophia swung her hand towards him quickly and he managed to avoid it narrowly but before he could move again, he felt a kick connect with his shin causing him to skid an inch in pain.

Then he quickly lifted his hand up while coating it in all the Qi he could muster blocking a strike from above which caused him to kneel in pain.

"I will make sure I kill you!" Sophia shouted and was about to move when something wrapped around her restricting her movements.

'Invisible Qi?' she thought when she felt a disturbance in the air and she quickly used her gauntlet to block while crossing her hand in an X shape just in time for the leader had sent four Qi shards to her.

"Your perception is good but I want to see how you will get out of this when you are dead!" He shouted as he was seen in front of Sophia with another sword he picked from a dead soldier and was about to stab her when it suddenly got dark above them.

They both looked up and could see that there was a huge shadow cast over them and when they saw what caused the huge shadow, the leader of the Iron Fist Guild platoon found himself gulping hard.

Far back, away from the chaos going on on the battlefield, Humfree could be seen with his hands raised above his head and two hundred swords made out of Qi could be seen floating above the battlefield.

"Using this twice... kuh!" Humfree coughed out a mouthful of blood as he was currently twitching in pain. "Will put me in bed for at least two weeks but I have to do it for... Jake...kuh!" He coughed again.

"I hope you all rot in hell!" Humfree shouted as he swung his hand down causing the hundreds of Qi swords to crash into the battlefield killing the enemy men with each sword killing a dozen men before disintegrating.

Immediately he released the swords, Humfree fell on his knee coughing out blood after blood while Paul was seen running towards him.

"Head General Humfree! You need to get back now." He said as he grabbed him and they were heading back to the academy.

Immediately Sophia and the leader of the platoon saw the swords raining, the leader was still seen looking around in dread as he saw his men unable to do anything.

"This..." he stuttered when he felt a sharp pain in his throat.

Looking down, he could see a blade that was attached to a gauntlet in front of him.

"You..." he stuttered.

"I hope you rot in hell!" Sophia said and she dragged her blade from his throat towards the end of his body slicing him apart.

Immediately the man fell, Sophia also fell in pain and exhaustion.

"I...I have pushed myself past my limit darn it!" Sophia said.

"You did well!" She heard a voice saying when she saw Simyon standing in front of her.

"C'mon, let's g..." He stuttered and Sophia's eyes widened in shock. Stay tuned with My Virtual Library Empire

Simyon coughed out blood while looking down to see a sword piercing him from his back.

"No! Not again!" Sophia shouted as she pushed herself from the ground and quickly got behind Simyon slicing his assailant before he could react.

And then Sophia along with Simyon could both be seen falling down as Simyon was feeling limp while Sophia had pushed herself to the limit so her body had given up in exhaustion.

The remaining men from the Iron Fist Guild after seeing what Humfree had done again and how their leader fell, with nobody restricting them, they ran away in retreat.

The remaining ten thousand plus men ran away in retreat from the academy.

"Don't give chase! Let them go!" Wilfred shouted and then the army all shouted in cheers at their victory unknown to them the amount of loss they have suffered.

"Gather the fallen and those that are injured and head back to the academy!" Wilfred ordered and they got to work.

"We have been hit hard, it's like they knew that Jake wasn't around so they decided to attack now." Wilfred mumbled. "I just hope Jake is alright and he handles whatever happened well."

Little did he know how right he was as there was a betrayal among them.

Chapter 276 Time to get serious!

"GRHHHHH!" A loud roar was heard behind them and Jake along with Alex quickly turned around to face where the castle was situated about one metre away from them.

They could both see the castle shaking heavily and a huge roar erupted again that almost sounded ear piercingly loud. That was when they could see a huge flammy hand erupt from around the building.

Immediately Jake set eyes on the hand, red alarm lights began flashing in front of him.

{Danger! Danger! Danger!}

"What the hell is the system talking about?!" Jake wondered in fear.

Slowly, the hand fully came out. Then a huge head burst out followed by another then another. In total, Jake counted three heads on his neck.

Immediately he set eyes on the head, he quickly cast his inspect skill.

{Name: Gorgoras} Stay tuned with My Virtual Library Empire

{Role: Guardian of the ancient castle; the Gorgoras protect the castle from intruders and anybody that dares step foot into it.}

{Tier: Legendary}

{Abilities: Ice, fire and acid.}

"What the hell?!" Jake shouted as he took a step back and so did Alex.

'A legendary tier beast? Isn't it a tier above the King tier? Now I understand why the system is telling me to run away. I don't think I can handle this currently.' he thought as he broke out in a slight sweat.

"GRHHHHHH!" The Gorgoras all roared at once and then they finally burst out of the huge castle with a blazing fire surrounding one of the beast's head totally.

"Was that what caused the fire? Is that why the castle was burning brightly? So it was one of the heads." Jake mumbled.

"Jake, what is wrong?" Alex asked as he could also feel the power coming off of the Gorgoras.

"The... the beast is a legendary tier beast. We need to get the hell outta here now!" Jake shouted and a shocked Alex quickly turned around to begin running and so did Jake.

When a loud roar shook the ground beneath them and a huge wind blew the hot flames around them before a huge thud was heard in front of them and they could see a huge body full of black scales on it.

With huge three heads on each neck with two eyes on it each with giant two hands with each hand on one side of the body.

"GRAHHHH!" it roared again and then the head of the Gorgoras that had fire surrounding it opened its mouth wide.

"Watch out!" Jake said as he knew what will come out of the mouth and he was right.

As a long stream of fire erupted from the beast's mouth towards Jake and Alex who had quickly dove away just in time. Looking at where they stood earlier, they could see that it was scorched black beyond their imagination.

'It's fire powers is strong, very strong!' Jake thought.

"I guess we won't be able to leave easily then." Alex said as unsheathed his sword from his back and glared the beast. "But can we handle it on our own."

"No we can't! That's why I'm going to summon help." Jake said and then he clicked his fingers.

"Clones! Assemble!" He said and the three remaining clones quickly dashed over from where they stood and they stood beside Jake.

"Are you ready?" Jake asked Alex while his hand was tightly clenched around the hilt of his hand.

"Always, although I'm slightly nervous." Alex replied with a chuckle.

"Then let's go!" Jake shouted as he and the clones bolted towards the Gorgoras like a speeding train while the ground beneath his feet where he stood earlier broke.

One of the clones jumped up towards the head of the Gorgoras that was on the right and he swung his sword but the beast used its head and was about to whack him when Alex quickly jumped up and used his sword to block the hit but he was sent flying from the strength of the beast.

Luckily the clone was able to stab his sword into the beast neck but his sword broke in pieces from the tough scale around the neck of the beast.

Another clone was seen skidding under the beast's belly while slicing with his sword but there was no scratch made and it was whacked away by the beast's tail sending it tumbling into the ground.

The real Jake was seen exploding from his position with the use of Qi heading towards the beast's face with immense speed and when he was close, he could see a stream of fire head his way that hit him and scorched him badly.

Jake was seen hitting and bouncing on the ground while his body was still burning from the flames of the beast. Alex quickly spun around creating a slight tornado around him before swung his sword rapidly releasing waves of Qi strikes towards the beast but it did nothing.

One of the clones used {Stealth} to get over towards the beast and was about to strike its head when the beast turned around and shot out an ice shard towards the clone causing it to go into a cloud of smoke.

"Clone Jake! Cover me!" Alex shouted as he was seen with his sword being held behind him while running towards the beast at full speed.

Before he got there, his sword blazed with Qi surrounding it like a flame of some sorts. Using his Qi, he pushed off from the ground strongly towards the beast's head that was on the left.

The head was seen opening its mouth when one of the clones jumped up and shot out a Qi shard towards its mouth causing it to shut. With a smile, Alex hammered down his sword onto the beast's head causing a huge, gigantic shockwaves to spread out hitting the clones and causing them to move away.

While the beast's whole body staggered forward a bit and Alex was whacked by the tail of the beast sending him flying but he managed to flip in the air before he landed smoothly on the ground close to Jake.

Glancing around, he could see Jake standing up slowly from the ground with his body scorched and burnt by the beast.

"Jake!" Alex said when Jake glanced at him.

"I'm fine!" He replied as they could both see the clones battling against the beast before they both went up in a cloud of smoke.

"We can't do this, there's no way we can handle a legendary tier beast on our own." Alex said.

"No we can't, but we can at least try." Jake said. "And I have a last resort when things go south."

"But you are badly burnt!" Alex cried out.

"Oh really?!" Jake said when he smiled wryly and then clicked on a skill in his system.

{Restore}

Right in front of Alex, Jake was being healed of all his injuries while his Qi was being refilled and most especially, all his skills and weapons that were on cool down, were finally coming off of it.

"Time to get serious and use everything at my disposal!" Jake said as he took a stance with his left foot in front of him.

{Adrenaline rush}, {Cloning}, {Strength Surge}, {Stealth} immediately Jake clicked on all these skills, he could see several puff of smoke surrounding him and five clones stood in front of him.

"Let's go!" He shouted and he along with the five clones dashed towards the beast with the clones slightly behind him.

Chapter 277 Let's dance again!

"Time to get serious and use everything at my disposal!" Jake said as he took a stance with his left foot in front of him.

{Adrenaline rush}, {Cloning}, {Strength Surge}, {Stealth} immediately Jake clicked on all these skills, he could see several puff of smoke surrounding him and five clones stood in front of him.

"Let's go!" He shouted and he along with the five clones dashed towards the beast with the clones slightly behind him.

Using {Step Shift}, Jake got behind the beast and raised his hands that were covered with Qi to whack the beast on its body sending it skidding towards one of the clones who used his sword to stop it in its track.

The remaining four clones all jumped up at once infusing their hands with as much Qi as they can and then they came falling down like a shooting arrow hitting the beast on either heads causing it to fall flat on the ground because of the strength of the hit.

"I guess whatever skill I use, they can also use too." Jake mumbled.

Flipping backwards, they landed a metre away from the beast with Jake standing behind it while his sword was in its sheath. He kept his hand on the hilt of the sword while standing with his feet wide apart from one another and his eyes glaring at the beast.

The Gorgoras was seen standing up but not in a conventional way, it jumped into the air before it landed causing the ground to shake because of its weight.

"GRAHHHH!" The Gorgoras roared with three of its heads before it opened them wide agape and began spitting out streams of fire, ice shards and acids from its three heads towards the clones.

Alex seeing this, quickly coated his legs with Qi and leapt through the air before he landed in front of the clones just in time. Lifting his sword that was still blazing with his fiery Qi, he threw it into the ground causing it to slice into the ground like a hot knife slicing through butter.

The liquids were now incredibly close so Alex raised his hands forward and then his eyes glowed for a slight minute and a visible wall made entirely out of Qi was lifted in front of Alex blocking the fire that got to it first.

For the Ice shards, the clones all shot out invisible Qi shards towards it causing them all cancel each other out. The acid crashed into the wall made of Qi but it couldn't hold as it melted but it couldn't go further as it fell in front of Alex who was now on his knees.

Alex coughed out a mouthful of blood but wiping the specks of blood from his mouth, he was slowly rising up. The Beast seeing this, opened up its mouth again when the clones used {Step Shift} to get in front of it before they all delivered an uppercut together causing the beast's head to move back an inch.

While still in the air and slowly falling, they used their legs to hit the beast's head again and they were propelled away from the Gorgoras landing back beside Alex.

"I'm finally ready!" Jake shouted as he performed Step shift to get in front of the beast.

He swiftly pulled his sword out of its sheath and swung it forward before putting it back in releasing a sharp strike of invisible Qi towards the Gorgoras.

But as if sensing it, it quickly moved away before it crashed into it and then it opened its mouth and shot out a dozen ice shards towards Jake and the clones.

Alex quickly came in front and performed the stunt he did earlier protecting Jake but he still coughed out a mouthful of blood while falling to his knees.

"Alex!" Jake shouted as he quickly lifted him up.

"I'm fine." He replied as he stood up and held his sword tighter. "You be the sword, while I be your shield!"

"But..."

"No but, we don't have much time." Alex said. "We need to defeat the beast and get out of here now."

"Fine!" Jake said as he gripped his sword tighter.

{Step shift}

Jake got in front of the beast and he made. Slash again releasing a wave of Qi towards the beast before he used Step shift again to get to another angle releasing a slash.

Jake was currently moving like a blur as he was releasing Qi slash after slash at the beast causing slight scratches on the beast that hardly drew blood.

"Just a bit more." Jake mumbled as he leapt from his position towards the beast's neck and then he made a stab towards it but it had quickly moved away from Jake and was moving towards Alex with full speed.

"Darn it! King tier beast's speed are on a whole different level." Jake said as he was seen chasing the beast from behind while Alex threw his sword into the ground again and lifted his hand waiting for the beast.

The beast was now in front of Alex as it swung its tail towards him and just in time, Alex created the Qi wall to block the hit but the wall shattered like a fragile glass and he was flown across the place crashing at the foot of the castle.

"Darn it! Alex!" Jake shouted as he performed Step shift again.

Jake's body bounced on the ground a few times before he came to a halt beside Alex who was still coughing and was finding it hard to breathe.

"Alex!" Jake said as he coughed out blood before slowly standing up and running towards him.

Alex gripped Jake's hand tight before he was able to get up.

"There's nothing you can say to me right now, you can't fight anymore." Jake said.

"No! I still need to fight and defeat that beast." Alex replied.

"You are in no condition to, face it! We can't defeat it." Jake retorted.

"We are damaging it right? Then we can certainly do it." Alex replied.

"Fine!" Jake said as he gripped his sword tighter which made Alex to smile and he also went ahead to pick his sword that fell down somewhere.

"I'm sorry Alex!" Jake said.

"Huh? For what?" Alex asked as he turned around to see Jake in front of him then with a gentle shove, Alex tumbled backwards and felt himself going through a sweet sensation.

Turning around swiftly, he could see a portal opened up behind him while his body was halfway through.

"Take care of the others." Jake said as he could see Alex with a furious expression on his face and then he went completely through as the portal snapped shut.

"GRAHHHHH!" The beast roared loudly again as it was seen charging towards Jake while he had already recalled back his clones that stood beside him.

"Since you can all use whatever skill I choose, then this should work!" Jake smiled weakly and then he clicked on a tab in front of him.

{Lightning}

Immediately, Jake along with his clones had their body sparkling and crackling as sparks of lightning was hitting the ground they stood on while torching it slightly.

"Hey ugly beast! Let's dance again!" Jake said and then he and his clones zipped towards the beast faster than they ever did.

Chapter 278 You are not the only one who cares!

"The portal is opening? Isn't it the portal which the two people that were tasked with hunting beasts?" Someone asked as they stood in front of a portal that was being opened up.

"I think it is." Someone else replied then all of a sudden, someone was thrust out of the portal forcefully while cussing.

"Darn Jake! Why would he push me through and stay there himself?" Alex shouted in anger then he fell back down before a cough of blood came out next.

The soldiers at the portal quickly came over to help him up.

"Where's Head General Humfree?" Alex asked.

"He...they are busy in a war."

"War? Kuh!" Alex coughed.

'Darn it! My Qi is running rampant and I think I have internal issues.'

"What war?" He asked.

"The Iron Fist Guild are attacking us with a hundred thousand men."

"What?!!" He shouted in shock as he slowly tried to take a step when he fell on his knees.

The soldiers were about to rush towards him when the doors to the portal room burst open.

"We have won! The Iron Fist Guild members have all retreated!" Someone announced.

"We won?" The soldier inside asked.

"Yes!"

"Where... kuh! Are the core members of the guild?" Alex asked as he slowly stood up.

"They are returning back to the meeting room of the base to plan what they would do next." The soldier replied.

"Good! I need to see them." Alex said and like a flash, he was out of the portal room.

Even though he was weak, he was still plenty fast and he was running quickly towards the meeting room. It didn't take him long to get there as he stood in front of the door.

After going through the security check, he was finally let in and he was only able to see General Paul, Kron, Wilfred, Peter, Emily and Sunny and they weren't in good shape as they were badly injured while having a somber look on their faces.

Immediately the door opened, they had quickly turned around to see Alex in front of them in a bad condition as he was bleeding from his head, nose and other body part and he also had injuries internally that the others couldn't see.

"Alex?!" Peter said as Alex stumbled towards the meeting table almost falling over before Emily swiftly rushed to his side and helped him up.

"Where...kuh! Are the others?" Alex asked while gritting his teeth in pain.

"It's a long story and we will tell you later. For now, tell us what happened that you are in this condition and where is Jake?" Sunny asked.

"He is dead." Alex replied and then he went into a coughing fit.

"What?!!" Everybody in the room all shouted at once with a surprised yet confused expression on their faces.

"Wh... what do you mean by Jake is dead?" Peter asked while gritting his teeth in anger and also walking towards Alex.

"I meant... kuh!" Alex coughed out blood again. "I meant to say he will be dead if we don't find a way to help him right now!"

"Why do you say so?" General Paul asked.

"He is currently on the planet battling against a legendary tier beast." Alex replied.

"A legendary what?!" General Wilfred shot out of his seat like a bamboo.

"But... but... but we had checked the planet out." General Paul quivered.

"A legendary tier beast! The same tier that would possibly take a head general like Humfree to take care of." Sunny said while shuddering in fear.

"He is facing off against a legendary tier beast on his own and you left him there? How could you?" Peter asked as he grabbed Alex's collar in anger and frustration.

"Did you think I wanted to leave?" Alex shouted as he pushed Peter's hand away and clenched his fist in anger while glaring at Peter.

"Then why did you leave? You could have stayed by his side till the end. And you call yourself his friend?" Peter retorted back angrily.

"How dare you?!" Alex shouted as he made his way angrily towards Peter.

"Enough guys!" Emily's voice cut through the tension as she stood in between Alex and Peter.

"Look at the both of you! Alex, you are terribly injured and could hardly talk and you want to fight against Peter? And you! Peter, you didn't even give Alex a breathing space. Look at him! He is dying inside and you are picking a fight?" Emily shouted in anger.

"And the more he is here, the more Jake might be dead on that planet!" Peter shouted.

"Enough you two!" General Paul shouted then he turned towards Alex. "Why did you leave Jake alone on the planet?"

"I didn't leave him alone purposely and I never wanted to leave." Alex replied and then he painfully began narrating what happened from when they got to the planet, how they fought against the Flammery Fanged serpent before fighting against the wolves.

He exempted the part where Jake had performed some weird things because he himself didn't understand those things before he got to the part where the legendary tier beast had appeared and how they struggled a lot.

Before Jake decided to push him through the portal forcefully claiming he was trying to save him.

"I see." Paul said. "So he was the one who pushed you through the portal so he could protect you."

"That boy! Always taking decisions like this without thinking about himself." Sunny said with his fist clenched.

"You see! Did you hear?!" Emily shouted towards Peter. "You are not the only one who cares about Jake, we do too. And Alex didn't purposely abandon him on the red portal planet, he was forced back." Your journey continues with My Virtual Library Empire

"Please!" Alex said before he coughed up a mouthful of blood. "Save Jake anyhow you all can." And then he slumped down with a loud thud.

"Alex!!!" Emily shouted.

Chapter 279 Impossible Quest Completed!

{Magical Attributes}

{Lightning}

Immediately, Jake along with his clones had their body sparkling and crackling as sparks of lightning was hitting the ground they stood on while torching it slightly.

"Hey ugly beast! Let's dance again!" Jake said and then he and his clones zipped towards the beast faster than they ever did.

The giant beast was now in front of them and all the clones jumped up together above the beast before they came crashing back down and slamming their electric hands onto the beast that was mixed with Qi causing it to tumble to the ground.

"My turn!" Jake said as he zipped in front of the beast and then he delivered a strong hit to the abdomen of the beast causing it to reel backwards in pain from being electrocuted slightly.

'Good thing Strength Surge was still active otherwise that hit wouldn't have hurt the beast.' he thought and then a stream of notifications popped up in front of him.

{Strength Surge has ended}

{Adrenaline rush has ended}

{Stealth has ended}

"Darn it!" Jake cursed then all his clones zipped towards him standing beside him.

The beast quickly regained its footing and then in anger quickly opened up its mouth and was shooting out dozens upon dozens of ice shards towards Jake and his clones causing him and his clones to begin running around like a bolt of lightning avoiding the shards narrowly.

Seeing its tactic not working, it changed it up and began shooting out large streams of fire towards Jake and his clones and they were still avoiding it by running round the beast.

'This can't go on forever! It surely gets tired that's why it always changed its powers. Each of the heads shoot out different powers. The head on the left side shoots out Ice, the one on their right side shoot outs acid while the head in the middle that has a fiery head shoots out fire.' Jake thought as he and his clones were doing well avoiding whatever the beast was throwing at them.

'How am I supposed to defeat it now? I can't see any form of weakness all around its body since its all made out of scales.'

He and his clones quickly zipped to the front of the beast and they lifted their hands together while glaring at it.

"Lightning bolt!" He called out and his hands together with his clones glowed then shooting out of them were lightning bolts from each of their hands and it crashed into the head that shot out fire of the beast.

The head flung back and skidded on the floor a few inches before coming to a halt.

"GRAHHHHH!" The beast roared loudly and Jake noticed something different from the beast.

"Finally seen a weakness!" He smiled and then he and the clones zipped again to the side shooting out bolts of lightning at the beast's three heads before zipping back again.

They stood in front of the beast again while Jake was seen smiling and looking towards his clones. Nodding his head, the five clones all nodded their heads at once too.

{Rampage} Jake clicked on it and right on cue, he felt a surge of strength in him and with a dangerous glint on his face, he dashed towards the beast with full speed than he ever did before.

When he was directly in front of the beast, it opened up its mouth and begin shooting out shards of ice towards him but Jake's reflexes was good as he had quickly jumped up towards the beast's head and delivered a powerful punch to the head that was shooting out ice shards.

The head flung back but before it could completely been flung back, he quickly grabbed it and tensed his muscles all around it causing the sleeves of his shirt to get torn.

"I made a mistake by fighting with you using my sword when it can hardly cut through a king tier beasts. But with my strength, I can definitely rip your head off one at a time!" He shouted as the sleeves of his shirt was totally blown off and his arms were on full display.

Pulling harder, the beast roared and tried everything possible to get Jake off by flinging its body and heads around but Jake's grip was firm and then the head closest to where Jake was which was the one that breathed fire, was seen opening up its maws.

But before it could do anything, two of the clones had quickly pushed off strongly towards the maw and grabbed it with all the strength they could muster but an orange glow was still seen appearing inside the beast's mouth.

Before a hot, powerful breath of fire erupted out blowing the clones into a puff of air and right on cue, the head Jake was grabbing on, he was finally able to rip it off as a loud roar occurred out of the remaining mouths of the beast.

The head fell down a metre away from Jake while he was seen falling slowly but before he did, he flipped backwards and then zipped to the ground still covered by the lightning attribute.

The head that shot out acids, opened up its maw widely and right on cue, Jake along with his clones all shot out bolts of lightning towards it causing its maw to shut.

Immediately Jake lifted a foot, he was suddenly behind the beast standing at least two feet away and without wasting time, he climbed the beast's tail that was now swinging around trying to get Jake off but he didn't waste time there as he pushed off from the tail towards the head that wanted to shoot out acid.

He quickly grabbed it from behind and the beast roared loudly but Jake still tensed his hands around the neck while activating a skill.

{Melee combat} a level 2 skill that dealt 20% damage to an opponent and immediately, it got easier as the beast's head ripped off with more pull causing blood to spurt out of the neck and also getting on Jake's face painting it red.

Still holding onto the head, Jake used it to whack the remaining beast's head causing its whole body to skid to the left where his remaining clones were waiting. But unknown to Jake, the beast was currently swinging its tail and after he hit it away, its tail crashed into him sending him to the ground with force.

{-10 HP}

Standing up, he coughed out a mouthful of blood as he could see his clones jumping up and shooting lightning bolts at the beast while one of the clone whacked the beast on its head but it didn't have the same effect as whenever Jake whacked it because the clones only had 50 percent of Jake's strength and speed.

The beast opened up its mouth wide and blew out a hot fire towards two of the clones turning them to puffs of smoke.

"Shit!" Jake said and then standing up, he quickly activated the fastest skill that could get him there quickly.

{Step shift}

After killing the two clones, the beast opened up its maws and breathed fire towards the last clone who also shot out a lightning bolt towards the beast before it went up in puffs of smoke.

The collision of the fire and lightning, caused a lot of smoke to cover the beast's view but then jumping out of the smoke, was Jake who exploded towards the beast's head delivering a strong uppercut filled with Qi causing it to tumble on the hard ground a couple times before coming to a halt.

Jumping up from the ground where it was bounced unto while breathing a constant stream of fire causing it to float in the air a bit like a rocket, it could now see the human that was giving it a lot of trouble.

Jake poured his Qi to his feet, body and most especially his hands and his whole body was now shaking with tremendous power waiting to be released and he did just that as he dashed towards the beast with his speed now increased.

Currently, the beast was unable to track Jake's movement as he was moving all around the beast like a blur and finally, coupled with his lightning abilities that were coating his feet making him faster than ever before.

He jumped towards the beast that was in the air while moving all his Qi to his hands and then he delivered a powerful punch causing shockwaves and the other dead bodies of the beasts killed by Jake to go flying away while the beast fell to the ground with a tremendous thud causing the ground where it fell to break into a crater.

The Gorgoras was now seen slowly standing up with its head feeling quite heavy when it felt something crawling on its body and it finally realized that a human was on it so it began moving its head rapidly around trying to get Jake off.

But his grip was strong and he grabbed its maws with one hand and lifted his hand up.

"If I were to rip your head off, it will be an easy death for you so how about I make it painful?" Jake said with a wicked smile when he began pounding the fiery head with his hand.

Holding onto the beast and pounding its head was painful to Jake as the whole head was covered in fire and his skin was being burnt so was his clothes but he didn't care.

As he focused his Qi filled fist into the eyes of the beast pounding it and causing blood to spurt out. The beast was currently roaring out in pain while still swinging its head around but Jake kept hitting and hitting until a loud popping sound was heard followed by the tearing up of the beast's eyes.

Then Jake's hand went through the beast's eye socket and pounded the beast's brain causing it to pop and exploded in itself.

"GRAHH!" The beast roared weakly before it fell down slowly with Jake still on it and with a thud, they hit the ground heavily while Jake was breathing in and out.

That was what Jake could see before darkness enveloped his vision and he fell unconscious.

Chapter 280 Rewards

"Wh... where am I?" Jake asked as his eye lids were slowly fluttering open followed by a banging headache and body ache.

"Wh... why does my body hurt a lot?!" He shouted in pain while still being in his laying position.

He was now slowly standing up while also taking in his surroundings, he could see that he was in an unknown planet with a huge dead beast's body laying a feet away from him.

"Right! I battled against a legendary tier beast. I can't believe I won." Jake said as he looked around when his feet felt wobbly.

"Relax there, you are still weak." Zee said and Jake gently sat back down.

"I don't think there are any beasts around here and that's a good thing cause with my current strength, I won't be able to defeat an intermediate tier beast." Jake said.

"That was a hundred percent my hardest fight ever both from beasts or humans. I don't think I have ever went all out in a fight for a very long time now. Even when fighting against that beta werewolf, I didn't really go all out but here, I did.

I can't help but imagine if Alex hadn't tagged along and I hadn't unlocked my cloning skill, how this fight would have went. I'm very sure I couldn't have handled this fight on my own so I'm glad I had asked Alex to tag along and I also got my cloning skill."

"You should also give yourself some credit." Zee added. "You were very versatile in your fight today using your skills and abilities so skillfully in the fight. I got to say, you used your head more in this fight than ever before."

"Thank you for the compliment." Jake said and then he suddenly remembered something.

"Right! The system was saying something earlier. System! Pull up my last notifications!"

{Host has done the impossible by defeating a king tier beast. Seems like the system has misjudged the host's strength and in apology, the system would like to reward host handsomely.}

{Ding! Rewards are being distributed}

"The system finally acknowledges my strength and prowess." Jake chuckled loudly while holding his belly. "I definitely proved the system wrong for always underestimating me."

Jake then navigated towards the rewards tab and clicked on it to see the sweet rewards the system gave to him.

{Rewards: 10,000 XP; +10 to all stats, 1 new skill and an upgrade to your skill(Rampage)}

"I think the system would soon get exhausted of all its rewards." Jake chuckled and then he decided to check his stats.

"Now my stats are looking up nicely. I wonder when next I will even reach my cap." Jake said as he clenched his hands tightly in and out.

"I can feel the pure strength coursing through my body right now." He said and then he looked around before he grabbed one of the Gorgoras' head that was laying beside him.

Squeezing on tight, it didn't take long before it popped in his hand.

"I guess a difference of ten matters a lot." He mumbled then he moved onto the next reward, his new skill.

{Attract: This skill allows the user to draw a thing towards him but it is limited to the thing's size.}

"What a strange skill." Jake said as he slowly stood up and decided to try it out.

"Attract!" He called out and nothing was happening as everywhere was quiet.

'Why isn't it working?' he thought as he looked at his palm.

"Hmm." Zee said in Jake's mind. "The description did say anything, so try thinking about a thing you want to pull towards yourself."

"Let me try it." He said and then he looked towards the head of the Gorgoras he had popped earlier and he activated the skill again.

Immediately, the head of the Gorgoras was sent flying towards his hand and he quickly grabbed it with a stunned expression on his face.

"It worked? And it's actually cool." He said. "Imagine losing my weapon somewhere and I used the skill to bring it back to me for a surprise attack."

Jake chuckled loudly as he looked at the head in his hand before he tossed it down.

"And the good thing is that it doesn't have a cool down timer nor does it have a level and it can be used as much as I want." He smiled.

"Okay, let me check out my levelled up Rampage skill."

These were Jake's current skills and he was satisfied with them as he was seen walking around, extracting the crystal core from the Gorgoras, when he was done, a rumbling, crumbling noise was heard.

"It looks like the planet is being unstable and might collapse at any moment. I need to get out of here now before it does. And I think I have a much faster and convenient way." Jake smiled as he clicked on a skill.

{Blink} clicking on the leveled up blink, Jake was currently seen warping and disappearing from view and in the next moment, he was gone from the planet.
