

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 311 The werewolf slayer's fan

"Wh...what's going on? Wh...where am...I?" Jake asked as all he could see around him was darkness, pitch black darkness all around him and then waves of memories flooded his mind.

Memories of his fight with the Beta werewolf known as Blip and what happened afterwards.

"Oh?! I guess I died after the system decided to take away the privilege huh. I was always worried about what the worse situation would be." He mumbled.

"Wait! I'm dead?! Hey this is a cheat darn it! How can I be dead when I haven't successfully rid the world of werewolves! Hey! Anybody there? I can't be dead! I still need to take revenge!

Although the big three are there to take care of Earth, I still need to be there to take my revenge personally! Who's there?! I can't be dead, take me back to Earth now!" Jake screamed at the top of his lungs at the pitch black darkness when a ray of light fell on his face.

Looking in front of him, he could see a bright ray of light and while behind him, pitch black darkness.

"Will you just shut up already? Your shout is so annoying darn it!" Jake heard a voice saying from the ray of light and he recognized the voice all too well.

"Zee? Is that you?" He asked.

"Yes it is me and your shout is so annoying!" Zee replied.

"What happened? Why are you here with me? Are you dead also like me?" Jake asked.

"Oh C'mon! What kind of a stupid host are you? How can I be dead?" Zee asked.

"Wait, that's right, you can't die cause you're part of the system." Jake mumbled then he looked up at the ray of light. "Which means you came to pay your last respect to me before I leave for the afterlife right? Oh that's so thoughtful of you but I won't be going to the afterlife as I will fight will God if I have to so I could stay back on Earth and complete my revenge."

Immediately he was done ranting, Jake felt like he heard Zee slapping his forehead loudly. "How on Earth did I get stuck with you darn it?! I'm not dead, so are you. We aren't dead, you are just f*cking unconscious."

"Oh..." Jake said and then he heaved a sigh of relief. "How long have I been unconscious for?"

"No idea but I know it's been a long time." Zee replied. "And it's time for you to wake up as your friends are worried about you."

"How do I wake up?" Jake asked.

"Like this!" Zee said and then the ray of light got brighter and Jake felt a painful burn on his face that made him scream out loud in pain.

Then his eyes snapped wide open to see himself in a huge room. "F*ck you Zee!" He shouted and then he felt something heavy on his hand.

Looking down, he could see a blonde haired female on his arm and his movement caused her to wake up with a dribble down her face.

"Jake?!" Kate said as she stared at the perfect oval but chiselled face of Jake then she felt something on her face.

Quickly, she wiped it off and her face heat up red as she realized that there was a dribble on her face from sleeping.

"Kate? Where am I? Am I back in the Fang hunters base?" Jake asked.

"Easy with questions, you just woke up." Kate said with her hands held out.

"Where are the others?" Jake asked.

Experience more content on My Virtual Library Empire

"Now that is an easy question to answer." She said with a chuckle. "They are outside handling the rebuilding of the city and sorting your fans."

"Rebuilding what City? And what do you mean by my fans? Hold on, how long was i unconscious for?" Jake asked.

"You were unconscious for two weeks now." She replied.

"Two freaking weeks? How the hell is that possible?" He screamed out loud.

"That is because you were so exhausted." She replied.

'I slept for two weeks? How tired was I? What if an attack occurred while I was out?' he thought and then a thought struck him.

"What do you mean by my fans?" He asked and then Kate sighed and pointed at the window in the room.

Standing up, he walked towards the window and his eyes were met with hundreds if not thousands of people outside the mansion holding big cards with words written on it.

Squinting his eyes, he was able to make out what was written on them.

"We love the werewolf slayer!"

"Thank you werewolf slayer for saving this city from Blip!"

"The werewolf slayer is so hottt!"

"Good job werewolf slayer!"

"We want you to wake up soon werewolf slayer!"

Jake was seeing so many of all these words written on cards with people holding them and some of the core members were trying to handle the situation out. That was when the door that led to the room was heard creaking open.

"Yo yo yo, I'm here to check up on my little baby." A voice was heard coming from behind them and Jake turned around to see a stunned Peter.

"Your little baby?" Jake asked with a raised brow.

"It...it was a slip of tongue. Hold on, you are awake?!" Peter said and then ran over towards Jake and threw his arms around him hugging him tight.

"Uh Peter, I'm still sore you know." Jake said and then Peter awkwardly let him go.

"I'm sorry." He apologized awkwardly. "Gotta go tell the rest that you are awake, they would surely be happy."

"No no no, don't tell them yet, I need a few minutes if not hours to settle down and when I'm ready, you can finally tell them and we would go for a meeting to discuss what to do next." Jake said.

"So can you both kindly give me privacy?"

"Sure, why not?!" They both said at once and they were about to leave the room when Kate turned around. "Take your time." And then she left.

"Now! Let's see the rewards given to me by the system." Jake said as he opened up his system screen.

Chapter 312 Level up

After waking up, Jake decided it was time to see what he got from the system as rewards for taking down a Beta werewolf.

"Now! Let's see the rewards given to me by the system." Jake said as he opened up his system screen.

"System! Pull up my previous unread notifications." He called out.

{Ding! Quest completed}

{Ding! Quest two completed}

{Ding! Rewards will now be distributed}

{Ding! Privilege has ended, host will now go back to his previous condition before the privilege.}

"Rewards!"

{Ding! Quest Completed, rewards will now be distributed}

{Rewards: level up×2, +20,000 XP, +5 free stat points to allocate wherever the user wants to}

"Level up? After so long." He smiled and then pulled up his system screen.

<Status>

<User: Jake Lucas>

<Level: 22>

<Combat level: Master>

<Skill level: Expert>

<XP level: 82,750/20,000>

<HP: 100/100>

<Strength: 92>

Enjoy exclusive content from My Virtual Library Empire

<Agility:92>

<Endurance: 82>

<Stamina: 82>

<Free stat points: 5>

---

"Not only did I manage to level up twice, I also got +2 stats in all my attributes from leveling up. And a free stat point too!" He said excitedly.

"But too bad I wasn't able to get any new skills along with them." He mumbled then he went back to the bed to sit down and think.

"So Blip was a Beta werewolf all along huh, if I hadn't attacked him, we wouldn't have known and he would have been crippling the humans down bit by bit. But what I don't understand is why his son isn't a werewolf too or isn't he his son?" Jake wondered.

"I guess we won't be able to find out now." He sighed.

"Aren't you forgetting something?" Zee asked.

"And what's that?" Jake asked.

"Your fight with Blip was broadcasted to the whole world, I'm pretty sure the Alpha werewolf would have seen the fight and aren't you worried by how he would react?"

"Do you think I'm scared of him? Whoever the Alpha is, he can attack for all I care about but he wouldn't be able to win I'm sure about that." Jake smiled.

"Did you forget what you went through against Blip? You almost lost your life twice? Let's forget that Blip claimed to be the strongest Beta werewolf, you remember the Beta werewolf that attacked Aurora? You were so close to losing your life then and you think you could handle the Alpha if he attacks?"

"And did you forget that the Beta werewolf who attacked Aurora fell into a deep abyss with that King tier beast?" Jake said.

"How sure are you that he is dead? What if it is still alive?" Zee asked.

"Did you see that abyss? It was so deep that I don't think anything would survive a fall down there." Jake said.

"Except a werewolf. We all know how strong werewolves are and how thick their skins are." Zee clarified.

"It is still alive huh? Then why hasn't it attacked Aurora again cause I feel like it has a personal vendetta with the academy." Jake asked.

"Probably still healing up or trying to stay low after that day. Besides, you aren't afraid of the Alpha but you are forgetting that there are two Beta werewolves around it." Zee said.

"I know, and that's why I'm trying to grow the strength of the Fang hunters and besides do you think I would attack on my own while the big three will just sit down and watch?"

"And are you relying on the big three? I thought you wanted to topple them from their position and deal with them." Zee said.

"Who said I want to rely on their strength? Why do you think I'm trying my possible best to grow the strength of my guild." Jake said as he stood up with a sigh to look out the window to see the hundreds of humans with the thank you card and some people walking around.

"With everything going on and annoying me, I feel like I'm the main character of a novel of some sort with everything revolving around me." Jake sighed.

"I will just implore you take things easy and think your decisions through before taking a step. Just imagine how you attacked the iron fist guild based on your feelings while taking your friends along, what if something had happened to them?" Zee asked.

"Point of correction, I didn't decide to take them along, they volunteered to tag along." Jake replied.

"Whatever, I have already done my best in advising you. Everything is all on you now." Zee said and then he went quiet.

"He's right, I need to get strong fast and also grow my guild's strength along the way." He mumbled when the door was suddenly swung open.

"Jake! You are awake?!" Alex said with a surprised look on his face while his eyes became watery all of a sudden and he dashed towards Jake and gave him a tight hug.

"I thought you wouldn't wake up again." He said.

"Haha! Even if death wants to take me away, I will fight against it so I can stay and complete my task." Jake laughed and Alex disengaged from the hug.

"How are you feeling?" Alex asked.

"Fit and fine." Jake replied.

"Oh! I almost forgot, although Peter told me you were awake, I didn't believe so I came here to confirm. Anyway, a meeting has been called by General Paul to decide on what to do next." Alex said. "So are you feeling okay enough to attend?"

"Yeah sure, let's go." Jake said and they swiftly left the room.

---

For more updates on MSS, MS and future works, please remember to follow me up on my social media accounts below.

Instagram: KBKayboy

Facebook page: KBKayboy.

When news on MSS or any other series comes out, you will be able to see it there first.

---

Also if you are enjoying My Slayer System, kindly check out my other book titled Magus Supremacy and I'm sure you will all love it.

Chapter 313 Getting rid of a scum's son

Alex and Jake walked for five minutes before they got to a small meeting room as the one which Blip used was destroyed and still undergoing repairs so they used another room.

Walking in, Jake could see all core members of the Fang hunters that came with him for the attack and Kate along with some new faces that he didn't know who they were.

Seeing as the core members were not complaining or talking about the people there, he decided to take his seat at the head of the table while Alex took his seat beside Emily.

"I'm so glad that you are alright and awake now after so many weeks." Sunny said as he looked at Jake with a warm smile on his face which Jake returned back then his gaze fell on the men in the room.

He saw a bulky man who had black Raven hair with streaks of white on it but it was neatly swept back. He had little bruises on his face, which looked like they were healing up.

Although he looked bulky, it looked like he lost most of his fat and was currently in recovery. Then on his back, was a huge sword bigger than Alex's former sword.

Then the second man didn't look like a fighter at all. As he was a little small while having a pot belly with a small moustache on his face.

Then the last person on the table was a young teenage guy with blonde hair neatly swept back and a stern look on his face. Seeing as the gaze of the young one was on him, the bulky man decided to speak up.

"What's wrong young one? Why the stare? And why the hell are you sitting on the seat meant for the werewolf slayer?"

"And who the hell are you to question me?" Jake asked with a stern look on his face when the pot bellied man chuckled loudly. Find more chapters on My Virtual Library Empire

"Now now guys, you should all keep calm here. What if the werewolf slayer walks in and sees you all bickering like kids?" He said.

Turning towards General Paul, Jake raised an eyebrow wondering what was going on.

"Will you all just keep calm? Don't you know who is in front of you all? He is the werewolf slayer!" Paul announced and the two men that were at each other's heads and bickering suddenly quietened down as they eyes Jake from top to bottom.

Then the pot bellied man laughed out loud in amusement. "You are kidding me right? This kid can't be the werewolf slayer."

The bulky man didn't say anything as he just folded his arms and kept on eyeing Jake.

'I wasn't able to feel it earlier but now I can. This kid has an immense amount of Qi and it is running around his body like crazy.' he thought.

"Stop laughing old man! The one you refer to as a kid, is the werewolf slayer." The young one at the table who turned out to be Andrew said.

The pot bellied man suddenly choked on the air as he heard what Andrew said.
"And who the hell are you calling an old man?!"

"Tch!" Andrew scoffed then they all suddenly felt an immense amount of pressure in the room.

Every single body in the room felt an immense wave of energy and pressure wave over them that made them sweat slightly while Jake's eyes narrowed down in anger.

"Enough you all!" He shouted then he saw Kate struggling to breathe because of the pressure so he stopped and then turned towards Paul. "Who the hell are these guys and what are they doing here?"

"I'm sorry Jake that you weren't informed earlier but I will inform you now." Paul said and then glared at the three people at the table.

"Two weeks ago after your fight with the Blip and you fell unconscious, we had went down to the dungeon of this mansion along with Berg and we discovered the rave lord; the leader of the Raven wing's city and Chim from a small town known as Hage." Paul explained as he pointed at the two men while mentioning their names.

'So the bulky man is Helen's father?! I almost forgot that he was captured by Blip. I'm glad to know that he is safe and sound, I'm sure Helen would be so happy.'

Jake thought.

"I understand that this man is Helen's father, but who the hell is Chim?" He asked.

"He is just a mayor from a small town known as Hage and he befriended Rave lord while in the dungeon so he was allowed to tag along for the meeting." Paul said scratching his head nervously.

"Okay, then who is this kid?" He asked as he pointed at Andrew.

"Kid? We are basically the same age you know?" Andrew said with his teeth grit.

"He is Andrew, Blip's son." Wilfred said and immediately, Jake shot up from his seat with his sword appearing in his hand and he dashed towards Andrew so fast that he looked like a blur and no one was able to track him and he got to Andrew's position.

He lifted Andrew with a single hand up and bashed him into the wall in the room causing him to cough out a mouthful of blood while his eyes was closing in and out as if he was about to pass out.

Swinging his sword towards Andrew so fast, that he wouldn't be able to avoid it.

'Oh shit! I wasn't able to put up much of a fight. So there's these much power difference between us. What did I expect from someone who could go toe to toe with my father in his werewolf form?' he thought as he could see the sword almost close to his neck now when a clang sound was heard.

And a bulky man who had Raven black hair on his head was seen in front of Andrew with his sword held out blocking Jake's.

"What are you doing?" Rave lord asked.

"Getting rid of the son of a scum!" Jake replied and then he was about to add more strength. "And if you don't leave my way right now, I won't care who you are as I will send you to hell along with him!" He shouted and then unleashed a swift roundhouse kick that connected with RL's head causing him to skid an inch.

Chapter 314 A Rogue Jake

"What are you doing?" Rave lord asked.

"Getting rid of the son of a scum!" Jake replied and then he was about to add more strength. "And if you don't leave my way right now, I won't care who you are as I will send you to hell along with him!" He shouted and then unleashed a swift roundhouse kick that connected with RL's head causing him to skid an inch.

Without wasting time, Jake dashed towards Andrew with immense speed and he swung his sword towards his head but he had managed to block it narrowly but he was still swung an inch.

"What's wrong? Are you holding back from transforming? Why won't you use your werewolf form?" Jake asked as he bolted forward at Andrew that was now slowly getting up from the floor when a knee kick smashed into his face sending him flying into the wall.

"Jake stop!" Alex shouted but he wasn't heard as Jake was about to take a step forward when he felt his movements restricted.

Looking down, he could see a whip of some kind holding him back and tracing it, he could the Chim man holding onto the whip.

"Will you cool and listen to reasoning?" Chim asked when he saw Jake stomp the ground hard causing him to lose balance and the whip too.

Discover more content at My Virtual Library Empire

Activating {Step shift} he appeared in front of the man and he smashed his palm into his face sending him flying.

"We need to stop him now before he does something he would regret!" Emily said as she unsheathed her sword.

"We are all talking about the same Jake we know right? Even with all our strengths combined, we wouldn't be able to hold him back let alone put him down." Alex said.

"Well, we have to try." Peter said as he dashed forward towards Jake who was now looking for Andrew.

Swinging his axe from the side, Jake simply pivoted sideways avoiding it and the axe smashed into the ground before a kick landed on his side sending him crashing away.

"Okay, that does it! Jake has officially lost it!" Alex said and his whole body exploded in fiery visual Qi as he dashed forward towards Jake and delivered a strong punch to his face causing him to skid an inch.

Then Emily jumped from behind and landed a kick to his head sending him forward towards Alex's part who readied his hand while infusing it with Qi.

Seeing Jake heading his way, he swung his hand forward that created a loud bang all around but then the fist was easily stopped in its tracks by Jake who had a smirk on his face.

"Even with all these power and strength, even with having the Slade's blood running through your veins, you are still weak!" Jake said and then delivered an uppercut towards Alex that sent him flying towards Peter's way that was slowly getting up when Alex's body crashed into him and they fell together.

"Darn it!" Kate said and then she took out her bow and arrow and began firing away at Jake who was causally avoiding each and every one.

Until one of the arrows was seen heading towards his head at incredible speed but he easily caught it with two fingers and snapped it like a twig.

Using {Step shift} again, he appeared in front of Kate and grabbed her by the neck.

"You have a good advantage by being a range fighter but you always limit it by staying in a single spot instead of moving around." He said and then he swung her away.

And then jumped backwards just in time to avoid a Qi bullet heading towards him and then he felt another one coming immediately after so he coated his hands with Qi and smashed it away but it grazed his skin drawing blood slightly.

He was about to move when he heard a zipping sound and Harry suddenly appeared in front of him throwing a fast punch with his hand coated in his lightning Qi making him faster than usual.

While Kron was still distracting Jake with his Qi bullets. Turning to look at Harry, Jake just said two words.

"Stun strike!" And immediately, Harry froze with his hands clenched as a fist heading towards Jake's head.

Kron was still shooting out Qi bullets but he was able to avoid each and every one while walking towards Harry's side and then leaned into his ear.

"With your visual Qi, you are fast but you are very predictable especially if you come from the front. If you meet someone faster than you even with your visual Qi, then you are done for." He said before he smashed his elbow into his head knocking him down cold.

Turning around to see Kron still shooting out Qi bullets, he was about to move when he saw Peter suddenly appear in front of him.

"I'm sorry." He said and then swiftly placed his palm on Jake's abdomen before blasting him away with a Qi blast that caused Jake to skid for a metre. While Peter was stunned because he expected Jake to get blasted away when he saw a smile plastered on his face.

"Good, you are learning to use your head more in a fight but it's still not enough. Push yourself to the limit." Peter heard someone saying behind him and turning around, he could see Jake in front of him.

"How did he..." he stuttered as he felt a hit crash into his face smashing him to the ground.

General Paul and Wilfred were still seen standing at the back not joining in the fight with their hands crossed around them.

"Have you noticed?" Paul asked.

"Yeah, he isn't hitting them anywhere vital and once in a while, he whispers something in their ears." Wilfred answered.

"Right!" Paul said as he clicked his fingers with a smile.

Jake was now standing in the middle of the room with all the people he had hit. Peter, Kate, Emily, Alex, Harry, Andrew, Chim, RL, Kron standing and circulating around him.

"I'm sure you have all learnt one thing or the other, so time to end this lecture." Jake smiled and then snapped his fingers.

"Cloning." He mumbled.

Chapter 315 A Test!

Jake was now standing in the middle of the room with all the people he had hit. Peter, Kate, Emily, Alex, Harry, Andrew, Chim, RL, Kron standing and circulating around him.

"I'm sure you have all learnt one thing or the other, so time to end this lecture."
Jake smiled and then snapped his fingers.

"Cloning." He mumbled.

And then the familiar puffs of smoke appeared all around him producing five Jakes plus the real one making them six.

"Ah C'mon!" Peter screamed in frustration as he could see Jake taking it up the next level.

"Jake! Please snap out of this!" Kate pleaded as she had seen the power of the clones from the news earlier and she knew what tremendous power they held.

"Let's see how y'all deal with this." Jake smiled and then raised his hand up.
"Clones charge!"

Immediately, all the five clones dashed forward from their positions towards the humans in front of them. Jumping up and throwing a roundhouse kick towards Alex.

He lifted his arm to block it but he was still sent skidding and before he could regain his footing, he could see the clone in front of him throwing a hook from the side that landed squarely on Alex's head pushing him back.

While Kate was seen shooting arrows at the clone coming towards her but it was avoiding them precisely. Remembering Jake's advice of earlier and seeing the clone closing in quick, she jumped back and began shooting out arrows after arrows while moving around the room.

This made it slightly difficult for the clone to block them all as they were coming from different directions and finally, infusing her Qi into another arrow, she shot it out towards the clone's head and it crashed into it causing it to go into puffs of smoke.

"I did it! I defeated Jake!" Kate said excitedly.

"Yes you did, but you left yourself open." She heard a voice say and then turning around, she could see Jake in front of her with a weird grin on his face.

He was about to hit her when something wrapped around his hand stopping him. Looking closely, he could see it was a whip and knowing who it belonged to, he just casually flexed his bicep causing the whip to snap.

"What the hell?! That was an advanced tier whip you just snapped like a twig darn it!" Chim shouted when he suddenly felt a gust of wind hit him in the face and looking up, he could see Jake in front of him with a deadly stare on his face.

"You are begining to piss me off you know." He said and then he grabbed Chim by the neck while lifting him up.

He was about to slam him back down when an axe strike from Peter crashed into his hand causing him to drop Chim down. Then a Qi infused punch to his gut sent him skidding.

Feeling something in the air, he quickly turned around and his face was met with a roundhouse kick from Sophia causing him to stumble towards Alex's path that was coating his hand with his fiery visual Qi while leaving nothing surrounding his body.

"You are right, even with the Slade's blood running through my veins, I'm still the weakest but I can still deal with you!" He shouted as he unleashed the most powerful punch he had ever did before towards Jake's gut causing him to throw out spit and was flung away crashing into the table.

"That should keep him down for a while." Alex mumbled and then his eyes widened in shock as he could see Jake slowly standing up with his upper clothes ripped off due to Alex's fiery Qi.

"Impressive! Not only did you all manage to defeat my clones quickly, you also managed to learn how to work together." Jake commended as he was unable to see his clones around while those the clones attacked were slightly injured.

"Jake! What has come over you?" Sunny asked as he took a stance.

"Me? What has come over me? You guys kept the son of that Beta werewolf around and you are asking what has come over me? I'm doing what you guys failed to do." He said.

"But I wasn't aware that my dad was a werewolf!" Andrew shouted then he coughed out specks of blood.

'Darn it! The single punch he gave me was enough to rupture my internal organs.' he thought.

"Who are you trying to deceive here? Are you trying to say that for all the years you have been with Blip, you didn't know that he was a werewolf?" Jake asked furiously.

'How am I going to prove to him that I wasn't aware?' Andrew thought in desperation.

"I didn't." Andrew said.

"Very well then, you still have to pay for what your dad caused me as I'm going to avenge the sins of the father on the son." Jake smirked when he saw Alex standing in front of Andrew shielding him.

Find your next adventure on My Virtual Library Empire

So did the rest as they formed a circle around him while Kate walked forward towards Jake.

"Jake!" She called out softly. "Please snap out of this, you are not like this."

"Truly, I'm not like this." Jake laughed out loud in amusement then he walked away from Kate and went to take his seat while looking at the bewildered members.

"Yo! You all should come and sit, I am no longer attacking you all again." He said and they were further confused.

"You all should listen to him, as he is saying the truth, he is not going to attack again." Paul said as he and Wilfred took a seat.

"So what was all that for?" Peter asked furiously.

"A test and some sort of training for you all." Jake smiled.

"What type of bullshit is that?" Peter shouted furiously.

"Will you pipe down? Let's listen to what he has to say." Alex said and then he went forward to take his seat so did the others as they prepared to listen to what Jake had to say.

Chapter 316 The beginning of a powerhouse {1}

"Yo! You all should come and sit, I am no longer attacking you all again." He said and they were further confused.

"You all should listen to him, as he is saying the truth, he is not going to attack again." Paul said as he and Wilfred took a seat.

"So what was all that for?" Peter asked furiously.

"A test and some sort of training for you all." Jake smiled.

"What type of bullshit is that?" Peter shouted furiously.

"Will you pipe down? Let's listen to what he has to say." Alex said and then he went forward to take his seat so did the others as they prepared to listen to what Jake had to say.

"Alright, we are all ears now." Geo said as he was also in the room but hadn't attacked Jake.

"Great! So the reason I acted that way, although I wanted to kill Andrew," Jake said and Andrew broke out into a sweat.

"But your intervention made me change my plans and decided to test your strengths. I know I have seen you all fight but it wasn't enough for what I wanted.

So I was like, if you all could handle someone that defeated a Beta werewolf, you are good to go."

"What the hell?! We could barely defeat an Omega werewolf, and you wanted us to defeat you? A monster!" Peter said.

"You could have killed us you know?" Chim added staring at Jake.

"Not like I really cared about what happened to you though." Jake replied as he looked at Chim.

And he shivered under the gaze of Jake remembering what happened earlier.

'I didn't want to believe it earlier but truly with his monstrous strength, this kid is the werewolf slayer.' Chim thought.

"Anyway, I'm really sorry for attacking all of you like that out of the blue but if I had told you all, you wouldn't have taken the fight seriously. So the only way to produce the desired result was to make you all think your life was on the line." Jake said.

"So that's what's with the whispering and advice." Harry said.

"Correct! Through the fight, I was able to observe your strengths and weaknesses and hereby give necessary advice." Jake said.

"Well, thanks to your little test, I'm now sore all over." Peter complained. "Why did you even hit that hard? You could have taken it easy on us."

"My bad." Jake chuckled.

"Well, what's your decision about Andrew?" General Paul asked.

"I have no problem with him now. Even though his life was on the line, he didn't transform or was unable to cause he isn't a werewolf so he is clean in my eyes. But if he wants to stick with us, he has to join the Fang hunters officially." Jake said.

"I... I will join. I need to atone for my father's sins." Andrew replied.

"Good then, meet Alex later after the meeting to send you a contract invitation." Jake said then he turned towards the Rave lord.

"Before you continue," Rave lord said as he stood up and walked towards Jake. "I heard all you did for my city even though it wasn't your intention, you saved my city twice and therefore protecting my daughter's life."

And for that, I'm really grateful and I'm indebted to you." He said as he bowed down slightly.

"It's okay, Helen is now my close friend. We are pretty close now." Jake said and Kate shot him a death stare.

Explore stories on My Virtual Library Empire

'Pretty close? Is it that close?' she thought and her mind began displaying lewd images. 'No no! He can't do that, I'm sure they aren't that close.'

"I also heard that Berg and Helen are also part of the Fang hunters now, so I have decided to merge my guild with yours and for that, I want you to allow me join your guild." The RL said as he got down on one knee with his fist planted on the ground.

"Now that's a surprise." Jake said genuinely surprised as he looked at the Rave lord on his knees.

"There's no need to think long and hard, I accept your request." Jake said and immediately sent the Rave lord a request.

His reaction was the same as others whenever they see a system screen in front of them then a piece of paper floating into their hands. He did the procedure as normal without any hesitation and the symbol of the Fang hunters appeared on his neck.

"Now that's a first." Jake said as he looked at the symbol on the RL's neck.

"I also want to join your great guild oh werewolf slayer!" Chim said as he quickly knelt down in front of Jake.

"Are you sure?" Jake asked.

"Very sure! I want my small town to also be associated with the Fang hunters so please let me join." Chim said.

"Very well then." Jake said and sent him a contract invitation causing the symbol to appear on his arm. After everything was done, he went back to his seat while messing around with the system in front of his eyes.

During the process of Jake inviting Helen's dad and Chim, Alex had also sent an invitation to Andrew and now, he was a member of the Fang hunters.

"Now that is out of the way, let us discuss what to do about this city." General Paul said.

"There's nothing to really discuss about it. Since Jake bested the leader of the guild and city, naturally he is now the leader of the iron fist guild." Andrew said.

"Although I'm the next of kin to inherit the guild since the leader, vice leader and all core members are dead, I would like for the werewolf slayer to have the guild."

"So what do you say Jake?" Alex asked looking at Jake.

"Don't you think this is a lot? I mean, I barely survived against the leader of the number 3 independent Guild. What if the big three decided to attack cause of the fear of me growing stronger than them?" He asked.

"If they wanted to attack, they would have done so already especially knowing that you are slightly weakened and recovering." General Wilfred said.

"Exactly! Remember I said that the big three love to act like gods and won't interfere in mere mortals issues. If they were worried about people growing stronger than them, they would have attacked the big five independent Guilds before they even had the chance of becoming who they were now." Alex explained.

"Taking over the iron fist guild, will put the Fang hunters at the ladder of the big three independent Guilds. The iron fist guild is a rank A guild, together with a rank B guild which is the Raven wings and rank C guild which the main fang hunters Guild, we are now basically a power house." Peter added.

"So what do you have to say then werewolf slayer?" General Paul asked.

"Then I say let's do it and if the big three decides to attack, then screw them!" Jake said.

Chapter 317 The beginning of a powerhouse {2}

*Two weeks later*

The whole had finally heard that the iron fist had now been taken over by the Fang hunters and it was going through heavy rebuilding and remodelling. As the iron fist guild was no longer known by that name, rather it was known as the Fang hunters.

Even Raven wing's city had also announced that they were merging with the Fang hunters now so did Hage town even though people didn't really know the town. And now, in just a month, the Fang hunters' guild had now become a power house than ever before as they took over two of the independent Guilds.

After the terrible war between the two guilds, the iron fist guild lost about two hundred thousand men leaving about two hundred thousand more men left in the guild that now pledged their allegiance to the Fang hunters.

Although some of them left, about a thousand or so but it wasn't noticeable as it was like a drop in the ocean. The news channels were all talking about the Fang hunters as they became the hot topic amongst people in the whole world.

And the name on everybody's mouths was the werewolf slayer as the devastating battle that took place between the Beta werewolf and the werewolf slayer was still fresh in everybody's minds.

Even the phoenix guild were still contemplating on what to do while the thunder bolt guild, the guild Harry and Sebastian were from, were also wary of the Fang hunters and were treading carefully.

Taking over the Fang hunters, meant the Fang hunters now had more beast portals at the tip of their fingers as they were now able to hunt more beasts and make more better equipment. Kate, General Wilfred, Geo, Sunny, Kron, Sophia, Emily, nurse Hayley had all gone back to the academy leaving Jake, Paul, Alex, Peter and Andrew to take care of the iron fist guild.

Over the weeks, everything had been going on well as more people that were skeptical of the Fang hunters were now openly doing trades with them. They had been restricted for fear of the iron fist guild attacking them but now that they were no more, they could do as they wanted.

Everything had been going on well until one certain day, every single human on Earth all received a notification on whatever devices they used that there was an important live video message from the big three that was scheduled by noon.

Immediately, they had all forgotten about the Fang hunters and were now excited to see the Big three on their screens and they couldn't help but wonder what their great saviours wanted to say to them mortals.

Even Jake and the rest had all received the same notification and they were pleasantly surprised by the content of the message as they all gathered in the big meeting room where the battle between both guilds' core members took place.

It was finally rebuilt and was looking better than before with a desk at the back for personal use while a round meeting table in the centre with chairs all around it. The room was unusually large so it was able to house all the things there.

At the table sat Jake, Peter, Alex, Andrew and General Paul as they waited for noon patiently so they could listen to whatever the big three wanted to say.

"So this is the power the big three holds huh?" Jake mumbled loudly and everybody were able to hear it. "Just one notification from them, I'm sure the whole world are waiting patiently for what they are about to say."

"That is the power of the world leaders." General Paul said and they all felt their watches vibrating.

"It's time." Alex said and a circular object was placed on the table then a transparent screen appeared letting the whole table see what was being displayed.

Immediately it was turned on, three faces came into view. And Alex recognized the faces as they were the faces of the big three.

"You sure look like your dad huh." Peter commented as he stared at Rex Slade, Alex's father.

The big three were all seated on a chair each while whatever that was recording them, was able to capture their faces all at once letting the whole world see their so-called saviours. Discover exclusive content at My Virtual Library Empire

Sitting around the round table, were three men. One of them was Rex Slade; the leader of the Slade family. The one who practically founded Qi before the others knew about it.

Then sitting by his right side was another man who had brown hair and fierce look to his eye. He held a walking cane but it was more like a style for him rather than to aid him in walking.

The cane had a dragon head designed to it. This man was who was known as Rivoock Dem; the leader of the Dem family; Jack's father. The Dem family had powers that was quite kept secret from the world and nobody knew about it.

The other big three knew they held powers but they didn't know what it was. Because Rivoock had just used his brute strength to aid in the war and that was what made their family dangerous and also what earned him the seat at the top.

The last person on the table was a man who had black hair and had a slim athletic build. And he was none other than Bane Josh; the leader of the Josh family.

The creator of advanced technologies that was spread all around but hadn't reached the towns nor the city Aurora Academy claimed because they wanted the children to focus on the training rather than fun.

He also held power over technologies that were dangerous and that was what also earned him a position at the top with the rest.

"Greetings everybody!" Rex began addressing everybody that were watching them. "I'm sure you are all wondering what the big three has to say to you all as we hardly made a public appearance to you all before but now, here we are. So I won't beat around the bush, I will go straight to the point."

"We are weakening and we need the help of you all!"

Chapter 318 Challenge accepted

After the Fang hunters took over the iron fist guild, everything was going on smoothly and the people didn't hear from the big three at all which further cemented what Jake heard from Alex that the big three hardly interferes in the matters of 'mortals'.

But that all changed when every single person in the whole Earth received a notification saying that the big three had an important announcement to make by noon. Waiting patiently, it was finally noon but the next thing that would come out from Rex Slade's mouth was shocking.

"Greetings everybody!" Rex began addressing everybody that were watching them. "I'm sure you are all wondering what the big three has to say to you all as we hardly made a public appearance to you all before but now, here we are. So I won't beat around the bush, I will go straight to the point."

"We are weakening and we need the help of you all!"

"What the hell?!" Alex shouted in shock as he heard what his dad just said.

"Calm down, let's allow him land." General Paul said as he was now listening in keenly.

"I know that what I said must have shocked or confused some if not all of you, but it's true. The human race has begun to grow weaker and it's worrying as we are sure that another war is on the horizon." Rex explained.

"You all may be confused now, so let me quickly go straight to the point. We the big three have seen that our strength isn't going to be enough again to combat the werewolves. So we want to create a new spot for the fresh blood." Bane said.

'A new spot? What are they yapping about now?' Jake thought.

Continue your journey with My Virtual Library Empire

"We want to create a new seat at our table and call it the big four instead of the big three. So we want to invite every single top guilds to try their luck to earn a spot with us." Rivock explained.

"We would have just tried to invite one of the top three independent Guilds over, but it won't be fair to the others that have good potential so we want to make this as fair as possible to you all including the small time guilds." Rex said.

"For you all to understand what we are about to say, let's go on a little short history lesson." Bane said. "You see, aside from Earth, we have about thirty beast planets in the surrounding Earth."

"What the hell is he saying?" Jake asked.

"He is right! Wait, don't you all know this already?" General Paul asked and they all shook their heads. "Darn! What are you kids being taught in school?"

"Hey! Wasn't the military academy our school?" Peter asked as he raised an eyebrow towards General Paul.

Paul was about to reply when they heard Bane continue what he was saying.

"Out of these forty beast planets, the werewolves have taken over ten of them. Which is why they are able to attack Earth any time they feel like but they aren't able to as the big three have a hold of ten beast planets that are directly surrounding Earth while the ones the werewolves have a hold off, are a little further away." Bane said.

"So that leaves us with forty beast planets left that are untouched by anybody but are teeming with dangerous beasts." Rivock added.

"Hold on, then what portal are we using to hunt beasts?" Jake asked as he listened to what was being said.

"Aren't you listening at all?" Paul asked. "There are forty beast planets in outer space but there's at least ten in a far away distance on Earth that it would make it difficult for beasts to get here but we can go there using portals. Those ten planets were conquered by some of the guilds and the academy too."

"Oh!" Jake said understanding what was now being said.

"So, in order for us to choose the guild or group that will be deserving of a seat with us, we want to throw an open challenge to you all." Rex smiled through the screen. "Any guild or group that could conquer the highest amount of the untouched beast planets, will be invited to take a seat with us forming the big four."

"When he says conquer, does that mean we have to kill the beasts there and take a hold of the planets?" Peter asked.

"Yes! But not all the beasts as we would still need some for hunting and stuff. So we just have to kill the highest tier of beasts there and then take our hold on the planets." General Paul answered.

"And that is our criteria for anybody to join us." Rivock said.

"So, that is what we have to say. May the strongest and smartest guild win!" They all said at once and immediately, the live video ended at once leaving everybody's screen blank.

And now, everybody were left wondering on which guilds would take the challenge and also who would win and be apart of the future big four.

"So what do we do now?" Alex asked as he looked at Jake for an answer.

"I think it will be wise to take up this challenge. Not only will it benefit us if we stay at the top of the ladder, more beast planets means more beasts to hunt. More beasts to hunt, more and better equipment for us." Peter said.

"You guys are forgetting one thing." Paul said with a sigh.

"And what is that?" Alex asked.

"What was the last thing that big three said?" Paul asked.

"They said may the strongest and smartest guild win." Andrew replied.

"Correct! Which means not only will we have to worry about conquering beasts, we would also have to worry about us getting conquered by other guilds. If we were to start now, we would still be short of planets and so, we would need to attack other planets conquered by other guilds." Paul explained.

"I don't think it will come to that." Andrew said.

"I don't really care about that. All I want is for us to take up the challenge so I can have a chance to battle against strong beasts." Alex said.

"Well, the decision rest on our leader." Peter said. "So what do you have to say Jake?"

Jake wasn't really listening before as he remembered that he had been given a quest by the system before which he decided to check until his name was called pulling him out of his thoughts and then his eyes navigated back to the system screen shining while staring back at him.

<Quests>

<Main quest>

<Grow your own power and topple the Big three>

Closing the system screen, he turned back to the others.

"I say challenge accepted!" Jake said and the room erupted in cheers.

Chapter 319 An offer

After accepting the challenge thrown towards them by the big three, General Paul quickly got to work by informing Head General Humfree and excitedly, he got to work preparing the guild for what was to come. Jake had decided to return back to the main base soon for the preparation but he still needed to get things together in the iron fist city so he left everything to Head General Humfree and the rest.

The iron fist city was currently going through recruitment process, while trying to open trade to other cities and guilds so the city could function properly.

Meanwhile, anytime Jake walked out into the streets, he was always surrounded by paparazzi's trying to get an autograph from him or something. While some die hard fans like the females always asked for more drastic things.

Either to spend a night with them, or for hugs or kisses so Jake always tried his best to avoid stepping out so he left everything to the others while he trained indoors.

But today, he was tired of training and needed a break so he decided to step out but he needed a disguise of some sorts. And now, he was currently pacing around his huge room in thought.

"I can't wear my mask out because I will still be crowded since everyone knows who I look like. And I don't have anything to wear to not draw attention to me." He shouted in frustration while walking towards a wide window off to the side.

Getting there, he looked out towards the city and he could see that all the destroyed buildings were now back to normal with more high rising buildings being erected for different purposes.

Jake didn't want to use the huge mansion building he was in as a guild base again so he ordered for other buildings be created to serve different purposes like a guildhall, buildings for the guild members to stay in for free, blacksmithing buildings and so on.

Looking out, he could see some people wearing different masks walking around carefree.

"Hmm! Masks are not that weird to see right now so I can probably wear the devil's mask no problem since nobody knows about him." Jake mumbled and then smiled before he quickly equipped the other mask which was the mask he wore when he fought against the members of the viper's nest.

Equipping it, he swiftly left the mansion and was out in the open with people walking around minding their business. After a few days, Jake had addressed the public of the iron fist about taking over and they were excited about it.

So since then, there weren't people around the mansion only the adventurers that were part of the Fang hunters that were allowed to roam around the mansion.

Walking away from the mansion, Jake began roaming around the place looking at the people happily going about their businesses without any care in the world.

He passed by so many places. Malls, shops, the guildhall and several more places and he was satisfied by what he was seeing as the guild was functioning the way he wanted it to.

Finally, his feet brought him to the some stalls. He passed different types of stalls that sold different types of things while using his inspect skill to take a look at the qualities of the materials.

He passed by scarves, weapons, robes and some other things before he came over to a stall that sold machinery equipment. His eyes surveyed the equipment while using his inspect skill to take a look at its quality.

"Come over to Jade way's stall! The stall that sells the best machinery. Is it kitchen appliances? Drones? Cloaking devices or anything, we have you covered!" Jake heard someone screaming from the stall he was directly looking at.

The person was a somewhat scrawny looking teenager with blonde hair who was raising a drone up and shouting trying to attract passers-by to his stall. Seeing nobody interested, he just placed the drones back on the counter and looked down cast with his head down.

Enjoy more content from My Virtual Library Empire

"It's always the same thing everyday, no one bothers to come here and check my stall out. They just skim past, pick one or two equipment and then leave. They don't even bother to stay to see more or even buy anything.

They just leave or I sometimes get ignored like today. No matter how hard I try, it's always the same result. I want to give up." The teenager said then he clenched his fist tightly.

"But I can't, because I feel like some day, one day, it's going to be better. And I will get recognized by the whole world for my talent and possibly good looks." He chuckled when he saw a shadow cast over him.

Looking up, he could see an individual with a mask on his face standing in front of him and surveying the stall.

"Good day gentle sir! Wanna buy something? What are you looking for? I will get it for you." The teenager quickly said as he shot out of his seat excitedly and began picking some things trying to show to the man.

"Are you Jade way? The owner of this stall?" The man asked.

"Yes! The one and only Jade way." Jade said as he pushed his blonde hair back in an awesome pose then he suddenly froze and looked at the man in front of him. "And may I know who is asking?"

Picking up a drone and casting his inspect skill on it, the man didn't respond.

{Inspect}

{Grade 2 air drone: capable of withstanding mini shockwaves.}

{Creator: Jade Way}

The masked individual in front of Jade was Jake and he got attracted to the stall after seeing and inspecting the equipment from afar and when he got close, he heard the teenager's mumblings and couldn't help but be touched.

'All equipment I usually see, always has the name Josh's as the creator. I think that's Sophia's family right? So they are the big three responsible for all the technologies in the world. But this is the first time I'm seeing a different creator that is quite good.' Jake thought as he eyed Jade up.

'A grade 2 drone, capable of withstanding mini shockwaves. Which means shockwaves produced by two intermediate beasts, isn't capable of destroying it. It's a bit weaker than the ones that surveyed the fight between me and Blip but it is still good.'

"Uhm excuse me mister, but are you going to buy anything?" Jade asked. "Or will you leave like how everybody does?" He mumbled which didn't go unheard by Jake.

"I'm not actually here to buy anything." Jake said.

"I knew it." Jade mumbled again dejectedly.

"But I'm here to propose an offer to you." Jake smiled.

"What kind of an offer?" Jade asked.

Chapter 320 Welcome to the Fang hunters

"Uhm excuse me mister, but are you going to buy anything?" Jade asked. "Or will you leave like how everybody does?" He mumbled which didn't go unheard by Jake.

"I'm not actually here to buy anything." Jake said.

"I knew it." Jade mumbled again dejectedly.

"But I'm here to propose an offer to you." Jake smiled.

"What kind of an offer?" Jade asked.

"An offer to become the greatest tech guru I know you are." Jake said with a smile that wasn't visible because of the mask.

Jade just burst out into laughter after hearing what the masked stranger said and he just wafted his hands around.

"Please mister, I'm in no mood for jokes whatsoever. If you are not buying anything, then I will appreciate it if you could kindly leave rather than telling me impossible things." Jade said and then he snatched the drone from Jake's hand.

"Jade way, you have potential. Potential to rival the big three in charge of technologies. I know it after seeing what you have here. All you need right now, is the right motivation and visibility then I know you will soar high in the world." Jake said and Alex paused what he was doing while clenching his hands.

"But how... how am I supposed to soar and receive visibility when these annoying people wouldn't even buy or test my equipment out? I'm so frustrated right now, every day, every single f*cking day, they always walk past my stall without purchasing anything.

They would see my product but ignore it because to them, it isn't useful. As long as it isn't swords, or battle stuff, then it is useless to them. But what they fail to understand is, some of these could be used in battle too." Jade vented out.

"So please, as long as you are neither the big three or any important figure in the world that could help me, then kindly walk past like the others do."

"What if I told you I was an important figure?" Jake asked and then Jade raised an eyebrow in confusion.

With a sigh, Jake looked around to see that nobody was looking his way before he pulled out the mask on his face to reveal his identity to Jade.

But what he didn't expect was the expression on Jade's face as his eyebrows were raised higher again in confusion as he stared at Jake's face.

"Who are you?" He asked.

"What?! What do you mean? Don't you recognize me?" Jake asked almost breaking out into a shout but he quickly composed himself.

"Am I supposed to recognize you? Yoo dude, I don't know you." Jade said.

"But... but... how is this possible? I was all over the news, my face was on display that day so how don't you recognize me?" Jake asked. "Do you know who the werewolf slayer is?"

"Oh yeah, that dude that fought against a Beta werewolf that attacked Aurora and then waged war against Iron Fist City and then battled against Blip who turned out to be a Beta werewolf himself." Jade replied.

"So how don't you recognize me?" Jake asked.

"Wait! Are you... are you the... the werewolf slayer?" Jade asked as his eyes widened in shock and then Jake nodded his head confirming his theory before putting the mask back on his face.

"But you look young." Jade said slightly doubting Jake's words.

"Didn't you watch the news about the fight against Blip?" Jake asked.

"Nope! I was in my base locked in working on more gadgets and equipment that I might get lucky to sell." Jade replied.

"That explains it." Jake said with a sigh. "Okay, now that you know who I am, how about my offer of earlier? I want you to join the Fang Hunters officially as our tech guru."

"No thanks! I don't want to work under anybody, I want to be free and build my own empire under my own name." Jade replied bluntly before Jake even finished his words.

"You didn't even let me finish." Jake said shaking his head. "I know that you wanted to say that because I also felt the same way after all. I didn't want to work under anybody, not the big three, not the independent Guilds. And that's what prompted me to create my own guild."

"I thought you just took over Aurora and decided to turn it into a guild after saving it." Jade said with a raised brow.

"I did take over the reins of Aurora, but u already decided to create my own guild before. So I understand what you are trying to convey. But you won't really be under the Fang hunters, you could create the empire you said you want to build, but we will provide the funds to do that.

We would provide the funds, take care of everything including protection and all. All you have to do, is to create as much gadgets as you want and we will help bring it out to the world. When you have gained your footing, we would begin taking 10 percent of all the profits you make. So this is technically a business deal." Jake explained.

Jade who had his hands crossed, was listening to what the werewolf slayer was saying intently and truth be told, what he was saying was making sense and quite enticing.

"So what do you have to say about this?" Jake asked Jade who was initially deep in thought.

"Assuming it was the big three that approached me, or the other independent Guilds, I would have refused because I know they would overshadow and take the credits of my work." Jade began speaking.

"But even though you are technically now part of the top independent Guilds, you are still a new guild that haven't fully gotten the people's favour. Which will work well for me as you are all growing your power and status, I would also be doing the same alongside your guild. So, I accept your proposal."

"Great! I knew you would accept. So how about we make it official?" Jake asked and then he clicked a tab on his system.

{Contract}

He sent an invitation over to Jade and without hesitation, he signed it.

"It's official then, welcome to the Fang hunters." Jake smiled. Stay updated via My Virtual Library Empire

