

Supremacy 331

Chapter 331 - Taking Care of The Threats!

'Think, think...' Felix's brain was going overload by the many possibilities and combinations he had from his abilities. However, he kept discarding every one of them after finding some faults.

300 meters...200 meters...

The turtles kept getting nearer and nearer to each other. Yet, Felix didn't make any drastic moves as he kept gazing at Blue Whale from afar.

'I need to bait him into stopping!' In the end, Felix decided on going with a discarded plan since he was short in time to think of the perfect one.

'150 or so meters are left.' He calculated the distance between Blue Whale and his Turtle one last time before switching back to his real body.

Immediately after opening his eyes, he placed a hand on his chest and created a copy of himself. He then ordered it to jump into the water!

Thus, under the eyes of Drunken Cat, Felix's copy exited from behind the large bucket and walked to the edge of the shell.

'Lucky! It's actually Landlord!'

Excited, Drunken Cat sent a message while swiftly sliding down the neck of the Turtle. The moment Felix showed himself, there was no point in staying on top of the Turtle's head.

'Already saw him...What the hell??!' Blue Whale exclaimed after seeing Felix's clone jump abruptly headfirst into the water.

Doubtful, he switched his vision from the Turtle to his real body that was underwater.

He couldn't help but feel like his eyes were tricking him as he could see that Felix was trying to catch a luxurious diamond-like fish!

'Landlord is trying to capture a rare fish with his hands.' He sent this message while trying his best to hide behind other fish near him.

'I can see that he left some black giant to guard the bucket!'

Drunken Cat reported back while narrowing her slits at The Eagle Guardian that had emerged from behind the bucket as well and stood guard near it.

He was frozen in a peculiar position like he was trying to throw the spear in his hand.

Before, Drunken Cat couldn't see him since the Turtle's head that was deep in the Bucket was blocking her vision.

'Plan?' Blue Whale asked straightaway.

'I will keep watching. You take care of him underwater.' Drunken Cat sent a message solemnly, 'Something is fishy about the situation. He can't be that stupid to jump into the water after noticing our Turtles. Plus, that black giant seems like he was going to attack our Turtles.'

'Alright, you take care of that golem. Leave Landlord to me.' Blue Whale sent a message with a confident tone, 'No matter what's his plan, as long as I am in the water, I am invincible in this game.'

'Stop bragging and make a move.' Drunken Cat said, 'Who knows he might be that greedy to jump for a rare fish in this situation and it's not a trap.'

Upon hearing so, Blue Whale stopped thinking about it and started kicking with his morphed back fin, increasing his speed even further.

Felix who was looking at this sight got a bit tensed to succeed in a single attempt.

However, he didn't falter as he started his plan by transferring his senses to his clone in the water.

After doing so, Felix acted like he was terrified after noticing the incoming Blue Whale. Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #!_52415519508191276 for visiting.

He started swimming back to the surface while glancing from time to time behind him with an agitated expression.

He always let out bubbles from his mouth, making it seem like he was having difficulty holding his breath.

Seeing him behave like this, Blue Whale removed all doubts he had about this being bait.

He understood if this was bait, Felix shouldn't have reacted excessively like that as it was too obvious that he was trying to bait him!

In his mind, any smart player would have acted a bit subtle and not make it as dramatic as possible not to give themselves away!

'Idiot, he truly jumped for a fish.' Blue Whale glanced at the diamond-like fish that was swimming in circles and thought, 'Maybe it is epic and legendary? After all, fish shouldn't have been able to swim next to the Rainbow Turtle.'

Alas, he completely missed the hidden glint in the eyes of that diamond-fish!

Splosh!!

'Whatever, I will come back for it later.'

Seeing Felix had reached the surface, Blue Whale removed those distracting thoughts from his mind and pointed his blue palm at Felix's bottom.

WHOOSH!!

'Hehe, sorry for your loss.' Blue Whale grinned in ridicule and fired from his palm a Bubbly Hydro Beam of water at Felix's nether region!

The hydro-beam didn't take even a single millisecond to reach Felix's clone and smash through it like it was made of glass!

'What the hell?' Blue Whale was startled by the sight as he was expecting a cloud of blood not brownish particles!

'Now!'

Felix who was watching this from the eyes of the diamond fish instantly switched his senses to the silent Eagle Guardian, who was placed in a perfect hurling animation!

Felix literally didn't even need to aim or make any time-consuming movements.

He tightened his grip and threw the spear exactly through the cloud of sand from his copy!!

WHOOSH!!

'WATCH OUT!!' Drunken Cat yelled in horrifaction after seeing the abrupt spear penetrate the water with an unprecedented speed that shook her core!

Alas, her warning came a little bit too late as the moment the spear appeared in the Blue Whale's vision, it was already 1 inch in front of his chest!

Schhwaff!!

The black spear pierced the heart of Blue Whale and exited from the other side, slightly weakened. But it still kept going and going until...THUD!

It struck a rock and stayed implanted on it with some drops of blood raising from the pointy eagle beak.

In denial and disbelief, Blue Whale placed a hand at the gaping hole where his heart was supposed to be and opened his mouth slightly trying to speak.

Alas, only blood managed to leave through his parted lips.

'Blue Whale, are you fine.'

'Blue Whale, send a message already.'

The last words heard in Blue Whale's mind were from the Queen's monotonous voice, appearing like she was caring for him.

But in reality, the moment he was deemed dead a split second later, she didn't hesitate to explode his consciousness to oblivion, killing him straightaway in real life.

She was the Queen, the judge, the assistant, the leader...And lastly, the Grim Reaper.

'One down, another to go.'

Felix switched back to his real body when he noticed that his ambush had ended up being successful. Then, he walked in the open with hands in his hoodie's pockets.

He merely kept standing in front of the Eagle Guardian while inspecting The Rainbow Turtle in front of him.

No matter how hard he looked, there was no sign of Drunken Cat.

If he had his infrared vision, he wouldn't be having difficulty locating her while she was invisible.

Alas, this was the human bloodline system. You can't have it all.

While Felix was glancing everywhere with a lax attitude, Drunken Cat was actually gazing at him from behind!!

She had already used her peak ability to emerge from the bucket's shadow after not hearing a response from her ally.

She knew that he was either dead or unconscious but she didn't care much as they were merely ten minutes partners.

Heck, she was glad that he was taken down while helping her expose the strength of the Eagle Guardian and Felix's hidden ability.

She had already figured out that Felix had used a sand copy after seeing brownish particles from earlier.

Upon noticing that no one else was on the shell besides Felix and the Eagle Guardian, she believed that he was the real version.

However, she was still doubtful since there was still the inside of the shell!

That's the only reason she was still standing here instead of emerging from Felix's shadow and slitting his throat.

She didn't want to ambush him to end up killing a clone while the real him was hidden inside the shell.

She knew that she had only one strike.

If she succeeded, this Turtle would belong to her and if she failed, she could only retreat as there was no way in hell she would dare to fight against the Eagle Guardian after seeing that spear hurl!

'Damn, if only there was a shadow near the shell's entrance.' Drunken Cat glanced at the center of the shell in annoyance before focusing on Felix's back again.

She could clearly see that he was standing in the perfect position to make a swift assassination. There was no barrier or shield.

Just emerge, slit his throat and submerge back in the shadow in a split second. Drunken Cat had already done this type of assassination until she got infamous just because of it.

Yet, she still didn't make a rush judgment as patience was a must for assassins.

"Guess it was just him?" Felix murmured while yawning lazily.

The instant Felix spoke, Drunken Cat's thoughts about waiting for the perfect opportunity evaporate into thin air as she knew that copies or clones couldn't speak!

'Hehe, that's it keep lowering your guard.' Drunken Cat's eyes gleamed behind the shadow at the sight of Felix slowly but surely lowering down his guard.

The instant she saw that he was facing the front, she didn't hesitate anymore to activate her ability Shadow Teleportation, which allows her to teleport to nearby shadows in a hundred meters area!

Whoosh!

The process was almost instantaneous as she had emerged wholly from behind Felix while holding into a dark dagger that was emitting black fog.

Alas, just she entered animation to slit Felix's throat from behind. The black sand of the Eagle Guardian instantly propelled itself towards Felix and created half a sphere that separated both of them!

'What the...'

Before she could even blink her eyes at the emergence of the sudden black wall, her hand passed through it with some difficulty but still aiming at Felix's throat.

Alas, one word from Felix had made her attempt obsolete and her fate sealed.

"Harden."

Chapter 332 - Taking Advantage of All The Available Resources.

The black wall abruptly hardened like a brick, freezing Drunken Cat's arm within it!!

'F*ck! Submerge!!' Scared shitless, Drunken Cat hastily decided for an early retreat!

Unfortunately, there was no way Felix was going to let her go after locking into her!

This time, he didn't even need to switch his sense to the Eagle Guardian as one order by him was more than enough to bring down his spear from above in a fierce manner!

"NOOOO! WAIT I CAN PAY!" Drunken Cat screamed with a horrified expression at the sight of the approaching black spear!

She knew that it was too late to escape; the only chance she had was by severing her arm and submerging in the shadow.

Too bad, the spear had already reached her face and Felix still didn't stop it.

By now, she realized that her life was doomed and her memories coursed on her mind in a split second before her brain exploded by the spear!

SPLOOSH!

Blood and brain matter were projected everywhere, tainting the shell's surface but not painting red since its color was already bloodish red.

This time, Felix remained clean as the black hardened wall was covering him.

Upon hearing the notification of gaining an extra 400 GP, Felix relaxed his vigilance as he knew that Drunken Cat was truly dead.

Felix understood that few players had weird abilities that could fool one into believing that he got killed but in reality, he could pop up any moment and turn the battle around.

Those abilities were more prevalent in tier 3 bloodlines+.

Thus, it was always better to relax one's guard only when the game points get awarded.

If it wasn't for so, Felix would have given her a chance to pay for her life as he did with Rosanna.

But, he didn't want to risk it since he knew that Rosanna's element and bloodline made it easy to put her under control, unlike Drunken Cat.

Her element and abilities were too slick and could easily escape if given even a second.

Hence, Felix had to strike as fast as possible! 400 GP was always better than nothing.

'800 GP from two eliminations.' Felix sighed in dejection, 'If only it was like this the bronze and silver games, I would have made a killing in my previous games.'

Naturally, gold players were even tougher to kill than newcomers. Thus the rewarded game points doubled to tempt the bloodliners into committing to kill after each fight.

However, in the viewers' eyes, those kills didn't even seem that hard as both of them had been taken by merely two strikes!

There were no back and forth fights, no elemental salvos. Just two black spears!

The real battle had been taken on a mental and strategic level unbeknownst to the viewers.

Lisa was having trouble commentating on those two scenes as the VIP viewers didn't even know Felix's abilities, don't even mention her.

Especially when the black sand moved on its own to guard Felix against such a certain deadly assassination.

However, since this was the 1st time it was used, no one knew if Felix had seen Drunken Cat with his infrared vision and anticipated her attack, then countered by controlling the sand to block her.

They needed to see more of his fights to get the bigger picture of his sand abilities as currently they were getting quite overwhelmed by their uniqueness and abnormal strength.

While Felix's fans were cheering at the top of their voices at the neat conclusion at those two battles, Lisa and the rest of the viewers were left in confusion at the sight of Felix suddenly jumping into the water.

What is he up to now? They wondered to themselves.

Lisa made sure to zoom the camera into the water and display that Felix was swimming at fast as possible to the bottom of the sea.

His target? Blue Whale's corpse!

After he reached it, Felix caught Blue Whale's corpse by his jacket and dragged him upward with him in a rushed manner.

Splloosh!

The moment he reached the surface, Felix threw the corpse into the shell and followed right after it. Then, he placed his hand on the corpse's shoulder and activated his ability Perfect Sand Copy!

Immediately after, sand started to emerge Felix's other palm while Blue Whale's corpse was breaking into light particles, marking the end of 30 seconds!

'Offf, that was close.' Felix sighed in relief after seeing that Blue Whale's clone had been fully created before his original body disappeared.

"Ohhhh!! That's what he was trying to do!" Lisa exclaimed in shock and awe after peering into the many possibilities of using Blue Whale's clone!

She wasn't stupid in the slightest and neither were the VIP viewers. Thus, they knew that having this clone was a game changer!!

They didn't expect that Felix was sharp enough to plan that far ahead!

In their eyes, he either was already aiming for the players' corpses to copy before the game even began or he believed that he was capable of killing both Blue Whale and Drunken Cat in under 30 seconds to have enough time to copy their corpses!

Whatever it was, they reveled in his intelligence to take advantage of every possible resource!

"Why didn't he copy Drunken Cat as well?" Princess Bird abruptly asked her father after seeing that Drunken Cat's corpse had disappeared a couple of seconds later.

Smack!

Alas, she shouldn't have asked such a retarded question as she had only earned a slap at the back of her head.

The Maganda Chief glared in displeasure at his daughter who seemed like she was getting dumber by the second and answered, "Why would he copy her corpse when her head was utterly blown up?"

Seeing that his daughter was rubbing her head with a wronged expression instead of responding, he asked, "Do you even know the purpose of Blue Whale's clone?" Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #._52433395430518198 for visiting.

"Fool others?"

The Chief's eyebrows twitched and threatened with his knuckles, "Even a three years old kid can guess that. Be more specific!"

"How would I know the thoughts of that cheating bastard?!" She complained while running to the back of the room, not daring to stay next her father.

"Then watch!" The Chief sighed in disappointment, "Hopefully, you learn something useful."

"Who wants to learn from him." Princess Bird mumbled to herself while watching Felix jump off his Turtle into Drunken Cat's Turtle.

As for Blue Whale's copy? It was already ordered to stay inside the shell, hidden from public view.

Felix swiftly went to the entrance to Drunken Cat's shell and went inside.

After locating the fishing materials, Felix threw them outside of the shell and didn't go after them. Instead, he placed his hand on his chest and manifested a copy of himself!

'Stay here for now.' He ordered it and went outside of the shell.

He swiftly carried the boat and the rest of the materials to his own Turtle.

After placing them inside his Turtle's shell next to Blue Whale's clone cleaning his ear lazily, Felix jumped outside and repeated the same process with Blue Whale's Turtle.

He then stayed on his Turtle shell and ordered in his mind for the two Turtles to head into different directions but circle around him in 10 kilometers radius!

The viewers didn't see anything weird about what he did since it was common sense to loot extra fishing materials and send the useless Turtles away as they would merely bring more attention to him.

However, they didn't know what the purpose of leaving clones inside their shells was.

"Is he planning to fool others with them?" Lisa questioned in confusion and added, "I doubt that his copies would continue to exist after leaving a certain range around him right?"

Lisa's take on the matter was being shared by everyone even VIP viewers. They knew that every ability had some range.

It could be just two meters or 1 kilometer.

But there was always a range. The furthest range ever recorded by a legendary tier 7 ability was 15 kilometers! They doubted that Felix had even 20% of that.

Thus, Felix's attempt to fool others wouldn't really work unless those Turtle kept swimming around him or something like that.

Seeing Felix had returned to his chilling position, everyone dropped the matter and decided to wait and see what he had in mind later.

He always seems planning and they were starting to have difficulty keeping up with him.

So far, all of his decisions were quite peculiar and seemed like they didn't serve any purpose. But his true fans knew that Felix never did anything without a purpose!

"It seems like Miss. Mikasa had received the first arrivals on her Turtle." Lisa commented after glancing at Mikasa's screen and noticing that more than 18 Turtles had parked next to her Turtle.

Seeing that Felix had opened a VR store and started browsing for clothes, Lisa tilted her head in confusion, wanting to know what he was aiming at.

But, she still swiped her finger at Mikasa's small screen and placed it on the big screen. The meeting was more important than seeing Felix choosing new clothes.

"Let's watch how the talk is going to end up." Lisa clapped her hands and wished cutely, "Hopefully, they end up in a dramatic fight!"

Too bad for her, the players who gathered around Mikasa didn't show any signs of aggression or trouble. They kept waiting silently for the rest to gather.

Miss Mikasa had already informed them that the discussion would start at the last ten minutes of the feeding stage.

That was the perfect period since they would have more than enough time to talk before starting the 3rd stage.

Before long, Mikasa's Turtle was packed with more than 31 players all standing separately.

Some were standing as twos or even threes, but the majority were still solo.

Most of those solo players were either part of the top ten in the Fishing points list like Golden Elixir and Surreal Fog or part of the top twenty.

Mikasa's announcement truly moved tigers and dragons to take extreme measures against Felix and restart the game after getting rid of him.

"Time's up." Miss Mikasa said calmly after glancing at her bracelet.

Upon hearing so, the players all walked towards her and started gathering in a wide circle. But they still kept their distance from each other and also their guards up.

"I assume that any of you who came here had no intentions of not joining the Alliance. So..."

Miss Mikasa? pressed on her bracelet and displayed a standard contract that was modified slightly for this game. "You have 2 minutes to read it, sign it, then we talk."

Immediately after, each player requested the Queen if the contract was truly standard and highlighted only the modified terms.

For a standard contract, those players had basically memorized it already due to the many times they were exposed to it in the games.

Hence, those two requests were all they needed.

After receiving a positive response, the players read with their eyes the four modified terms.

Upon noticing that everything was loophole-free, they signed it and sent it back to Katarina.

Before long, everyone had officially joined the Mega Alliance and were bound by its rules.

"Alright, you can let down your guards now." Miss Mikasa? pointed at the entrance of her Turtle and said, "Let's carry on our discussion inside so we wouldn't be interrupted by the incoming Oceanic Beast Wave."

"How about we use Golden Elixir's Turtle? Its Shell color is almost green after all." A man with wooden sticks attached to his entire body suggested with a deep voice.

"I don't mind." Miss Mikasa shrugged her shoulders and asked, "But you should ask his permission first."

After saying so, everyone turned their heads to Golden Elixir who had his arms crossed above his golden tattooed chest.

They didn't even need to ask him as he nodded his head slightly in agreement.

"Alright, let's move!"

Miss Mikasa unsheathed her katana and placed it underneath her feet.

Then, she stood on it and ordered the katana to fly forward with her mental energy since it was made from an active ability!

Golden Elixir's Turtle was pretty easy to notice since it was the only one with a different color. The rest were either dark yellow or at a best bright red.

Behind Miss Mikasa, the players were either using their solid-like abilities to fly on them like she was doing or simply jumping from one shell to another.

...

In a short while, inside Golden Elixir's Turtle shell...The players were either sitting on the glass-like floor or leaning on the transparent walls.

Miss Mikasa took it upon herself to be the ring leader and stood in the middle.

It wasn't like the others felt that she deserved it or she was stronger than them. They just didn't want to be doing such a bothersome task that had no benefits.

"Let us begin the meeting to take down Landlord!" Mikasa smiled faintly and said, "Let's give him a warm welcoming to the gold rank."

Chapter 333 - The 1st Beastial Wave!

Each player had a different reaction to her claim. Some chuckled in amusement while others just shook their heads in disapproval.

They could see that Mikasa and the rest were still underestimating Felix even though he clearly destroyed them in the fishing contest.

It should be obvious by now that looking down on him would bore no good results. But they didn't say anything to advise them.

They were merely temporary allies and didn't mind if someone ended up getting killed by Felix to lower the players' number even further.

"Surreal Fog, do you have any suggestions to catch Landlord?" Miss Mikasa requested while eyeing a man who was wearing a foggy scarf, hiding half of his face.

Surreal Fog opened his pupil-less grey eyes and looked at Miss Mikasa.

He stayed silent for a second before proposing with a peculiar irritating voice, "We need to split up into a fishing crew and a hunting crew. The fishing crew will have only 3 fishers responsible for feeding one Turtle and raising its toughness as much as possible. That Turtle will remain stationary and be considered as everyone's retreating base in case we didn't find Landlord before the final beastial wave."

He paused for a second to catch his breath and carried on, "Meanwhile, the hunting crew will not be fishing nor feeding their Turtles."

Immediately after he said so, most players' expressions changed to the worst as they realized where he was aiming with his plan before he could even finish it.

They didn't like the sound of it one bit. However, no one interrupted Surreal Fog, leaving him to finish his piece first.

"They will be responsible for locating Landlord and sending the coordination first and foremost. We will attack only after we make sure that his Turtle got surrounded."

After saying so, Surreal Fog coughed and closed his eyes again, not interested in explaining every detail of his plan. They were smart lads to get it.

"I don't think that the plan is faulty but.." Golden Elixir said with his eyebrows frowned, "Who will be the fisher and who will be the hunter?"

The players' ears perked up after this issue was finally brought out. They didn't like Surreal Fog's plan simply because it wasn't fair to everyone.

After all, the fishers would have it easy by remaining behind while traveling to locate Felix.

The worst thing, the fishers would be getting fishing points, pushing them higher and higher in the ranks.

Well, as long as Felix wasn't dead, it wouldn't matter much if they had collected 20k FP.

However, the moment the hunters end up killing Felix, those fishers would break apart from the Alliance contract's constraints while having the most fishing points.

To add salt into injury, they might steal the fortified Turtle!

If that happened, all the hunters would end up dying after their weak Turtle shell gets broken apart by the 2nd Oceanic Beastial Wave!

So, there was a massive disparity between being the fisher and the hunter.

No one would dare accept being a hunter since it would actually be far worse than just carrying on playing the game on their own.

They might not win but at least they could survive and obtain some game points.

"So what's their next move now?" Lisa wondered what's on everyone's mind as they watched the atmosphere of the meeting getting tensed.

Each player had an idea or two on how to better the plan but they kept hold of them until they see what other propose first.

They merely kept glancing at each other, waiting for suggestions to come.

Upon seeing their passiveness, Mikasa knitted her eyebrows and took the lead by mentioning, "First, I suggest the fishers be picked randomly by the Queen. Second, the fishers would have to sign another contract as double insurance."

The players took a couple of seconds to think deeply about their choice. Although they had signed a contract, they could still quit now and back off.

However, the moment the plan commences, they would be forced to commit to it whether they liked it or not.

In the end, only a couple of players decided to give up on the Alliance due to the riskiness of the plan while the majority remained in the shell.

It wasn't out of rashness or recklessness but it was due to personal matters that needed them to secure the win no matter what.

Some of them might already have four losses in a row and they couldn't afford to lose the 5th one as they would be forced to drop in silver rank.

Worst of all, they would be competing against players who dropped as well instead of silver plebs.

There was nothing worse than that as the prize pool would be shitty, the wish would be way too limited and finally, they would compete against desperate players who wanted to climb back to gold again.

So dropping rank was only worse than getting kicked out of the platform once and for all.

This was just one reason as the rest had their own matters to consider as well. Hence, they could only nod their heads in agreement at Mikasa's suggestion.

"Good, let's get this over with." Mikasa said out loud, "Queen, please chose three random names from the Alliance."

Everyone held their breaths in worry and longing at being part of the three names.

Thankfully, the Queen didn't have tendencies to built suspense by delaying the announcement.

"Witty Soul, Fiddlesticks, and Viral Virus." She said.

The three players all tightened their fists in excitement. However, their faces were as stoic as the rest.

They didn't show a single ounce of delight as they raised their hands, letting everyone knows who got picked.

Naturally, the rest were dissatisfied and irked by not being picked, but none of them made a scene as time was gold and didn't have much of it.

"Alright let's begin pla..."

PEEP! PEEP! PEEP!

Abruptly, the players' bracelets started vibrating while making a harmonized alarm.

Immediately after hearing it, everyone lifted their heads and glanced at the glass windows around them.

Some approached them and some decided to move to the center of the shell.

While they were focused on the outside of the shell, no one noticed that the entrance had been closed and that the Turtle had withdrawn its limbs and head.

The openings were sealed instantly, making it resemble from afar a green rock floating on the ocean.

All of those were signs of the incoming predator of this game...The Oceanic Beastial Wave!

Peep!

After 10 seconds, the last alarm went off and silence had engulfed the area.

No one spoke or even breathed out loud as they kept observing the peaceful underwater, expecting the beastial wave to be here any moment now.

However, they weren't that nervous since Golden Elixir's Turtle had the best shell beside Felix's. So, they didn't doubt that it would not survive the onslaught of the beastial wave.

Alas, those thoughts were completely uprooted from their minds after seeing thousands upon thousands of marine beasts drawing nearer and nearer to their shell from every direction besides upward!

"Is..it just me or the beastial wave numbers are more than 2000?" Golden Elixir staggered a step back away from the glass shell as the sight was too daunting and overwhelming even to him.

The players all backed off from the glass walls and gathered in the center of the shell while looking in agitating at the fierce-looking beasts.

"Oh no!! It's 2000 beasts for each turtle!!" Miss Mikasa's countenance turned black instantly after remembering that all of their turtles were currently gathered in one place!!!

Scared shitless, the players gulped a mouthful after hearing so as they had completely forgotten to move their Turtles away from each other.

The limited-time wasn't helping much, making them place their entire focus on the Alliance and the plan!

"No need to panic." Surreal Fog said calmly, "Those beasts must be programmed to attack only their target. Otherwise, it wouldn't fair when a Turtle gets assaulted by double the numbers than another one."

The player felt a bit comforted by those words. But the beastial wave was still as horrifying as ever.

Too bad, in the survival stage they were powerless to do anything.

"Brace yourselves!" Golden Elixir shouted one last time before the beastial wave wholly engulfed the shell!

Thud Thud! Boom!....

One beast was smashing the glass after the other.

Some had their bodies turned into a paste during the collision while some were using their claws, teeth, and every other body part to break into the shell!

Since the beastial wave had surpassed almost fifty thousand beasts, the shell was left in darkness as the light particles couldn't make it reach inside.

Thud Thud!...

This made the players even more stressed and frightened since they couldn't see anything but their ears were picking up the glass's sound getting struck fiercely over and over again!

Some players decided to close their ears at once after not being able to take it anymore.

Meanwhile, those with vision abilities almost pissed their pants at the sight of the glass getting scratched and even somewhat cracked!

They didn't dare to imagine what was happening to their Turtle's shells currently when the toughest one was getting cracked!

While they were in the dark, Lisa switched between the inside of their shell and then showcased the beastial wave from above.

The image would leave anyone with nightmares as at least two square kilometers had been fully turned dark due to the massive numbers of marine beasts!

Heck, the Turtles weren't even being seen anymore as they were buried deep within the wave.

"That's what you get for aiming at my Lord!"..."Die!!"..."Haha!! They will lose all of their Turtles!!"

Felix's fans kept clamoring in excitement and delight at the misery of the alliance. Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #!_52437561011924776 for visiting.

Some of them even wanted for all their Turtles to get killed by the wave, so their hunting attempts would fail before even starting!

"Let's see how Landlord is faring against his own beastial wave." Lisa said while simultaneously swiping her finger at Felix's small screen.

The moment it was placed on the big screen, everyone was left at loss for words at the view before them.

Felix lying on the ground with his hand supporting his head. His eyes were fully closed, appearing like he was asleep.

Meanwhile, the glass around him was constantly under attack by the beasts. Yet, he didn't even flinch.

Well, how could his body flinch when he was currently sitting at a table with Asna and the J?rmungandr playing Go Fish?

Seeing his lax attitude, Lisa zoomed out on his turtle and made the beasts transparent on the screen.

Instantly, dark red color greeted Lisa's eyes, making her eyelids twitch. 'With the amount of fish he had, this prick can chill throughout both the stages without trouble.'

She swiftly returned to the Alliance and kept the camera on them since it was more entertaining to watch them tremble in the dark than watching Felix sleeping for 30 minutes straight.

That's exactly how those 30 minutes went by.

The players were given barely a small window to discuss about Felix at the last minutes of the survival stage due to the stressful situation they were in.

Thankfully, the Oceanic Beastial Wave withdrew back into the ocean's depth without causing major damages to Golden Elixir's Turtle Shell.

But seeing those multiple scratch marks, they had a bad feeling about the rest of their Turtles Shells.

Chapter 334 - Getting Bamboozled!

After the beasts had left, the entrance of the shell automatically opened up for everyone.

The Alliance players swiftly jumped upward and straightway started turning their heads, checking on the Turtles' conditions.

"Shit! We lost more than half!!"

The player's faces turned black instantly after seeing that more than 15 Turtles had disappeared from the face of the ocean!

This left them with only 15 Turtles which were grouped up together in the center.

It seemed like the Turtles on the outside received the full brunt of the wave even when they weren't their targets.

After all, they were blocking the way for the beasts to reach their targets.

"Sigh, this is going to make it less efficient to locate Landlord." Miss. Mikasa said with a gloomy tone.

"No need to bring down the mood." Golden Elixir clapped his hands twice to attract their attention and said, "Two hunters will share one Turtle. This might not be as good as using one Turtle each to locate Landlord, but it was also much safer and secure."

He shrugged his shoulder, "I know that most of you will underestimate him and decide to fight him alone after sending the coordination."

The players didn't show much of a reaction at hearing so since he was completely right! If they saw an opportunity to kill Felix without the need for others, they wouldn't hesitate to take it!

The contract merely banned them from hiding coordination. It didn't say anything about fighting Felix as one or all.

If they could obtain his Turtle, they would do so in a heartbeat, especially when they had seen the terror of the Oceanic Beastial Wave!

"Let's begin by splitting the teams." Miss Mikasa pointed at her Turtle and asked, "Who will be partnering up with me?"

Only Surreal Fog and Golden Elixir dared to raise their hands.

The rest preferred partnering up with someone weaker than them so they could always overpower them when Felix's situation gets solved.

Knowing what was on their minds, Miss. Mikasa pointed at Golden Elixir while saying loudly, "To not delay time, we will let the Queen decide on the partners as well."

No one voiced their complaints about the notion. Thus, the Queen created 14 teams or so randomly, and they were split on each of the leftover Turtles.

Even Golden Elixir had left his Turtle behind and joined Miss. Mikasa since it was decided that his Turtle would serve as their base.

This meant the three fishers would be left behind with two more players to guard them.

After seeing that the Turtles were finally on the move, Lisa swiftly focused the camera on Felix who was chilling inside his Turtle's shell while Blue Whale's clones were preparing to start fishing!

Felix had already copied 12 Blue Whale clones and bought them new clothes since Blue Whale's corpse had a hole in its chest.

Since his ability copies everything the same, he had to buy the same clothes to hide that hole.

Besides the nasty personality those clones had, no one would notice anything weird about Blue Whale's clones since they 100% resembled him!

This was just 20% of Felix's plan that would allow him to continue fishing without even bothering to move from his position.

Another 20% was the multiple scouting fish that Felix made them swim until they reach his Perfect Sand Copy range.

His range was massive alright as his copies could reach up to twenty kilometers away from him!

This would allow him to feel and connect his senses with his copies that were inside a twenty kilometers radius from him.

Since the Turtles were humongous, they wouldn't be that hard to notice if they were heading in one of those fish's paths.

Felix only needed to know that they were coming beforehand and he could easily order Blue Whale's clones to either paddle out of sight or destroy them by thought.

Just like this, he had successfully turned his Turtle into one that belonged to Blue Whale while continuing to use his cheating method of fishing!

"Do you understand now why Blue Whale's corpse was a big deal?" The Maganda Chief asked while looking at his stunned daughter.

Princess Bird nodded her head in a daze and kept watching those Blue Whale's clones ride on boats and row in different directions.

However, they didn't go beyond two hundred meters from the Turtle so they could always return in a jiffy.

While they were getting busy either capturing fish or lazing around on the boat, Felix was switching between the scouting fish's vision every 10 seconds.

So far, the coast was clear and he was hoping that no one appears so and disturbs his fishing session.

Too bad, by the time 7 minutes passed by, Felix had ended up spotting two Turtles approaching him.

Both of them were coming from the south but quite distant from each other.

'It's quite soon, but it's better to use one now to avoid getting interrupted constantly.' Felix thought to himself while switching his senses to one of his Real Clones that were sent away each with a Turtle.

Naturally, those two Turtles had survived the 1st Beastial Wave since their shells belonged to players who were at the top 20 of the ranking list.

Felix had already ordered them to carry on moving in a wide circle at the ends of his Perfect Sand Copy range.

Noticing that the clone he picked was the closest to those two Turtles, he quickly ordered the Turtle to move in their direction!

While his senses were still in his clone, Felix jumped outside of the shell and sprinted on the Turtle's neck. He then stood on top of its head and placed hands in his pockets.

After getting in this posture, he ordered his copy to stay like this and switched back to his original body.

"Landlord is quite unlucky." Lisa abruptly commented while swiping her finger at a small screen, giving it some space in the big screen.

What she had shown were actually the two Turtles that Felix had spotted earlier than her.

The viewers could see the direction they were heading to and they didn't know if Felix's plan of using Blue Whale's clone was going to fool them or not.

"Huh? Why did they suddenly change their direction?" Baffled, Lisa commentated while zooming in on the two Turtles which were now heading east!

This left the clones to carry on fishing without any fear!

"What the hell? I refuse to believe that he is that lucky!!" Lisa murmured to herself while quickly trying to find the cause of the anomaly.

It didn't take her even a second to notice that both Turtles were chasing after another one that was one kilometer away from them.

Bewildered, Lisa zoomed on that Turtle and her breaths couldn't help but quicken after noticing a tailed man wearing a black hoodie standing on the head of the Turtle!

Who could it be besides Felix's clone?!

"How is this possible?!!"

Alas, Lisa still didn't dare to believe what her eyes were feeding her as she could see that the distance between the copy and Felix was almost twenty kilometers.

Such an unprecedented range was unheard of for even legendary tier 7 bloodlines!

Shocked or not, she still did her job and quenched everyone's curiosity by showing the ongoing chase on the screen.

"Father? Is that range normal?" Perplexed, Princess Bird asked while blinking her eyes.

"Normal my ass!" The chief narrowed his eyes at Felix's clone and said solemnly, "I am a Legendary Peak 6th stage bloodliner and I don't have that range in all of my 12 abilities!"

Princess Bird didn't know what to say after. If even her father, one of the strongest and influential bloodliners in the Empire, didn't have that range, how could a 1st stage bloodliner have it?

"Are you still disinterested in him?" She smiled smugly, "If only you listened to me before, we could have tried to find him without the rest competing with us."

The Chief shook his head and said, "I am not interested in him but the source behind him. A 1st stage bloodliner can't create those unique bloodlines on his own. There must be a greater force behind him or at least a reclusive genius geneticist, who didn't want to be found out." He paused and eyed Felix's Copy, which was escaping from four Turtles now instead of two, and said, "Whatever it was, we need to reach out to him first!"

...

While the viewers were paying more attention to the range of Felix's ability, the Alliance members were conversing with each other by using the Queen's messaging system.

Although emotions couldn't be delivered, the content made it pretty easy to guess that they felt excited.

'Haha, to actually get found out right at the start.'

'He is heading east. Someone please try to intercept him!'

'Collide with his Turtle if it had to be!'

'I am almost there, carry on chasing.'

'Did you guys notice the color of their shell?' Miss Mikasa asked while standing on her katana. She and Golden Elixir were currently rushing towards the latest coordination given to them.

'It has a natural red color.'

'Hmm, that's weird.' Miss Katana frowned her eyebrows and asked, "Golden, do you think that he stopped feeding his Turtle after it reached this color?"

"That's highly likely." Golden Elixir nodded his head and said, "That's what I would have done to avoid getting noticed so early on."

Miss Mikasa nodded her head in understanding as she believed that was indeed a smart move to make.

"That should explain the color, but it just feels like something is off." Miss Mikasa pondered out loud, "Why would he stay on top of the Turtle's head to expose himself? And why didn't he at least make an effort to change his clothes and hide his tail inside his clothes?"

Golden Elixir shrugged his shoulders and said, "Maybe he wanted to get a better vision to scout ahead."

"As for the clothes...Uhhh, I honestly don't know why he didn't change them." Golden Elixir shook his head, "A person can't be smart to foresee that ahead but also dumb to ignore such an obvious loophole."

"Something is fishy about this chase." Feeling unease, Miss Mikasa started biting her nails and said, "I feel like we are being baited into chasing him."

"Baited or not, we can only know after we caught him." Golden Elixir sneered, "Who knows? He might be using reverse psychology on us so we can overthink such a simple matter and end up not using all of our forces on chasing him."

"That's a possibility." Miss. Mikasa nodded her head and sent a message to everyone, 'Keep your eyes open for any random Turtle you spot, but still focus on chasing Landlord.'

'Aight.'...'Okay.'...'Will do.'

After receiving their confirmation, Miss Mikasa? stopped thinking about the matter and focused on the chase.

The viewers were left in awe at hearing their conversation since only now did they understood Felix's strange decisions previously.

He considered everything to mislead even the sharpest and most intelligent player in the alliance!

Miss. Mikasa was known for having a high IQ since most of her wins were from puzzle games! Yet, she was being bamboozled just like everyone else!

The viewers understood that as long as the players had no idea that Felix was utilizing his clone, they would assume that they were chasing the real thing!

After all, no one in his right mind would consider that Felix was using copies from tens of kilometers.

Until now, not even the VIP viewers thought that was possible!

"A marvelous strategy by Landlord! However, how much time is it going to buy him though?"

Lisa commented while displaying a screen after another, showing that every Alliance member was heading towards Felix's clone from every direction!

They were tightening the encirclement around him and she knew that before long, his clone would see nothing but Turtles around it!

What was he going to do about it then? She wondered in her mind.

Chapter 335 - I Will Play You To Death!

In Lisa and the viewers' eyes, it was tough to escape the encirclement even for the real Felix. Don't even mention his copy.

He would utmost buy 10 or 15 minutes for himself before the ruse gets found out.

At that time, every player would be knowledgeable about his copy ability and its mind-blowing range.

It wouldn't be easy to fool them again.

Felix knew this as well. That's why his senses were in the copy as he wanted to manually control the Turtle so he could prolong the chase as long as possible.

So far, he was having an easy time doing so since not everyone had arrived yet.

Only six Turtles were somewhat near him and he was taking them in a wide circle, trying his best to remain inside his ability's range.

This chase kept going on like this until Felix noticed that more than 7 Turtles approached him from different directions.

The moment he saw them, he ordered his Turtle to keep traveling in its path then he switched his senses to Blue Whale's clone that was left on top of his Turtle shell.

Felix did a quick sweep and frowned his eyebrows after noticing that a Turtle was approaching him fast.

It seemed like it wasn't really aiming at his Turtle but he was on its way to reach his real clone.

Naturally, that was bound to happen since his main Turtle was situated in the center.

A bit pained, Felix swiftly destroyed two Blue Whale's clones and their boats since they were on the way of that approaching Turtle.

Then, he ordered the rest to hastily stop fishing and paddle away so they wouldn't get found out.

'Let's see if my preparations will fool them or not.' Felix thought to himself while leaning against the feeding bucket.

He just kept watching the Turtle getting closer and closer until it was merely a couple of hundreds of meters away.

He could see that two players were standing on top of the Turtle's head while glancing downward at him.

He narrowed his eyes in focus to check who they were, but Blue Whale's vision was quite basic, making it impossible to see their faces.

However, the same couldn't be applied to those two players as everything appeared as clear as a crystal in their eyes.

"Is that Blue Whale?" A double horned buff man guessed intelligently, "It seems like he was left to guard the bucket while his ally went fishing?"

"Should we take advantage of his ally absence and steal his Turtle?" His partner, who appeared like a gazelle with his long neck, clarified, "It has a dark red color which is better than ours."

"It's just a waste of time and energy." The horned man shook his head and said, "Yellow or red, none of them will be enough to defend against the next oceanic wave. Let's kill Landlord as fast as possible and return to the ba..."

'Landlord had abruptly turned south! Anyone in that direction makes sure to intercept him.'

"South?" The players glanced at each other and suddenly cursed at the same time, "F*ck! That's us!"

The Horned man swiftly ordered his Turtle to go around Felix's Turtle and speed in that direction!

Upon seeing so, Felix chuckled in his mind while switching back to his copy being chased.

The moment he opened his eyes, he ordered the Turtle to return to its original course!

The copy obviously didn't change paths on its own but it was due to Felix voicing the order to push those players into focusing on their priorities!

The entire Alliance priority was killing Felix not stealing or bothering with the rest of the players!

He understood that coordinations were swapped every second in the messaging system based on his previous life experience. If he made any drastic move with his clone, those two would hear it and respond to it properly!

Those mind games weren't noticeable by anyone but Felix and the tenets in his mind.

Lisa and the rest of the viewers could only believe that luck worked alongside Felix in this game.

All of this due to their ignorance of his passive ability Sand Senses Sharing!

When they were ignorant, how could the players figure out that they were being played always to chase the copy and ignore the real deal even when they look right into his Turtle?

'Oh, more are arriving?'

Immediately after Felix swapped to his clone, he was met with the sight of 6 more additional Turtles approaching him from the front and blocking his path!

This time, he truly was cornered as no matter which direction he chose, there were always two Turtles drawing nearer to him!

"The encirclement has finally completed!" Lisa shouted in excitement, "How would Landlord's clone escape it?!"

"KILL IT FAST AND CHASE THE REAL TUMOR!!" ... "F*ck, this is so embarrassing to watch."

The viewers couldn't get any more relieved by finally seeing the alliance surrendering the clone. It was getting more and more embarrassing for them to see their idols getting played by a mere clone.

Thank god it was finally over!

That's what they believed in, but Felix had a whole different opinion.

'It's time for the next stage of the plan.' He merely grinned while watching his clone getting cornered.

Since he knew that his ruse was bound to get found sooner or later, it was only natural that he would be prepared for it!

'Hehe, I will play you to death.' He smiled wickedly and decided that shock everyone alike!

He actually didn't change paths or even bothered to as he ordered for his Turtle to head straightforward!

In front of its path was another Turtle which was speeding too!

Everyone who saw this sight knew that a collision was bound to happen!

'Don't you dare chicken out and clear the path for him!' Golden Elixir immediately shouted in his mind, sending this message to the two players on top of that Turtle!

Golden Elixir didn't even need to inform them as those two players didn't have the intention of retreating!

A collision was quite bad indeed to the Turtles, but they would survive it easily.

Unlike them who had more allies to pick them up, Felix was bound to remain in the water after being propelled due to the forceful collision.

So, they were fully ready for the collision and just kept ordering their Turtle to increase the speed further and further!

1 kilometer!...800meters...400meters...200meters!

"BRACE FOR IMPACT!"

The player yelled at his partner while clutching the wrinkles of the Turtle's head tightly. His partner did the same and lowered his head, not bothering anymore to keep his eyes on Felix.

He knew that Felix couldn't change directions at such a close distance since his Turtle would always arrive before that happen!

200meters...100meters!

Everyone held their breaths in anticipation and thrill at the scene of the two Turtles merely a couple of meters between them.

The fans who were focusing on Felix saw that he still had his hands in his pockets without intentions of holding into the Turtle's wrinkles like the players.

He merely kept smirking faintly, appearing like he had already accepted the fate of losing this clone.

50m...10m...BAAAAAM!!!!

The Turtles reflexively moved their small heads to the side so they wouldn't collide. Alas, the same couldn't be said about their thick necks and shells that had smashed into each other like two trucks on a highway!

Whoosh Whoosh Whoosh!!

Felix and the two players were propelled from the heads due to the massive momentum, forcing them to fly into the sky!

Although it seemed like none of them were hurt by the shockwave, their bodies kept spinning randomly without control, making anyone feel sick just by looking at them!

No one was paying attention to the poor Rainbow Turtles who had their necks slightly bruised by the collision, as their eyes were laid only on three projected bodies, which didn't seem like they had yet to reach their peak velocity!

"Woohooo! They are shooting to the stars!" Lisa clapped her hands cutely while zooming the camera on them.

She split the screen into two since they were thrown in opposite directions.

The viewers could see that the two players were scared shitless as they kept spinning uncontrollably while Felix's copy was still smirking like all of this was part of his plan.

After reaching a hundred meters or so in the sky, the projection force had finally started to weaken until it was brought to an abrupt halt.

Whoosh Whoosh!..

The moment that happened, all of them begin falling into the ocean!

Felix swiftly regained control of his body and straightend his pose, making his legs be the first to meet the water.

Upon seeing that the water was getting nearer and nearer, Felix grinned faintly and shouted, "Good luck finding me underwater, losers!"

SPLOSH!...

Immediately after Felix's body submerged underwater, he broke into brown particles and disappeared out of sight!

This wasn't due to the force of contact but a manual deactivation of the ability by Felix!!Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #!_52718918430682295 for visiting.

Chapter 336 - Switching Their Target. (2 in 1)

The players, who still didn't realize that the copy had disappeared from the face of the ocean, hastily ordered their Turtles to head in that direction!

"GO! GO! He can't stay underwater for too long!!" Overjoyed, Golden Elixir shouted while pointing his finger at the last spot Felix was seen at.

He didn't bother Felix's curse or challenge as he was more than glad by him landing in water! He knew that in his Alliance there were at least a couple of players with the water element!

They were more than able to dive deep within and seek to find him!

Alas, his enthusiasm wasn't being shared by either his fans or the rest of the viewers as they were all left slack-jawed after hearing the copy speak!

Not in their wildest dreams would have they considered that copies could speak as that was beyond what a bloodline ability could do!

Yet, after remembering the past mind-blowing traits Felix had been showing, they didn't find it odd anymore!

Even Princess Bird's father just kept watching without commenting on it.

In his mind, no matter what Felix's bloodline shows in the future, he wouldn't care as his decision to find him was already set in stone!

The rest of the VIP viewers displayed almost the same reaction and carried on watching the players search for Felix!

"Ah!!! LANDLORD YOU CUNNING PRICK!" Furious and somewhat awed, Lisa pounded the commentary table with her fist.

She was awed by the ingenious plan that would allow him to carry on fishing peacefully while those retards attempt to search the empty waters.

But she was furious at the same time since she knew that the game would end without a big fight between the players!

If no one could find Felix and kill him there was no point in killing each other!

This implied that the next 1 hour or so would be spent in utter boredom, either watching Felix fishing or those morons trying to look for him underwater.

The viewers could see this as well and they wanted nothing less but to inform their idols about Felix's real coordination.

Alas, they could only watch the region, where Felix had dropped, turns into complete mayhem.

Some players had jumped down from the Turtle's head to look better at the water while some even decided to scout upclose by diving deep underwater.

They kept checking every nook and cranny for Felix.

Alas, only fish had been found and in worst cases, some of them even met with a marine beast, almost killing them.

'He is not here.'

'I searched the entire seabed of this area with my ability, he is not here as well.'

'Not here as well.'

Golden Elixir's expression was getting nastier each time he heard a negative response from the players down there.

Miss Mikasa and even Surreal Fog were starting to exhibit some negative emotions about this peculiar situation.

Everyone had seen that Felix had landed right here! So where the f*ck did he go? They questioned in their minds.

"Shit! Just keep looking!" Golden Elixir yelled loudly, "We are not leaving here until we find him!"

Miss Mikasa added another request in everyone's minds, 'Loofang, Misty Blade, Marking Goddess....Mr. Sulfur, please spread into a wider perimeter and start scouting from above.' She passed and clarified, 'Landlord is bound to show himself sooner or later unless he is planning to survive the 2nd Beastial wave without a Turtle.'

'Alright.'....'I will see what I can do.'....'Okay.'

After receiving positive responses, Miss Mikasa carried on her orders, 'Someone please search the inside of Landlord Turtle's shell.'

Everyone was doing their part to look for Felix.

Even Surreal Fog had released tongue-like fog creatures that could lock down into specific energy in mind.

In this case, poison elemental energy.

After he used it, those creatures ended up biting into three Poison Elementalist in the area.

Too bad, they all turned out to be part of the alliance.

Seconds went by then minutes, the players' expressions were getting ugly but they still didn't give up.

They understood that the moment they accepted their defeat, this game was over for them!

"What do we do? There is only one hour left before the survival stage and we can't remain here forever." Golden Elixir asked with a tingle of agitation.

Miss. Mikasa rested her chin on her hand, pondering on a new plan to move forward. By now, she was 70% certain that Felix wasn't in the water.

She didn't know how he escaped so fast and she didn't want to waste more time turning the same area repeatedly.

"I think we should leave four players here incase Landlord was still here. As for the rest, we could only restart our search." Miss. Mikasa said.

The main crew of the Alliance agreed with her plan and decided to move on it fast.

Golden Elixir chose to inform the rest while Miss Mikasa chose the four players who would remain.

Naturally, she gave them only one Turtle since they were already short on them.

After so, they restarted their search with desperation written all over their faces.

They had less than an hour to find Felix, kill him, then turn on each other for the chance to end up as the winner.

They didn't know if they could pull it off or not but they weren't planning on giving up yet!

The viewers who watched Felix chilling inside his Turtle shell while Blue Whale's clones were fishing for him didn't know how to feel about this game anymore.

They saw no hope for their idols to capture Felix and the fact that none of them had yet to see a single ability by him just made it even worse and actually embarrassing.

There were no epic fights, not death or life chases, or even many 1vs1 fights. It was simply a battle of wits and intelligence.

Felix had just demonstrated to everyone how to win a game against a Mega Alliance without dirtying his hands!

...

Another 30 minutes went by, marking the end of the fishing stage and the start of the feeding stage.

Throughout the entire duration, Felix hadn't been found yet!

Well, an alliance member had passed by his Turtle but ignored him after seeing that he was Blue Whale.

Felix even got invited to the Alliance to help them out!

The moment that happened, some fans couldn't handle the embarrassment anymore and just logged out, not bothering to continue watching this farce anymore.

Their idols were being played like children and if they watched more of it, they would start wavering on supporting them.

Right now, everyone was watching Felix feeding the Turtle with some fish to push its color from red to green.

Then, he stopped and pushed the Feeding bucket inside the Turtle's shell.

The feeding stage had just begun and it was much better to feed everything during the end of it.

"It seems like Landlord is still as cautious as ever." Lisa sighed in annoyance at the sight.

She wanted him to get c.o.c.ky and make a mistake or something to give the players a chance at getting back in the game.

Too bad, that ain't happening soon.

Meanwhile, Miss Mikasa, Surreal Fog, Golden Elixir, and the rest of the alliance's main crew were gathered on one Turtle.

They were all gazing in silence at the new fishing points ranking list available after the fishing stage had ended.

//

Rank 1) Unpaid Landlord, FP: 61,500

Rank 2) Sunny Night, FP: 11,500

Rank 3) Disaster Punch, FP: 10,500

Rank 3) Suprema, FP: 9999

Rank 4) FiddleSticks, FP: 8700

..

Rank 11) The Tranquilizer, FP: 6800

Rank 15) Fist Over Brain, FP: 4000//

None of them even glanced at their names that had been outcasted from the top ten as they were focusing only on Felix's score.

The more they looked at it, the more they felt like their cheeks were burning from humiliation. That extra 30k FP was a giant slap to them individually and as an Alliance!

"Sigh, I just don't know anymore." fatigued, Miss. Mikasa massaged her temples as she closed her eyes, hiding the hint of dejection in them.

She always took pride in her intelligence and patience which helped her win games or earn the most out of them.

But Felix's score had destroyed her pride as she couldn't know how did Felix carry on fishing while they had actually searched the entire map twice by now.

Twice!!

She didn't know what was going on and what kind of sorcery Felix was relying on. Whatever it was, she was out of ideas to locate him.

All of them had a slight hope that Felix was still hiding in the water or still didn't obtain a Turtle.

They wished for it to be like that so during the survival stage, he would end up dead.

But looking at his score that had increased by a whopping 30k, they were left beyond demoralized.

"Now what?" Golden Elixir removed the cursed list from his face and asked, "Should we do one last search since Landlord is going to feed his Turtle?"

"Forget it." Miss Mikasa smiled bitterly, "By now, you should understand that he wouldn't be making such a foolish mistake of feeding his Turtle this early."

"I know...I, sigh never mind." Golden Elixir shook his head slightly and stopped mentioning this matter anymore.

Silence descended in the area again.

At this point, even killing Felix wouldn't matter much since they would need to kill those above them in the ranking as well.

They wasted too much time on Felix which none of them had considered since they believed that it would be an easy endeavor with their massive numbers.

"I guess it's game over?" Golden Elixir said calmly with his eyes closed.

Unwillingly, everyone nodded their heads but Surreal Fog, who didn't seem like he was exhibiting any sign of surrender yet.

"Surreal Fog?" Miss Mikasa? asked, "Do you have anything to add?"

Surreal Fog unsealed his eyes slowly and said only one word softly, "Kraken."

He closed his eyes again not having any intention to explain what he meant.

The dumbstruck expressions every player had as they looked at him was enough proof that he was understood fully!

"You want us to slay the Kraken to win the game?!!" Golden Elixir was the first to regain his wits as he yelled, "Are you f*cking nuts?!"

Most of the players shared the same reaction as him. On the other hand, Miss. Mikasa was considering the proposal with an open mind!

'Although the Kraken has been downgraded to legendary tier 3 bloodline, it is still impossible for a team to kill it. But...' Miss Mikasa looked at the alliance numbers and thought, '31 peak 2nd stage bloodliners should give us a chance to bombard it all together?'

Few players somewhat had the same opinion. Upon seeing them reacting like this, Golden Elixir shouted, "You can't be f*cking serious!?"

Miss. Mikasa broke off her thought process and looked at the agitated Golden Elixir. "Why not? 31 bloodliners should give us a decent chance at slaying it. Naturally, there will be some casualties but remember that slaying the Kraken rewards us more than just a win!" She tempted.

Upon being reminded that the wish would have its value doubled, Golden Elixir's heart skipped a beat.

He swiftly closed his mouth shut and started thinking about the matter deeply, wanting to see if the risk corresponded to the rewards.

It didn't take him even a second before seeing that it was worth the shot!

Miss Mikasa smirked faintly after seeing that he went silent. She knew that he accepted the proposal just like her.

However, he wasn't the hardest to convince but the rest of the Alliance members!

"How about you guys?" Miss Mikasa asked the others gathered with them.

Some of them instantly shook their heads, implying their rejection at the suggestion and some were thinking deeply about it. Soon, only three players had voiced their agreement.

Upon seeing so, Miss Mikasa didn't waste time convincing those rejected as she straightaway worked her way with everyone in the alliance.

Together with Golden Elixir and Surreal Fog, they managed to convince 65% of the Alliance members in only 5 minutes.

That's all it took for the suggestion to be accepted since the Alliance's decisions were based on votes.

This meant those who were unwilling to participate were forced to join whether they liked it or not!

After all, no one would dare to leave the Alliance now since the only Turtle with adequate toughness to survive the upcoming beastial wave was belonging to the Alliance!

If they dared to ditch the Alliance right after the wave ends, the rest wouldn't hesitate to collapse on them immediately to vent their suppressed anger at not finding Felix.

"Let's head back to the base." Golden Elixir said while glancing at the time, "We need to group up right now to plan for the upcoming battle before the Kraken location gets transmitted."

As Lisa had mentioned in the Game Hall, the Kraken wasn't going to appear suddenly underneath the players and start massacring them.

After all, it wasn't a fair death since it was impossible to deal with the Kraken solo.

That's why its coordination would be transmitted for those interested in risking it to hunt it down for the win and the bonus rewards.

No one was forced to fight it and the game was going to end 10 minutes after its appearance regardless if it was slain or not.

"I think it's better if we could include other players in the raid to increase our chances further."

Miss Mikasa abruptly suggested with her eyes brightened after remembering latest despairing lead Felix had on everyone.

For them who stopped fishing, it didn't feel much to see Felix surpass them again. But for the rest of the players who probably worked their hardest to bridge the gap?

They would be beyond frustrated after seeing that Felix had actually increased his points by 30K again.

"Indeed!" Golden Elixir agreed, "I will tell the rest to rally the news to anyone they meet on their way to the base."

"Now, let's get going!"

Miss Mikasa ordered her Turtle to change its direction under the eyes of the excited viewers and Lisa!

Especially Lisa who was hopping on her commentary table in pure thrill at the upcoming raid!

She had already given up on her impossible unique title quest after seeing their disinterest in the game hall. Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #.-(2-in-1)_52485229511760822 for visiting.

But who would have thought that Felix would force the majority into aiming for the Kraken just for a slight chance of victory!

'Maybe I treated him too harshly before.' Lisa smiled in satisfaction and thought, 'Let's give him more screen time.'

Immediately after deciding so, Lisa swiped her finger at Felix's small screen towards the big screen.

Just like always, Felix's body was still inside the shell while he was doing everything else as Blue Whale Copy.

Since the fishing stage was over, he waited patiently for the last ten minutes of the feeding stage.

He had no idea that everyone had given up on him and had switched their targets to the Kraken.

However, his ignorance of the situation didn't last for long as one Alliance member had stopped right next to his Turtle and relayed Miss Mikasa's invitation word by word.

"Sir Blue Whale, with your addition to our forces, we are confident of slaying it more easily!" The player persuaded Felix with a tempting tone, "Do remember that your wish will double in value if you ended up being the one slaying it! That's a 2 billion wish! Not available even in platinum games!"

Felix scratched his blue cheek with a thoughtful expression after hearing so. 'Sounds promising, but sadly I can't really sign the Alliance's contract since I will be exposed as Landlord.'

Thus, Felix didn't hesitate to reject the invitation and send the disgruntled player on his way.

However, Felix didn't forget to attach a fish copy with the player's Turtle to always act as a GPS.

As long as he kept the distance less than 20 kilometers, Felix could know the place of the Alliance gathering as well as spy on them!

He might not join the Alliance but that didn't mean he wasn't tempted to slay the Kraken if he was left in a weakened state by the Alliance forces!

'Hehehe, I wonder if they will take me as their mortal enemy after stealing the Kraken as well?' Felix grinned wickedly while walking towards the entrance of his shell.

Chapter 337 - The Kraken Has Emerged!

Felix swiftly called for his secondary clone to come back with its Turtle. Then, he brought the feeding bucket and left his turtle to devour only half it.

That resulted in changing its color to green and finally blue. With this toughness, it was more than enough to survive against the upcoming Oceanic Wave.

Meanwhile, the other half was left for the other Turtle.

If that madwoman Lisa wasn't his MC, the unique title would have been related to reaching the purple or black color. Felix would have used all of his fish for one Turtle to get the unique title.

However, since nothing beneficial was given to reaching higher levels of toughness, Felix decided to toughen both the Turtles.

Plus, he couldn't sneak behind the alliance members while being on a purple-colored Turtle.

Everyone would know that he was the owner even if he appeared as Blue Whale.

After both Turtles had emptied the feeding bucket, Felix glanced at the time and saw that only 10 minutes were left before the last survival stage.

He ordered his copy to distance the Turtle away from his own and switched back to his original body.

'Let's see if they are gathering nearby.' Felix closed his eyes and felt the energy of his copy at the borders of his range. 'It seems like they are 18 or 19 kilometers away. I need to get a bit closer.'

Felix didn't want to lose connection with his spy fish since there wasn't going to be another chance to plant it again.

However, he also didn't want to get too close lest he gets caught. So, he stopped his Turtles after moving only 5 kilometers. Then, he switched his senses to the spy fish and swiftly swam upward to the surface.

The moment he reached it, he realized that he couldn't see anything due to the giant shells of the Turtles appearing like cliffs in his vision!

'Well, let's do some head counting at least.' Unwilling to return empty-handed, Felix started counting the number of Turtles gathered in the area.

It was quite easy to count them since they kept their distance from each other. It seemed like the players had learned their lesson from the previous Bestial Wave!

After a couple of minutes, Felix ended up counting 22 Turtles. They weren't the total since he didn't have time to swim around the entire area and count each one.

The Oceanic Bestial Wave was about to arrive in under a minute and his spy fish was bound to be destroyed.

Despite so, Felix was quite satisfied by his scouting as he felt more confident by the Alliance chances now in taking the great Kraken.

'Sir Felix, the oceanic wave is going to arrive in 10 seconds.' Abruptly, the Queen's voice resounded in Felix's mind.

'Alright, thank you Queen.'

Felix's senses swiftly switched back to his real body. Immediately after, the pre-alarm of the wave resounded inside the shell.

Felix turned it off and started focusing on the transparent glass.

With his enhanced vision, he could see a dark shadow looming closer from afar.

Felix did a double check on the entrance and noticed that it was already closed. He smiled faintly and sat in a mediation position on the center of the shell. Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #!_52506876969022484 for visiting.

Then, he closed his eyes and waited for the collision.

30 minutes later...

Every Oceanic bestial Wave had withdrawn into the depth of the ocean after taking with them tens of ownerless Turtles.

The alliance strategy of focusing on only one Turtle was indeed good for survival but the rest of their Turtles had no way to defend against the claws and sharp teeth of the marine beasts when their shell color wasn't even proper green.

This resulted in the Alliance having only 6 Turtles left from more than 26 Turtles!

One of them was the base and the other five were belonging to the newly added members of the Alliance. like the 2nd ranker, 3rd ranker...etc.

Just like Felix, they all had blue Turtles. Since they survived, it only meant that Felix and his clone in the other Turtle were also doing alright.

Whoosh!

Felix jumped outside of the shell and stood at the edge of the entrance.

Just as he wanted to turn his head and start looking for the Kraken's Transmission, he tilted his head slightly in doubt after seeing that the clear sky was getting cloudy.

Rumble! Rumble!

The clouds were dark and sinister, accompanied by thunder and lightning. Anyone who saw them would know that a storm was approaching!

Whoosh Whoosh!

The peaceful ocean was being played by the raging wind as waves started to rise high in the sky appearing like sand dunes!

Felix was forced to climb into the Turtle's head and clutch tightly its wrinkles to not get thrown into the ocean!

Trickle Trickle!

How could a storm be called one without the clouds raining like there was no tomorrow? Felix got drenched in a split second but he didn't care about it.

He had absolutely no intentions to enter the shell since he didn't want to miss seeing the location transmission.

He wasn't stupid to do so since the location might end up being too close to him.

If he didn't see it, the Kraken would probably appear from underneath his Turtle!

It was a game over if that happened!

Just like him, the rest of the players were also standing outside, surveying the areas around them.

The Alliance members all had nasty expressions as they didn't expect that the appearance of the Kraken would be accompanied by a storm.

They didn't know if it was going to remain after he appears or not.

They wished dearly for the latter as fighting in the storm would make it at least three times more difficult.

Whoosh!

"Look there!" Shocked, Fiddlesticks pointed his finger at a towering Waterspout that was in the process of emergence.

It was at least tens of kilometers away from them, yet they could still see it clearly!

"Is that the location transmission?" Fiddlesticks asked with a tingle of worry in his tone.

"It's been already two minutes and I don't see any golden beams." A player near him gulped a mouthful and said, "It's got to be the Kraken's location."

Before anyone could comment on the Waterspout, the Turtle started moving swiftly towards it! its speed wasn't hindered in the slightest by the tempestuous ocean!

The tens of players who were standing on its surface, all laid on their stomachs and clutched the uneven skin of the shell for their dear lives.

Everyone sent messages, cursing Golden Elixir for blindsiding them like this. But he didn't respond to any of them as he merely kept eying the Waterspout calmly.

Whether they liked it or not, the rest decided to commit to the plan they created and follow Golden Elixir's Turtle that was carrying the main force of the Alliance.

The scene on the screen truly appeared like a bunch of madmen heading to their doom!

Meanwhile, Felix was also on the move in the Waterspout's direction, but he was heading much slower than the rest.

He wanted to arrive when the battle had already started or about to finish so no one would be paying attention to him.

'Heheh, this is going to be fun!' Eager and excited, Asna said while chewing on a mouthful of popcorn.

She didn't care if it was going to be hella risky for Felix as she simply wanted to enjoy her time.

She was exactly like the viewers who were currently cheering at the sight of the Alliance members getting nearer and nearer to Waterspout.

Although it took them more than 5 minutes to reach 1 kilometer away from it, their cheers never faltered for even a second.

However, the players didn't dare to get any closer, since the attraction force was strong enough to pull them from the Turtles.

Hence, they were left standing in their places, waiting for the Waterspout to ease up.

They understood that it might look frightening but it was still just a dramatic location transmission.

Just like every other transmission, it was bound to leave after a short period of time.

Whoosh Whoosh!

As they expected, the Waterspout lasted for an additional minute before its humongous size started to get reduced in a noticeable manner.

The smaller it got the calmer the area around it got as well.

This brought some relief to the Alliance members since it was almost impossible to aim their abilities while the Turtles kept moving back and forth with the waves.

Whoosh!

"Get Ready!" Miss Mikasa immediately shouted while unsheathing her katana after seeing that the Waterspout had completely disappeared.

Phew! Shsh! Poof!....

Abilities of all kinds of elements and shapes began to manifest on top of the Turtles' shells.

The colors exhibited from those abilities somewhat brightened up the gloomy area caused by the ongoing storm and dark clouds.

Too bad, the moment the area was lighted, everyone managed to notice a monstrous shadow cast at the ocean water right in front of them!

SPLOOSH!!

Before the players could react to the sight of the horrifying shadow, the water had abruptly erupted akin to a volcano, sending a mini tsunami in every direction!

Yet, the players didn't even budge from their places as their widened eyes were affixed on the dark red monstrosity that had just risen akin to a demon ready to bring destruction upon the world.

SKREEEEEE!!!!

An abrupt ear-piercing screech had escaped from the thousand-teethed mouth of the Great Eight-Tentacles Kraken!

"THE KRAKEN HAS EMERGED!" Lisa screamed with her cheeks flushed red in excitement.

Chapter 338 - Against The Kraken.

The players all woke up from their stumper at the ear-pierce screech.

'Stick to the plan!' Miss Mikasa yelled in her mind while jumping inside the Turtle's shell to avoid the incoming mini-tsunami.

The rest of the players swiftly deactivated their abilities and entered theirs own as well!

Only one player was left behind but he wasn't in danger as he was flying above the area.

Splash!!

The tsunami smashed the Rainbow Turtle but it didn't do much to it since the Turtle's size was humongous.

Heck, they were slightly bigger than the Kraken!

If it wasn't for so, the players wouldn't have dared to entertain the thought of slaying the Kraken since it could just roll its tentacles around the Turtle's shell and eat it whole.

Besides, they could always retreat inside the shell when things get dirty!

They weren't worried about water or the Kraken's tentacles getting inside since they had tested it out before.

They realized that only players or objects touched by the players could get access inside the shell. The rest get blocked just like the hole wasn't even there.

If Lisa didn't leave during mid-Q&A they would have asked so without needing to test it out.

'The tsunami had gone away. You can emerge now.' The flying player sent a report while gazing at the somewhat peaceful ocean and the giant eight dark red tentacles waving in the air.

The moment the players jumped outside of the shell, they were met with the same sight.

They didn't seem too happy about it since most of them had dark expressions while focusing on the nearest giant tentacle.

'The Kraken is hiding his weakspot. What do we do now?' Fiddlesticks asked.

It seemed like a player within the Alliance was knowledgeable about Kraken's strengths and weaknesses.

'Tear apart his tentacles until he reveals his head!' Miss Mikasa ordered.

Everyone nodded their heads solemnly and reactivated their abilities again. Since the Turtles were still far from the Kraken, the owners ordered them slowly.

Unsurprisingly, the Kraken didn't move from his place since it wouldn't be possible even to touch it if it was given the freedom to move fully underwater.

Naturally, it was made like this so the players would actually have a chance to fight and display an epic battle instead of just getting ambushed from underwater continuously.

Despite its lack of movement, those Eight Tentacles were free to do as they please!

Whoosh Whoosh!

Hence, the instant those Turtles had entered the Kraken's territory, they lashed out at the Turtles' long necks!

However, Miss Mikasa and the rest were already anticipating this reaction as they ordered their Turtles to withdraw back inside their shell!

Whoosh Whoosh!...

The tentacles ended up missing the Turtles' head. But the Kraken didn't withdraw them back as he switched his focus to the players who were still standing on top of the shells.

"BUY ME SOME TIME!"

Golden Elixir roared while sitting on one knee to support the weight of a massive golden bazooka-like ability that was placed on his shoulder.

Right now, golden particles were being gathered on the mouth of the bazooka, preparing to fire!

Alas, the Kraken wasn't going to wait for him as he sent down his tentacle straight above his head!

Yet, Golden Elixir didn't move from his place since he could see that Miss. Mikasa and the rest were standing right next to him with their abilities locked and loaded.

He knew that the Tentacle wasn't going to harm him since those players would need to protect themselves from it.

He didn't trust them to protect him but he trusted them to protect themselves!

Whoosh! Boom! Slice!!...

As he assumed, every player near him had used every ability in their possession to resist against the incoming tentacle!

Some used fire blasts, wind sweeps, and other elemental range abilities.

They truly ended up hurting it badly since the Kraken's defenses were butchered to only a legendary tier 3 beast.

However, the bloody tentacle still managed to survive the salvo and carried on its journey towards Golden Elixir.

"Miss Mikasa? make your move!!" Golden Elixir yelled with a tingle of nervousness.

Alas, Miss Mikasa neither responded nor moved from her place.

She kept her narrowed eyes focused on the tentacle while having her palm placed gently on Katana's handle.

"MISS MIKASA!!"

Just as Golden Elixir was planning on deactivating his ability and evading the attack, Miss Mikasa murmured, "Ittoryu Technique, Death Lutus."

A visible dark wave had emerged from her katana the moment she swiped it down. Yet, before the dark wave could even reach the tentacles, Miss. Mikasa swung her Katana five times from five directions in one singular motion that lasted a split second!

Phew, Phew, Phew!...

The dark waves connected midway, appearing like a revolving dark flower with many petals!

SLICE!

The Tentacle which managed to survive an elemental salvo was sliced immediately from the middle after those intertwined dark waves cut right through it!

Splosh!

A stream of blood had erupted from the sliced half that was still connected to the Kraken. Meanwhile, the other half had already dropped in water!

"Miss Mikasa's dual Elemental technique had displayed its infamous strength before us all!" Lisa commentated passionately, "A combination of the metal element and dark element abilities made Miss Mikasa famous for her unique swordplay!" Splash!! Skreeeee!

Just as Lisa wanted to replay Miss Mikasa's attack, she removed that idea from her mind after seeing that the Kraken's head had emerged from the water while letting out a furious high-pitched screech.

"He is pissed!"

"It worked! Focus on the scalp of its head now!!"

"Don't close your f*cking ears and just throw everything at its head!"

Shouts like those were resounding on top of each shell.

Although the players felt somewhat terrified by provoking the Kraken, they still activated their long-distance elemental abilities.

All of them were aiming at the Kraken's wide-open mouth that was facing Miss. Mikasa's Turtle!

Then!

SPLOOSH!! SPLOOSH!...

Abrupt streams of black ink were spewed from tiny holes which were within its mouth!

Everyone near Miss Mikasa had jumped right inside the shell, wanting to avoid getting touched by that Ink.

Only Golden Elixir was left behind in the same position.

The only difference from before was that the golden bazooka's mouth was now emitting a blinding light.

If one looked carefully, they would notice that a tiny golden ball was being compressed over and over again until it couldn't get any smaller!

The moment Golden Elixir felt that his ability had reached its limit, he grinned fearlessly against the streams of ink that were merely tens of meters in front of him.

"Take a stream of mine!" He shouted immediately after finally firing his ability.

BOOOM!!

What an ability it was as a beam of golden light had flared up from the bazooka, reaching the Kraken's mouth with the speed of light!

Since it was created from condensed light energy, the beam had brightened the entire area, allowing everyone to see what's going on more clearly.

The only thing they managed to see was that the beam had penetrated the inside of the Kraken and had emerged from the other side of its skin, continuing its journey!

BOOM! BAAM! Poof!...

The abilities thrown before the beam had finally reached the Kraken as well and bombarded its mouth and the area around it!

Pieces of flesh and skin were being separated, burnt, frozen, corroded, and affected by multiple elements.

The bright explosions and colorful effects of elements had completely hidden the Kraken's head, making it impossible to his wounds anymore.

Skreee! Skree!

But his furious and pained screeches were evidence that he was hurt pretty badly by the salvo!

The players didn't just stand there and watch as they carried on spamming their abilities, uncaring about their energy consumption!

Even Golden Elixir, who was thrown into the water after eating a direct ink stream, had joined the elemental shower after healing himself back to peak form.

After all, he had a light element and he was bound to have either unlocked one healing ability in the three bloodlines that he used to reach peak 2nd stage of replacement.

Meanwhile, Miss Mikasa started swinging her katana in the direction of the Kraken's head, sending a dark wave after the other, trying her best to be the one that last hit the beast!

Everyone was using whatever they had recklessly simply for that reason!

It didn't matter who planned the attack, who gave the information, or who did the most damage.

What mattered was the last hit only! The hit that would truly kill the Kraken and crown the finisher a champion and the Kraken Slayer title!

Everyone was aiming for that!

Boom! Boom! Poof!...

Screeeeeeee!!!

In the end, the Kraken let out one last pained scream before he drove deeper into the water, bringing his tentacles with him this time.

The last thrown salvo was completely wasted as the abilities had ended hitting nothing. But, the player didn't seem to care about it.

They were all holding their breaths in hope and anticipation while staring at the empty previous spot of the Kraken.

'Please let it be me...Please let it be me.' Fiddlesticks wished with his hands folded, appearing like he was praying.

Just like him, everyone else was wishing with their own methods for the kill to belong to them.

That's the only thing they could do while waiting for a notification or sign concerning the death of the Kraken.

Alas, they waited and waited, yet not a peep was heard in their minds or the sky.

After a couple of seconds that felt like years, a sound was finally heard from the depth of the ocean, but it wasn't the one they wanted to hear in the slightest.

SCREEEEEEEEEEEEEE!!!

The Kraken's infuriated screech was loud enough; it resounded as clear as crystal even above the surface of the water!

He wasn't killed but he was royally pissed!

Chapter 339 - Being Unreasonably Cautious.

The players' expressions couldn't help but harden as they knew that if the Kraken didn't die from that full-powered salvo, it only meant that he had recovered deep underwater!

The player who told them about its weak spot also informed them about its strengths.

One of them was the Kraken's monstrous rejuvenation speed!

"Too bad, they had failed in their best attempt to slay it." Lisa shook her head and said with an innocent smile, "Now that the Kraken has been provoked, they better bolt away!"

Miss Mikasa and the rest didn't seem like they were planning to overstay their welcome as they had ordered for their Turtles to emerge from their shells so they could leave this dreadful area as fast as possible.

Their plan was revolved around the first salvo to be as powerful and forceful as ever. If it worked, then the game was going to end with one of them being crowned.

If it failed? They would retreat at all cost since the Kraken would be at peak form while they wouldn't have even 30% of their energy left.

After all, 4 hours had gone by in the game and they had wasted at least 30% in it. In the previous salvo, they wasted even more.

It was too risky to attempt another united barrage because they would be left without a single way to protect themselves if it failed.

They weren't going to make such a foolish mistake.

Alas, the moment they stepped inside the Kraken territory, it wasn't up to them anymore to decide whether to retreat or not!

Splosh Splosh!...

Eight new healthy tentacles had abruptly risen from beneath the long extended neck of the Turtles.

Since the Tentacles were extremely long, the Kraken was able to send each tentacle for each Turtle!

Without giving anyone time to react, the tentacles had rolled around the long Turtles' neck and tightened their grip until the Turtles were starting to have difficulty breathing!

REEEEEEEE!!!

One of them managed to let out a single pitiful wail before its breath was cut out again.

'Withdraw your neck!!' Horrified, Miss Mikasa ordered immediately after hearing the wail.

The Turtle acted like it had received a royal pardon as it swiftly retracted its neck back inside the shell, forcing the Kraken to let go of it.

Alas, not everyone managed to voice their orders as fast as Miss Mikasa. This resulted in three Turtles' getting their thin necks snapped from the brutal force of the tentacles!

The Kraken didn't seem foolish as it focused on the upper top of the neck which was the weakest part of the entire Rainbow Turtle!

The moment those Turtles died, they broke into light particles and anyone who was either on top or inside the shell was expelled into the stormy ocean!

"NOOOO!!!"... "F*CKK!!!"... "COME HELP US!"...

More than 15 players had been cast away and were currently screaming for help while swimming towards the three remaining Turtles. All of them had managed to withdraw their body limbs inside their shell luckily.

Thus, the owners couldn't order the Turtles to move and save the players in the water even if they wanted to.

Who would dare order his Turtle to expose its neck after what had just happened?

Since the Turtles' distance wasn't that short, the players were swimming and swimming yet they appeared like they didn't bridge the distance even slightly.

Fear started to creep up on them as they could sense that a predator had laid its eyes on their bodies.

Unfortunately, their senses weren't wrong as the Kraken wasn't blind to not notice those ants trying to escape from its tentacles.

All it needed to catch them was to send one tentacle and start dragging them to depths of the ocean one by one!

That's exactly what the Kraken did as it kept smashing from above anyone who had his head outside of the water.

If they dove down to avoid the tentacle, they get captured and pulled down by their legs!

Some of them tried to defend themselves, but underwater fights were a different world from what they were used to.

All of their abilities were getting countered one way or another by being inside the water. That's only for the ones who actually had the ability to defend themselves.

As for the rest? They could only let out air bubbles as they screamed in despair while being dragged into the mouth of the Kraken.

They were so small compared to it; the Kraken didn't even chew them. He bundled them as one and threw them straight down its throat!

"Ah, I am afraid to announce that we have lost Marking Goddess, Fiddlesticks, and 13 more players." Lisa said with a sad tone but her shining eyes were saying otherwise.

Splosh Sploosh!!

'Quick, hide inside the shells; it can't do anything to us there!' Miss Mikasa shouted in her mind, sending a message to everyone.

She was the first to jump inside the shell after seeing the fate of the players who fell in the water.

Upon hearing so, every player gave up on any attempt to slay the Kraken and just jumped inside the shell for protection.

Thud Thud!!

Thankfully, they acted fast as the Kraken had started smashing the Turtles' shell randomly since it couldn't see from down there if the players were on it or not.

Scared out of their wits, the players kept trembling each time the shell got smashed by the giant tentacles.

The only thought that was coursing in their mind was if the shell would hold for the next 6 minutes.

That duration was the only thing separating them from life and death.

Thud Thud!...

The Kraken was furious alright as he didn't stop lashing for even a split second, striking the shells from every direction and angle.

Fortunately, the Turtles were humongous in size, making it impossible to get propelled away or straightaway gets eaten.

Those players' fans all signed in relief after figuring out that their idols would be safe if the situation carried on like this.

Too bad, the Kraken wasn't stupid to keep doing the same thing over and over again after realizing that his tentacles weren't touching any of those ants.

Instead, he stopped his attacks at once and started swimming upward until it reemerged again.

This time, only empty shells greeted The Kraken's tiny black eyes.

Skreeee!!

It let out another high-pitched screech in fury and started bashing only one Turtle this time, putting its entire focus on it!

THUD THUD THUD!!

The viewers were left horrified just like the players within that shell as one Tentacle was smashing down just to be followed by another rapidly!

Crack! Crack!

"Dear god!!" A girl covered her mouth in mortification after hearing the cracking noises, which were drowned by the players' agitated screams and the noise produced from the strikes.

Only she managed to hear them due to her ear-related abilities.

However, she didn't say anything as she merely sat down on the ground and closed her ears tightly, wishing that she remained ignorant just like the rest.

While she was cowering in fear just like the rest, a man was watching all of this happening from a kilometer away.

He was always here and till now, no one noticed him besides his fans as everyone was focusing on the Kraken's battle.

'Felix, didn't you watch enough?!' Asna complained, 'Kill it already; there are only 5 minutes left before the game ends.'

'Kill it my ass!' Felix scolded her, 'You are making it sound simple!'

'Tsk, stop being a coward and go for it.' Asna provoked while munching on oreo's cookies, 'The plan you made is already foolproof! Even if you didn't kill it, you would escape unscratched.'

'Leave me alone!' Felix rubbed his temples in irritation, 'It's still too much of a risk. This beast needed to be killed by a single strike and the only way I can do so is by exposing the elder's peak ability.' Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #._52531648712991095 for visiting.

He shook his head and said firmly, 'It's not worth exposing it in front of the VIP viewers.'

'heh, after everything that you have shown, I doubt those VIP viewers are going to let you go easily.' Asna sneered, 'You are already in their radars and probably going to be hunted down soon for real. So, it doesn't matter what you show anymore.'

Although he understood that Asna was merely baiting him to fight the Kraken so she could be entertained, what she said was indeed within reason and correct.

Felix had reached that conclusion before he even used the first sand ability.

However, he still used them nevertheless since this was still the SG platform and his information wasn't accessible to anyone.

Hence, he wasn't afraid that he would be searched upon by terrifying backgrounds especially when the only thing connecting him with his real self was the tail.

But, it wasn't a high-profiled and unique tail as quite a lot of bloodliners around the universe had it as well.

Even if they managed to connect it with his real self, they wouldn't obtain anything from him since he was planning to use a new set of poison abilities that his Landlord persona didn't have.

They weren't going to conclude off the bat that Felix had poison manipulation but it was just a coincidence to have the same tail mutation.

It was more believable than a HUMAN having the ability to manipulate the elements freely!

Despite making those countermeasures to separate the two personas, Felix wanted to avoid being too high profiled with his abilities overpoweredness.

Alas, Asna didn't like that one bit as it seemed to her that Felix was being unreasonably cautious.

If he kept acting like this, he would continue to miss opportunities to get stronger like those. Before long, he would end up missing an opportunity that he would regret for a lifetime.

Felix realized this fact as well.

This was the first time he planned to give up trying just because he felt worried about others hunting him down. But in fact, he was already going to be hunted down either way.

So why not seize every chance and opportunity to better himself faster so he wouldn't need to keep hiding the fact that he owned multiple abilities or even poison manipulation?

'F*ck it! I can't limit myself from using my abilities in real life as well as in the SG!' Felix cracked his knuckles with a determined expression as he eyed the berserk Kraken still going at it.

'Let's end this with a bang.'

'Yay!!' Asna cheered in delight while watching him slid down the Turtle's neck until he reached the end.

Felix jumped on the shell and extended both of his palms forward. He narrowed his eyes and murmured, "Guardians of The Temples, rise!"

Chapter 340 - The Guardians of The Temples!

Immediately after the order was given, a large amount of black sand had erupted from Felix's palm and landed on the shell right in front of him.

The sand started to gather and converge until the 1st Guardian had been brought into existence.

It was the eight-meters tall Blacky with his Eagle head and long spear.

After Blacky's creation, the sand stopped releasing for a split second before starting again with colorless sand, appearing completely transparent like water!

It gathered to create a female body this time.

She was short compared to Blacky but she was thin and had an extremely narrow waist, appearing like an hourglass.

Meanwhile, her head was that of a Cat and her hands had exceptionally long nails, reaching at least a meter in length.

The moment her creation had ended, the sand that came from Felix's other hand had already finished manifesting two more guardians!

Both of them shared Blacky's height but were different in everything else. One of them had the head of a Serpent and the other had the head of a Lion.

While the Serpent-headed Guardian was a green female being that was holding a long spiked whip, the Lion-headed Guardian was golden and had a long exquisite golden blade attached to his back.

After so, Felix closed his palms and waited until the final detailing of each guardian finishes.

It took only a couple of seconds before all of them turned into almost realistic versions, making it impossible to discern that all of them were created from the sand!

"What the hell? He had more?!"

"How is every one of them is more unique than the last one!"

"Someone please tell me if they are golems or not? They look more f*cking beautiful than me!"

Leader Emma and the rest who glanced in his direction quite often were left in shock at the sight of those four Guardians, all bowing their heads as they kneeled in front of Felix.

Felix gestured for them with his hand to stand up and went to touch each one of them, creating two copies for a Guardian!

Since the copies always took Felix's memories and personality as their guiding compass, those newly risen guardians appeared more comical than the stoic real versions.

The Cat Guardian's copy even curled up on the ground and closed her eyes shut, planning to sleep right now and here!

Thud!

'Get your ass up!' Irritated, Felix kicked her in the knee and started laying down his orders since there wasn't much time to waste.

'Guardians, your job will be mainly to distract the Kraken. If you managed to hurt his tentacles in the process, go for it so he would lose more control.' Felix warned them strictly, 'No matter what, don't let yourselves get caught.'

The Real Guardians nodded their heads in understanding while the copies were doing their own things.

Felix didn't care if the others were going to act as planned since the main reason he created them was to add numbers and make it difficult for Kraken to differentiate between the real and the fake.

By doing so, Felix couldn't escape getting found out by Lisa as his Turtle was carrying a f*cking army of giant realistic unique beings!

Yet, before she could even react to it, Felix had ordered for the Lion Guardian to leave his blade behind.

The Lion Guardian nodded his head and placed the long golden blade gently near Felix.

The blade was at least 6 meters long and two-meter wide, making Felix appear quite tiny next to it.

Felix didn't touch it as he merely pointed his palm at the Lion Guardian and a new blade was created on his back.

This was caused by the limitations of the ability, as Felix couldn't create blades or such, but he could use sand to restore whatever lost on his Guardians' bodies.

After doing so, Felix ordered the secondary Turtle to link with the one they were standing on.

Then, he sent all of the Guardians on it and ordered it to head straight to the Kraken!

"Landlord is attempting to slay the Kraken!!" Thrilled by the sight, Lisa cried loudly making the viewers baffled by her sudden exclamation.

"Look!" She quickly split the camera focus into two halves and placed Felix in one while his Guardians in the other.

Their reaction was exactly like Felix's fans and Lisa as no one expected that Felix had more than one sentient sand being!

In their eyes, having one was more than abnormal! Yet, now they were seeing twelve of them heading to do what their idols couldn't!

After glancing at Felix's screen, they were even more shocked as they could see that he was pathing around the Kraken, planning for a flank without being seen!

"Landlord has gone nuts! But I f*cking love it!" Lisa cheered cutely with her fists raised in the air, feeling excited and delighted by Felix's daring attempt!

She knew that he could wait 4 minutes and he would be crowned as the champion!

This game was already secured in the pocket for him when the players failed to slay the Kraken! Yet, he was throwing all of that to fight that monstrosity.

She didn't know if he had something to rely on or he was simply an overconfident idiot!

Whatever it was, she loved the twist before the end of the game!

It wasn't just her as the viewers whether they were Felix's fans or not. All cheered for him!

They weren't cheering for him to slay it but to attract its attention so their idols could survive!

The Kraken had fully destroyed a Turtle in the past minute and everyone on it suffered the same fate as the others before them.

Right now, the Kraken had already switched its focus to the Turtle's shell where Golden Elixir and Mikasa were staying inside!

Just like the previous one, it was in the process of cracking slowly but surely after each strike.

However, after Kraken noticed the approaching Turtle and the Guardians standing on it, he stopped at once and sent a single tentacle towards the Turtle's neck!

It learned from its mistakes and now it knew that the Turtles needed to die first to kill the others.

'Withdrew your neck!'

Felix, whose senses were currently placed in Cat Guardian's copy, ordered immediately after seeing the approaching danger.

WHOOOSH!!

After the Turtle obeyed his order, the tentacle went straight above Felix's head, producing a roaring sound of the wind that made his mind short circuit for a second.

Only after being this near to the tentacles did Felix recognize the horror those players felt during their battle!

The Kraken was no easy foe!

'Snap out of it!' Felix shook his head slightly and narrowed his cat-like eyes at the next approaching tentacles that were aiming for them this time. 'I can't be faltering now. Otherwise, I should leave while I can!'

Thud!!

The moment Felix regained control of his emotions, the tentacle had already lashed out on the surface of the shell, destroying one copy and missing the rest.

It didn't really miss as every real guardian had managed to dodge it successfully and the rest of the copies were luckily outside of the strike zone like Felix.

'Counterattack!'

Felix didn't join the fight as copies weren't powerful enough to harm the Kraken skin.

However, the same couldn't be applied to the real guardians who were created by Lady Sphinx specifically combat!

Blacky dashed forward while spinning the spear behind his back, creating a whirlwind in the process.

WHOOSH!!

The instant Blacky reached the tentacle in the process of lifting, He jumped in the air and used his spear to pierce one of its sticky suckers.

His strike was forceful enough; the spear had managed to exit from the other side of the tentacle!

Blacky didn't remain in the same position to admire his attack but swiftly pulled his spear and somersaulted back into the shell.

He then spanned his spear once and stood in a defensive position, waiting for the Kraken to attack again.

The entire sequence appeared clean and neat like Blacky was doing this for millions of years, astonishing the viewers alike!

Felix didn't want to share his senses with Blacky and the rest of the guardians since he knew that he wouldn't bring their full potential.

All of them dealt with a tentacle of their own while the copies were getting smacked left and right by the rest.

Whoah!!

"How could she move like that!!"

Lisa couldn't help but exclaim at the sight of the Snake Guardian swinging from a Tentacle to another by relying on her long spiky whip!

She wasn't just swinging for the fun of it, but to confuse the Kraken and anger him after failing to catch her continuously.

If it wasn't for the Kraken's body being too large, her whip would have caused even more damage due to the green sand attribute being absorbing energy!

Meanwhile, the Cat Guardian was dodging nimbly every strike like her body was boneless!

Like Blacky, she was counterattacking by utilizing her long nails, slicing open wounds on the giant tentacles!

Slice Slice!

Since she was made from transparent sand, The Kraken was having difficulty spotting her on the shell.

Felix switched his senses to the Cat Guardian's copy due to her permanent stealth mode caused by her sand attribute!

Currently, he was standing at the corner of the shell while cheering them on with his fists in the air.

His eyes were on the Lion Guardian who was actually doing the most damage due to the long exquisite blade! Find authorized novels in , faster updates, better experience, Please click #!_52548359088558733 for visiting.

Every slash from it was resulting in a shower of blood emerging from the Tentacles!

However, harming the Kraken was just a secondary task as the main mission was to distract it.

Hence, they kept counterattacking only when it was going to result in them not getting caught.

Without emotions or hormones affecting their decisions, they never greedied for another attack or froze in their positions from fear.

Just like that, an inconceivable scene was born on the Turtle's shell as the Guardians were dancing around systemically and gorgeously under the eyes of the viewers.

"Is it just me or are those golems even better than some gold players?" Lisa commentated with a speechless expression.

Everyone felt the same as Lisa and they found it a bit difficult to believe.

In their eyes, a golem-like ability or summoned elemental beast was supposed to be retarded and wouldn't move nimbly unless they were given clear orders.

Yet, right before them, The Four Guardians of The Temples were showing graceful movements and enviable battle senses that were intangible even for Felix!

Adding to their masterful use of weapons and martial techniques, they were able to contest against the Kraken's tentacles that sent the players hiding inside their shells...Literally!
