

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 331 A legendary tier beast!

Bubble's news channel, the most popular news channel in the whole Earth and everybody were currently tuned into the channel including the big three as they heard that the channel were going to be showing how the guilds were conquering the planet.

What they didn't expect was to find the Fang hunters on screen and the shocking thing to the world was how the core members were able to kill King tier beasts so easily like as if they were just advanced tier beasts.

Looking at the weapons they all held, it didn't look to be above the advanced tier and it was able to kill King tier beasts so easily. Which meant one thing to the viewers, their Qi was in another level.

After the core members showed their prowess against the king tier beasts, the world including the big three were now about to see the prowess of their leader: the werewolf slayer as they could see a huge ice golem bursting out of the ground.

"Good job guys, I'm proud." Jake smiled then they all felt the cave a metre away shaking along with the ground while they could feel the ground beneath their feet rumbling loudly.

"Move back now!" Jake ordered and everybody along with him jumped back just in time for they could see a huge ice golems bursting out of the ground with its one eye glowing bright red.

"You have all done your best, now it's my turn." Jake smiled without looking back.

"Void! Cloning!" He called out and everybody felt an immense aura envelop Jake while his eyes began shining bright blue.

Shadows rippled beneath Jake's feet and a huge beast was seen rising out of the shadow with its eyes glowing blue. This was the king tier Gronk Jake fought against earlier and now, it is stronger than before.

Next were puffs of smoke appearing all around him while around five Jakes appeared all taking the same causal stance as the real deal.

"Inventory!" He mumbled and a small pocket of space appeared above his hand and dipping his hand into it, a sword was now in his hand.

The legendary tier sword he got after killing the Gorgoras from earlier. Without warning, the beast quickly shot out huge ice pillars towards Jake rapidly without break.

Taking a stance and bending all his weight on his feet, he waited for the pillars to get close and without warning, him and his clones began swinging their swords rapidly at the pillars as their hands were moving like blurs hitting and breaking the continuous shots of pillars and finally, the beast stopped sending pillars their way.

Before he could do anything again, a gigantic pillar was sent his way. He just casually swirled his Qi to his feet and then exploded towards the pillar heading his way and then he quickly switched it to his hands and sword swiftly and he sliced through the pillar.

Cutting it into two giant slabs that almost landed on the core members but they had quickly moved and then the slabs fell with a loud thud that caused the ground to shake for a second making the core members gulp loudly.

'That shit was heavy! And Jake sliced through it easily?' Alex thought as he looked at Jake dashing towards the beast.

Instead of shooting pillars, the beast switched up to shooting ice shards towards Jake who was running around avoiding each and every single one of the shards.

To the viewers, they were hardly able to see anything as Jake was moving around like a blur while the shards were crashing into the snow throwing up snow everywhere almost blocking the beast's view.

Slowly, the shards stopped coming as the beast was unable to see the werewolf slayer again due to snow covering all its view and then the snowy view separated a bit allowing for a huge beast to appear and it hit the ice golem back causing it to skid a few inches.

And then two clones jumped from behind and slammed their hands covered in lightning into the beast's head almost causing it to hit the ground but it held its footing properly but the lightning still stung it a bit.

That was when three clones appeared in front of it and were about to hit it with lightning again when two pillars of ice appeared around it and shooting it towards the clones, two of them were able to escape while the third one was unlucky as the pillars crashed into it causing it to go up in smoke.

"Tch!" Jake scoffed as he suddenly appeared in front of the beast then he swung his sword from the side towards its head but it had quickly moved back just in time before shooting an ice pillar back at him.

But activating {Step shift}, he managed to avoid it in time.

'Darn! This beast is fast, just as fast as that Gorgoras.' Jake thought and then he was about to move when he suddenly felt a chill on his feet and looking down, he could see that the snow beneath his feet had hardened thereby restricting his movements.

And then the beast was seen charging towards him at full speed with its pincers held outwardly about to strike him but the Gronk appeared in front of Jake and then used its head to hit the golem back causing it to stumble back an inch.

Before the clones quickly jumped up and appeared above the golem and then all together, they slammed their hands covered in lightning again to its head causing a huge shockwave to spread out and snow got thrown up that for a second, the clear ground could be seen beneath the golem's feet before the snow covered it back up.

The golem's knees buckled before it jumped back up throwing the clones off and before they could move, they were faced with two ice pillars each that crashed into the clones causing them to go into puffs of smoke.

And then the beast finally turned its attention to a stuck Jake who surprisingly had a smile on his face and then it dashed towards him with an immense speed and seeing this, the core members were about to move but Jake raised his hands stopping them and the viewers raised an eyebrow at this as they couldn't help but comment.

"What is wrong with him? He should let them help him or else he would be killed."

"I think he is trying to prove something."

"Prove what? That he can handle the situation?"

"Guys! I think he has a plan."

"Yeah! A plan to get killed... are we even watching the same show? That beast looks stronger than the king tier beasts of earlier which means it has to be a legendary tier beast."

"Uhm... are we still talking about the same werewolf slayer right now? Isn't this the same werewolf slayer that rumors has it that he slay a legendary tier beast? And the same werewolf slayer that slayed a Beta werewolf."

"Exactly! Do you think he is that weak that he wouldn't be able to handle a legendary tier beast?"

"Well, let's see if he can get himself out of this."

"Tch! His arrogance will be his downfall soon." A user commented and the online forum went quiet a bit to see what Jake intended to do.

Immediately he raised his hands stopping the core members from moving an inch, his smile grew wider as he swung his hand and a crackling sound was heard behind the beast causing it to quickly turn around when its face suddenly became bright.

Chapter 332 Call off the peace treaty!

Immediately he raised his hands stopping the core members from moving an inch, his smile grew wider as he swung his hand and a crackling sound was heard behind the beast causing it to quickly turn around when its face suddenly became bright and it could see two huge bolts of lightning heading for its face and everybody had their mouths agape.

"When did he...?" Sophia stuttered.

'This will drain me of my magic points, but I sure hope my plan works.' Jake thought and in a flash, the lightning bolts headed for the golem who in turn raised its pincers up and then crossed it in an X shape before the lightning crashed into it electrocuting its whole body on the spot while its pincers and body began dripping black blood.

In a minute, the lightning dissipated and the beast was seen on its knees with its body covered in blood but turning to look at Jake, it had a weird smirk on its face with its face covered in blood making the smirk look weird and scary.

But then it was unable to see Jake where he was stuck and then everybody heard a voice.

"Looking for me?" Jake called out a few metres away from the beast with a smile on his face.

And then the beast slowly rose from its kneeling position and a huge pillar of ice appeared beside it and about a dozen ice shards appeared around it too while Jake had one of his hands in his pants pocket and his sword in the other hand.

And then he glanced at the sword with a smile on his face while turning it around as if inspecting every inch of it.

"You know, if I wanted to kill you, I would have done that by now." Jake said as he looked up from his sword and smirked towards the beast. "All these while, I have just been playing around to see how strong you can get and I think I have seen enough."

Everybody hearing were confused and raised an eyebrow at the same time as they didn't understand what the werewolf slayer was saying so the commenters all took to their keyboards again.

"Am I hearing and seeing things? The werewolf slayer just said he is toying around with the beast? For real?! Who is he kidding? Lol"

"I don't know why he is so delusional? SMH. We were all seeing how the beast was overpowering him and he is saying he is toying with it? Really?"

"Probably he is trying to show off to the world and maybe woo Erin. LMAO."

"Like as if Erin would ever agree to go out with him. I mean look at him." A user commented.

"What is wrong with him? He is quite handsome if we look at him properly."

"Damn! A BL is in the building!"

"Who you calling a BL? I'm just stating what is obvious since your jealous eyes are to blind to notice."

"I reserve my comment."

Druig who was currently controlling the drones and also monitoring the online forum was currently shaking his head as he read everything pouring in and he was slightly confused by what was going on.

'I thought the world loved the werewolf slayer, then why are they saying mean things towards him? I guess they are just too jealous.' he sighed and then he went back to controlling the drones that were currently capturing Jake's smirk.

"Do you know why I won't kill you?" Jake asked as he took a stance with his sword in front of him and the golem shot out the pillar of ice along with the dozens shards of ice towards him.

Bending his feet, the snow rose up behind him and the ground beneath the snow cracked slightly and then swirling his Qi to his feet, he exploded towards the incoming ice while a chunk of snow got pushed far back.

Exploding from his position and heading towards the ice, it was like Jake was a flying rocket as his sword skillfully slashed the ice pillar and then he skillfully avoided the dozens of ice shards while still being on air.

Lacing the sole of his shoe with Qi, it felt like he stomped on the air and he got propelled faster towards the beast that was going to be caught unaware by Jake's speed and then appearing by its side, he slashed at one of its pincers cutting it cleanly.

Stomping the air again, Jake threw a bicycle kick towards the golem's head causing it to go flying and crashing into the snow resulting in a loud bang that shook the ground and possibly the planet while throwing up a mound of snow up from the ground before they hit the ground back almost covering the golem. Find exclusive stories on My Virtual Library Empire

The golem was seen slowly standing up with the hand where its pincers were on before Jake sliced it up began dripping with blood continuously.

Without wasting time, Jake activated two skills from his system. {Strength Surge} and {Magnet (LV1): Attracts all enemies within a one metre radius towards the user. (Casting speed: 10 seconds)}

Immediately, he felt a surge of strength bubbling inside him while the golem felt its body losing control and it went dashing straight ahead towards Jake who took a stance with one foot in front of him and the other behind him while his sword suddenly disappeared from view.

"The reason why I don't want to kill you, is because I have a use for you!" He shouted loudly as the beast was in front of him and unleashing all his strength in one punch, a loud resounding bang was heard as Jake's fist connected with the beast causing it to go flying away and then hitting the ground hard creating a huge crater and also pushing the snow away from where the crater was.

Looking at the beast, he could see that it was unmoving and Jake was now slightly worried as he looked at his hands and then at the beast.

'Did I use too much strength? What if it is dead now, what am I going to do?' he thought in a panic as he stared at the beast that was now slightly twitching which caused him to heave a sigh of relief as he walked towards it and then activated a skill while looking at it dead in its eyes.

"Control!" He called out and the beast's eyes glowed fierce blue before it slowly stood up and bowed down towards Jake who had a smile on his face.

"I already knew you were weaker than me when the system didn't pop with a quest so I knew this would work and I'm glad it did. Welcome to the group Ice... I'm going to be calling you Ice now." Jake smiled and then he activated Void causing Ice and Gronks to disappear leaving the whole world silent and shocked by the impressive show of strength by the werewolf slayer.

To the extent that the usual commenters couldn't type anything as they all swallowed hard especially after seeing the beast kneel towards Jake earlier. Meanwhile, unknown to the whole world, there was another group of beings watching the Livestream and they saw Jake's impressive show of strength.

In a planet that was filled with multiple caves and mountains, while the air was misty and orange looking, small houses and mansions were built all around and on top the caves while different people were walking around minding their business with tight fitting clothes on all their bodies.

The planet was filled with another civilization and they were as many people as on Earth as they all walked around minding their different business while some people were seen practising off to the side.

The people were able to walk around different places but there was one area they avoided and that was a huge cave with a castle resting on it with a huge gate surrounding it.

Inside the castle, in a throne room of some sorts, a huge bulky man was seen sitting on the throne with another chair beside him and another man was seated on it facing a screen of some sorts and they could see Jake battling against the legendary tier beast.

"So this is the one called werewolf slayer that killed Blip huh." The bulky man said with his voice deep and menacing to the extent it shook the room slightly.

"Yes! Apparently, he is still growing stronger." The less bulky man replied.

And the bulky man sighed before he grit his teeth while staring at Jake's glowing blue eyes. "I guess we have let the human race be for so long huh? And they are getting quite cocky especially since one of them managed to best that arrogant Blip."

"Right! I think it's the right time we put them in their place." The less bulky man smiled while seeing Jake punch the beast into the ground causing a loud bang to resound.

"Correct! I think it's time we call of this peace treaty and finally take over." The bulky man said with a smirk on his face and his eyes began glowing bright red and so did the less bulky man's eyes began glowing bright blue.

Chapter 333 Do you have a girlfriend?

"Okay! It is decided, the leader of the Fang hunters is a monster in human flesh because what am I seeing?!" Erin shouted down the camera which was pointed towards her by Druig while one of the drones that was following the core members had been recalled back.

Leaving one with them just in case something crazy happened.

"I don't a human has ever been able to deal with a legendary tier beast so easily except probably the Big three, but the Fang hunters' leader has just broken the record and not only that, he tamed it! Tamed a freaking legendary tier beast!" Erin continued with her eyes widened in disbelief and the online community joined her sharing in the disbelief.

"True! Are we sure the werewolf slayer is even human at this point?" Someone commented.

"What do you think he would be? A werewolf? Or a vampire? Or maybe a zombie? Lol." Another person commented.

Replying to user dreig. "Luckily for you, if he turns out to be a zombie, you are safe since it is obvious you are brainless."

"Says the person replying anonymously! If you were brave enough, tell me who you are and i will make sure I make you eat your words!"

"I have no time arguing with brainless commenters."

"I'm sure at this point, the werewolf has officially showed the world that he is deserving of the seat at the top three independent Guilds." Erin continued and that was when from the corner of his eyes, Druig could see the drone following the werewolf slayer and the core members was capturing them coming back.

And in less than five minutes, they were back at the Aeroglides and all the hundred men they brought along with them cheered loudly that the whole ground began shaking and Jake just smiled warmly at them.

"I had made a promise." Jake began speaking and the whole men kept quiet all at once showing how much they respected Jake even though he was young. "I had promised you all that I would make sure we get to the top together and I really intend to keep it as you can see by my actions."

"We know you can do it werewolf slayer!" Someone shouted from the crowd.

"Yes! We will support you and make sure you get the seat you rightfully deserve." Another person said.

"I'm not doing it for the seat!" Jake shouted calming them down. "I'm doing this to better the lives of the Fang hunters so no one, no power would ever look down on us! I'm doing this to show the world that we are not a guild to be trifled with!"

"Yay! Fang hunters to the world!" Someone from the crowd shouted and everybody began applauding Jake.

"He feels like a politician of the old that is campaigning." Erin mumbled under her breath.

"You have really gotten better with connecting with the people and giving heartfelt speeches." Alex commented with a chuckle.

"Let us rest up here and set camp on this planet while planning our next move. And I hereby declare that this planet is under the Fang hunters!" Jake declared and every man roared loudly in excitement.

"He...he is not only powerful, he is able to connect with his men and those following him. I think I know why they follow and trust him now." Erin smiled when Druig tugged at her clothes and handed over a tab of some kind and her eyes widened at what she was seeing on the online forum.

"Bullshit! I find it hard to believe that he is doing this for his people, I'm very sure it is for his selfish gain."

"Probably! All of them are the same, doing things for their own gain."

"But I'm sure the werewolf slayer is not like that."

"Oh yeah?! Well let's see."

Just as Jake said, the men began preparing their camp and they also began preparing and planning on how to begin erecting buildings for those that would be left behind to guide the planet. Enjoy more content from My Virtual Library Empire

Erin walked up towards Jake who was discussing with General Paul on what to do next while the camera was rolling behind her.

"Werewolf slayer!" Erin called out with a blush on her face and Jake turned around with his eyes slightly furrowed.

"Yes." He answered.

"Mind if I ask a few questions?" She asked and Jake just sighed.

"Sure go ahead." He replied and the others left him while Erin began to ask questions.

"So what are your plans now?" She asked.

"We plan to rest up while coming up with strategies for attacking the next planet." Jake replied.

"That's a smart decision. So do you mind me asking? How did you get so strong? From our Intel and knowledge, you were a student of Aurora Academy."

Hearing this, the viewers and especially Big three that waited a little bit more were shocked.

"He was a student?" Rex asked surprised and so did everybody else.

"Hmm. I must applaud your information gathering and it shows that you lots are formidable." Jake said with a slight smirk that sent shivers down Erin's spine. "Anyway! Yes, I was a student of Aurora Academy and I don't think there's a need to tell you all how I got my strength do I?"

"No there's no need." Erin said with a thump in her chest as she was about to turn away when she looked deep into Jake's eyes and then his chiselled jaw. "Last question please."

"Shoot." Jake said feeling tired.

"Do you have a girlfriend? Or any love interest?" Erin asked with her cheeks heating up the longer she stared at him.

The question caught Jake unaware as he unfolded his hands and took a slight step back before regaining his composure meanwhile Druig who was behind the camera was confused by the reason she asked the questions as it wasn't in the questionnaire.

"Your question is related to my personal life so I'm not commenting on that. Thank you." Jake said and swiftly left Erin's presence.

'What was wrong with me? Why did I ask that?' she thought then quickly signaled to Druig to shut the camera and he did. 'Anyway, that is behind me... let me decide the next guild I will record.'

Chapter 334 The power of the system!

The very next day, after the planet conquest by the Fang hunters, Erin and Druig had gotten a move on towards the next guild they intended to show to the world as the Fang hunters were busy trying to build shelters down to enable the men who will be left behind settle in nicely.

Erin and Druig were in their very own mini Aeroglide that could only fit about ten people max and they were currently zooming through space to the next planet that was to be conquered by one of the independent guilds.

It didn't take long for them to land on a planet that looked different from the other planets they had been to. As this planet was filled with trees and forest all around making it hard to get a place in order to land.

But looking around, they spotted a few Aeroglides parked away from a huge forest so Erin signalled for their driver to also land there and he did.

Descending from the Aeroglide, Erin could see a couple of men standing around a man and they were discussing something while about five hundred men were all seen preparing sternly without smiling unlike the Fang hunters.

"I think these ones really mean business here." Erin commented as she naturally walked towards the small clearing that had a couple men discussing.

And hearing footsteps behind them, they all turned around to see Erin heading their way while one of the men who was in the middle had a wide smile on his face.

The man looked to be in his twenties and he had fiery golden hair with his eyes gleaming green and he had a tattoo of a phoenix on his arm while wearing a long golden robe over his clothes that looked like a cape of some sorts.

The smile on his face looked rather unsettling as he walked towards Erin with his robe flying in the wind behind his back carefree while the five men that surrounded him earlier moved away to allow him easy passage towards Erin.

Erin quickly signaled to Druig to begin filming and since the whole world knew she was going to another guild today, they were currently tuned in as they could see a man wearing a weird robe and walking towards Erin so the usual community took to their keyboards.

"Does anybody know who that weird caped dude is?"

"No idea! I wonder if he is feeling like superman of the old. Lol."

"Bro thinks he is supes."

"Let's just wait for Erin's interview so we would know who the hell he is."

"My lady." The robed man said as he bowed slightly towards Erin and took her hand before kissing it causing her cheeks to flush up red in embarrassment and all Erin's male fans began pouring their anger unto their keyboards.

"Who does bro think he is kissing Erin on the hand like that?"

"Yeah! If anyone has the right to do that, it should be me darn it!"

"How do you want to kiss Erin with your charred lips looking like coal?"

"Says the person that looks so skinny that at the slightest breeze, he would fly away."

"Guys! Please relax!" Someone quickly commented. "We all know that the one who has the right to kiss her is me."

"Who the hell is this Alien dude from space?" The two commenters who were bickering a while ago said at the same time.

"Can't believe this dude... he thinks he can kiss Erin with his weird head looking like it got hit too many times by a car."

"Oh?! So you wanna do a roasting battle right?"

"Guys! Please let's hear what Erin is saying so stop flooding this place with messages. You wanna know who that dude is? Then listen." Someone commented and the whole forum suddenly went quiet.

"Wh... why did you do that?" Erin asked as she quickly snatched her hands away and the man stood up with a smile on his face.

"Got to show my respect to a beauty like you. I can't behave like a certain rude fellow now can I?" The man said with a wide smile on his face while Erin's mind flashed to when she had met Jake for the first time.

'This dude, he knows that Jake is watching, is he trying to stir up something with him?' she wondered.

"Pardon me, but I need to ask. Since the world doesn't really know who he looks like, are you the leader of the Phoenix guild?" Erin asked as Druig panned drones' camera all around capturing the phoenix symbol on all the Aeroglides around and also the symbol on the clothes of the men.

"The one and only Gray Nix." Gray smiled as he did a small bow towards Erin.

'This dude is too courteous, can he even fight? No! For him to be the leader of the top guild independent guild in the world, he must be tremendously strong.' Erin thought.

"So are we going to be seeing the leader of the Phoenix guild in action today?" She asked.

"Why not? After the werewolf slayer's show off, I can't lack behind now can I?" Gray asked.

"Well the viewers hope to see an impressive display from you, that is if you plan on besting the werewolf slayer's record." Erin smiled.

Gray was about to reply when one of the five men walked towards him and then whispered into his ears.

"I guess it's time huh." Gray said and then he looked towards all the men he brought along with him. "It's time guys! Let's go!"

Immediately, they all got ready and then began running at full speed heading west with Gray and the five men in front while Druig sent out two drones their way which was recording everything from above.

And in two minutes, they all stood in a large clearing with huge trees surrounding them and then rustling noises were heard coming from the trees while branches were heard breaking.

And that was when thudding noises were heard and then in front of the phoenix guild were gorilla looking beasts all with six arms on their body and their eyes glowing fierce red.

Gray smiled and then he held his hand outwardly. "Inventory!" And a sword appeared in his hands. "Time to show the world the power of the system and the phoenix guild!"

Chapter 335 A fast rising guild

When Erin and Druig left the planet Jake had just conquered, she informed them that she is off to the next guild that were planning on making their move and conquering their fifth planet so since they were currently less busy, Jake and the core members were in the half finished meeting room created for them.

And they had a circular object that displayed Erin's live video and they could all see the weird caped figure. Immediately General Paul saw him, he immediately figured out who he was. Then the next scene that happened with Gray kissing Erin's hands didn't pull much of a reaction from them as they kept on watching.

That was when they finally saw the phoenix guild make their move with Druig's drones following from above until they finally reached a large clearing where gorilla type beasts with six arms quickly dropped down and then the next thing Gray did finally pulled a reaction from Jake.

Jake could see Gray smiling and then he held his hand outwardly. "Inventory!" And a sword appeared in his hands. "Time to show the world the power of the system and the phoenix guild!" he said.

Hearing everything, Jake shot out of his seat in shock with his eyes widened in surprise and the others were now wondering what happened that pulled this sort of expression from Jake.

"Is anything the problem?" Alex asked as he could see all of Jake's body tensed up with his eyes still widened as if he saw a ghost of some sorts.

"Di... did... did... did he just call out inventory? And did... did he just mention the word system?" Jake mumbled beneath his breath as his eyes rested on Gray who had a wide smile on his face while staring at the drone camera.

"But... how is this possible? He shouldn't know of the system. And if he had just said the word inventory and pulled a sword, I wouldn't have thought much of it but he just mentioned the word system. How on Earth is this possible?!" Jake shouted in shock and the others were now worried for him as he was just saying things which they didn't understand.

"Jake! You alright there?" Sunny asked as he slowly approached him and was about to tap him when Jake suddenly lifted his head and glared right at Gray.

"How strong is he?" He asked.

"Who?" General Paul asked.

"That leader of the phoenix guild." Jake replied. 'Depending on how strong he is will determine what level he is in the system if he really has one.'

"If my information gathering is not wrong, he should be at the rank of a triple A rank adventurer." General Paul replied and it felt like a fragile glass shattered as Jake's eyes widened the more looking at Gray.

'Tripple A rank? Does that mean he is stronger than me? I... I thought that with my current strength, there shouldn't be anyone that should give me trouble except maybe the big three.' he thought with his fist clenched tightly.

'Wait! Does that mean that he is the creator of my system? If he has a system, and he is above me in level, it means that his system is older than mine and he has more time to milk his system dry of skills.'

"Relax! If he was the creator of the system, I would have known." Zee said. Your next read awaits at My Virtual Library Empire

"How would you know? Aren't you just an AI?" Jake questioned quietly.

"If only you knew that I know him." Zee mumbled quietly that Jake was unable to hear.

Then Jake heard a sigh from Zee which made him slightly suspicious about the AI.

"Anything the problem?" Jake asked.

"I feel burdened." Zee replied and then he went silent.

"Burdened? What do you mean?" Jake asked feeling confused but there was no response from Zee.

"Zee! Zee! Zee! You there?" He screamed in his head but no matter how many times he did, he received no response from him which made him resign from further arguing and trying to observe the fight between the phoenix guild and the gorilla beasts.

'If truly he has a system and he is stronger than me, then I will have to make sure I don't step on his toes... but come to think of it, my adventurer rank is an A rank but if I were to grade myself using the system, I should be above the double A rank. Around a high double A rank or a low triple rank.' Jake thought then he sat back down in his seat with a smile on his face while looking at Gray that was ready to charge.

Not only were the Fang hunters watching, even the big three were also rooted in front of the screen to see what the other guild had to offer. Although they knew what guild it was, it had been ages since they saw what powers Gray held.

After the first war where the big three managed to push the werewolves back, the formation of Aurora Academy and guilds began. When the term guilds was being formed, and the system was being set in place, two guilds quickly rose to the top in just a year of something as guilds being known.

The two guilds were the Phoenix guild and the thunderbolt guild. They had rose so quickly that they stayed at the top of the ladder. How did they rise quickly? By hunting beasts and increasing their adventurer ranks.

So the big three and the world didn't know what strengths they had and knowing how they quickly rose, it meant they were fast learners of Qi. And now, they were about to see what the top one independent guild had to offer as countless gorilla beasts were seen landing in front of the phoenix guild.

I want to use this chapter to thank Adrian_Hardin for the super gift he gave to Jake Lucas. Thank you so much sir for this awesome gift and you enjoying my book.

P.S I would also appreciate it if you could give my second book a chance in your life too. I'm very sure you would enjoy that one too. Title is Magus Supremacy.

Chapter 336 The dangerously strong core members!

And in two minutes, they all stood in a large clearing with huge trees surrounding them and then ruffling noises were heard coming from the trees while branches were heard breaking.

And that was when thudding noises were heard and then in front of the phoenix guild were gorilla looking beasts all with six arms on their body and their eyes glowing fierce red.

Gray smiled and then he held his hand outwardly. "Inventory!" And a sword appeared in his hands. "Time to show the world the power of the system and the phoenix guild!"

Immediately the gorillas landed, they all pounded their chests at once with all their six arms while roaring loudly at the humans in front of them.

"Attack!" Gray mumbled with a smile and all his guild members dashed forward at the hundred gorilla beasts and so did the gorillas as they charged towards the humans and in a second, it became a blood bath.

The regular guild members were skillful as they slashed and moved nimbly avoiding and killing the beasts easily. But the ones most impressive were the five men that had surrounded Gray earlier.

One of them was seen using a pair of Sai weapons. These weapons looked like a mini pitch fork as he was seen dancing around nimbly. This member had a black bandana tied around his head as he quickly jumped back just in time to avoid two swings made to his body by a gorilla.

Jumping back, he made two thrust in the air and a loud bang was heard as holes appeared in the beast's arm before he stomped the ground hard and was propelled up and he landed on the beast's head before impaling his Sai into its head killing it immediately.

"Remind me what tier these beasts are!" The Sai user asked Gray.

"I think he said something along the lines of King tier beasts." Gray replied with a smile as he looked at the drones watching them.

"Tch! Too weak." The Sai user exclaimed before he dashed towards another beast.

Another impressive member was one of them who was wielding a Katana blade. He was quick on his feet as he jumped to the side avoiding one of the beasts that jumped up and was about to pound him.

Then he slashed his sword in the air a couple of times releasing visible Qi slashes towards the beast that lifted four of its arms in an attempt to block the slashes but they sliced its hands cleanly before the slashes disappeared. Letting its hands down, it suddenly saw the Katana user who appeared in front of it and then swinging his sword from below, a huge slash came out and sliced the beast's head cleanly before he swiftly rushed towards another beast.

Another of the five was a huge bulky man that stood almost like a giant with next to no clothes on his body but he had a pair of thick gauntlets on his hand as he dashed towards one of the gorillas with his every step resounding loudly almost cracking the ground.

Getting to one of the gorilla, he swung his gauntlet covered hands towards the gorilla who lifted two of its hands and threw a punch towards the incoming hand blocking it but the gorilla was pushed back slightly.

"Haha!" Gray chuckled as he saw the giant man take another swing at the gorilla again. "I can't believe that he is getting stronger that he is able to match a king tier gorilla that boasts of strength in a strength contest."

The giant was about to take another swing when another beast appeared behind him and swung all six of its hands towards the giant man who quickly stomped the ground hard that it created a crater beneath his feet throwing the gorilla off balance and then turning around with his hands glowing brightly from infusing all his Qi into it, he slammed his hand into the gorilla sending it crashing into the crater ground.

Therefore creating another deep crater to the extent the whole forest, the trees for miles to go was uprooted and a huge gust of wind spread out hitting those that were still fighting moving them slightly from their position.

"Grodd is on fire!" Gray smiled as his sword was still in one of his hands and the other in his pocket watching the fight with a smile.

The giant whose name was Grodd, turned towards the gorilla that he was facing earlier that looked like it wanted to run away from the face of this monster, he swiftly grabbed it by one of its arms and lifted it up before swiftly slamming it back down into the ground creating another round of shockwave throwing majority off balance.

The beast's head splattered like a balloon filled with water that was slammed against the wall. Then Grodd quickly moved to the next beast that would soon suffer the same if not worse fate.

Another member who was dominating the battlefield was a female who wielded a whip as her choice of weapons. With each swing, dozens of slash made of Qi always appeared at the tip of it slashing and creating marks and light injuries on the gorilla she was facing.

When the gorilla quickly dashed towards her at incredible speed about to slam it's hands into her but infusing her legs with tremendous amount of Qi, she was faster as she had swiftly moved away in time when the gorilla's hands slammed into the ground creating a loud bang.

From the place she had moved to, she began swinging her whip rapidly creating more slash on the beast's body who was now feeling groggy as its speed suddenly slowed while its whole body was riddled with a lot of injuries and was also covered in black blood.

'My weapon's active skill, allowed for the more injuries a person or being suffered from the whip, the more weaker they will feel and then they will meet their doom.' the female thought with a smile as the beast fell down with a thud.

The last member was a man who wielded a long spear as his choice of weapon with his black slick hair covering his face almost covering his eyes.

Thrusting his spear to the side, the beast avoided and swung its hands towards the man who lifted his spear up in a horizontal way blocking the hit while his whole hand trembled as he was slightly pushed back a bit.

"Darn it! I'm not like Grodd who had tremendous and monstrous strength!" The man screamed as he pushed the beast away before unleashing a swift roundhouse kick to its head sending it skidding.

'Gotta finish it quick!' he screamed in his head as his whole feet was been infused with Qi and then he swiftly stabbed his sword into the ground and leaning all his weight on it, he pushed off with his feet in front and in a split second, he crashed into the gorilla's head creating a resounding bang while its whole body fell limply.

These five, were the core members of Phoenix guild and they were currently displaying the how they earned their position as in less than ten minutes, the hundred king tier beasts fell to their hands without losing a single member from the regular guild members which was impressive to those watching.

After the battle was over, they were about to begin cheering when they began hearing breaking of trees from miles to come while a continuous stomping sound was heard and then the sounds stopped.

Gray quickly looked up to see a shadow cast over them. "Move back now!" He shouted and the whole guild responded as they jumped back and swiftly made it to his position in time as the shadow descended and a huge gorilla that stood around 9ft tall with eight arms on its body stood in front of with its eyes glowing red.

"The big boss has finally arrived, it's time for the boss of the humans to act!" Gray smiled as he stepped forward with each step, a piece of armour began appearing on his body.

And by the time he stood around four feet away from the beast, he was coated in a full set of Golden and Red armour from head to toe with his sword gleaming slightly.

Sigh... I'm feeling burned out already as I decided to calmly write this chapter. I hope y'all enjoy this chapter. BTW, thank you Adrian_Hardin for today's super gift 😊 each gift, each resources, each support keeps on fueling me to upload more chapters for you all. It ain't easy but I will try my absolute best to please my loyal and supportive readers.

I also hope to see y'all taking up the top spot on my other book titled Magus Supremacy. You guys should give it a try, as it is a hidden gem that would soon shake Webnovel.... Hehehe 😊

Chapter 337 It's over!

After the battle was over, they were about to begin cheering when they began hearing breaking of trees from miles to come while a continuous stomping sound was heard and then the sounds stopped.

Gray quickly looked up to see a shadow cast over them. "Move back now!" He shouted and the whole guild responded as they jumped back and swiftly made it to his position in time as the shadow descended and a huge gorilla that stood around 9ft tall with eight arms on its body stood in front of with its eyes glowing red.

"The big boss has finally arrived, it's time for the boss of the humans to act!" Gray smiled as he stepped forward with each step, a piece of armour began appearing on his body.

And by the time he stood around four feet away from the beast, he was coated in a full set of Golden and Red armour from head to toe with his sword gleaming slightly.

Looking left and right, the beast saw its dead comrades on the ground mercilessly killed and in anger, it roared loudly as it pounded its chest continuously with all eight hands while its eyes began glowing bright red.

"You angry?" Gray asked with his face all serious without any hint of his previous smily demeanor. "If you are, then come at me!"

The beast didn't need to be told twice as it glared at Gray and then in a flash, it appeared in front of him throwing all four hands towards his head but to the beast's surprise, it didn't feel any weight behind its swing and then turning around, it could see Gray standing a few metres around causally looking at the beast.

It turned around again and dashed towards Gray appearing in front of him in a flash while swinging its four hands towards him but there was no weight again and looking around, it spotted Gray a few metres away again and it dashed forward again and swung its hands with the same result.

This continued with the beast and Gray playing tag but with every swing from the beast, bangs, shockwaves and craters were being formed further destroying the planet and uprooting trees for miles on end.

"This beast, with this amount of strength and hands, is it a legendary tier?!" Grodd asked with his voice sounding menacing and deep.

"I think so." The female whip user added.

"That means Gray purposely chose this planet to one up the leader of the Fang hunters huh." The Sai user said with a yawn.

"I never knew that Gray was petty." The Katana user said.

"Not petty, just competitive." The spear user replied.

"Whatever it is, it proves that Gray is on another level seeing how he is toying around with the beast." The female whip user added.

"What happened? Is your willpower to avenge your comrades not strong enough? You know that you haven't landed a single hit on me right?" Gray smirked and the gorilla roared again as it dashed forward at tremendously speed that it caught Gray off guard as the beast swung its eight hands towards him.

The speed and strength of the arms, resounded in a terrible bang breaking the sound barrier but there was no weight behind the gorilla's hands as it turned around to see Gray standing around.

"Pheew! That was terribly close." Gray said as he touched his face that was slightly red. "Hmph! You managed to graze my cheeks, just a graze and my cheeks is red, I hate to imagine what my face would look like if that hit had connected with me."

The beast roared and pounded its chest preparing to dash forward towards Gray.

"I think I should stop playing around and get serious. After all, I just have a minute to surpass his record." Gray smiled and he took a stance with his sword in front of him and his left foot in front with his right foot behind him as he put pressure on the feet with a wide smile on his face.

"Adrenaline rush!" Gray shouted and he began feeling something bubbling inside him as he could see the beast ready to charge towards him.

And in a split second, it dashed towards him while he also exploded from his position breaking the ground beneath his feet and creating a crater beneath his feet as he was seen heading towards the beast like a blur and in a split second, they met in the centre with a loud bang.

The beast swung its hands towards Gray who jumped to the side quickly avoiding the hit and then he swung his sword to the side of the gorilla who in turn lifted two hands to block the hit which caused a slash on the hands.

"Tough hide!" Gray smirked as he pushed off again to the other side of the beast and he made a stab towards its side but the gorilla was quick to react as it jumped back just in time.

But then feeling all hairs on its body raise up, it turned around to see dozens of visible Qi slashes in the air waiting for it and without warning, they all crashed towards the gorilla who in turn lifted its hands to block the slashes but two out of its eight hands got cleanly cut off.

And then the Qi slashes dissipated with the beast's body riddled with injuries and then it heard a sharp sound from behind and it quickly moved away to avoid a sword strike to its head.

"You are fast and have good reflexes." Gray commented with a maniacal smile on his face as it quickly changed position and quickly came at the beast from behind and cut its back deeply drawing blood before jumping away just in time for the beast had swung its hands behind it causing a huge wind to almost hit Gray who had appeared in front.

"It's over!" Gray mumbled as he infused his sword with all the Qi he could muster and then jumped up and impaled his sword into the beast's head killing it immediately and causing its body to fall with a thud while he landed softly.

"Wohooo! That's our leader!" The female leader exclaimed.

Chapter 338 A Demon!

"What the hell are we seeing?!" Someone from the online forum commented in shock as he stared at the screen at what the phoenix guild had just done.

The whole online forum was quiet because the phoenix guild fight against the supposed king tier beasts was so intense they had to take a step back and watch the fight with all the focus they could muster while reserving the urge to comment at all.

Now the fight was over and they could pour their shock onto their keyboards.

"I thought the Fang hunters were monsters, but this guild are demons. All of them, including their leader, they are demons." Someone commented.

"Now I know why they occupy the top 1 spot among the independent guilds. Their position is well earned and deserved."

"Is it me or does the leader of the phoenix guild remind me of them werewolf slayer, I mean in terms of skills."

"What are you saying? They are poles apart, can't you see it. The werewolf slayer is a monster, the phoenix guild's leader is a demon!"

"I don't really care about all what you all are saying, I just want to stare at the whip user a bit more. She is so cute."

"Who the hell is this weirdo?!"

"Someone get this fool out of here before he beating his meat."

Erin was less concerned by what was going on in the online forum as she held off on commenting after watching was going on through the drones.

'Who are these people? The werewolf slayer and Gray, they both have strength that could possibly rival the big three.' she thought. 'And that is from two of the top guilds, we haven't seen what the thunderbolt guild has to offer.'

Looking up, she could see Gray and the members of the phoenix guild heading back their way with the regular members happily chatting behind their leader while the core members were also walking side by side with Gray who had his usual weird smile on his face.

"That makes it five planets under our grip." Gray commented as he could see Erin standing with a stunned expression on her face before she quickly regained her composure and was about to move towards Gray when she tapped the side of her head and halted her steps.

And then she swiftly turned towards the camera as she signalled for Druig to face it her way which caused Gray to raise an eyebrow in confusion.

"Word is just reaching me that the thunderbolt guild has just conquered their own fifth planet." Erin commented and Gray halted his steps in shock with his mouth slightly agape but then he shut it back up with a smile on his face.

'That old man, so he didn't even bother to watch my awesomeness, he just went ahead to conquer his fifth planet huh.' He thought with a chuckle.

"So the Fang hunters have five planets under their grip, phoenix guild five, thunderbolt guild five, viper's nest guild two planets and the Daisy guild with three planets." Erin added and the commenters took to their keyboards.

"Which means all the twenty planets have been conquered?"

"But the big three said that the guild with the most conquered planet would have a seat with them at the big three table making the big four."

"Yeah we know that already you doofus!" Someone replied.

"You should let me land you dumbass! I was about to say that with the guilds even, who would get the seat?"

"Are you the big three? If you are not one of them neither their relatives, just shut the fuck up and let them decide."

Meanwhile, the big three who were also watching Erin live and had seen what Gray could do and then keeping a scoreboard of the conquered planets all had their brows furrowed as they stared at it and also had what Erin said.

"This is bad." Rex commented with his hands on his head feeling a headache coming up.

"You can say that again." Rivock added.

"So what is the next step now? I can't believe that their strength are equal that they could conquer the same amount of planets." Rex added.

"No one had any idea that this would happen, not even me." Bane said with his brows furrowed.

"So even the great seer Bane doesn't know what to do! Weren't you the one who suggested this conquest stuff? Then you should have had a contingency just in case." Rex said.

"Just keep quiet let me think of something... I would need a little bit of time to think." Bane said and then swiftly left the room.

"I can feel a headache coming up." Rivock mumbled.

Meanwhile Jake who was watching Gray fight, felt goosebumps running over his body as he stared hard at him walking back with an unsettling smile on his face.

'He is on a whole different level! If... if truly he has a system, then for him not to use any skill from it and totally dominate a freaking legendary tier beast, that's insane! He is strong! But so am I!' Jake smiled as he stood up from his seat.

"Jake?" Alex said.

"You heard Erin, all the planets have been conquered, so let's prepare to head back to plan what next to do and wait for the big three words." Jake said.

"There's an issue though." General Paul said.

"What is it?" Jake asked as he turned around to look at Paul.

"We need something that will enable us get here very fast, we can't always keep on using the Aeroglide as it wouldn't be fast enough to let us get here in time in case of an emergency." General Paul said.

"You are right about that, we need portals that would link from the Aurora to all the five planets under our grip. Well for that, we have to get back and talk to Jade maybe he can work something out for us." Jake said.

"You do believe in that dude a lot huh?" Sophia asked.

"He has potential to rival your family in technological advancement." Jake replied.

"The day he creates something wild, I will believe your words." Sophia said with a chuckle as they all left the room.

I had planned to release just three chapters earlier but now I'm changing my mind... I will release two more chapters making it five chapters that I will release today as a thank you to Adrian_Hardin for his wonderful super gift which made my day.

Just to let you know, you have made this small time writer very happy 😊

Chapter 339 A Change

Just as Jake said, the core members all left the planet two days later leaving the regular members on all the five different planets under them for supervision while they headed back to the Fang hunters main base.

The journey only took around a day as they were zooming back towards Earth at tremendous speed with the core members happily chatting away discussing how they felt taking down the beasts while Jake was in his meditative position as he was trying to increase his Qi pool.

"To be honest, I missed having Peter here. He would have really enjoyed fighting against the beasts and trying to one up me." Alex said with a chuckle.

"Yeah! He is pretty competitive almost like I am." Sophia replied.

"I don't see you as competitive." Emily said.

"You haven't met the Sophia of two years ago. That Sophia was very competitive and I considered Peter as my rival." Sophia said with a smile.

"Considered? Then who is he to you now?" Alex asked with a cheeky smile and Sophia's face went beet red as she turned around.

"Oh! Someone is blushing." Emily laughed out loud.

"Didn't know Sophia could blush." Sunny commented as he walked past.

That was when Jake's eyes shot open as he swiftly scanned the room as his eyes laid on General Paul who was also meditating so he walked towards him.

"Any problem?" Paul asked still with his eyes closed. Discover exclusive tales on My Virtual Library Empire

"Not really, but I need to say something." Jake replied.

"Say something? What is it?" General Paul asked as he opened his eyes and Jake sat down opposite of him while the others were still bickering and making fun of themselves.

"Those Qi swords of yours, were really cool. I'm wondering if there is a way you could teach me how to make them." Jake said and General Paul smiled.

"Aren't you powerful enough that you are looking for more strength?!" Paul chuckled.

"One can't be too powerful especially considering the type of people I seek to surpass." Jake replied.

"You are right! But truth is, I haven't really grasped the concept properly so you will just have to meet Head General Humfree to give you the private lesson." Paul said.

"Head General Humfree huh? I heard he used the same Qi swords like yours but on a large scale and that was what made him bedridden." Jake said.

"Yeah! He was the one who taught me how to do them." Paul replied.

"Alright then, thank you." Jake said as he stood up to leave when the Aeroglide suddenly came to a halt.

"We are back at Aurora, I think." The driver announced.

"You think?" Alex asked as he and the rest were slowly standing up to head outside.

"See for yourself everyone." The driver said and everyone alighted from the Aeroglide to see what got the driver so shocked.

"Is this Aurora or are we at somewhere else?" Sophia asked as she couldn't keep her mouth closed.

"No! It definitely is Aurora but it looks weirdly different." General Paul added and then Jake finally came in front to see what they were talking about and he was met with people moving around trying to get to different places and then looking behind them at the gate, they could see two huge robots guarding it.

Extending his Qi outwardly, Jake was able to feel human presence in the robots. Looking more around, he could see more robots walking around the place and more of the Aeroglides moving and hovering from place to place.

Then they heard whirring noises behind them, turning around, they could see a moving vehicle that looked like an Aeroglide but it had wheels on it as it zoomed from one place to another.

Not only that, the buildings, gates, robots, Aeroglides both the wheely ones and the flying one and the clothes of some of the people walking had the symbol of the Fang hunters embedded on them.

While the humans that were walking and guarding different places all wore a mixture of black, red and yellow clothing that had the symbol of the Fang hunters.

No matter where someone turned to, he would see those people as they walked around with their weapons in hands.

"What the hell happened here? How did the guild change so much in our two weeks of absence?!" Emily asked with wide eyes.

"Jake! Guys! Welcome back!" Kate greeted as she walked out with General Wilfred and Head General Humfree by her side with smiles on their faces.

"You did well guys." Humfree said with a smile and then he looked at Jake.
"Especially you Jake! You are becoming the monster the god predicted you to be."

'I totally forgot about that god! I still have to pay it a visit and it has a lot of explaining to do about the meddling with my life. But firstly, I need to know what is going on.' Jake thought.

"Head General Humfree! Kate! What the hell is going on?! And how are all these things here?" Jake asked.

"Oh these?! The newest addition to the guild did all these." Kate smiled.

"Newest addition? You mean Jade?" Jake asked feeling shocked.

"Yup! He did all these." Humfree replied.

'I knew that kid has the ability, talent and brain to surpass the Josh family but I reasoned it would be later. But he absolutely proved me wrong! In two weeks, he was able to create all these? Okay! It is settled, the kid is a monster in his own respect.' Jake thought in shock before he turned towards Sophia.

"What were you saying a few days ago?" He chuckled while a stunned Sophia just kept on looking around.

"Okay! We can discuss all these inside in the meeting room with other things." Wilfred said.

"Right! And you guys can also invite Jade for the meeting too. His presence is welcomed." Jake said and they all left the gate heading towards the meeting room.

Okay, this is the last chapter for today... I'm burned out!☹️ These five chapters are a thank you to Adrian_Hardin for his super gift and I'm sorry that the amount of chapters released are quite small considering the number of times you dropped a super gift... but I also need to stockpile since I have none left in my reserve.

I'm so sorry ☹️ hope you forgive me and also please don't forget to give my second book a chance in your reading life coz I'm sure you would love it as your presence as its top fan is much appreciated. Thank you ☺️🙌☐

Chapter 340 Grow our strength!

Jake called a meeting between the members of the Fang hunters and all the core members responded as they all proceeded to the meeting room with Jake in it in his seat waiting for the rest to walk in.

Slowly, the core members of the guild began filtering in one by one firstly with Peter who had a slight frown on his face and the first thing he did as he walked in was complain.

"What is this Jake?! I thought you said I would join you in this conquest shit!" Peter shouted.

"Yeah I know. I kinda forgot." Jake replied as he scratched his hair nervously while Peter's brows furrowed deeper.

"You missed Peter, we had fun skewing those beasts with Jake." Alex added with a chuckle and Peter shot him a glaring look with his fingers glowing slightly from infusing Qi in it.

"You know, I still haven't forgotten about the bet to see who is the strongest between us after Jake." Peter said.

Alex just chuckled. "We do know that after Jake, I'm the next strongest."

"How about we should put that to the test now, let's find out who is stronger." Peter replied.

"Guys! Please! That is not the nature of this meeting so let's focus." Jake said.

"Tch! I just hope that a situation comes by where we would prove our strength so I can put you in your position." Peter scoffed as he went to take his seat.

Slowly, the room began to fill up with Jack walking in, then Jade, then Kron, Geo, Harry walked in. After the war with the iron fist guild, Harry became a core member although he wasn't invited into the guild officially, he still held a position.

Finally, in a few minutes, the whole room was filled with the core members as they all sat down in their respectful positions with an additional chair made just for Jade.

Immediately they all sat down, Jake stood up to begin addressing them.

"Firstly! It wasn't easy to conquer the planets and I'm kinda burned out but on getting back, I saw something shocking. I never knew that Jade was such a genius. Although I knew he is a genius, but not on this level." Jake said and Jade's face slightly flushed up in embarrassment as he scratched his hair.

"It was nothing actually. Just had a lot of free on my hands, so I decided to do something for the guild that took me in." Jade said.

"And we really appreciate it. But one thing I noticed which was confusing to me was the robots that had humans in it and I want to know what are those and what's used for." Jake said and Jade stood up shyly as he prepared to explain.

"You see, I noticed something with all the guild members of the different guilds and it is there's no way they won't have weak members among them. But I noticed that you cherished all your members and are looking to give them a fighting chance against your foes." Jade began.

"True! I have been looking for a way to make those weak to have a fighting chance to even handle an Omega werewolf." Jake added.

"Right and that's where these fighting mechs or mechs for short comes into view. You see, these mechs that are piloted by humans could perform almost everything a human can do but what they are specifically made for is fighting as they are strong enough to withstand a strong hit from a low king tier beast." Jade smiled and this caused Jake's and everyone's eyes to widen in surprise.

'Where the hell did Jake get this monster creator from? Even my dad hasn't created something like this before.' Sophia thought in shock as she stared at Jade scratching his hair weirdly and smiling sheepishly.

"That's... that's...that's marvelous!" Jake said with a wide smile on his face as he slowly rose and walked towards Jade and gave him a pat on the back. "I see I made the right choice huh."

"Of course it was possible after a few dozen fails." Jade smiled sheepishly.

"Who cares about the fail? The success is what matters not like I'm undermining the effort and time you put into them." Alex said as he also stood up and patted Jade's back.

"Wait! What about the wheely Aeroglides?" Emily asked.

"That! It's not really an original work of mine, I just studied the flying Aeroglide that the big three made and I decided to replicate it by creating the ones with wheels." Jade replied.

"I hate to say this, but Jade you are awesome and might even rival my dad." Sophia said.

"Your dad?" Jade asked with a raised eyebrow when his eyes suddenly widened and he began quivering. "Wa... wait, you are the daughter of one of the big three?"

"Duh! And I'm not the only one." Sophia said as she looked at Jack and Alex who all smiled sheepishly towards Jade who felt like his head was going to explode. "I figured since you are part of us, you deserve the truth."

"I can't believe that I'm in the presence of mighty people." Jade said. "Now I'm suddenly feeling like I shouldn't be here right now."

"Don't be silly, you are part of us now." Kate said as she gave him a small punch to the arm and he rubbed it slightly.

"Alright before I forget, Jade we need you to do something for us. I know I'm asking too much of you, but I hope you can do it." Jake said.

"Sure, what is it?" He asked.

"I need you to create portals that would enable us get to all the planets we conquered while the head portal would be here and it would enable us move an army to the planets immediately. Also make sure the other portals not only link back here, but to other planets of our choice as long as we input the right coordinate." Jake requested.

"Hmm. I can work something out but it will take a little bit of time." Jade replied.
"Anything else?"

"Yeah! I need another scouting drone but this one shouldn't cover a single planet, it should be able to cover the whole five planets we have under our grip at once and possibly other planets." Jake said.

"Why? You looking for anything specific?" Peter asked.

"We need more equipment and I need more minions so what better way than to hunt." Jake smiled.

"I can do that, actually the drone would be faster to do then when I'm done, I will hop onto the portals." Jade replied.

Experience tales at My Virtual Library Empire

"Nice! Let's get to work then before the big three make any announcements. We need to get strong and grow our strength more." Jake declared and everybody filtered out of the room to get to work.
