

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 341 A new hand to hand combat skill

In two weeks, Jade was done with the scouting drones, and even the portals. He had to pull all nighters for it to work as he had many fails but one thing about him was that he never gave up, he kept on working hard everyday and every night to make it work and it did.

As the portals were now ready so the people that will head over to the planets to install them were chosen along with Jade who knew how to install them.

They kept hopping from planet to planet on their Aeroglide installing the portals and making sure they were working fine while also bringing some resources for those on the planet to sustain better.

At the same time, Jade installed some sensors that worked almost like the scouting drones so it will notify the base if a strong beast suddenly emerged that will give those on the planets any trouble.

And in three days, they were done with all the five planets and those that accompanied Jade were all returning back with him and in less than two days, they were back at the guild.

Meanwhile all these time, Jake was always training day in and day out to master his skills and to also get stronger. In the meantime, he also trained with his former instructors to sharpen his skill.

Currently, he was with Sergeant Sunny in his classroom that was currently empty since all the students had left for their dorms. Jake and Sunny were seen standing in front of each other wearing Intermediate tier gauntlets on their hands.

"Remember, we are to spar with only our fist and please learn to pull back your strength a little. My hands are feeling sore blocking your hits." Sunny said twirling his hands around.

"My bad." Jake chuckled while rubbing his hair a little.

"Now let me see if you still remember all what I have taught you when you were still a student." Sunny smiled as he swirled his Qi to his feet and exploded towards Jake at tremendous speed while throwing a hook to his face.

"Guard stance!" Sunny shouted and on reflex, Jake pulled his hand forward in time blocking the hit without moving an inch standing like a strong boulder.

"Impressive." Sunny said as he jumped back just in time. "Now attack!"

"Gladly!" Jake said as he exploded from his position quickly without using Qi and then he made a quick, straight punch towards Sunny who quickly brought his hand in front to block but then he was sent skidding a few inches.

"Curses! What type of monstrous strength do you have darn it! Are you even holding back?" Sunny asked as he jumped back and glanced at his gauntlets that were slightly cracked.

'Even with the gauntlets on, I still feel throbbing pains running through my hands. This kid has really gone beyond human logic.' Sunny thought.

"I'm sorry, but I'm really holding back. Probably it's because you are too weak." Jake chuckled.

"Weak? Who are you calling weak? I guess it's time I show you why I'm the teacher here!" Sunny said and then like a blur, he was seen heading towards Jake throwing a wide, curved punch to his head but on reflex, Jake had quickly raised his Guard stance to block but he was sent skidding.

"Oh? So you were holding back! Well so was I!" Jake smiled as he exploded from his position cracking the floor board and was propelled towards Sunny at immense speed and then he threw a quick jab that almost got blocked before he changed his direction and unleashed a strong cross and then his second hand released a hook to Sunny's side sending him skidding more than an inch.

"Impressive! Now I'm having fun! More! More! More! I need to surpass my limits here and now!" Sunny shouted as he swirled more Qi to his feet and hands and dashed towards Jake who took a fighting stance waiting for him.

Getting to Jake's position, Sunny released a high speed kick that landed on Jake's head lifting him from his feet and sending him crashing back into the room and even breaking the flooring a bit.

"And I call that the crescent kick." Sunny proudly declared as he could see Jake slowly standing up with a wide smile on his face.

"Why haven't you taught me something like that before huh? Not fair!" Jake said and then he walked forward seemingly unhurt.

'As thought, his monstrous energy didn't even allow him to sustain any form of injury. A monster I say.' Sunny thought with a smile.

"Wanna learn it?" He asked.

"Of course I do." Jake replied enthusiastically.

"There's no two way about it, it's all about speed and agility. You need to be fast and quick on your feet and to also have enough power in your feet that would be able to lift your opponents." Sunny said.

"So it's basically balancing speed, agility and strength together to give me the desired result huh?" Jake asked.

"Exactly!" Sunny said. "Now time for the practical lesson."

Sunny took a stance with his two feet in front while he began infusing it with Qi.
"Do as I do!"

And Jake followed suit while keeping his eyes keenly on whatever Sunny was doing. And in a split second, Sunny exploded from his position towards the dummy in the room and then he unleashed a high speed kick towards the dummy sending it flying and crashing into the room.

"Now that is how it's done." Sunny said. "Now you try."

Getting a dummy, Jake did the same stance as Sunny.

"Normally, it takes about two weeks to get it right so it won't...." Sunny stuttered as he saw Jake exploded from his position and unleashed a more powerful high speed kick towards the dummy sending the head of the dummy bending backwards from the force and strength of his kick.

Sunny just sighed. "I forgot who I was teaching. But how on Earth did you break a dummy made from the strongest material known to man?!" He asked and Jake just shrugged. Read exclusive content at My Virtual Library Empire

Without any more thing to say, they continued training and Sunny continued teaching Jake all the skills he knew and would help him all through the day.

Chapter 342 Learn visual Qi

The rest of Jake's days was the same with training day in and day out without rest. While training in hand to hand combat with Sunny, he would train in sword usage with Von before moving on to Qi usage with Kron.

That was Jake's schedule until today when he decided to change it a little bit as he was seen walking towards a room in the guild base that was used by the higher ups as an office for the paper works.

Walking in, he could see Head General Humfree, Kate, General Paul and General Wilfred inside walking some paperworks and discussing some things.

Hearing the door open, they all turned towards the door and could see Jake standing there looking at the room and the people in it looking slightly disheveled.

"Woah there! Do you guys even take a breather?" Jake asked as he walked fully in and on seeing Jake, Kate quickly arranged her hair hurriedly which didn't go unnoticed by Head General Humfree.

"Says the person that wants to shut his limbs down with training. If not that we are seeing you now, I'm sure you would have been training your limbs out." General Paul replied.

"Not my fault that I have some demons I want to try surpass." Jake sighed.

"You should really take it easy on yourself, I wouldn't want something bad to happen to you." Kate added.

"I'm fine guys! You all should please relax." Jake said with a smile. Find adventures on My Virtual Library Empire

"Is it only me or is Jake brimming with more energy that we are used to? I can practically feel the Qi overflowing from his body." Wilfred said.

"That is why I didn't say anything much, I was trying to observe more and I'm glad I'm not the only one that noticed it." Head General Humfree added.

"Now that you mention it, I can feel it too." General Paul said. "What have you been doing Jake?"

"Nothing much, I have just been training with Kron trying to increase my Qi pool and I'm glad I managed to do it enough for you lots to notice." Jake said.

"The monster keeps getting stronger while we are here being pressured with more paperworks." Kate sighed.

"Actually, I'm still not satisfied with this growth. I'm still not stronger than him yet." Jake said as he clenched his hands in and out with an invisible fire burning in his eyes.

"Him? Who are you trying to surpass again?" Head General Humfree asked.

"If I were to take a guess, it is Gray." Paul said.

"Gray? As in the leader of the phoenix guild?" Head General Humfree asked.

"Yeah! I noticed that he became a training maniac and obsessed with getting much more stronger after watching the phoenix guild take over their fifth planet." Paul said.

"Is that who you are trying to surpass?" Wilfred asked.

"Yes! And not only him, I need to also surpass the big three and grow strong enough to get rid of the Alpha." Jake said clenching his fist in anger. "I still haven't forgiven those filthy beasts for taking my parents away from and also taking my friends too."

"True! The werewolves have taken so many things from us but you shouldn't still push yourself too much." Wilfred added.

"You mentioned you came here to get stronger, how is being in a room filled with papers supposed to do that?" Kate asked.

"I don't need the room, I need someone in the room. I need Head General Humfree to help me." Jake said.

"Me?! Why me?" Humfree asked feeling surprised.

"I remember when the iron fist guild attacked, I was told you used Qi to create hundreds of swords in the sky twice eliminating hundreds if not thousand of men. And I also saw the same effect from General Paul on a small scale." Jake said.

"So I want to implore you to help teach me how to do the same thing. Teach me, I need to learn visual Qi." Jake declared as he clenched his fist in determination with his eyes burning brightly.

"Visual Qi huh!?! That will take a lot of time determining on how fast you learn things. But I will help you regardless as you are essential to our guild and your strength is our strength too." Humfree said with a sigh.

"Thank you! I'm grateful." Jake said with a slight bow towards Humfree.

"So when do you want to start?" Humfree asked.

"Today! Now and right now!" Jake said with a nervous smile.

"You are an eager kid huh?!" Humfree chuckled. "Anyway, let's get to work. You all can handle these paperworks right?"

"Yeah! We can. With Kate here, we will manage." Paul said.

"Actually! I also want to learn this visual Qi too." Kate said stopping Humfree and Jake and causing Humfree to raise an eyebrow.

"Why?" He asked.

"The reason I came to this academy was to get strong... strong enough to protect my dad and those weaker than me from those filthy werewolves. But everytime I think I'm making progress, I'm always left in the dust by the others and it feels like my efforts are in vain." Kate said with her hands clenched in pain and anger.

"And I'm unable to get stronger again ever since I became part of the top authorities of the guild. I'm always mounted with paperworks upon paperworks not letting me even train. It is so frustrating!" She exclaimed.

"Hmm. I feel you! And I'm not going to talk too much, just tag along. And the rest of you, take care of the paperworks." Humfree said as he along with the duo left the room while Wilfred had his mouth agape.

"Darn it! We have to do two people work plus our own?! I also want to train too!" Wilfred shouted.

"I also want to train." Paul said. "But there's nothing we can do about these paperworks."

"Says the person who got to go into the front lines to conquer planets." Wilfred scoffed and they got back to work.

Chapter 343 Spend time together!

The duo that wanted to learn visual Qi were seen following behind Humfree as they walked towards a training room made especially for the monsters of the guild. Getting to the door, Humfree placed his hands on the door causing it to click and then it open up to reveal a wide and huge room.

The room could probably fit twenty people in no problem and it had different equipment like punching bags, weights and some dummies off to the side while the room was still spacious enough to let them practice whatever techniques that would possibly destroy a regular training room in peace.

"You both want to learn visual Qi right? Well it will take time, determination and your strong mental health to learn it." Humfree addressed the two that were standing side by side while Humfree was in front of them.

"Kron is the one who usually does this, but since you asked me personally, I have to help you all. So I'm sure the both of you are familiar with the second stage of Qi right?" He asked and the two nodded.

"Good! Now for visual Qi, as the name implies, you have to visualize. All you got to do is to visualize whatever you want and then will it with your Qi into existence. Simple right?

But I guarantee you it is a difficult aspect to get. So are you ready to learn?"

"Yes sir!" Jake and Kate responded at once like as if they were still in the military.

"Good! Now let's start slow and easy. The both of you, get into a meditative position now!" Humfree ordered and Jake along with Kate sat on the bare floor crossing their legs with their eyes closed and they began concentrating hard while meditating.

'Because of meditating daily, I'm able to get into the meditative state in a split minute.' Jake thought.

"Now I'm sure you have fully immersed yourself into the meditation right? Good! Now visualize your Qi pool. See it as a pool of water flowing around your bodies boundlessly and unrestricted." Humfree said.

And it didn't take more than a second for the two of them to begin seeing their Qi clearly as Jake saw his moving around almost like an ocean which was moving around his body unrestricted.

'Now I know why they said my Qi was overflowing out of me. I have an immense amount of Qi! Still funny how I remember when my Qi pool was as small as a pea and now it's this?' Jake thought as a small smile appeared on his face.

Humfree could see the smile on Jake's face and turning around to look at Kate, he could see her concentrating hard before a soft smile appeared on her face.

'These two, are good at meditating.' Humfree thought.

"Now that you have visualized your Qi pool, now try to move it around your body specifically your hands. Move it slow and steady as if you are trying to strengthen your hands like as if you are using the first stage of Qi." Humfree said.

The two got to work as it was easier to do since they were able to use the first stage so easily so it was no problem.

"Note! Don't strength your hands with the Qi, you are just told to move it to your hands. Now! Since you are in your meditative position, I'm sure your mind is free of any thoughts or worries so as to allow the next step work properly." He said.

"Not getting any response from you both means you are concentrating hard so I will just continue and I want you both to listen attentively and nod occasionally if you are listening." Humfree said and the both of them nodded at once.

"Good! Now I want you both to visualize a shard and make sure you will the Qi moving at the tip of your fingers and direct it around in the air a couple of times while still keeping the image of the shard in your head."

Doing as Humfree commanded, they moved their fingers brimming with Qi around the air a few times while visualizing the Qi shard. When they were done, they awaited further instructions.

'This... after doing that, I can feel residues of Qi in the air. I can feel it around me and Kate moving around like the air around us but not straying far away.' Jake thought.

"Good! I can feel it now. Now, will and imagine that the shard in your minds has taken shape into a real Qi shard while moving your hands to wherever you want it to appear. Using your hands would help visualize properly since you are beginners." Humfree said and the two did as they were told and in a minute, they managed to create a visible Qi shard brimming with power.

"I did it! I... I managed to do it!" Kate exclaimed excitedly when the shard suddenly dissipated. "What the?!"

"Hmm. You still have to keep your concentration since you are still learning." Humfree said and then Jake thrust his hand forward towards a dummy in the room sending the visible Qi shard flying at incredible speed before dissipating before it could even reach the dummy.

"What the hell?!" Jake said.

"You too. You still have much work to do. But being able to create a shard on your first try and in a minute, it means you have immense talents. The both of you." Humfree said.

"So let's continue. We need to get stronger right Kate?" Jake asked with a wide smile on his face.

"Right!" Kate smiled back. 'I finally get to spend more time with Jake after so long even though we would spend it training, I don't care.'

"So let's keep on training. Let's push past our limits together!" Jake said and Kate smiled widely.

"Yes!"

Chapter 344 Limits surpassed!

Two weeks! Jake and Kate used two weeks to train with Head General Humfree. Day in and day out with only a few moments of rest. Those that usually walked past the training room usually heard loud bangs occurring in the room and they were slightly worried by what was going on.

Some of the core members that wanted to use the room, they were always met at the door by Humfree who would always tell them that the room was off limits for a while.

No one! Absolutely no one had seen Jake and in these two weeks and they were starting to worry for their sanity as they hadn't seen them come out to eat only Humfree occasionally came out and would take back some food for them.

In these two weeks, no one had heard from the big three about the tie between the independent guilds and they were wondering what was taking so long to decide what to do next. But Jake was less concerned for now as his main focus was surpassing his limits and growing tremendously stronger.

Currently in the room, Humfree could be seen standing a few metres away from the position he stood on two weeks ago when a loud bang was heard before smoke appeared all around and then dissipated in a few seconds.

In its place were two people standing around with their hands on their knees breathing and panting hard while their clothes were drenched with sweat to the extent it was clinging towards them especially Kate who had her curves showing more than usual that Jake could hardly keep his eyes off.

The state of the room was nothing to talk about as most of the equipment had been moved away from them otherwise they would be damaged while the dummies in the room all had holes poking out of them.

The room had cracks, holes, broken flooring, broken ceiling and more as it looked like the room was barely hanging on from the two monsters in the room.

"Impressive! You both managed to gain incredible control over your Qi especially you Jake. And Kate, you also managed to increase your Qi pool therefore making you stronger and more resourceful." Humfree commented. "You both surely managed to surpass your limits in these two weeks and I'm really glad."

"You see Kate, anything is possible when you are determined." Jake said still panting hard and somewhat staring at the melons in front of her before taking his face off with a blush.

'What is wrong with me today? Why am I staring at her more today? Has she always looked this beautiful and sexy? I'm not really sure since I never looked at her for too long since all these years.' Jake thought.

"Yeah! I never knew I could cause all these disasters along with you." Kate said with a nervous smile.

"And now you can finally stand beside Jake equally like you always wanted." Humfree chuckled.

"What are you saying? I have no idea about what you are saying?!" Kate quickly shouted before turning around with her face all beet red and then looking at Jake, she shouted. "What are you staring at you creep?!" And then she swung her hands across Jake's face causing him a stinging pain.

"Ow ow ow ow! I wasn't staring at anything!" Jake cried out rubbing his beet red cheeks causing Humfree to chuckle slightly.

"You guys actually look good together." Humfree commented and then he looked at the time. "Alright you both have to go freshen up, you haven't had much of a proper bath since all these weeks."

"True! I haven't seen the outside in two weeks and I'm feeling kind of suffocated in this room." Jake said as he made his way to the door before swiftly leaving the room leaving Head General Humfree and Kate together.

"You know, if you keep on being shy and scared about things, you would lose him to some other girl. I mean look at him, he is basically an eligible bachelor. Handsome, famous, strong and a leader. Which girl wouldn't fall for him? I even saw the way that news reporter girl was staring at him." Humfree said with a chuckle.

"What are you saying Head General? I don't think of Jake like that!" Kate said and then she swiftly turned around.

"I don't know who you are trying to lie to, yourself or me? But I hope you don't realize your mistake too late." Humfree said and then he quickly left the room leaving Kate alone.

With a sigh, Kate looked at the cracked ceiling. "But what if I go to him and he doesn't feel the same way? I really don't want to be turned down darn it!"

"Well fuck it! I won't know how he feels if I don't try to ask him! I just have to man up and face it. But first, I need a long bath and wash up. I reek!" She said and then she exited the room.

Few minutes later, Peter and Alex were seen walking into the room at the same time and seeing the condition of the room, their eyes almost popped out of their sockets.

"What the hell were they doing in the room to get it in this condition?!" Peter shouted.

"I tell you, the members of this guild are monsters." Alex replied.

A few hours later, after a long bath and stuffing their faces with so much food, the core members all met in the meeting room except Jade who was no doubt working and pulling all nighters.

Getting to the room, the core members were about to begin the meeting along with Jake when everyone received a notification at once.

"Ding! Incoming live video message from the world leaders!" The message read and then the video began playing as the faces of the big three got displayed in front of them all.

Chapter 345 Who is going to accompany Jake?

The training duo of Jake and Kate were just done surpassing their limits in training when they decided to exit the room with Head General Humfree.

After a few hours of a long bath and stuffing their faces with so much food, the core members all met in the meeting room except Jade who was no doubt working and pulling all nighters.

Getting to the room, the core members were about to begin the meeting along with Jake when everyone received a notification at once.

"Ding! Incoming live video message from the world leaders!" The message read and then the video began playing as the faces of the big three got displayed in front of them all.

"Greetings to the whole world and the guilds that worked hard in this conquest contest!" Rex began speaking calmly with a smile on his face while the core members, the other guilds and all the whole world were listening intently.

"I know that we took so long to talk to you all about the tie hanging among the top independent Guilds and we apologize for that as we had to take our time to consider our options and bring up something that would favour everyone." Bane said.

"It was hard but we managed to come up with something even though we took a lot of time deciding." Rex said with a chuckle.

"So what have you decided damn it?!" Jake mumbled anxiously.

"I know you all are wondering what we have decided, so we will just have to go straight to the point and stop beating around the bush." Rex said and then he turned towards Bane to do the honors.

"You see, we have seen the guilds' strength. Each and every one of them. The independent guilds have proved why they are at the top of the other guilds and now we want to do something different." Bane said.

"What did we plan and decide?" Rex asked himself and then he looked at everyone as they prepared to talk at the same time. "We have decided to organize a battle royale!" They all said at once.

"Battle royale?" Alex asked looking around wondering what was going on.

"Yes battle royale!" Rex replied as if hearing Alex's question. "You see, we wanted someone to join us at the world leader table but we had a hard time choosing who was worthy and hence the idea of the planet conquest that ended in a tie which put us in a tough spot until we came up with this."

"I'm sure you all are wondering what this battle royale is? So let me explain... We would pick a location and a date which would be communicated by the interested applicants that registered. Then out of the top guilds that came out with a tie, the Fang hunters, the phoenix guild, the thunderbolt guild and this new unknown guild known as the Daisy guild would choose participants." Bane explained taking a brief pause before continuing again.

"Each guild would choose participants for two groups. Group A which would contain their main fighters, group B which would contain another group of fighters. Each group would have three fighters each in it and when registered, cannot be replaced unless the big three deem fit for whatever reasons."

"And also," Rex continued. "We noticed that the public craved action, so putting you all in mind, we plan to publicize this event to the public using the medium of Bubble's news channel. So you can all get the action live and then you would all get to see your new world leader that would take their position with us after the duel."

"Also this contest, is a way to show the full power of all the guilds as the winner of the tournament, their leader would have a seat at the top wit us." Rivock added.

"The rules to determine how the contest would take place would be communicated to the guilds, participants and the whole world on the day of the tournament." Bane added.

"And this our message to the world and the guilds that qualified. You only have a week to prepare and form your teams before the tournament. Have fun and see you all on the day of the tournament. Till then, we the big three wish you all a good day." Rex said and then the live video ended leaving the world in anticipation of who they would see participate in the tournament.

"Now that is a lot to take in." Peter said as he slumped back in his seat. "So the phoenix guild would also participate? They literally have monsters in their guild and not to mention that we haven't seen the thunderbolt's strength." Read new chapters at My Virtual Library Empire

"Speaking of which." Alex said as he turned to look at Harry. "Aren't you from the thunderbolt guild?"

"Yes! And I think it is time for me to return back to the guild because I know my father would want me back now and probably want me to participate." Harry sighed.

"So basically, we have two groups with each groups needing to have about three fighters in it that would participate in the battle royale and win us the position of the big four." Sunny summarized.

"Was it me or did the big three not mention anything about the leaders of the guild having to participate?" Emily asked.

"I think I know their plan after seeing what Gray did." Head General Humfree said.

"And which is?" Peter asked.

"Since they didn't say anything about the leaders of each guild, it means they are allowed to participate. And what does that mean?" Humfree asked.

"It means that the leaders of the guilds would be pitted against each other to prove which guild is the best to the world." Paul replied.

"Exactly! And seeing how Gray's fighting style and skills was almost similar to Jake's, and the whole world talking about their similarities and debating on who is stronger, then this is another way to show who is stronger to the world." Humfree said.

Alex sighed. "But that doesn't solve the problem of who is to accompany Jake and occupy the seats."

"That is left for Jake to decide." Peter said as everyone turned towards Jake who just sighed.

Chapter 346 Teams picked

Alex sighed. "But that doesn't solve the problem of who is to accompany Jake and occupy the seats."

"That is left for Jake to decide." Peter said as everyone turned towards Jake who just sighed.

"I really don't know what to do right now, this came up all of a sudden." Jake said.

"I have a suggestion if I may." Humfree said as he stood up and Jake nodded. "The big three said they want two teams consisting of three members each from each guild right?"

"Right!" Alex nodded.

"So I suggest we make our teams well rounded as much as possible." Humfree said. "Most guilds would do the mistake of pouring all their damage dealers into one team and then let the second team have the left overs. But in our case, everyone on this table is a damage dealer except for a few support. So why don't we even the teams out?"

"Still doesn't solve the problem of who Jake is going to pick though." Peter said and then he saw Jake smile before he turned towards Humfree.

"I think I know what to do now. I'm guessing the big three won't allow for Head General Humfree and the generals to participate right?" Jake asked.

"Exactly! That will be putting too much power in a single team." Paul replied.

"So that means it is left for the rest of us to deal with the competition." Jake sighed and then looked around the table looking at each and every single person on the table wondering who to pick.

'It is obvious I will go with team A, but who would be the remaining two that would accompany me... I can't play favouritism and let Alex along with Peter be on my team, I have to even the teams out and scatter them around the two teams. Arghhhhhh! This is hard, every single member has their own strengths that it is making it difficult to choose.

And they are waiting for me to pick the teams so they could all begin training hard.' Jake sighed as he lifted his head to look at everyone again. 'I think this should be the best.'

"Okay! I have made my decision on who should be on which teams." Jake said and everyone sat at the table eagerly waiting to hear his decision.

"For the team A, I will lead the team with two more people. And the first person I want on my team is Peter." Jake announced and Peter began smiling as he always wanted to be on Jake's team and now he got the chance.

"The reason I chose Peter is although he is strong, he is also aggressive and irrational sometimes which would make the enemy confused and unable to react on time. And I'm sure our enemies would be analysing our fights and since they haven't seen Peter fight before, it would be hard for them to come up with a strategy. Since I'm guessing the team A of the other guilds would consist of all their damage dealers." Jake said and everybody nodded along understanding what he said.

Your journey continues at My Virtual Library Empire

"The next and last person I want on my team is..." Jake said and he saw everybody looking at him with wide eyes waiting on who he would call meanwhile one person had their head down.

'I know it can't be me, I'm not strong enough to stand beside him and help him yet. I would be lucky if he chose me for the second team.' Kate thought as she had her head down.

"Kate! I want her to join my team." Jake said and everyone were confused including Kate who raised her head to look at Jake confused by his choice.

"M...m...me? You want me to join your team?" She asked surprised.

"Yes I do! Although you are a range fighter on a norms, but you are also good when it comes to close quarter combat and which makes you versatile as you using the bow and arrow well will confuse your opponent and make them come close, you could then switch up to close quarter combat catching them off guard. And besides, I trained along side you these past two weeks and I know the monster you have become." Jake said with a smile and Kate's eyes suddenly got slightly teary.

'Ja... Jake just acknowledged me? He actually wants me to fight alongside him equally? I'm so happy!' Kate thought with a smile on her face.

"So that is it for team A. Me, Kate and Peter would be team A." Jake announced.
"And for team B, I would appoint a leader and he would be the one to pick who he wants for his team and who he wants to side by side with."

"The leader of team B would be Sunny." Jake announced.

"Me? Why me?" Sunny asked.

"You are a wise and calculative man, and you also think rational almost like the generals. So you are definitely the right pick as I trust your judgement in picking the right people for your team." Jake replied and then Sunny smiled before looking around the table.

"Okay without wasting much time, I pick Alex. His strength is well acknowledged and he also has a good head on his shoulder. The next person would be Jack Dem." Sunny said and Jack raised an eyebrow in confusion.

"Huh?! Me?" Jack asked surprised. "Why me? I mean I'm not even part of the guild officially, I'm dragged along."

"Although you are not part of the guild, you are still a core member and I know that if not because you are related to the big three, you would have become an official member. And besides, Sophia is not a core member and she goes out on missions too so why can't you?" Sunny asked and Jack sighed.

"Fine! I accept. And it has even been long I fought hard. And just so you know Alex, I'm going to be the first to take down my opponent." Jack said with a smile.

"Now I know where I have seen you before." Alex said clicking his fingers. "You are that dude I fought against during the tournament! Honestly, if you are still that weak little dude from before, then you might not stand a chance."

"Hold on! You didn't even know me till now?! What gives?!" Jack shouted and Jake just chuckled.

'I knew you had a good head on your shoulder sergeant Sunny. You made the right choice by picking Jack as I also feel bad for not taking him on any missions. I really miss the old days when all of us were together and not now where I'm always busy.' he thought with a sigh when he looked up again.

"So it's settled then. Team A would consist of Jake, Peter and Kate while team B would consist of Sunny, Alex and Jack. These are the teams that would participate and in turn decide if we will be part of that big four." Jake shouted and everybody cheered loudly.

Chapter 347 Hosts!

The following week, the week picked by the big three for the duel finally arrived as the location for where it would take place had been sent out to all guilds participating in the duel and even the media that would be covering the event had been informed.

Strangely enough, the location of the duel that was to take place was on a planet owned by the Slade's family that was somewhat close to the planets owned by the werewolves.

The media team consisting of Erin and Druig had already arrived on the planet earlier than anybody so they could begin setting things up and introducing the people that would land for the duel to the public.

Before the week of the duel, the big three had already scouted the planet extensively so as to pick a safe spot for the duel that would be uninterrupted by beasts.

And during the time of scouting and they found a safe spot, they had already begun building the arena for the duel so there won't be any problem on that day. It was surprising how fast the men worked as the arena for the duel had been prepared already before the duel's week.

When Erin and Druig landed on the planet, they could see that there was no shelter on the planet while off in the distance, a coliseum had been built and it was looking as big as a stadium of the old.

The planet was a somewhat unique one as instead of the sandy or rocky ground they were used to, it was a hard, shiny surface with clear blue substances like crystals. But it was as hard as diamond. Much of land was uneven but they were on the few stretches of flat surface.

Deciding to come early before any guild or any of the big three came with the perks of them setting up. Druig got to work in going into the coliseum and setting up cameras all around and even getting his drone to float above and capturing the place and even his main camera was in hand as he examined the place.

"So this is poppy dome huh." Druig said as he looked up to see a clear dome like cover over the huge arena as he was able to view the sky perfectly.

The arena had hundreds of chairs scattered around for those that would be viewing while the ground was still the diamond surface but with raised platforms for the fight that would be occurring.

And then off to the side was a viewing booth of some kind with a tinted glass surrounding it not allowing anybody see who would be inside but no doubt those inside would be able to see those outside. Discover hidden content at My Virtual Library Empire

"The big three really took their time to transform this planet into an arena of some kind." Druig said as he was finishing setting up when he heard Erin's voice from outside.

"Aren't you done yet? I think they are arriving so hurry out!" She called and Druig swiftly left the arena as he could see three huge different Aeroglides hovering above the planet.

Without wasting time, he activated two drones that began hovering above him while his personal camera was on and recording as they went live immediately to capture the landing of the big three.

The public had already been informed of the duel and the date so they had been waiting for when Erin would go live and here it was as they could see three different Aeroglides hovering above the planet and as if their minds were linked, the glides all landed at the same time a distance away from the coliseum.

And then out of the glides, three men were seen walking out of each of the glides first and the world recognized them as the big three. Rex Slade was seen walking first out of his Aeroglides that was coloured crimson red with a regal lion design on it.

He stepped out with him wearing a long red cape that was fluttering in the wind with his crimson red hair flowing in the wind too and a constant smile was on his face. Behind him, thirty men stepped out of the glide one at a time with another person stepping out and walking towards Rex and standing beside him with a wide smile on his face.

"And here the big three known as Rex Slade has arrived! The creator of Qi and the one who introduced it to the whole world along with his son Raze Slade!" Erin commented as the drones zoomed in on their faces.

Erin had been informed of the people that were going to come. She had been told every detail by the big three themselves.

"It's time to come out of the shadows and show ourselves to the world." Rex mumbled as they walked forward when the second Aeroglide opened up and a man with a walking cane stepped forward.

The cane had a dragon symbol on it and a man with brown hair was seen holding onto it with a fierce look to his eyes and then walking out of the glide were thirty men too and one more person came out and stood beside the man.

"And here we have it, the second big three is here! Rivock Dem! And his son Greig Dem! I don't really know what his contribution is, but he is still part of the big three that managed to make the werewolves retreat." Erin commented.

Then the last glide opened up with a man dressed in a white flowing attire that looked like a lab coat of some kind with his black slick hair falling behind his back and a round glass on his face.

Walking behind him were thirty men too with one more person coming forward and standing beside him.

"And the last but not the least of them has arrived! Bane Josh, the leader of the Josh family. The one who introduced all these amazing technology to us. And his son is standing beside him, Jay Josh! And everyone, these are the big three the hosts of this duel and the world leaders!" Erin commented.

Chapter 348 Let the duel begin!

The next glides to appear after the big three was that of the phoenix guild as they could be seen parking their glide that had the symbol of a phoenix designed all around it in a crimson and golden colour.

Descending from the glide, was the leader of the phoenix guild: Gray! And along with his five core members standing beside him while Gray was standing with his long flowing cape that was swaying gently in the wind almost like Rex's.

Walking forward with his core members by his side, he stood in front of the big three while Erin was introducing them to the public.

Gray along with his core members all stood in front of the big three and as if their minds were linked, they all bowed down slightly towards them.

"Woah! They are really respectful." Erin commented as the public also shared the same thoughts with her when watching what Gray and his members did.

"We pay our respects to the big three and I hope after the duel, the phoenix guild will be sitting at the top with you all." Gray said as they were still in their bowing position before they stood upright.

"Okay, it is settled! I like this one." Rivock commented with a smile when the next glide arrived.

This one was designed with beautiful purple and pink flowers and plants on it and it descended with six females walking out of it with three of the females dressed in pink while swaying beautifully towards the big three.

"The second guild have arrived! The daisy guild! The guild that comprises of females all in it and no single male." Erin commented and the online community took to their keyboards.

"Woah! Look at that slender female in their middle! She is Soo god darn beautiful!" Someone commented as they were admiring a female in the middle of the three females in front.

Although she was dressed in pink, her dress was more tight fitting and showed her cleavages. While her hips swayed more with a constant smile on her oval face that looked like an egg. She was the definition of beauty with the way she looked, dressed and carried herself.

"And that is Linda! The leader of the daisy guild that is run by her and her sisters beside her." Erin commented as the Daisy guild went ahead to pay their respects to the big three.

Right on cue, the next glide arrived and this one wasn't designed much. It was only designed with bolts of lightning all around it while having beautiful blue colours designing the glide as it slowly descended.

"And the next guild to arrive is the Thunderbolt guild! The most mysterious and small guild there is!" Erin commented as the ramp was let down and six men descended with three in front and three in back.

The three in front had a slightly old man leading them with his black hair having tints of grey and a cold, stern look on his face while the one beside him were much younger.

"And that is the leader of the thunderbolt guild! Kai thunderbolt along with his sons: Harry and Sebastian thunderbolt." Erin commented as everyone watched how the guild bowed slightly to the big three.

And after a few minutes of waiting, the last glide appeared hovering above the planet before descending down and the ramp was let down.

"And there we have it, the last but not the least guild. The Fang hunters have arrived!" Erin commented as their glide had their symbol on it with it colored red and black all over.

The ramp was let down and Jake, Alex, Peter, Sunny, Kate and Jack were seen descending with some of the core and regular members left in the glide while the main participants were seen walking towards where the others stood.

"Wow! The Fang hunters and the remaining participants are here. The leader of the Fang hunters: Jake Lucas with some of his core members have all arrived and strangely enough, they aren't putting on their mask." Erin commented before she swiftly walked towards Jake with Druig rolling behind her.

"Mind if we take a few minutes of your time?" Erin asked and Jake raised an eyebrow towards her before he sighed.

"Alex, mind to take care of this? I'm in no mood for interviews." Jake said and then he walked away letting Alex walk forward.

"Why must he be so rude?" Someone commented.

"Too much arrogance." Another person said.

"Can I know why you all aren't putting on your masks?" Erin asked Alex.

"Well that is because there's no more need for that. We wore masks because we thought the world would consider us too young and will reject us but now, we have gotten our footing more in the world so there's no need to hide behind masks." Alex replied and then he turned around to see Rex who had his eyes widened in shock by seeing Alex on the other side.

'Alex what are you doing?' Raze thought as he could see his younger brother.

"You disrespectful shits! Aren't you supposed to come pay your respects?" Rivock asked angrily and Jake turned around to look at him while Erin asked Druig to keep on filming.

"Why should we?" Jake asked and Rivock was taken aback slightly in surprise. "After all, we would soon be equals." Jake declared with a smile as he walked away to prepare.

"What pure arrogance!" Someone shouted on the online forum.

"He thinks just because he is slightly strong, he would win? How ridiculous!"

"I hate people like him." Another person said.

The same type of comments kept pouring in after Jake's declaration and Bane couldn't help but smile.

'What I want to know is why Rex and Rivock's kids are there.' he thought and then he turned towards the crowd.

"Enough of that! The competition/ duel here would determine who would join us so let's get down to the rules." Bane said with a smile and the teams huddle together while Druig sent his drones to capture what was to be said.

"As we said, every guild would create an A team and a B team which I suppose are already created. These teams are groups of three and they will be there on three battles. Both of these teams would also go up against the opposing group teams' groups.

So each group would have to fight a total of four times. Each win is one point, and whoever gets the most points will be declared the winner. And to determine the winner, any group or team that gets knocked out of the platform, becomes unconscious or forfeits loses and the opponent group wins a point." Bane explained. "I hope we all understand?!"

"Yes!" Everybody responded except Jake who found it tiring to respond.

"Good! Now without further Ado, let the duel begin!" Bane smiled.

Chapter 349 You know nothing about us!

The participating teams including the big three and the media were seen inside the coliseum with the big three being in the viewing booth while the participants were seen in the seats away from each other with Jake sitting with his hands crossed and a slight frown on his face.

'I forgot that the big three would be here today, I hope with their kids here, they won't complain.' he thought when the whole coliseum heard a voice from Bane who was in their viewing booth with huge throne like chairs for them and they had their kids standing beside them.

"Okay! Welcome everyone to the duel that will decide who will be part of the new world table known as the big four. So without further Ado, let me call on the first teams that will be entertaining us today." Bane said and then a huge holographic display appeared with random shuffling which everybody including the public could see.

In a few seconds it stopped on two teams.

"Okay! The first teams to participate will be team B from the phoenix guild and team A from the daisy guild." Bane announced and the two teams quickly filed onto the raised round platform that was huge enough to accommodate any form of movement.

The two teams stood opposite each other with the daisy guild consisting of their leader: , Linda, her sisters peach and Ivy. While the team B from the phoenix guild consisted of the female whip user known as Lucy, the Sai user known as Greg and the spear user known as Jim.

The teams stood opposite each other and waited for the big three to give their signal when a huge countdown clock appeared above the arena and the number "5" was displayed on it.

'Now this reminds me of the VR game I usually played but without the teams.' Jake thought as the clock hit 0 and right on cue, the spear and Sai user charged forward while Lucy stood straight with her whip in her hand but the daisy guild stood there unmoving as they could see the two men charging right at them.

"We recognize you, the dangerously core members from the phoenix guild." Linda said.

"Oh yeah! Then you should know how strong we are!" Greg said as he jumped up and was seen coming at Linda hot and fast with his Sai weapon pointed forward. Stay tuned for updates on My Virtual Library Empire

"Impressive speed display!" Rivock commented and then Greg was about to hit when a clanging sound was heard and he froze in his spot.

"But good thing you know nothing about us and how we fight." Linda said as a shield appeared in front of her blocking the Sai weapon with Peach the slightly robust sister holding onto it with a smile on her face.

Then Ivy swung her dagger towards him but then a clang was heard as Jim appeared blocking with his spear. But before he could move, Linda quickly came forward swinging her sword but then she heard a clanging that threw her sword off trajectory and then Jim made a thrust towards her side but Peach quickly came over and blocked with her shield.

'What was that sound and strength that pushed my sword?' Linda thought as she looked up to see Lucy withdrawing her whip back. 'Oh! So it's her.'

"Ivy! Peach! Now!" Linda said and they all regrouped side by side while Jim had his spear out waiting for anything to happen while Greg was infusing his feet with Qi ready to explode.

"Let's go!" Linda shouted and then she grabbed Ivy by the hand and swung her towards Peach who had her shield raised up in time for Ivy to step on it and explode forward like a shooting star from the shield which made Greg and Jim look up for a moment but that was their mistake.

Peach had quickly come in front of Greg and whacked him with her shield causing blood to spurt out of his face and then the next hit landed on his guts causing the wind to get knocked out of his mouth.

Jim was about to move to help when he suddenly saw a sword flying towards his face without anybody holding onto it. Raising his spear, he blocked it but then felt a hit in his stomach that sent him skidding.

Infusing his feet with Qi, he stabbed his spear into the hard diamond surface and then leaned all his weight on it and was propelled towards Linda at tremendous speed but then reaching her position, he couldn't see her again as he crashed into the ground and was about to stand up when Linda whacked him with the hilt of her sword knocking him out coldly.

Meanwhile Ivy that was propelled forward earlier was about to hit Lucy but then swinging her whip several times, she managed to keep Ivy at bay as she hit the ground hard and was about to stand up when she saw several slashes coming towards her.

Rolling on the floor, she infused her feet with Qi and stomped the ground propelling her up and in the air, she began clashing against the slashes using her Qi infused dagger.

And finally she was done battling against the Qi slashes and was about to move when she suddenly felt her legs wrapped up. Looking down, she could see that her legs were held by Lucy's whip and then dragging it forward, she was lifted up and then slammed back down into the ground hard causing her to cough out blood.

Lucy was about to move forward when she suddenly saw a sword flying towards her at incredible speed. Acting fast, she swung her whip hitting it by the tip and sending it back but before she could even move an inch, she suddenly saw Ivy in front of her as she swung her dagger towards her side that drew blood and then a ringing voice was heard.

"Enough! Team A from the daisy guild wins." Bane announced as Lucy looked around to see Greg and Jim knocked out cold while the daisy sisters were seen standing with smiles on their faces.

'How the hell did Greg and Jim lose to women?! How are they so strong and coordinated?' Lucy thought when Bane continued speaking.

"Will the two teams make way for the next participants?" He said and some men appeared and grabbed Greg and Jim away while the daisy sisters walked away proudly and then the holographic display appeared again shuffling.

"Next teams! Team B from the Fang hunters vs Team A from the thunderbolt guild."

Chapter 350 The power of the thunderbolt leader!

"Will the two teams make way for the next participants?" He said and some men appeared and grabbed Greg and Jim away while the daisy sisters walked away proudly and then the holographic display appeared again shuffling.

"Next teams! Team B from the Fang hunters vs Team A from the thunderbolt guild."

Immediately they were announced, Alex, Sunny and Jack all came down at once with Sunny having his gauntlets cover his hands while Alex just stood there nonchalantly without any shirt on and his giant king tier sword strapped to his back.

Then for the opposite guild, Kai thunderbolt was seen walking forward with Harry and Sebastian beside him as they all held their different weapons in hand which mainly consisted of swords.

"I'm waiting to know why your sons are down there." Bane commented and both Rex along with Rivock shrugged at the same time.

"Not really my business. Alex is free to do whatever he wants right from the onset. He has always done what he wanted so I can't stop him now can I? Besides it was his decision to join the academy." Rex replied.

"Besides, I think we would get to see what they learnt at the academy and if they have gotten much stronger. Probably we would have to rethink who would inherit our positions after this duel." Rivock commented as he turned to look at his son who stood un-bothered by his side.

"Anyway! Let the duel begin!" Bane announced as the countdown clock appeared and began counting down.

"You know Harry, I always wanted to fight you again but I noticed you were still weak for me." Alex chuckled as he took a stance still with his sword strapped to his back.

"Oh yeah! So how about we decide who is stronger right now and here without holding back a single bit!" Harry replied with a smile.

"Wasn't even planning on holding back that is if you are worth it." Alex said as his sword was let down from its strap and it blazed red with visual Qi at once.

"I guess it's decided then. Alex go for Harry, Jack go for Sebastian and I will attack the big boss myself." Sunny said and the clock clicked down to 0 at once.

At the same time, Alex, Sunny and Jack dashed forward at the opposite trio that stood nonchalantly.

"Don't move." Kai commanded and then he stepped forward with his body crackling and sparkling with lightning visual Qi. "This should be quick." He said and then he exploded from his position strongly heading towards the trio coming at them.

"How arrogant of you to attack us on your own!" Alex shouted as he jumped up and swung his sword releasing a slash of fiery visual Qi at Kai who like a lightning bolt avoided it as it crashed into the hard diamond surface and then he appeared in front of Alex about to strike him but Sunny had already swirled his Qi to his feet.

Causing him to appear directly in front of Alex and he used his gantlet hand to grab Kai's hand and then he made a jab towards his head using his other hand but Kai avoided it by moving his head sideways but Sunny didn't relent as he kept coming in with different swings.

A jab, a cross, a hook and an uppercut. But each and every time, Kai avoided it before he planted his foot into Sunny's stomach sending him flying and tumbling onto the hard ground just in time to avoid another swing to his head by Alex.

Immediately his feet touched the ground, he could see a sword flashing in front of his face from Jack as he did a swing from below causing a huge slash to appear heading towards Kai who stood unfazed.

Surrounding his hand with his lightning visual Qi to the extent that one of his hand was shining yellow, he struck the slash dissipating it and causing it to break up into tiny pieces.

'How is he able to keep up with Sunny, Alex and Jack at the same time? I know their strengths and I can say they could best an A rank adventurer with ease but here the leader of the thunderbolt guild is dominating them and I don't think I'm mistaken but it looks like he is toying around with them.' Jake thought as he watched with his arms crossed.

"Harry, is it me or has dad gotten stronger these past few years?" Sebastian asked.

"I was about to ask the same thing as I'm unable to believe my eyes here too."
Harry replied as they could see Kai standing around after breaking the slash.

Before he could move, Alex could be seen coming from behind swinging his sword very fast towards Kai that for a moment it looked like it would catch him off guard but he had quickly moved causing Alex to hit the ground causing it to tremble slightly but the hard surface withheld.

"I thought with the leader of the thunderbolt guild avoiding every single attack that the people fighting were weak but that tremble, I heard it loud and clear."
Someone watching the Livestream commented.

"I guess the person that said the Fang hunters were filled with monsters wasn't wrong." Another person replied.

Immediately avoiding Alex's attack, Kai had moved into a position but that was a mistake as Sunny was seen exploding towards him with his Qi surrounding all his body especially his feet as he appeared directly behind Kai and in a flash, he unleashed a high-speed kick to his head sending Kai crashing into the ground hard with blood spurting out of his nose and trickling down his head. Stay updated with My Virtual Library Empire

"Nice job sergeant Sunny!" Kate cheered.

"Don't cheer yet as the winner is already decided." Jake mumbled loud enough for Kate to hear.

Immediately Sunny and Alex jumped back to plan their next move, they could see Kai standing up with a weird smile on his face making him look terrifying and then he lifted his hands.

"Impressive! I never knew there were those that could draw blood from my body but I guess I was wrong and for that, I'm going to grant you all a swift defeat." Kai said as yellow lightning made out of Qi was pouring out of his body striking the diamond surface hard.

And before the Fang hunters' trio could blink, Kai was already in front of Sunny as he implanted a fast and strong punch into his gut sending him flying off the platform and then in a blink, he appeared in front of Alex who was in the middle of a swing but with an uppercut, he sent him flying too.

And for Jack, he stomped the ground hard sending a streak of lightning hitting and throwing him off the platform. Everybody seeing this had their mouths agape as they could see another monster in front of them.

"Th..." Bane stuttered as he caught himself losing composure due to what he saw but he quickly regained his composure and continued speaking. "The thunderbolt guild wins!"

"Next round please!" He said.
