

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 431: What the werewolves have been cooking!

"What?! You want to kill me? With your puny strengths? Ha! You all are even unable to injure me and you want to kill me? How do you want to do that?" The werewolf asked.

"By beating you to a pulp that your natural healing is unable to keep up!" Bane said as he blitzed forward, his energy blades gleaming brightly while heading towards the werewolf.

"Fine, since you all don't want to learn the easy way," the werewolf said as his mouth turned into a snout, his eyes glowing bright blue. "Let's do it the hard way!"

Boom!

The world leaders along with Humfree darted forward with tremendous speed that the ground slightly quaked when they clashed against the Beta werewolf.

A swing of its claws sent a claw slash towards Humfree who swung his sword in a perfect arc and smashed it into the claw strike breaking it and leaping up, his sword above his head.

Humfree was seen falling down from above with his sword while the werewolf tried to move around to avoid the sword when a mechanical punch from Bane smashed into its stomach sending it skidding.

A sharp slicing sound in the air shot forward from behind smashing into the werewolf's back as it stumbled forward.

"Damn you!" Humfree roared as he fell from above, his sword smashing into the werewolf's head and sending it crashing into the ground creating a crater.

"Enough!" The werewolf howled in anger as it punched the ground hard with a lot of energy causing a wave of shockwave to spread out and smash into the others sending them skidding and almost flying.

The werewolf stood up, blood dripping down its brown fur, its blue eyes glowing with more intensity.

"Hmm..." Rex muttered as a Qi sword appeared in his hand, his eyes fixated on the werewolf. "So you can bleed, good to know."

"Oh this?!" The werewolf asked as it glanced at its injured body which began closing back rapidly until he was as good as new. "Oh look! The injury has healed up. What are you going to do?!"

"This!" Bane said.

Bang!

Two shots of energy fired out as terrifying speed and another bang resounded again as it hit its target. But contrary to what they expected, it didn't hurt the werewolf as it held out its furry hands that grabbed the canon ball energy with a smirk.

"Looks like you all have grown weaker than before." The Beta werewolf said as it clenched its hands destroying the energies before smirking at the trio in front of it. "Alright, I'm getting bored."

It said and then zipped towards Head General Humfree, its claws gleaming slightly as it swung it towards him when Bane leapt in the way, a metal wall rising in front of the werewolf as its claws ripped through it.

But luckily, Humfree and Bane had already dashed away to safety while Rex fell down with his Qi sword smashing into the werewolf's hand causing a large slash to appear.

"Damn you!" The werewolf growled as it swung its furry legs towards Rex who swiftly leapt backwards in time as Humfree quickly appeared.

His sword clashing against the furry leg causing a reverberating shockwave to spread out, as Humfree's hands throbbed in pain while he was sent skidding a few inches away.

Bane leapt up next, his hips whipping out, as he swung his legs out, a long blade gleamed out which hit the werewolf squarely in its face drawing blood and was sent skidding and almost tumbling.

"Never call us weak again!" Rex roared as visual Qi blazed brightly in his hands which smashed into the werewolf's abdomen, blood and spit sprayed out as its body tumbled backwards and bounced on the ground a couple times.

"Keh Keh Keh!" The werewolf laughed as it slowly rose when its face was met with a heavy kick from Humfree that moved its head a few inches away.

Humfree leapt an inch back and swung his leg again when it was grabbed by the werewolf whose eyes glowed with ferociousness before smashing Humfree into the ground with one smooth motion.

"Kuh!" Blood sprayed out of his mouth as debris and dust filled his nostrils.

"Funny how that kid managed to defeat Blip on his own, and you all had to band together so as to fight me." The werewolf howled in amusement as it lifted its feet and swung it down heading for Humfree's face.

But just in time, Rex dashed forward, a shield made from Qi shimmered into existence as it swiftly held the werewolf's feet back.

Bane jumped forward, his hands turning into that of a robot hand which slammed into the werewolf's face sending it flying away from Humfree and almost hit the ground but quickly regained its footing when...

"Just die damn it!" Rex cried out as a long Qi sword shimmered in his hands which he attempted to smash into the werewolf who quickly raised its hands grabbing onto the sword, blood trickling down its furry claws as Rex pressed on, the ground cracked under the pressure of the two clash.

"Not today!" The werewolf grinned as it whipped its second claw towards Rex's face which landed squarely sending him flying into several buildings which crumbled with each slam of his body until a building broke his momentum.

"How weak ha..."

"Just shut the hell up!" Bane shouted, his energy blade shimmering with intensity as he swung it forward towards the werewolf who immediately ducked and delivered an earth shattering punch into the world leader's stomach causing spit to shoot out of his mouth as his body suddenly flew backwards, crashing into a building and bringing it down on him.

"Argh!" Humfree shouted as a hundred Qi swords shimmered into existence and in a second, shot towards the werewolf who just simply waved it's claws and destroyed the swords like it was nothing.

"Okay, I'm too bored." The werewolf said as it stepped forward, Humfree's grip tightened around his sword as he glared at the werewolf.

Swirling his Qi to his feet, he bolted towards the werewolf with terrifying speed.

"I guess its time I showed you all what the werewolves have been cooking up all these years." The werewolf smirked as it dashed forward like a blur, its claws moved so swiftly towards Humfree that he didn't feel anything nor could he react on time.

The werewolf appeared behind Humfree and walked away like nothing happened as the Head General stood there stunned, not knowing what was going on not until...

"Damn it!" Rex roared as he was seen approaching from where he was sent flying, blood dripping down his face, nose and mouth as one of his hands clutched against his side. "Humfree!"

"Hu..." Humfree trailed off as he glanced at his body and he could see blood spraying like a fountain of water and from his shoulder downwards, he was missing an arm.

Chapter 432: Enhanced!

"Damn it!" Rex roared as he was seen approaching from where he was sent flying, blood dripping down his face, nose and mouth as one of his hands clutched against his side. "Humfree!"

"Hu..." Humfree trailed off as he glanced at his body and he could see blood spraying like a fountain of water and from his shoulder downwards, he was missing an arm.

In the werewolf's claws was Humfree's missing arm which it took a bite off with a wicked grin on his face. In a split second, the whole arm was gone.

"Now I feel refreshed." The werewolf smirked as its claws now elongated, looking like it was dripping down something greenish.

"Do you think missing an arm will stop me? Even if I lost my legs, I will still use my rod to strike you down!" Humfree roared as he bolted forward, his sword tightly gripped with a single hand.

Swinging it, it sliced through the air smoothly and very fast but the werewolf simply pivoted sideways avoiding it and his claws moved quickly.

The next moment, cracks appeared on the sword and it shattered to the ground before a heavy kick landed on Humfree's chest sending him flying away.

"I knew you were hiding something." Rex's voice boomed as he walked forward, hands clutching his side in pain as Bane slowly emerged from the building he was smashed into.

His energy blades shimmering back in existence.

"Oh really?! But I'm not the same werewolf you fought against a few years ago. I have become something better, advanced and enhanced. How you going to deal with that?" The werewolf asked with a grin.

"And we are not the same as when you fought against us." Rex said, the air around him burning with more intensity, the ground rumbled as he stopped clutching his side and smirked.

"Unleash." He said calmly as fire erupted around Rex's body burning the air itself.

The fire consuming Rex wasn't the normal orange, this one was yellow which means, it was made of Qi. This was Rex's visual Qi and the amount of Qi a person had, was going to be evident by his visual Qi.

Looking at the fire around Rex, his Qi was twice his body as the tip of the flames was soaring high with every step, the fire grew more with intensity meanwhile, Jake on the other hand, was standing calmly with his cloak frozen in the air.

"I was saving this for the Alpha, but there's no harm in using that now." Bane grinned as his body started getting encased in metal.

From his feet, to his legs, to his waist, then his back began turning mecha. And in a second, Bane fully looked like a robot. (Think of something like iron man.)

"Oh?! You all got an upgrade. So have I!" The werewolf bolted forward like a blur, its claws swinging in the air rapidly unleashing slashes of claws towards the duo.

Raising his hand to the air, a metal sword shot down into Rex's hand and in one smooth motion, he swung his sword out unleashing a humongous Qi slash forward that clashed against the claw strikes.

Immediately the attacks clashed together, a loud bang resounded in the air, the attacks cancelled each other out.

"Oh! The active skill to call the sword from wherever it is." Bane spoke, his voice coming out like a robot of some kind. "Cool!" Bane said as he pointed his palms out in the air.

While observing the blurs the Beta werewolf left behind as it blitzed from one place to another.

"Bingo!" Bane smirked as energy blasts shot out of his hands and in a flash, crashed into the werewolf sending it bouncing back but it swiftly stabbed it's claws into the ground coming to a halt.

Quickly standing up, it spun around just in time to hit Rex's sword back and tried to unleash a swift kick towards him but two consecutive blasts from Bane sent it tumbling back with its fur all frizzled up.

Placing it's claws together, the werewolf thrust it forward sending a ball of some greenish goo flying towards Rex who spun around in time just to avoid it but a speck from the goo hit his arm.

Sizzle!

Looking down at his arm, Rex could see a small hole burnt into it which made him stop for a bit. Glancing back down, he could see a gaping hole in the ground.

'Crap! It can use some weird abilities?! Fuck! This is getting dangerous!' Rex screamed internally when he saw the werewolf blitz towards him.

"Gotcha." It said as it swung its now greenish claws forward towards Rex who was too slow to react.

"No, gotcha!" Bane said as he descended from above, his palm pointed towards the werewolf's abdomen and a blast rang out as the werewolf was sent hurling back into a building bringing it down to the ground.

"Thanks." Rex said as the werewolf was seen approaching, its body now dripping with more blood than usual, its abdomen had a gaping hole that was now closing rapidly while its eyes glowed with more intensity.

"Be careful, that beast has an acidic ability." Rex warned as he gripped his Katana tightly, his fiery Qi wrapping against the blade.

"You all made a big mistake." The werewolf howled as it bolted forward at immense speed.

Bang!

Bang!

Bang!

Three consecutive blasts of energy shot out from Bane's mechanical palms towards the werewolf who avoided each and every one of them until it got behind him, its claws swinging towards the world leader's mechanical back until....

"I said, watch your back damn it!" Rex roared as he appeared behind the werewolf's back before it could attack Bane and then, his sword shot forward slamming into the werewolf's back.

It went deep and its fur was burning up primarily because of Rex's visual Qi. Spinning around, the werewolf swung its furry hands slamming into Rex's face sending his body bouncing into the ground.

"Peek a boo!" Bane smirked as he held out his mechanical palms and tried to blast at the werewolf but his wrists were grabbed and the next instant, he was smashed so hard into the ground.

That buildings several metres away shuddered, a deep and huge crater formed beneath Bane's body and the next instant, his robot body began crumbling down as he coughed out blood.

"I guess there was no..." The werewolf trailed off as a sharp sound was heard in the air heading towards it.

Making the werewolf turn around to receive a Qi sword from Humfree in its face sending it staggering back.

"We told you, we are not as weak as before!" Bane roared as he leapt off from the ground and swung his hip sending his leg whipping into Rex's sword that was lunged into the werewolf's back.

With that, the sword protruded out of the werewolf's back into its chest causing blood to drip down its mouth as it suddenly staggered to its knees.

Its fur slowly reverting back as it turned to see Bane, who was hunched down, his breathing now ragged with injuries on all his body.

"You... you think it's going to be over?" The werewolf asked as it staggered to its feet glancing at Bane and Humfree who despite their exhaustion, they still stood strongly.

"The...the Alpha has more stronger werewolves just like me. The enhanced and when they st..."

"Just shut the f*ck up and die!" Rex roared as he stirred to his feet, a Qi sword shot forward and smashed into the werewolf's head, another one sliced through its neck as it fell down with a sickening thud.

Therefore bringing the battle with the strongest Beta werewolf to a close.

Chapter 433: A deal!

"Okay, I know I act foolishly and immature at times, but General Paul has gone senile with his plan." Alex sighed as him, Kate and Wilfred were seen in their Aeroglides.

Preparing to land on one of Rivock's conquered planets so as to reclaim it.

"He does has a point though, there's nothing we can do about it. If we can possibly end this war before Jake comes back, it will be for the best." Wilfred sighed.

"Kate! Don't you have anything to say about this?" Alex asked.

"Anything Paul says, I go by it. If he says that this is the best course of action, who am I to argue?" Kate asked with a shrug.

"So shall we go ahead and conquer this planet? So we can put our plans in motion." Wilfred asked and Alex just sighed.

"Sure, let's go." Alex shrugged as the Aeroglide finally descended.

Immediately the ramp was let down, three hundred men rushed out of the glide while following after were Alex, Wilfred and Kate.

"I will take my position now." Kate said as she leapt onto the glide's roof and it took off into the sky while she pulled out her bow awaiting when the battle begins.

The planet they had landed on was a bit unique as the ground beneath their feet was hard, red and rocky while volcanoes spread around the place causing terrible heat to wave over them.

But coursing their Qi around their bodies, everybody were able to withstand the heat. As usual, the werewolves' fortress was standing strong in the distance.

Unshaken, unmoving but unlike the other planets which they usually attacked that had several werewolves lining the walls, this one was bare.

But slowly, the gates rose up to reveal a single werewolf stepping out of there. But unlike the omega werewolves that are stuck with their Beastly forms, this one was a human who walked forward.

A 5ft human who had a long scar across his face walked forward, his hands tucked in his pockets as his black hair flowed freely in the wind.

"I want to talk." The man said as he stopped a few metres away from the ground.

Seeing this, Wilfred stepped forward, his sword still in its sheath around his waist. He walked forward until he was a metre away from the man.

"What does a werewolf like you want to say to us?" Wilfred asked, his eyebrows raised.

"A way to stop a huge amount of bloodshed on both sides." The man replied.

"Huh?! Aren't you a werewolf?" Wilfred asked with a raised brow of confusion.

"I am. But before that, I was a human." The man replied with a sigh.

"A human? Why did you now decide to become a werewolf?" Wilfred asked.

'Let me see if there's a way we can conquer this planet without fighting. Honestly, I would rather not lose any more men during this conquest.

I feel like we are nearing the end of this war especially with Paul's suggestions. If we go through with it and manage to do it, we might just end this war.'

"I joined the werewolves because of revenge. I needed power and strength to complete my revenge especially with how powerful the person I want to take revenge against is currently.

I knew with my previous strength, I wouldn't be able to do anything and when the werewolves had approached and offered me power, I couldn't resist and I took it with the hope of taking revenge." The man said as he untucked one of his hands and clenched it in and out.

"Wh...who do you want to take revenge against?" Wilfred asked as he stopped crossing his arms as he stared at the werewolf cautiously.

"Lucas! Jake Lucas. I believe he is now a world leader right?" The man asked with a smirk as Wilfred took a step back, his heart thumping in fright by what was going on.

"Why do you want to take revenge against him? What did he ever do to you?" Wilfred asked.

"Let me take you back the memory lane a bit. When that bastard was a student at Aurora Academy, he humiliated me, ridiculed me in front of my subordinates and caused me to lose my position in the iron fist guild.

When we met again in Raven wing's city, he humiliated me again, ripped all my clothes off and caused me to go off running without any clothes on. So here I am, I want to take revenge." The man said, his voice dripping with pure anger and hatred.

"And you think that you would be able to defeat him?" Alex asked as he strode over, his hands behind his crimson hair as he yawned slightly.

"Whatever power or strength you must have possed in the werewolf world, wouldn't still allow you to touch a hair on Jake's head."

"Are you sure about that?" The man asked with a smirk as he stared at Alex.

"What's your name? Maybe we can help you." Wilfred said, he wanted to proceed cautiously because of the aura the individual in front of him was exuding.

"The name is Scar and I don't need your help. I just need to know, where the hell is Jake?!" Scar asked with anger.

"He isn't here." Alex replied as he unsheath his giant sword which hung on his back. "And if he was, I wouldn't have let you go anywhere close to him."

"Alright, my patience has gone thin. Since I was a human, I wouldn't want your men to die unnecessarily here so here is an offer for you." Scar smirked as he looked at the duo in front of him.

"Which is?" Wilfred asked with a raised brow.

"I'm the strongest werewolf among the four hundred troop behind me. So how about you two who I suspect must be the strongest amongst your own troop fight me. You win, I help you take down the four hundred werewolves in that fortress so you don't have to handle them yourselves." Scar said.

"And if you win?" Wilfred asked.

"Simple." Scar grinned as he stared at them. "I kill you all, eat your bodies and then go out to find Jake, kill him and eat him up too."

"Alright, astalavista!" Alex said as he bolted forward, his sword roaring with visual Qi.

"You shouldn't be so reckless." Scar said as his eyes glowed bright blue while his hands changed to that of claws.

"A Beta werewolf?!" Wilfred muttered in surprise.

"Still doesn't change anything!" Alex roared as he leapt forward, the ground quaked in his wake.

Chapter 434: We aren't weaklings!

Alex, General Wilfred and Kate had just descended on one of Rivock's conquered planets with a total of three hundred men and they were ready to start their conquest.

But a lone werewolf who had a grudge that dated back to three and a half years against Jake came out and gave them an offer. A two V One duel.

"And if you win?" Wilfred asked.

"Simple." Scar grinned as he stared at them. "I kill you all, eat your bodies and then go out to find Jake, kill him and eat him up too."

"Alright, astalavista!" Alex said as he bolted forward, his sword roaring with visual Qi.

"You shouldn't be so reckless." Scar said as his eyes glowed bright blue while his hands changed to that of claws.

"A Beta werewolf?!" Wilfred muttered in surprise.

"Still doesn't change anything!" Alex roared as he leapt forward, the ground quaked in his wake.

"Big mistake." Scar howled as his claws reverberated in the air heading towards Alex at terrifying speed but with a spin, Alex's sword shot forward and crashed against Scar's claws causing a bang and a shockwave to spread out like a wave hitting General Wilfred back a bit.

"See, it's nothing t..." Alex trailed off as his hands shook and throbbed in pain. The next second, he was flung back that his body bounced on the hard, red ground so hard that his clothes were getting ripped out.

Swoosh!

Two arrows made of Qi shot forward at terrifying speed towards Scar who held his furry claws out and grabbed them. But contrary to what he expected, he was being pushed back slightly from the force of the arrows.

"Okay, let's rumble then." Wilfred said as in one smooth motion, he unsheathed his sword and blitzed forward towards Scar who had just finished destroying the Qi arrows.

"Qi Slash!" Wilfred said as he leapt forward, his sword swung down unleashing a massive slash of Qi that slammed into Scar sending him skidding and almost tumbling back.

Before he could regain his footing, Alex appeared in front of him. His hands roared with fiery Qi as he swung it forward breaking the sound barrier and smashing it into the werewolf's abdomen with a loud bang that sent it flying and bouncing back.

Stabbing his claws into the ground, Scar came to a skidding halt as he spit out a slight trickle of blood. His eyes glowing with fierce blue intensity.

"Again!" Scar howled in anger as he dashed forward in a blur and so did Alex, his sword moving in the air with precise movements like a seasoned swordsman.

In a split second, they met in the center of the battlefield with a resounding bang that the ground shattered from the clash, a deep crater formed beneath them as Alex grit his teeth, pushing against the werewolf's claws with all his might.

Scar's mouth began opening up and a row of sharp fangs protruded from his mouth as he swung his head forward aiming to chomp on Alex's hands.

"Damn you!" Wilfred cursed as he leapt forward, his sword flashed in front of Scar and then got stuck in his jaws where its fangs were supposed to sink into Alex's hands.

Crack!

Shatter!

Wilfred's sword shattered like fragile glass as Scar's jaws snapped shut and it was just in time as Alex tensed his muscles, Qi coursing through his very limbs.

His eyes burned with intensity as he pulled Scar forward and with a swing of his head, he headbutted Scar causing his head to swing back a few inches.

But in a flash, it swung back forward and smashed into Alex's own head while letting go of Alex's hands causing him to smash into the ground with full force.

A deeper crater formed beneath Alex's body as he coughed out blood, his eyes almost rolling backwards but he stabbed his teeth into his lips causing him to stay awake but his body was being ravaged in pain.

"You were no match for me." Scar said as he swung his leg forward smashing it into Alex's side sending his body flying with his ribs cracking from the heavy kick.

"Alex!" Wilfred cried out as his sword was now shaking with energy which he swung forward unleashing another massive Qi slash which Scar wholly avoided causing it to tear the ground open as it moved forward.

"Missed me." Scar said as he was about to move.

"But I never miss." Kate's voice rang out as a dozen Qi arrows shot forward from above at terrifying speed.

"Tsk!" Scar scoffed as his claws elongated while he prepared to destroy the arrows until they all shook tremendously and then...

Bang!

Countless explosions rang out as the arrows when close to Scar who was about to destroy them, exploded with so much force and energy that he was sent skidding with bullet-like holes in his body.

"You shouldn't have messed with the Fang hunters!" Wilfred roared as he performed the triple threat technique while darting forward.

His hands glowing slight yellow from coating it with Qi and he smashed it into Scar's neck causing his knees to buckle, a mini explosion erupted, fissures ran deep in the ground, the air quaked slightly.

With gritted teeth, Scar glanced up at Wilfred. His eyes glowing brighter as he grabbed a hold of Wilfred's wrist and in one smooth motion, lifted and smashed the general hard into the ground.

Rumble!

The ground rumbled and it even felt like the planet shifted slightly from the slam as Wilfred coughed up mouthfuls of blood, debris and dust filling his nostrils and mouth as pure pain shot through his body.

"Goodbye General, you are all weaklings!" Scar howled as he lifted his foot that was now transforming into a furry foot and was about to smash it into Wilfred who was trying to stand until...

"I will advise you take your words back!" Alex roared as he blitzed forward and then rugby tackled Scar to the ground.

Half his face covered in blood as he lifted his hands that now roared with yellow fiery Qi up, his teeth grit as he glared at the werewolf beneath him.

"We aren't weaklings!" He shouted as he swung his hands down in anger.

Chapter 435 435: A General's death!

"Goodbye General, you are all weaklings!" Scar howled as he lifted his foot that was now transforming into a furry foot and was about to smash it into Wilfred who was trying to stand until...

"I will advise you take your words back!" Alex roared as he blitzed forward and then rugby tackled Scar to the ground.

Half his face covered in blood as he lifted his hands that now roared with yellow fiery Qi up, his teeth grit as he glared at the werewolf beneath him.

"We aren't weaklings!" He shouted as he swung his hands down in anger.

Boom!

Alex's hands began smashing into Scar's face one at a time. Resounding bangs rang out as his hands were now a blur of movements quickly turning Scar's face into a work of art.

Scar's head was sinking into the ground with every punch as blood spurted out, his black hair was slowly sinking into the ground as a deep crater was forming with every single hit.

"You want to kill Jake? Tsk! Beat me first!" Alex roared as his hand unleashed a devastating punch to Scar's nose causing him to feel slightly dizzy from the hit.

"Before you get to Jake, you have go through me...go through me! And do you know who I am? Alex Slade! The son of Rex Slade and the strongest core member of the Fang hunters!" Alex roared as his hands smashed into Scar's face that was now a bloody mess.

"I...Keh Keh Keh!" Scar laughed as Alex landed another punch on his mouth. "I should go through you? No! I won't go through you, instead I will go over you!" He roared as Alex's fist was now heading for his face again when he grabbed it in his palm.

"And I won't take my words back, you are a freaking weakling!" Scar shouted as his leg snapped forward slamming into Alex's back and causing him to fly over Scar's body.

Swoosh!

Two arrows shot forward towards Scar who stood upright to glare at Alex and without turning around, he grabbed the arrows in his hand and snapped them.

"Stay out of this." Scar said, his head titling towards Kate who stubbornly drew her bow string, a Qi arrow appearing on it.

"You just threatened to want to kill the love of my life, I can't sit this out, now can I?" Kate asked as she drew the string letting the arrow loose towards Scar.

"Then die first!" Scar howled as he bent his knees, causing the ground to crack beneath his feet and then leapt towards the arrow.

A loud clap from Scar shattered the arrow while he was still propelling towards Kate who began methodically shooting arrows after arrows at the werewolf who spun around continuously avoiding each and all the arrows.

"Leave her alone!" Wilfred shouted as he coated his feet with Qi and leapt up with a resounding bang.

Still airborne, he swung his foot smashing it into Scar's face just in time as his claws had been swung forward towards Kate's face. The kick sent Scar's body plummeting down with tremendous speed.

"Over here!" Alex shouted as Qi encased his hands and he swung it forward.

A delayed bang broke through the sound barrier as Alex's fist connected with Scar sending his body flying upward again.

"You shouldn't have really messed with the most dangerous guild in the world." Kate said as she saw Scar's body flying towards her while three arrows appeared on her bow string.

With a slight tug, she let the arrows loose towards Scar who angrily grabbed the arrows with his hands as his body was now plummeting down at a decent speed.

"You don't learn, huh?" Kate smirked as Scar looked at the arrows in his hands that suddenly broke down and a mini explosion occurred sending his body plummeting back down with terrifying speed.

That in less than a second, his body connected with the ground, a shockwave erupted out shaking the air, another deep crater appeared beneath the Beta werewolf's body as blood sprayed from its mouth.

"Tsk, tsk, tsk." Alex scoffed as he limped forward towards Scar who was slowly rising up while Wilfred stood side by side with him as they stepped forward.

"Are you really sure you are a Beta werewolf? I mean, what if the Alpha deceived you by putting blue contact lenses in your eyes to make you think you were one." Alex smirked as he chuckled slightly.

"What Alex here is trying to say is," Wilfred said as he pointed in the air, a massive Qi sword hung above Scar's head waiting to descend like a sword of judgement straight from heaven.

"For a Beta werewolf, you sure are weak." Wilfred finished his words as he swung his hands down causing the massive sword to shoot back down with tremendous speed that everyone watching knew that it would be hard for someone to avoid it until...

"Keh Keh Keh!" Scar laughed as a bang resounded, the massive Qi sword shattered like fragile glass as he slowly rose up. "Oh look?! His supposed destructive sword shattered like glass."

"Well, there's plenty where that came from." Alex said as a hundred Qi sword hung above him, their tips pointed straight at Scar who looked at the sky with a raised eyebrow.

"Before you unleash this puny attack, listen to this." Scar said as he walked forward a bit but the swords shook with more energy ready to be unleashed.

"You think that if you kill me, it will stop the plans the Alpha has? Keh! On every single planet which we had taken from your puny world leader, there are strong werewolves that could squash the world in a flash.

Enhanced werewolves that could easily rip through your flesh and bones as if they were nothing."

"Just as you said, it's nothing because the Fang hunters aren't weak and I'm sure they can handle themselves." Alex smirked.

"But can your dad handle the strongest Beta werewolf in the werewolves' rank?" Scar asked with a slight grin.

"Dad? What do you mean?" Alex asked as his heart thumped loudly in fright.

"I'm sure you must have heard of a Beta werewolf that attacked humanity during the first war. It was so strong that the world leaders along with Humfree had to band together to take care of it.

Well, that same werewolf is currently attacking your puny guild and I'm sure your dad would have gone to help. Do you think he would be able to handle it? After all, two world leaders are gone." Scar said, his grin widening.

'No...Dad can handle himself right? But I remember Raze telling me a story that during the first war and when the werewolf had attacked, dad had come back with terrible injuries and was put in bed for three weeks.

Wh...what if the werewolf is much stronger now? What...what if...' Alex thought as the swords suddenly shimmered out of existence.

"Didn't think that would work. Now goodbye!" Scar smirked as he blitzed forward at immense speed that Kate was unable to keep up and nobody was able to do anything.

Scar's claws shot forward towards Alex's stomach at terrifying speed that it was going to hit in less than a second.

Until somebody flashed in front of Alex, a smile plastered on his face as Scar's claws stabbed him and burst out of the other side.

"General Wilfred?!" Alex screamed in shock as blood sprayed from Wilfred's mouth.

"I'm... I'm sorry that I won't be able to see this war to the end... do... do...kuh!" Wilfred coughed out more blood. "Kindly kick this filthy werewolf's arse for me." Immediately after he finished his words, Wilfred slumped down with a sickening thud.

"NOOOO! General Wilfred?!" Alex cried out and so did Kate who fell on her knees at this.

"Aww! I was supposed to save you for last. But who cares?! You were so eager to die." Scar clicked his tongue with a grin.

"I...I...I... I will kill you!!!" Alex roared, his eyes now glowing bright brown and right on cue, his body flared with fiery visual Qi, his hair floating above his shoulders.

"Die!" Alex cried out as he swung his hands down and immediately, five hundred Qi swords shot down from the sky towards the werewolf who stood stunned.

Chapter 436 436: Nice to see you all!

"It's freezing out here." Emily commented as their glide just descended on Rivock's second conquered planet.

Nivareth was a desolate, frostbitten planet where winter reigned eternal. The landscape stretched endlessly in a sea of shimmering white, blanketed in thick layers of snow that never melt.

Towering ice cliffs rose like jagged blades from the ground, their translucent surfaces reflecting pale blue light from the distant, dying sun that barely warms the sky.

Snowstorms whipped across the plains with howling winds that cut through armor like daggers, reducing visibility to mere feet.

The ground beneath the snow was hard and unyielding, riddled with deep crevasses and hidden ice caverns that echoed with haunting whispers carried by the wind.

Frozen lakes dot the land, their glassy surfaces concealing ancient creatures entombed in ice.

Despite its unforgiving climate, Nivareth holds a haunting beauty—a tranquil, silent world cloaked in frost, where every breath becomes a mist and survival depends on strength, will, and fire.

And this was where Sunny, Peter, Emily and three hundred Fang hunters were to conquer. The ramp was let down as the three generals descended down from the glide, the three hundred men followed next.

Right in front of them, thirty metres away, was the giant werewolves' fortress.

"I'm so tired right now." Sunny yawned as he stretched a little, silver coloured gauntlets were fitted around his hands.

"I hear you." Peter sighed as he stared at the giant iron gates opening up.
"Especially with what General Paul suggested, I'm already feeling a huge headache coming up."

"Same here." Emily said as she unsheathed her katana, the blade gleaming slightly as she pointed it downwards while from the giant gates, two hundred werewolves dashed out.

"Luckily for us, after this planet, we would be slightly free to commence with Paul's plan." Peter shrugged as he held his hands downwards, two axes slid down his sleeves, his eyes fixated on the charging werewolves.

"Attack." Sunny commanded and the three hundred Fang hunters members dashed forward with Peter, Sunny and Emily out in front.

In the twinkle of an eye, a devastating battle erupted on the planet.

Clang!

Peter's axes clashed against a werewolf's claws as he sent it skidding. Throwing the axe up, he used the other axe to whack the thrown up axe sending it flying into several werewolves.

The axe tore through their heads until it got stuck in one which was slowly falling down. Before it could, Peter was already in front of it, dragging the axe out, the werewolf slid down with a thud.

"Yawn! This is getting boring." Peter yawned loudly as he swiveled around, his hand in front of his face in time as a werewolf had thrown a punch that made him skid an inch.

"Ouch? Just kidding." Peter chuckled as his axe slid out of his hand and cut through the werewolf's neck with ease.

"Stop joking around, you fool!" Emily cried out as she leapt up in time because a werewolf had almost swept her off her feet.

Landing back down, she climbed up the werewolf's arm before her katana moved like a blur, cutting through the werewolf's neck with ease.

"I can't take this petty fight with seriousness, it's really boring." Peter commented as he ducked under a werewolf's punch and he retaliated with a curved punch of his own.

Sending the werewolf flying and crashing into another werewolf and they tumbled on the snowy terrain, unable to get up.

"On this one," Sunny groaned as he pivoted on a single foot and sent a powerful cross to an omega's head causing it to implode on itself.

"I agree with Peter, this is getting boring." Sunny finished his words as he leapt back just in time to avoid a thrust of a werewolf's claws.

Just at the right time, he pivoted sideways avoiding another werewolf and then he lunged forward with blinding speed as his hands grabbed the werewolf's head twisting it with a sickening crunch.

"Well, we got no choice but to do this." Emily said as she miscalculated and was about to leap back when a werewolf's claws sliced her cheeks open drawing blood.

"Okay, I'm pissed now." Emily said and then, Qi coated her hands, feet and sword as she dashed forward with blinding speed.

Her Katana swiftly made quick work of the werewolf's neck, slicing it open. A twist of her body, she managed to lunge her sword deep in another werewolf's head.

She was about to move when an omega whacked her in the face sending her skidding to the extent the snow beneath her feet were kicked up.

Stabbing her sword in the ground, she drew it back up with force that part of the snowy ground shot forward and slammed hard into the werewolf sending it flying and crashing into two more werewolves.

Tchk!

Emily spit out blood as she glared at the remaining werewolves that were currently ravaging in the midst of the other fighters.

Compared to the three monsters of the guild, the other members were finding it hard to handle the werewolves in front of them. Although they were struggling, they hardly lost any men.

One after the other, the werewolves kept falling down. For every two werewolves that fell, a human also fell to their claws but thanks to the three core members' efforts, the fight was much easier with hardly any losses.

Just like that, five minutes passed and the fight was drawing to a conclusion as each of the core members were faced with a single omega werewolf each.

A sharp twist of his head to the side, Peter avoided a claw strike that only grazed his face but didn't draw any blood as his axe shot forward from below splitting the werewolf's head in two.

"How are you guys coping?" Peter asked as he turned around to see Sunny and Emily finishing up their own werewolves with ease.

"Welp! That was easier than I expected." Sunny yawned as he looked at their losses.

'Just fifty men lost, that's pretty low and impressive. I guess with every battle, the others grow more in strength.'

"Let's just take down the fortress, set up camp an..." Peter trailed off as the giants gate opened up again, albeit quite slowly causing everybody to turn back around.

But contrary to what they expected, a lone figure emerged but his figure was unclear from the distance he was.

"I knew that these measly numbers wouldn't be able to take care of you. After all, I know how strong you all are." The voice said with a slight smirk.

"Why does that voice sound familiar? Why do I know that voice?" Peter mumbled as the figure stepped forward more, his face and features becoming more clearer.

"It's nice to see you all, my friends." The figure said as he stood ten metres away, his eyes glowing bright yellow.

"Jack?!" Peter, Emily and even Sunny exclaimed at once.

Chapter 437: A brewing storm!

Back on Earth, the fight against the strongest Beta werewolf had just come to an end and it came at a great cost.

Half the Fang hunters' city was destroyed, part of Aurora Academy was also destroyed, the Fang hunters lost a thousand men and a General too.

But that was not all, Head General Humfree also lost an arm as he could be seen in the middle of the city, Rex and Bane by his side.

Their bodies and faces were covered in a lot of external injuries, their internals also ruptured and no doubt bleeding from the heavy and strong punches delivered by the werewolf to them.

"We finally won," Bane said as he blinked twice to see the Beta werewolf on the floor, blood pouring out of several injuries.

"We managed to kill the strongest Beta werewolf the from the enemy side."

"Yeah, but at what cost?" Rex asked as Humfree could be seen standing, an arm missing, his face blank as he stared at the ground.

VROOOM!

A mechanical sound from above drew their attention as they saw two Aeroglides hovering above them and when it was let down, Gray could be seen descending down from it.

His cape fluttering in the wind as he walked forward and examined the whole place.

"Damn, I was late." He mumbled under his breath as he saw the destruction.

"Oh no! I'm late!" A feminine voice was heard cursing loudly as several drones filled the air filming the aftermath of the battle.

Turning around, they could see Erin and Druig walking forward. Without wasting anymore time, Erin faced the camera being pointed towards her by Druig.

"I'm sorry everyone. I want to apologize to the public for not coming on time to show you all the fight of the history." Erin said as her face was being displayed to all corners of the world as long as they were tuned in.

"As we can see here, the one known as the strongest Beta werewolf amongst the werewolves' ranks has just been slain by the world leaders and the Head General of Aurora Academy!

Although humanity won, but at what cost?" She asked as the drones zoomed in on the one armed Humfree, the injured world leaders that were barely standing.

The online community took to their keyboards to express their emotions.

"Damnn! Aurora city really suffered a lot."

"Shit! Look at Head General Humfree, he is missing an arm!"

"Does that mean he won't be able to fight again?"

"I mean, can you fight with a single hand?"

"Look at Rex and Bane! They are so battered, blood trickling down. I have never seen them this injured."

"Same here."

"Per my knowledge, wasn't this the Beta werewolf that was said to have launched an attack on humanity during the first war? The one which wiped out two hundred thousand men on its own and forced the world leaders along with Humfree to band together."

"Now that you mentioned it, it does look like the werewolf."

"Wait, you guys are missing something here... where the hell is Jake? All these are happening in his city and he is nowhere to be found?"

"That's right, none of the Fang hunters' core members are even here too."

"Did they abandon the Fang hunters?"

"How could the werewolf slayer do this?"

"To be honest, I have never liked that guy from the onset."

Erin who was skimming through the comments, tapped her ear and then spun towards the camera.

"Information is just reaching me that the core members are out conquering the planets under the werewolves' grip! And per my source, they have all managed to conquer ten planets." Erin said.

And the commenters took to their keyboards again.

"They are out on a planet conquest?"

"I don't know, I'm unable to believe all these."

"Well, that will explain why they are all absent and Head General Humfree had to deal with all these."

"Tsk! Why take all the core members along with their leader? I thought the core members were in the ranks for a reason? For their strength! So why did Jake accompany them?"

"I can't help but agree with you. If truly Jake was with them, by the whole hype around him, this whole planet conquest would have been over by now."

"Uhm, do you guys know what a planetary conquest is like? We are not even sure how many werewolves are on the planets they are attacking. Shouldn't we be impressed that they managed to reclaim back ten planets?"

"Oh look! One of the werewolf slayer's d*ck rider!"

"I don't d*ck ride, I was just speaking the truth and stating the logical truth which you dumbasses are too dumb to realize."

"Someone throw this fool out of this community, we don't need d*ck riders here."

Erin who was reading through the comments from her glasses, sighed in frustration.

'I was trying to help but turns out I just made things worse.'

"Head General," Gray called out as he walked towards Humfree who was still rooted in his spot barely paying attention to what was going on.

But on hearing his name, he turned around, his old eyes weary and tired, his packed white hair fell freely above his shoulders as he glanced at his seared stump.

"Gray, when did you arrive?" Humfree asked as he took a step forward and his eyes began closing in and out, blood dripping down his mouth as he almost plummeted forward but just in time, Gray dashed forward and grabbed him.

"Crap! He has over exhausted himself in the fight, he need..." Rex stuttered as he also fell on his knees, his hands clutching his side as blood trickled down his nose and mouth.

"Shit! The fight must have taken a lot out of us." Bane muttered as he grabbed his throbbing arms.

Just in time, two different glides descended as an individual descended from each the glides.

"Dad!" They all said at once as they darted towards Rex and Bane.

These two were Raze and Jay. Raze darted towards Rex and grabbed a hold of him while leading him to the glide, Jay did the same for Bane as they all zoomed away from the city.

"Over here!" Gray shouted as three men rushed out from his own glide and helped the unconscious Humfree away as they also zoomed off to get him checked up.

"This war, we are beginning to lose our powerhouses one at a time. Do we have a chance of winning?" Erin mumbled in worry.

Chapter 438: Jake will come!

Planet Cryora was a bleak, glacial world orbiting a dim blue star, locked in perpetual twilight.

Its surface was a fractured wasteland of frozen plateaus, jagged ice ridges, and towering frost spires that glitter like crystal daggers under the pale light. The air was thin and sharp, each inhale stinging the lungs with biting cold.

Blizzards were near-constant, sweeping across the terrain like white hurricanes, carving deep ravines in the snow-covered earth.

Glacial winds howl through skeletal remains of ancient structures buried in permafrost, remnants of a forgotten civilization that once dared to colonize the unforgiving land.

Underfoot, ice-crusted ground creaked with each step, and geothermal vents occasionally burst through the frost, releasing ghostly steam that momentarily warms the surroundings before vanishing into the frigid void.

Cryora was a place where time felt frozen, danger lurked beneath the snow, and silence reigned like a god.

This was the planet where Paul, Geo and Sophia were to conquer. The planet which was initially under Rivock's grip but now, was under the werewolves'.

"I don't know if it's because you are growing old or something, but I hope this your plan doesn't put us below six feet." Geo said as he descended from their glide, followed by Paul and Sophia.

Behind them were three hundred men from the Fang hunters as they stared at the giant gates thirty metres away from them.

"Trust me, this is for the best." Paul replied.

"I hope you are right though." Sophia added as her rapier sword suddenly appeared in her hand.

'Glad Jade made an easy tech for us. I had asked him to give me something that would make carrying my sword with ease.' Sophia thought as the giant gates rose up.

Three hundred werewolves bolted forward like feral beasts.

"I don't need to call the attack since you all know the drill but now, I feel like doing this. Fang hunters!" Paul roared as all the three hundred men drew their different weapons, their eyes fixated on the charging werewolves.

"Let's reclaim our planet!" Paul said.

"ARGHHH!" The whole three hundred men let out a battle cry as they all bolted forward with immense speed.

Boom!

In less than three seconds, a huge battle erupted as clangs, bangs and thunderclaps resounded on the planet with every clash.

An adventurer was seen ducking just in time to avoid a claw swing to his head and in retaliation, his sword cleaved the werewolf's side sending it skidding before he leapt forward, his sword drew different lines and patterns on the werewolf's face.

Before he bolted forward and in an instant, the werewolf fell to the adventurer's blade.

"Hmm, fascinating!" The adventurer smirked as he spun around in time to avoid another claw strike, his blade slammed into the claw.

Surrounding his feet with Qi, the adventurer's feet shot forward, slamming into the werewolf and sending it flying into several more.

Just like this adventurer, the others were also holding their grounds and surprisingly, no members from the Fang hunters had fallen down yet and instead, in just two minutes of clashing, fifty werewolves had already fallen down.

And that was because of one thing...

"Bringing in A rank adventurers from the guild really was worth it." Paul smirked as he saw the adventurers moving from one werewolf to another bringing them down.

"Yeah, you had to go ahead and pull half the A rank adventurers the guild had." Sophia scoffed as she saw one adventurer leap forward, his shield shot out in front of him absorbing the brunt of a werewolf's punch.

Before flinging upward and slamming into the werewolf's jaws sending it skidding. Spinning around, the adventurer swung the shield out sending it flying all around the battlefield smashing into several dozen werewolves before returning back into his hand.

"That style reminds me of a movie." Geo chuckled as he saw the shield user moving around, swinging his shield almost like a sword and taking attacks without the shield taking any damage.

"I had to pull the A rank adventurers because we needed to be at full strength for what I plan to do." Paul replied as he observed the adventurers closely.

Surprisingly, one of them made a slip up and in the process, an omega werewolf's claw shot forward slamming into his head and ripping it off.

"I'm still going to say this again." Geo said as he turned from the battlefield to glance at Paul. "This your plan is too dangerous, I mean we all saw those black energies. I don't think there's anybody on Earth that can deal with them."

"That's why I'm counting on Jake's return." Paul smirked.

"Jake's return?" Sophia asked as she turned around to face Paul. "We don't know when he is coming back from who knows where. We don't even know if he is going to even come back."

"He is, I have faith and hope that he will." Paul replied with a sigh. "Just a matter of the right time."

"Well, I hope you faith and hope are right and can save us because what we saw would definitely put even the big three down below." Geo clicked his tongue as he turned around to see the battle wrapping up.

"And will you look at that." Paul announced with a grin. "The battle is almost over and we didn't have to lift a finger."

"Think again!" A voice boomed across the battlefield as the giant gates opened up just as the Fang hunters had just finished the remaining dozen werewolves and all their breathing became ragged.

"Why does that voice sound eerily familiar?" Sophia muttered as a figure stepped forward, a yawn escaped his lips as his steps were cold and calculated.

"I really begged, and pleaded him not to send me here." The voice said again as the figure revealed himself, his eyes glowing bright blue.

"Wait, Greig?! What the hell are you doing here?" Sophia shouted as she saw the figure reveal itself.

"I didn't want to do this especially to former allies... wait, sorry! I meant to say to those I pretended to be their allies." Greig grinned.

"What do you mean?" Geo asked as he reached for his back and pulled out two axes, the blades gleaming under the dim light.

"I mean I'm here to kill you all. Is that so hard to understand?" Greig asked as his eyes shone bright blue, his hands bulging ripping through his shirt with fur appearing on his arms.

Chapter 439: An incomplete revenge!

"NOOOO! General Wilfred?!" Alex cried out and so did Kate who fell on her knees at this.

"Aww! I was supposed to save you for last. But who cares?! You were so eager to die." Scar clicked his tongue with a grin.

"I...I...I... I will kill you!!!" Alex roared, his eyes now glowing bright brown and right on cue, his body flared with fiery visual Qi, his hair floating above his shoulders.

"Die!" Alex cried out as he swung his hands down and immediately, five hundred Qi swords shot down from the sky towards the werewolf who stood stunned.

In a resounding bang, the five hundred Qi swords slammed into Scar with a thunderous boom, the ground quaked by the massive power of the attack.

Alex turned towards the spot where Scar was initially, Alex's body flared with visual Qi which seemed to resonate with his anger, his hands clenched tightly around his sword as he saw the dust get swatted away.

In its place was a full grown werewolf which stood about 9ft tall, it's brown fur ruffled from the strike from earlier. Blood dripping down its head, snout, face and hands.

"AWHOOO!" Scar howled.

"Shut the fuvk up!" Kate roared from above as she fell down with an axe kick towards Scar who raised its hands up just in time as Kate's legs smashed into his arms with a thunderous bang.

Pushing his hands outward, Kate flipped a couple times before landing back down smoothly and just in time, Alex bolted forward, his sword unleashing a massive Qi slash towards Scar who pivoted sideways avoiding it.

But...

Whoosh!

Three Qi arrows from Kate's bow shot forward with massive speed but in a blur, Scar moved away causing the arrows to hit the ground causing a mini explosion.

In a flash, it appeared in front of Kate, it's claws swung out towards her with immense speed but...

Clang!

A loud clang resounded as Alex had already dove in front of Kate, his sword in front of him but when the werewolf's claws hit, it cracked...

Crack!

Shatter!

The sword shattered under the immense pressure from the two clash and with a push of her feet, Kate leapt forward, her hips twisted sideways as she landed a roundhouse kick towards Scar's face sending his whole werewolf body to go flying away.

Swinging his hands down, Alex unleashed two hundred Qi swords down towards Scar who was now standing up to see the swords heading towards him with impressive speed.

"AWHOOO!" Scar howled as he slammed the ground hard with his fist causing it to rumble and then digging his claws into it, it sliced through the ground like hot knife cutting through butter and then lifted the huge slab of Earth up.

The Qi swords smashed into the wall at the right moment unleashing a wave of dust and debris flying out, hitting the glide Kate was on earlier sending it flying from the air and crashing into the ground with an immense explosion.

"Is twat alrl?!" Scar struggled to say.

"Go get yourself an English freaking teacher!" Alex roared, anger blazing in his eyes as he swung his hand forward, a giant Qi katana appeared mid swing and smashed into Scar sending him flying. "Kate!"

"On, it!" Kate grunted as she shot four Qi arrows forward with immense speed that before Scar could react, the arrows slammed into him.

A mini explosion rang out as his body was flung so back that it hit the giant gate with a thunderous bang and even dented it slightly.

"I know you are still alive!" Alex shouted as he bolted forward, swinging his hand up, the Qi sword shot into the sky and hovered there while Qi flared around his hands and feet as he appeared in front of Scar.

His fist shot forward with tremendous speed that the sound barrier shattered as the fist was speeding towards Scar but in one smooth motion, a claw wrapped around Alex's hands.

His hands halted in its track as a glowing blue eyes stared at him with malice.

"Enwogh!" Scar howled in anger as he lifted Alex off his feet with a single hand suspending him in the air before slamming him back down with a thunderous bang the next instant.

Crack!

"Damn it! Something broke." Alex muttered in anger as he coughed out blood and dust seeped into his nose.

Before he could say something else, he was hoisted in the air again before getting slammed back down with a bang.

Crack!

'F*ck! At this rate, I won't have anymore bones in my body.' Alex screamed inwardly.

"Do something!" He cried out.

"That's what I was," Kate grunted as she swung her feet forward in a roundhouse kick. "Doing something!"

Boom!

Her feet was held by Scar's claws and the next instant, he delivered an earth shattering punch to her abdomen that sent her flying.

Tchk!

Kate coughed out blood and spit as her internal organs were slightly ruptured with the way Scar punched her away.

"Now istw ywor thrun!" Scar howled as he looked beneath his feet to look for Alex but instead, a yellow shining whip were seen around his feet.

"I wish I had time, I would have taught your English again. But I'm out of time!" Alex roared from two metres away as he yanked the whip and Scar fell down with a thunderous boom, a deep crater appeared beneath his body.

Alex swiftly clapped his hands and fifty Qi swords shot down with terrifying speed and before Scar could react, they slammed into his limbs pinning him in place.

"I promised, I made a freaking promise that I will kick your arse." Alex said, blood covered half his face, a limp in his every step, hands clutching his side.

"And I'm going to do just that!"

"Fuck that!" Scar shouted as his snout returned back to normal. "Before I die, I would take my revenge against Jake Lucas! I will kill him, I will freaking kill him!"

"Too bad that you can't do that in this lifetime, try again next time." Alex grinned as he swung his hand down and the sword he swung into the sky earlier shot back down like a meteorite heading to earth and in a flash, it smashed into Scar's head impaling it and creating a gaping hole in his head.

Alex smiled at this as he tried to take a step forward when he suddenly plummeted into the ground, his chest heaving in and out as darkness covered his vision.

"I'm... I'm sorry Jake, General Wilfred died on my watch." Alex muttered as his eyes shut in and out until he took one last breath. "General Wilfred, I avenged you." And then...

Alex's eyes snapped shut as his hands fell on his side.

Chapter 440: A shocking and close betrayal!

On Planet Nivareth, something shocking happened after the fight with the werewolves. Just as the Fang hunters had just finished killing the werewolves on the planet, a figure emerged from the giant gates.

"I knew that these measly numbers wouldn't be able to take care of you. After all, I know how strong you all are." The voice said with a slight smirk.

"Why does that voice sound familiar? Why do I know that voice?" Peter mumbled as the figure stepped forward more, his face and features becoming more clearer.

"It's nice to see you all, my friends." The figure said as he stood ten metres away, his eyes glowing bright yellow.

"Jack?!" Peter, Emily and even Sunny exclaimed at once.

"Oh?! You all still remember me." Jack smiled, his eyes gleaming yellow as he stepped forward.

His eyes examining the destruction caused, the dead werewolves, the dead humans and then back at those standing.

"Peter, Emily and Sergeant Sunny, nice to see that you are all alright." Jack smiled as he stretched his hands slightly.

"Jack? What the hell is going on? Why did you just come out from the enemy fortress?" Sunny asked in a panic as he kept staring at Jack's glowing yellow eyes.

"I don't see Jake, where is he? Didn't he join the party?" Jack asked as he tilted his head around searching for Jake but he was nowhere to be seen.

"Stop avoiding the question, answer the damned question!" Peter roared in anger, his hands on his axes loosened.

Jack sighed softly, his gaze returned back to those in front of him.

"You were asking why I came out from the enemy side?" Jack asked as he lifted his hands up to point at his eyes. "If these doesn't explain," he said and his hands began bulging and then, his hands transformed to that of furry claws.

"Does this answer your question?" He asked with a slight grin.

"Yo... you...you are a werewolf?!" Sunny asked, his hands fell by his side. Mouth dry, head spinning in confusion.

"Bu... but y..." Peter kept stuttering as he stared at the yellow eyes and the transformed claws. "How the hell is this possible?! You were with us at the academy, you were close to us, your dad was a world leader and all that, how the hell are you a werewolf?"

"Keh Keh Keh!" Jack laughed as he stared at his claws and then his furry hands.

"Wait! How did this happen?" Emily asked. "Was it when the Alpha attacked you all? Did he do this to you? Turn you against your wish? Talk to us! Your brother, where is he? Where's your dad? Is he alive?"

If the Alpha turned you against your wishes, we can help you all. What if we kill him off, will the changes revert back. Jack, talk to us!"

Jack just sighed softly. "You know, I always felt something was off in my life. I grew up like normal kids do, for several years, I was not allowed to see my dad in person.

I didn't know who my mum was, nor where she was. All I had was my brother; Greig! He taught me all what I knew, fighting and other things.

I snuck out to learn Qi from those that could use the first stage, I learnt it without dad nor Greig knowing. I thought it was normal, I always wondered why the others, those in the Dem faction were not allowed to use it." Jack said, his eyes a little moist as he stared at the others that had stood confused.

"We were warned and banned from learning or using Qi but I went ahead to learn it behind my dad's back and when I got fascinated by it, I decided to leave for Aurora Academy.

Even with that, even with how Qi was forbidden for the Dem faction, dad didn't say anything when he found out and instead sent me off to Aurora. I still didn't suspect a thing.

I met you all, trained with you all, fought together with you all, did everything with you all. We killed werewolves together and I still didn't suspect a thing."

"Cut to the chase! What the hell is going on?! We didn't ask for any history lesson from you damn it!" Peter shouted in anger but Jack just smiled softly.

"Peter... I didn't want to interact with you all, didn't want to move with anyone just like Jake. But slowly, you all made me warm up and we became one small family and I still didn't notice anything.

But when I had clocked eighteen, I felt it. On a full moon, this blood thirst befell me, I didn't know how to control it. Luckily for me, I wasn't in the Fang hunters, I was back in the Dem's faction where I had transformed for the first time.

I thought I was a freak, I thought it was because I was probably bitten by some werewolves or something, but Greig stood there watching me, his eyes also glowing blue as he calmed me down.

And that was when I realized, I was always a werewolf from birth, so was Greig."

"Wa...wait!" Peter stuttered, his mouth dry as he looked at Jack. "You were always a werewolf from birth? So is your brother? Why didn't you tell us?! You called us family but couldn't say anything?"

"Family?" Jack said as he laughed a little.

"What? Was our bond fake? You didn't consider us close?" Peter shouted in anger.

"No! I did consider you all close to me... before I found out what I was. I was ready to die for you all, I was ready to die for the guild and that was why I fought against Greig when he attacked Aurora a few years back." Jack replied with a somber smile.

"Wait!" Emily stuttered, her eyes widening in shock. "It...Greig was the Beta werewolf that attacked Aurora when we were students?!"

"Indeed." Jack nodded with a sigh. "I didn't know then not until the day I transformed when he told me the truth."

"Yo...you...your brother freaking killed Vynn!" Peter roared, tears streaming down his face, his hands clenched in anger.

"I know. And honestly, I wish I could rewind the time back." Jack sighed.

"Rewind time back? Your damned brother killed Vynn, my best friend, Jake's best friend, our best friend and you are what? Feeling sad?! To hell with that?!" Peter shouted in anger, tears continuing to drop down his eyes.

"Is...is Rivock a werewolf too?" Sunny asked as he stared at Jack wearily.

Tilting his head to face Sunny, Jack smiled. "I will let you all find out yourself, it's not in my place to say anything."

"To hell with what you want to say!" Peter shouted as his grip on his axe got tighter. "You betrayed humanity, you betrayed us and most especially, you betrayed Jake! What do you want us to tell him? That his friend was the very thing he hated?! His close friend is a werewolf?!"

"Ahh!" A soft sigh escaped Jack's mouth. "Jake, he's a good kid. And I really wish things were not like this, but..." he said, his eyes glowing bright yellow and...

Buzz!

A yellow aura shot out from his eyes like a laser of some kind and before anybody could react, it slammed into Sunny, slicing his body apart.

"I'm a werewolf now, and a powerful one at that. So I'm sorry, you all have to go." Jack said as Sunny's body slid apart to the ground.

"ARGHHH!" Emily shouted out in fright.
