

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 491: Utter Destruction!

"Yooo! What are we seeing right now?! Please guys, tell me I'm not the only one who saw what just happened. Did the Werewolf Slayer just fall out of the sky?!" Erin shouted down the camera in excitement as all the drones in the area immediately panned out and began filming Jake who was visibly angry.

"Oh my gosh! The Alpha is so cooked right now." Erin smirked down the camera and instantly, the Livestream lit up with comments.

"Big deal! What can he do?"

"What is he coming down here to do? After humanity has lost the war, he is coming here?"

"Tsk! If he had come sooner, he could have at least teamed up with Rex and maybe something might have been done. Now Rex is dead, he is making a stupid entrance."

"Why the hell is Erin so happy? What can a single man do? Something all the powerful people in the world had tried and failed, she is suddenly hyping Jake up as if he is the next big thing after sliced bread."

"It's being obvious for long that she had feelings for Jake. Why are we now surprised she is hyping her lover live?"

"Look at him. Coming down like a god, so annoying and stupid. The Alpha should just kill him off instantly, let's get things over and done with."

"Guys! Let's be calm please. We really don't know the trouble the Werewolf Slayer had been facing and now, he is here. Let's show our support to him."

"Shut the freaking hell up! Nobody asked for your fucking opinion so keep it to yourself."

The online community was currently spewing hate towards Jake who was totally unaware of what was going on and that was because his gaze was fixated on the Alpha who stood about four metres away from him.

"Jake!" Kate shouted and everybody turned around with small smiles on their faces.

Jake totally ignored the Alpha as if he wasn't even there. He slowly strode over towards his friends while occasionally wincing in pain.

Finally, he was in front of everybody. A small sadness creeping up his face as he stared at them all with a bittersweet smile.

"Where have you been bro?" Peter asked, his voice cracking as he slowly limped forward, his body battered, bruised, injured and bleeding.

"I...I'm sor..." Jake trailed off as Alex immediately strode forward and planted a stinging slap on Jake's cheek with tears in his eyes.

"Alex!" Everybody shouted at once as they stared at Alex who had his hands clenched as he glared at Jake.

"Don't you ever say you are sorry again. You should be the last person to say that word. Do you think we don't know? It wasn't your fault that you weren't here, no one blames you. The whole world might, but not we your friends so don't ever apologize again." Alex shouted as he stared at Jake with tears streaming down his face.

"We know that for you to go missing for so many months, it was for a good reason that's why," Alex continued, tears falling freely from his eyes as he looked up at Jake who stared at him in confusion.

'I...I have never seen Alex like this. In all my years of knowing him, he has never shed a tear. He was always this unmovable mountain and now, he is crying?!' Jake thought, his blood boiling over and over again.

"That's why, I want you to kill that bastard for me, for all of us. I'm too weak, I'm not strong enough but it's not the same for you Jake, please, kill him!" Alex cried out as everywhere was now silent, everybody feeling the raw pain and anger seething out of Alex currently.

"Is that all? Is that what you all want?" Jake calmly asked, his hands tightly clenched to the extent his nails were digging deep into his palms drawing blood.

"Yes!" Peter said, his own hands shaking in anger. "That bastard killed General Paul, Jake please, take revenge!"

"Please Jake!" Kate also added.

"Fine." Jake simply said as he spun around to glare at the Alpha who stood arms crossed with an amused smile on his face.

"Oh! Your friends are pushing you into a death match, and you are going? They can't see it, but I can. You are currently in pains. Not emotional pains, but physical. Looks like you are battling something internally and it's draining you."

Vornak declared which made everybody turn to look at Jake's back wondering what the Alpha was saying.

'He's right. I'm using all my willpower to just stand currently, the system upgrade isn't over yet.' Jake thought as he turned towards his system screen.

{Absorption rate: 90%}

'But I don't know why, I'm feeling slightly stronger even with being in pains.'

"So tell me, do you think you can handle this fight?" Vornak asked with a smirk as he now waved his claws and turned around.

"I just had a voluptuous meal, wouldn't want to stress myself so, all of you, deal with that pest for me." The Alpha declared as he turned towards his three Beta werewolves who all had their eyes glowing bright blue.

'Damn it! Three Beta werewolves?' Bane thought as he saw the Generals making their moves. 'Even Rex could barely defeat one. And the strongest Beta werewolf is there too. The one that took all our strength to defeat once before he got resurrected.'

'Shit! This is a death match truly. Jake can't handle these amount of power!' Peter thought as he weakly clenched his hands preparing to jump forth if everything goes south.

"Kill him." Vornak calmly ordered and instantly, the werewolves dashed forward at full speed that they even looked like blurs with the drones unable to catch their movements.

"While my friends and allies were battling with their lives on the line, I was there, on another universe battling this shitty system upgrade. Now that I have come here to avenge those you murdered, you are sending weaklings my way?! Unacceptable!" Jake roared as his hands vibrated with power and then, the sky darkened instantly.

"I didn't go through hell on Grey's universe for nothing." Jake muttered as he lifted his index finger to the sky and instantly, a bright light shone down causing everybody to glance up including the charging Beta werewolves and then they saw it.

Five hundred lightning arrows hovering in the air, their tips pointed downwards at the three Beta werewolves causing everybody to gulp loudly at this sight.

"This is unacceptable." Jake muttered and then he swung his index finger down causing the hundreds of lightning arrows to slam down in an instant.

BOOM!

BANG!

A tremendous amount of shockwave that blew the dead bodies around the place erupted. The ground quaked with tremendous amount of energy that it felt like an earthquake.

Those that stood on the sidelines, were sent skidding no matter how strong they were. They were sent skidding and even the drones in the air went hurling away from the place as a huge mound of dust got kicked up.

Slowly, the dust settled and what everybody saw, made their jaws drop.

The three Beta werewolves were nowhere to be seen. Totally evaporated from existence, the ground where the arrows struck and even metres around tore open, massive craters designed the ground.

This was utter destruction and chaos and it was caused by a single person. Jake!

Chapter 492: I want your life!

Chapter 492: I want your life!
Chapter 492

“Uhm Druig, I think I’m going blind.” Erin unconsciously muttered down her camera after the stunt Jake had just pulled.

“I feel like I have also gone crazy.” Druig replied behind his personal camera as he couldn’t help but take his eyes away from it and back to the main deal.

For the first time in a while, the online community was silent. So silent that if theoretically a key on a keyboard clicked, it would be heard instantly.

As everybody, those at the front lines, those back at home watching, the Alpha, and the whole wide world just saw the werewolf slayer evaporate three Beta werewolves with the swing of his index finger.

The same Beta werewolves the whole world witnessed the most powerful powers of the world struggle against before the Alpha made his entrance. That was the amount of threat, Jake destroyed in the blink of an eye.

The whole battlefield was silent as Jake just stood there causally, his hands now tucked in his pockets as he silently bore through the pain he was battling with.

Vornak was immensely shocked that his jaws were slightly agape, his composure broken as he uncrossed his arms in shock while staring at Jake.

“Now,” Jake said as he outstretched his hand forward, a shimmering light could be seen appearing around his hand as something was forming and in a split second, a sword appeared in his hand.

This sword was obsidian black with engravings of a wolf’s fangs around the hilt with the blade gleaming slightly.

“Time for your own head.” Jake said as he took a single step as a screen flashed in front of his eyes.

{Step Shift activated}

{-5 Stamina}

Instantly, Jake crossed a distance of four metres between him and the Alpha with his sword gleaming beside him which he swung vertically towards Vornak with the speed of light.

‘Shit!’ Vornak cursed as he quickly leapt back just in time while avoiding the swing by the skin of his teeth.

The sword sliced through the air with a sharp sound, and then, a loud bang erupted as Jake’s sword slammed into the ground kicking up broken ground and dust into the air.

“Curse you!” Vornak muttered as he took a single step and in the blink of an eye, he was in front of Jake in the middle of a kick.

“Too slow.” Jake mumbled as he swiftly spun around with his sword in front of him absorbing the impact of the kick.

A terrifying loud bang was heard as the ground beneath the two shattered instantly just from them clashing against each other.

“ARGH!” Vornak growled as he pushed Jake away, leapt back, dashed forward and leapt into the air whipping his leg towards the werewolf slayer who quickly brought his sword right in front of him absorbing the impact of the kick again releasing a bang.

SWOOSH!

Fifty Qi swords quickly shot towards the Alpha who quickly spun in the air avoiding every single one of the swords and occasionally using his elongated claws to slam and break the swords.

“I’m not done with you!” Jake roared as lightning was heard sizzling around his legs. Crouching down, eyes fixed on the Alpha who was still dealing with the Qi swords,

BANG!

He exploded from where he stood totally destroying the ground beneath him as he immediately appeared directly in front of Vornak and without wasting time, Jake’s palm shot towards the Alpha’s abdomen.

Bang!

A pure lightning bolt was shot from Jake at point blank range slamming straight into the Alpha and sending it skidding a metre away.

Without wasting time, Jake quickly activated another one of his skills.

{Shadow Step lv 4: A skill that allowed the user to teleport four metres now}

Instantly, Jake disappeared from view as nobody, not even the drones, cameras or humans could pick him up from anywhere.

“He’s here.” Vornak muttered as he quickly spun around with his claws in front of his face and right on cue, Jake’s sword slammed into the claws sending the Alpha to go skidding a few inches away.

‘Shit! What is going on?! How is he overpowering me?’ Vornak thought in worry.

{Absorption rate: 94%}

‘It’s like the more the number increases, the stronger and faster I become. That’s good, I need to finish this soon.’ Jake thought as he raised his sword and quickly swung it vertically unleashing a massive Qi slash that rapidly shot towards the Alpha while at the same time destroying the ground beneath it.

Seeing the attack, Vornak quickly leapt up high in the air avoiding the slash that now tore straight into the ground creating a deep gouge in it.

“How do you want to dodge in the air now?” Jake asked as he stretched his hand outward and immediately, a sleek looking dagger appeared in his hand which he proceeded to hurl into the air with the dagger breaking the sound barrier instantly.

Two loud bangs were heard as the dagger burst forward and the Alpha quickly slammed it with his claws causing the dagger to go crashing into the ground but the force of the throw made Vornak to get pushed back in the air.

“You shouldn’t have messed with the humans.” Jake’s voice was heard calling from behind Vornak who quickly spun around while still being airborne and then...

Whack!

Bang!

Boom!

Jake’s sword shot forward and slammed into Vornak with immense strength that he was hurled out of the air and instantly smashed into the ground with a loud bang that shook the whole place as a deep crater formed beneath the werewolf.

Jake landed smoothly, a few metres away as the dust settled revealing the werewolf who was slightly disoriented, blood trickling down his head which made Jake raise an eyebrow.

“Oh! So you can bleed?!” Jake asked in a fake surprise as lightning began coiling around him, his sword, legs, body and even face was crackling with lightning as he grinned widely.

“Good to know. Because I want your head!” Jake roared as a thunderclap resounded around the place as he leapt towards the Alpha like a thunderbolt himself.

Chapter 493: Evolution!

Chapter 493: Evolution!
Chapter 493

“Uhm guys! Am I seeing things or is this real?” Peter could help but ask as everybody stood utterly stunned while they watched the battle between Jake and the Alpha.

“I mean, unless we both have eye defects, then this is real.” Sophia muttered, her voice dry as she kept her eyes peeled at the fight.

“How on Earth is Jake toying around with the Alpha?! Yes, the Alpha hasn’t fully transformed yet, but damn it! Jake hasn’t even used half his full power we are used to. So how the hell is this possible?! Kuk!” Alex shouted and then he began coughing in pain.

“What is going on? What did Jake go through where he was coming from?” Kate mumbled under her breath as she stared at the terrifying battle.

‘Rex my dear friend. Is this what you meant when you said Jake is our only hope? Our hope of winning this war? Damn it! Damn it all! I hate that you are not here to see this.’ Bane thought, his hands were tightly clenched as he kept grinding his teeth back and forth.

The whole world couldn’t comment again as they slumped back in their seats while watching what was going on.

“Oh! So you can bleed?!” Jake asked in a fake surprise as lightning began coiling around him, his sword, legs, body and even face was crackling with lightning as he grinned widely.

“Good to know. Because I want your head!” Jake roared as a thunderclap resounded around the place as he leapt towards the Alpha like a thunderbolt himself.

His sword was now seeing falling down towards the Alpha’s head.

“You have begun pissing me off now.” Vornak grumbled as he clenched his hands, his claws retracting, his arm becoming furry and bulging while he watched the sword descend from above towards his head.

“I’m sure you are hungry, eat my fist!” The Alpha said as he immediately sent his transformed fist flying towards Jake who had his eyes widened on seeing the incoming attack.

“Shit!” Jake mumbled as he quickly brought his sword in front of him as an earth shattering bang was heard when Vornak’s fist crashed into the sword.

For a second, Jake hovered in the air after blocking the hit and the next second, the ground beneath them shattered as Jake’s body was now hurled far away, blood trailing out his mouth as he slammed into the ground, bouncing and then finally coming to a halt.

“Jake!” Kate shouted and was about to dash forward but Jake simply raised his hand stopping her from taking a single step.

He was about to stand up when his system screen flashed in front of his face twice.

{-30HP}

{Absorption rate: 96%}

‘Crap! I didn’t even receive the punch directly, I had blocked with my sword and yet, a whole 30HP got removed. How strong is he?!’ Jake thought inwardly as he glanced down to stare at his sword that strangely didn’t have any scratch on it.

‘Luckily, I got this sword made by a dwarf friend of Grey’s. It was both made from a level 20 beast which is our equivalent of an S tier beast and also made with a type of special material making it totally indestructible.’

“Will you focus on the fight now?! Stop freaking reminiscing.” Zee anxiously shouted in Jake’s mind pulling him out of his thoughts as he saw the Alpha leaping into the air, aiming to crash onto the laying Jake.

“Shit!” Jake muttered as he quickly rolled away just in time as the Alpha crashed into the ground causing a huge amount of shockwave to ripple out and a deep crater was formed beneath his body.

“You are fast.” Jake called out as he slowly rose up, his system flashing in front of his eyes.

{Adrenaline Rush activated}

Jake's body immediately felt lighter, a soft wave of yellow energy could be seen surrounding his feet as he grinned at the Alpha who was ready to attack.

"So I just need to go faster!" Jake roared as he exploded from his position moving like a blur, his sword moving in a precise arc aimed at taking the werewolf's head but instantly, it's claws elongated which Vornak shot forward clashing against Jake's sword producing a shockwave.

"Strong." Vornak grinned and the both fighters quickly leapt away from each other to give distance as they glared at one another.

"Why aren't you fully transforming? Do you want to fight me at half your strength?" Jake asked as he pointed the tip of his sword forward.

"I also know you have been holding back. This isn't your full strength. So tell me, why are you holding back?" Vornak asked as he crossed his claws in an X shape.

"Simple. Because you have been holding back!" Jake shouted as he bolted straight for Vornak.

"And that's because you are not worth me going ultra mode." Vornak grinned as he also dashed forward and the next instant, the two met in the center in a mini bang.

The Alpha swung his fist towards Jake's face but he simply took a single step back. A punch was aimed at the side of his neck but he quickly sidestepped avoiding the hit and then...

Lightning coiled around Jake's feet as he suddenly exploded forward, his sword now glowing yellow with Qi energy which he swung forward, aimed at the Alpha's neck.

"Too predictable." Vornak grinned as he swiftly spun around and brought his claws right in front of him absorbing the impact of the sword strike without flinching at all.

"Am I?" Jake asked with a raised eyebrow when Vornak heard crackling sounds behind him.

Jake quickly leapt away as Vornak turned around to see a hundred lightning arrows right in front of his eyes which quickly slammed into him sizzling and paralysing him instantly as his eyes widened in shock and pain.

"AWHOOO!" Vornak howled in pain as his fangs grinded against each other while Jake frowned deeply.

“Stop howling and just die!” Jake roared as he blitzed towards the stunned werewolf, his sword glowing bright yellow from being infused with a huge amount of Qi.

‘Damn it! If that sword touch me, I will die immediately.’ Vornak thought as he twitches, trying to move but the stun effect from the lightning arrows was too much.

“Goodbye Vornak.” Jake grinned as he swung his sword towards the Alpha’s neck aiming to take his head off when...

{Absorption rate: 100%}

{System upgraded and booted}

{To match the system’s new power and strength, host will now need to evolve}

{Evolution process has begun}

{Good luck host}

Immediately the last system message flashed in front of his, a banging headache instantly slammed into Jake, his eyes bulged, muscles tensed, his sword slipped out of his hand, eyes red as he slumped to the ground and then...

“ARGHHHHHHHHHHHHH!” A chilling, ear piercing scream erupted from Jake as he began spasming on the ground, his bones felt like they were breaking and reforming, his body drenched in cold sweat as everybody kept staring at him in surprise and confusion wondering what was going on.

Chapter 494: Head General Humfree is dead!

"What?!!!" The online forum immediately exploded with comments at what had just happened.

"How can he fall down in the middle of a fight? He was already dominating damn it!"

"I knew it, I said it. That werewolf slayer is working with the werewolves. Because how can you explain someone that was moments away from winning to suddenly slump onto the ground?"

"Guys. I thought you were all sensible enough to understand this. Didn't we all hear the pained, chilling scream he emitted? Something is definitely wrong with him that made him fall to the ground."

"Yeah. If you are on your wife, and she starts screaming, is it due to pain or excitement from what you are doing to her?"

Also, if you have a small tool, wouldn't she still scream to make you happy? That is what this damned werewolf slayer just did. In order to throw us off, he screamed like something was wrong with him so kept shut."

"Honestly, I knew there was something shady about him since he made an appearance. You can't explain how a person will immediately have so much power, overthrow top guilds, become a world leader, and then boom!

He is gone. Only appears when the battle is almost over and a lot of people are dear. Battles the boss, about to win and then he falls to the ground."

Erin who was reading the comments was getting red in anger, her hands clenched at what the people were saying causing her to grip her mic tighter and she was about to say something when Druig glanced at her and shook his head causing her to calm down.

The others, immediately they saw Jake fall to the ground, they didn't think twice before bolting forward.

"Jake!" Alex and Peter shouted in unison as they ignored whatever injuries they were dealt and in a split second, they were already in front of him.

Luckily, Jake wasn't unconscious. He was just in so much pain that he was unable to even lift a finger.

"Jake, Jake. Are you okay?" Alex asked as he turned Jake over.

"Of course he isn't okay, can't you see his condition?" Peter retorted angrily as they stared at Jake not knowing what they should do.

"I made a mistake by not transforming fully." Vornak's voice rang out towards the duo as he was slowly getting back his bodily movement after the stun.

"Now, I have just been given a second chance to rectify my mistake. I won't waste it, I will take you all out now!" The Alpha howled as he blitzed towards the trio while Jake could only stare in widened eyes as he tried to stretch his hands.

Vornak swung his fist towards Peter's head aiming to take it off while the duo prepared to defend themselves when Bane quickly jumped down intercepting the punch with his hands transformed into a shield.

Bam!

A huge mound of dust was kicked up as Bane coughed out blood, his hands throbbed in pain from holding the Alpha's punch while he was sent skidding.

"What are you waiting for? Take Jake away from here now!" Bane roared as he grunted under the powerful punch.

"Right!" Peter said and without any more word, he quickly grabbed Jake and quickly bolted away from the battlefield.

"You couldn't defeat me even with all the help you got earlier, how do you want to do it alone now?" Vornak asked with a frown on his face.

"And who said he was alone?" A voice called out and instantly, two Qi arrows shot towards the Alpha who quickly leapt away, his claws shooting forward, clashing against the arrows but on impact, it exploded sending Vornak skidding.

"If you want to get to Jake, you must first go through me." Humfree was heard saying, his mangled remaining hand holding onto his sword tightly.

"No! He must first go through us." Gray said as he stepped forward, his sword being coated with Qi.

In a few seconds, all the injured fighters on the sidelines quickly came over as they surrounded the Alpha from all sides.

"Fine! I have had enough of you all, so I'm taking you all out!" Vornak growled as he suddenly began growing in size rapidly.

In the blink of an eye, he was standing at 10ft tall, thick, luxurious fur sprouted on his body, his eyes began glowing bright red, his claws elongated as he glared at the humans and then...

"AWHOOOOOOOOOO!" Vornak howled loudly causing every cells on the human's body to rattle, their blood ran cold, all hairs on their bodies stood up in fright.

"You are so eager to die, then you can all die!" Vornak grunted as he blitzed towards Bane who pounded his fists together and instantly turned into two energy blades.

Boom!

Vornak swung his claws towards Bane who quickly brought his energy blades in front of him as a loud bang erupted out, the ground beneath the duo shattered instantly as dust and debris got kicked up.

CRACK!

The energy blades suddenly had cracks spiderwebbing across it and instantly, it shattered as Bane was sent skidding.

"You need to die!" Humfree roared as he leapt up and was seen come crashing down onto the Alpha with his sword swung horizontally.

"Not if you die first!" Vornak grunted and then in the blink of an eye, he wasn't where he stood again as Humfree slammed into the ground and then...

"Goodbye." Vornak whispered behind Humfree as his claws moved faster than the speed of light instantly decimating the Head General's body into dozens of pieces.

"NOOOOOOOO!" Jake's screams filled the air as he saw the Head General meet his own doom.

Jake's fist dug into the ground as he began sobbing, his body and heart ached badly as he glared at the minced body of the Head General.

"Head General Humfree!" Kate cried out as she saw another father figure fall to his death.

"No need to scream, you are next." Vornak growled as he suddenly moved faster than anybody could see as he appeared in front of Kate, his claws moving towards her face.

"No!" Gray shouted as he kicked off from where he stood, his body flaring up with whatever Qi he could gather as he quickly pushed Kate out of the way.

But he was unable to move away as Vornak's claws ripped through his body turning him to mincemeat right in front of everybody stunning and shaking them to the core.

"Crap! Everybody, don't let his claws touch you at all! I read about this once. If his claws touches you, no matter the armour you wear, it won't save you." Bane sounded a warning as he punched his knuckles together and leapt towards the others waiting to charge in.

Nobody had the time to grieve for anybody as they now had a new task set in front of them all. Kill the Alpha, protect Jake and most especially, don't let the Alpha's claws touch you.

Chapter 495: Time for payback!

"Damn it! Damn it all! First General Paul, Rex, and now Head General Humfree?! Damn it! All our powerful protectors are dying rapidly!" Someone commented in anger, frustration and sadness.

"I blame the werewolf slayer. When we needed him the most, he was absent. Came back, now he is on the ground while the injured ones fight their lives out."

"I swear, I wish I was there. I would have gave the werewolf slayer a piece of my mind. This is shit! This is garbage!"

"Are we going to survive this war at all?"

"I think this is the end guys. We won't survive at all."

"Let me go and bid my family goodbye and spend as much time as I can with them. Because I know that after this battle and we lose, the whole human race is doomed. No one can protect us again."

"It's all Jake's fault. If I see him in hell, I will screw him up badly. What a pathetic, weak fool."

"Actually! Not only Jake, the rest are incapable. I mean look at them move! So weak and useless."

"The only one half trying is Bane. The rest are all baggage and garbages even right from the start."

"What do you expect from that useless fool's friends. The weak will always befriend the weak. Disgusting and annoying."

Erin reading the comments was now boiling over and over again, her hands trembling in anger, veins sprouting on the side of her head as she gripped her mic tighter.

Druig who noticed this, immediately shook his head as he knew what was going to happen now.

"Damn! The fuse is blown." He muttered.

"Will all of you shut the fuck down?! I tried ignoring you all, tried not saying anything but this has gone on for far too long damn it! Do you think it's easy? You are comfortably sitting back at home, sipping something and commenting trash!"

People are dying! This isn't a game or anything, it's real. People have died, people are dying, people are risking their damned lives to protect fools like you and you have to spew rubbish here?!

What kind of humans are you? You're criticizing them? You think you can do better? If you can, you wouldn't be at home, you would be out here facing this large threat.

Jake is currently going through both physical and emotional pain and you are all ranting against him? Should I remind you fools that these are just kids damn it! Jake just celebrated his nineteenth birthday a few months ago and he is here, his life on the line for you ungrateful fools!

Because he is a world leader, do you think he doesn't have a life? God damn it! He is but a kid and he has been carrying the burden of the world on his shoulders for far too long. Instead of you all to support him, you are cursing at him?! Disgusting! I spit on you all faces." Erin shouted down the mic as she spat on the ground and then grabbed the glasses that allowed her read the comments from her face.

"No need seeing what these pathetic fools are saying again." She said as she smashed the glass to the ground and then turned back to the fight.

Immediately after Bane sounded the warning of not letting the Alpha's claws touch them, the fight had now become harder than ever.

"Let's see how long you all can avoid my claws for!" Vornak growled as he bolted straight for Bane who had his energy blades on both hands.

Vornak swung his claws towards Bane's face but he quickly brought his energy blades in front of him. But the blades immediately shattered from the Alpha's claws which was now heading for his head when...

"Don't touch my dad!" Sophia cried out as she leapt into the air and she came crashing down with her leg raised above her head as she delivered a strong axe kick on the werewolf's furred hand causing it to snap its hands back.

"You heard her, stay away from my family!" Jay roared as he bolted forward with his hands transformed into two energy blades which he swung precisely from side to side but Vornak avoided each and every one.

"Just die already!" Helen roared as she pushed off from where she stood and unleashed a powerful round kick into Vornak's head causing him to tumble forward.

"ARGHH!" The Rave lord shouted out as he swung his longsword towards the Alpha but he immediately leapt back avoiding the sword totally and that was when Vornak felt a cold touch on his back.

"Peek a boo." Jay calmly said as his hands transformed into a canon and the next instant, a loud explosion erupted out as Vornak was hurled away in pain, his fur sizzled up but without any single scratch on him.

Kate quickly tugged at her bow string and let two regular but powerful arrows flying towards the werewolf and as it approached, the arrow twirled faster gathering a bit of a tornado.

Vornak didn't flinch and instead, he calmly swung his claws out destroying the arrows in one strike.

"Take that!" Bane roared as he was suddenly in front of Bane, his hands now transformed to that of huge gigantic and mechanical fists which he swung forward producing a loud bang that slammed straight into Vornak sending him skidding with a speck of blood shooting out his mouth.

"ARGHH!" Helen made a war cry as she began darting around the place until she finally leapt off the ground, made a backflip with her toes smashing straight into Vornak's jaws causing him to skid an inch.

"Enough is enough!" Vornak howled as he saw the Rave lord charging right at him and in anger, the Alpha quickly smashed his hands into the ground.

Boom!

The ground quaked like an earthquake of some kind throwing the humans off their feet and most especially, the charging Rave lord.

Suddenly, Vornak blinked and appeared right in front of the Rave lord, his glowing red eyes staring right into the human as his claws moved fast, quickly decimating the man alive.

"DAD!" Helen erupted in tears as anger quickly clouded her vision as she charged right at the werewolf with all the strength she could muster.

"You are next." Vornak muttered coldly as he quickly spun around, his claws moving towards Helen's face and she was a tad bit slow as she saw the claws rapidly approaching her while her life flashed in front of her eyes.

"Move!" Jay's voice rang out as he pushed Helen out of the way, his hands transformed into a shield which he held in front of him but instantly, Vornak's claws shredded the shield and Jay's body was next as he slumped to the ground.

"Jay!"

"Brother!" Sophia and Bane shouted in unison and just before they could move, Vornak had done that instead as his glowing red eyes stared at Bane menacingly.

"I had fun with you and Rex during my time here. But I'm sorry, you have to go." Vornak said as his claws shot forward.

"You won't get away with this! You will surely join me in hell soon!" Bane shouted as he swung his hand that was mid transformation in one last defiance.

But, he was too slow as his head fell off his neck and his body fell to the ground with a thud.

"NOOOO!" Jake cried out, his hands slamming into the ground over and over again, his head throbbing in pain as he began muttering some incoherent words.

Alex and Peter who were beside him, didn't know what to do as they watched the battle with heaviness on their chest, eyes moist and welled up, hands clenched as they watched on.

"St...sta...stand... make me stand up now." Jake ordered, his teeth grinding back and forth as Alex quickly turned to look at him.

"What do you mean?" Alex asked.

"Assist me to stand up now. I... I...I need to take him down now." Jake replied, his eyes bloodshot as he had cried his eyes out.

"Look. I don't know what you are going through right now. But it seems important and trust me, I also want to go out there and make that werewolf pay but I know my limitations right now." Alex said, his nails digging into his palm when he heard a loud shout from the main battlefield causing him to spin around to see the werewolf devouring Bane.

"You need to assist me now." Jake roared, lightning beginning to crackle around his hands.

"If he keeps insisting, let's do what he says." Peter said as he quickly crouched down and began lifting Jake off the ground.

"Let me go." Jake ordered and Peter reluctantly did so as Jake began staggering forward like a drunkard of some sorts.

'I don't know why I'm doing this, but something keeps pushing me forward.'

Tring!

{Evolution complete}

The message flashed in front of Jake and instantly, the whole sky darkened as if it was nighttime already which caused Vornak to glance up with a raised eyebrow.

{New Race: Celestial}

{Congratulations Host Jake, you are now a god!}

BOOM!

The sky exploded as wind began howling around the place, Jake's eyes were now shining bright blue, his black hair floating above his shoulders, the ground began trembling and quaking like an earthquake, the sky had streaks of lightning running across the clouds.

"Vornak!!!" Jake's voice suddenly boomed across the whole city, all hairs on everybody bodies rose up instantly as a lightning bolt from above immediately struck his body and when it dissipated, Jake was nowhere to be seen again.

"It's time for payback." Jake's voice resounded from the sky now.

Chapter 496: A Changed Jake!

"Vornak!!!" Jake's voice suddenly boomed across the whole city, all hairs on everybody bodies rose up instantly as a lightning bolt from above immediately struck his body and when it dissipated, Jake was nowhere to be seen again.

"It's time for payback." Jake's voice resounded from the sky now.

BOOM!

The whole city exploded as arcs of lightning began raining down towards Vornak.

"What the hell?!" Vornak muttered as he quickly leapt back, dashing and weaving through the lightning arcs.

Bang, Bang, Bang!

The lightning caused loud bangs to resound in the air as it kept on striking the ground causing scorches to appear on the ground.

Those at the front lines, quickly dashed away so as not to be caught up in the storm. Helen, Kate, Sophia, Harry, all of them retreated away safely as they went back to where Peter and Alex stood in awe.

'How is this possible?' Vornak thought as he narrowly avoided a lightning bolt to his face by leaping back causing it to skim past his face.

"I want your head!" Jake's annoyed voice resounded as he came crashing down in a bolt of lightning slamming down to the ground and landing with his fist on the ground, arcs of lightning crackling around his body.

"What suddenly happened to you? Why are you different all of a sudden?" Vornak asked with a raised brow, his red eyes staring at Jake in confusion.

"Don't ask me questions!" Jake roared as he leapt into the air, lightning trailing off his body and striking the ground beneath him as he came crashing onto Vornak who immediately leapt back to avoid Jake who now crashed into the ground.

"Tsk! You think that can scare me?" Vornak asked as he dashed forward from where he stood moving like a blur towards Jake who grit his teeth, hands outstretched as a sword immediately materialized in his hand.

Clang!

Vornak's claws shot forward and was about to slam into Jake but the werewolf slayer was quicker, his sword was brought straight in front of his face absorbing the impact of the strike without flinching one bit.

"Huh?" Vornak muttered in surprise.

"You shocked?" Jake asked with a smirk on his face as he pushed forward, causing Vornak to stumble back and then he swung his sword unleashing a wave of Qi slash towards the Alpha who immediately smashed his claws into the attack dissipating it.

But it did its job as Jake had disappeared into a lightning bolt and then appeared behind Vornak in a flash, slamming his foot straight into the Alpha's back and sending it tumbling forward.

Jake pointed his index finger forward causing it to light up bright white and blue.

BANG!

A deafening bang echoed across the place as something fast shot out of Jake's hands and spiralled towards the Alpha in a flash slamming straight into him and sending the werewolf skidding a few inches, cracking and breaking the ground as he skidded.

"I will kill you!" Vornak howled as he bent his feet slightly and then with a loud bang as if a gun was shot out, he exploded towards Jake who stood unfazed by this.

"Now you see me," Jake smiled calmly as the Alpha immediately swung his claws towards his face at tremendous speed that the air got distorted slightly by this.

"Now you don't." Jake immediately said as he quickly disappeared from view. No sight of him, no smell, no trace, no footsteps, no nothing.

It's like he suddenly disappeared from existence and then...

BAM!

A loud and powerful punch landed on Vornak's face causing his furry body to lift up and then sent hurling a few metres, bouncing and skidding on the ground.

Slowly, as if dust was being blown away, Jake could be seen appearing back in view, eyes shone with blue intensity as he crouched down, eyes fixated on the bouncing and skidding Alpha.

'System! Activate Strength Surge and Adrenaline Rush!'

{Skills activated!}

BANG!

As if a gun was shot, Jake's speed increased as he suddenly appeared in front of the Alpha as if he teleported. His muscles bulging as he tensed them up and then unleashed a powerful uppercut into Vornak's face, his fangs crashed against each other as the werewolf's body was lifted up and hurled into the air.

"I'm not done with you!" Jake shouted as he crouched down and then with a powerful leap of his feet with the aid of Qi, The Werewolf Slayer could be seen in the air above the hurled werewolf.

"Go back down!" Jake roared as he slammed his hands into the Alpha with all his strength causing the werewolf to spit out blood as his body was now hurled back down with tremendous force and speed and in the blink of an eye, he crashed into the ground with a boom.

A huge mound of dust was kicked up, the ground beneath the werewolf cracked and shattered, a huge and deep crater formed instantly beneath its body.

"Kuk!" The Alpha coughed out specks of blood as the whole world were shocked by the sudden turn of events.

The once overpowered Alpha was now being toyed around by a human who seemed to have gone through a dramatic change. The whole air and vibe around Jake was so different, he felt and looked calmer than before.

His steps filled with calm purpose as he strode towards the Alpha, his hands tucked calmly in his pockets when he got to where Vornak lay and was slowly getting up to see the werewolf slayer in front of him.

"Honestly, I'm really impressed by all what I'm seeing." Vornak chuckled as he was on his knees, but his eyes stared right at Jake.

"I can't believe that there's a human that can contend with me. Clearly, something must have changed in you. Something must have changed you. But you see," Vornak's eyes suddenly narrowed down like a slit, his fangs grew a little profound.

"You don't know who you just messed with!" He howled as he swung his fist forward causing it to slam straight into Jake's face with specks of blood shooting out of his mouth, his head flung back a little but his feet remained grounded as he turned back around, a frown on his face.

Calmly, he removed a single hand from his pockets as he stared at the Alpha who was now confused by the fact that Jake didn't go flying from that punch.

'System! Activate Attract!'

{Skill activated successfully!}

Jake's untucked hand and eyes began glowing bright blue and so was the Alpha's upper body and face.

"You also don't know who you are messing with." Jake calmly said and with a pull of his hand, the Alpha's face was pulled forward and smashed straight into the ground without Jake actually touching him at all.

Chapter 497: Jake's new Magical skill: Telekinesis!

"Guys! Please tell me I'm not the only one seeing this." Peter gulped as he watched the electrifying battle between Jake and the Alpha.

"We are all seeing the same thing dude." Alex replied, his mouth dry as he kept watching the fierce exchange.

"But how on Earth is Jake suddenly overpowering the Alpha like he is just a toy. I mean, I know Jake is strong and all that, but this...this is too much." Helen muttered in absolute awe and shock.

"It's like watching a god toy with a mere mortal or something." Harry remarked.

"I just hope we can win this battle at this rate." Sophia mumbled.

"We would win, alright." Kate nervously chuckled as she rubbed her hair and everybody's attention went straight back to the fight.

'How...how...how is this possible?!' Vornak grumbled inwardly as his face had just been smashed straight into the ground by Jake who didn't even touch him at all.

"You are wondering how all these is possible right?" Jake asked, his eyes glowing more fierce and then he pulled his hand towards his body and the next instant, Vornak's body was lifted up and flung towards him.

"Well, too bad you won't know what happened!" Jake roared as he leapt off the ground and unleashed a swift roundhouse kick towards the Alpha's body that was flung towards him causing a loud bang to resound out, Vornak got flung away, his body tumbling and crashing into the ground a few times.

Jake was just about to move forward when...

Tring!

{Strength Surge Deactivated}

{Adrenaline Rush Deactivated}

{Attract Deactivated}

'I guess they are on cool down now huh.' Jake muttered as he kept staring at his system screen almost forgetting about the fight when Vornak quickly appeared in front of him, fists clenched, furry hands bulging as he unleashed a powerful uppercut towards Jake's face.

Bang!

Jake's body was lifted up instantly from the powerful punch. Blood dripping down his mouth as he was about to go flying when his feet were quickly grabbed by the werewolf and with a powerful tug, Jake's body was hurled back down as he smashed straight into the ground with a loud boom.

Shockwaves rippled out, the ground cracked terribly beneath Jake who coughed out a mouthful of blood, fissures spread across the ground as a huge mound of dust got kicked up immensely.

"You should have stayed wherever you were for so many months!" Vornak growled as he lifted his foot and hurled it back down at Jake's face.

Before the foot could hit, Jake quickly activated a skill.

'Stun Strike!'

{Stun Strike successful!}

For a split second, Vornak's foot froze in the air as he lost control of his body and that window of opportunity, was what Jake needed as he leapt off the ground with his hands trying to perform a Chinese get up as his feet smashed straight into the Alpha sending him skidding a few inches away.

Immediately after he was sent skidding, Vornak quickly snapped out of his short daze as he glared at Jake in anger and then with a burst of speed, he launched himself forward at tremendous amount of speed.

'He is fast, tremendously fast.' Jake thought inwardly as he swiftly turned to his system and clicked on a skill.

{Rampage lv 5: increases strength by 20% and agility by 15% for 30 seconds, also increasing damage dealt by 12% during the time it's active}

Instantly, Jake felt the immense power up bubbling in him as he also bolted straight for the charging werewolf and in the blink of an eye, they met dead in the center as Vornak swung his claws towards Jake's face.

While Jake immediately brought his hands out, his sword materializing in it which he used to block the claw strike that almost sent him skidding but digging his feet into the ground, he held his position and quickly pushed Vornak's claws away and in a quick burst of speed, launched forward, his sword swinging horizontally aiming to take the Alpha's head off.

But Vornak quickly leaned backwards, avoiding the sword swing cleanly before slamming a solid kick into Jake's stomach and sending him skidding with the air nearly knocked out of his mouth.

Vornak didn't give him any time to regain his footing as he quickly bolted for Jake who on noticing this, quickly leapt into the air and shouted.

"Ice!"

Immediately, a huge club of ice shot out of the ground and before the Alpha could react, it smashed straight into him sending him hurling backwards as the ice club shattered instantly on striking him.

"No need to come out, you are not strong enough to go against him yet." Jake said and the hand that was stretched out of the ground quickly sunk back in.

"Silly me, I almost forgot you could summon and control beasts." Vornak chuckled lightly.

"But did you know that I could do this?" Jake said as he stretched his hand forward and instantly, Vornak felt himself lose control of his body as he suddenly shot into the sky, getting several metres away from the ground.

{Magical Skill: Telekinesis activated}

The system flashed in front of Jake as he swung his hands back down and the Alpha quickly hurled back down with tremendous speed that in less than a second, he crashed into the ground kicking up dust and debris.

The magical skill: Telekinesis was one of the first skills he acquired immediately he shot out of the portal into Grey's world. He received the skill immediately he defeated some beasts that attacked him the moment he stepped into the new world.

And now, the skill which could lift and control any object or person just by the thought of the mind, was currently on full display as Vornak got lifted into the air again and hurled towards his Aeroglide.

The werewolf's body smashed into the giant air vehicle and came out the other end with blood dripping down his body and face.

"Again!" Jake roared as he lifted his hand and swung it back down causing the werewolf to keep on flying into the air and smashing back down repeatedly.

No matter what he did, he was unable to stop what Jake was doing to him as his bones cracked, ribs shattered, body bled and many other things happened to it as shockwaves rippled out, the whole area in the city was getting destroyed and the fight was looking one sided.

'Come on my lord! You sent me down to this world to wreck havoc! You sent me to wreck chaos, kill, cause bloodshed and deaths so as to feed you!' Vornak roared in his mind as he was going up and down, his body sustaining more damages.

'You said you needed to be fed, you needed to grow more stronger to go against those that opposed you. I have done your bidding for years now, I'm so close to annihilating the whole Earth but one more obstacle stands in my way lord!

Please, give me the strength, give me your power. Give me part of you so I can totally obliterate my obstacle and accomplish your will. Give me strength!!!'
Vornak screamed internally as he was now suspended in the air by Jake.

"Hope you are enjoying this rollercoaster!" Jake roared as he was about to swing his hands down when he immediately felt something was wrong and he was right because...

BAM!

A dark, bright, ominous light slammed into Vornak's body, all hairs on everybody's body rose up as the whole air rippled and rattled with dark energy.

Chapter 498: The power of a god!

Chapter 498: The power of a god!

Chapter 498

“Guys! Am I the only one that felt part of my blood suddenly draining from me just now?” Someone from the Livestream commented and then he added. “Please tell me I’m not crazy.”

“Unless we both are crazy, then yes, I felt that chill. All hairs on my body stood up, my blood draining and my body going pale.”

“What’s happening with the Alpha? Is this Jake’s doing too?”

“I don’t think so. Look at Jake, he is also confused.”

“Damn! What could this be?”

Just then, the bright light was slowly receding and not only that, a huge shockwave rippled out that managed to fling Jake off his feet, hurling him backwards.

“I guess we are just about to find out.”

As the dark, ominous light slammed into Vornak's suspended body, a thunderous silence swallowed the battlefield. The air grew thick—so thick it became hard to breathe, as if the world itself paused in reverence or fear.

Then it began.

Vornak's body twitched violently in mid-air, like a puppet yanked by invisible strings. His already enormous frame started to crack—not break, but reshape.

Bones snapped and reformed with grotesque precision. Muscles expanded unnaturally, twisting under his skin like serpents writhing beneath flesh. Thick veins bulged out like molten wires, pulsing with black and crimson energy.

His fur, once charcoal grey, turned pitch-black—so dark it swallowed light, shimmering with faint traces of violet as if reflecting a cosmic void.

Glowing red sigils began carving themselves into his skin and fur, spiraling across his chest, arms, and back like ancient demonic tattoos. Each sigil burned like magma, releasing trails of black mist that corrupted the very air.

Vornak's claws elongated into obsidian talons, twice as long, jagged like serrated daggers—still capable of slashing steel like butter.

His fangs now gleamed metallic and grotesquely long, protruding slightly even when his jaw was closed, giving him the visage of a beast cursed to devour gods.

But the most terrifying change was in his eyes. Still red, yes—but now the pupils had vanished completely. Instead, a swirling vortex of blood and shadow churned in each eye, like windows to a realm of endless torment.

Two horns erupted from either side of his skull—gnarled and uneven, like twisted obsidian branches that crackled with static darkness.

His shoulders bore spikes made of bone, and his back sprouted shadowy tendrils, six in total, whipping and flailing as if they had minds of their own.

A long, whip-like tail now extended behind him, tipped with a jagged blade of pure void energy—constantly shifting, as if not entirely of this world.

When he finally landed on the ground, it cratered beneath him. The earth died in his presence—grass withered, stone turned to ash. The aura he exuded was no longer bestial.

It was divine in its malevolence.

“What the hell?!” Jake exclaimed in shock as he finally got his footing when he saw the Alpha slowly descend onto the ground, a twisted smile crept onto his face.

“Are you shocked?” Vornak asked, his voice twisted and seemed to be radiating from the air instead. “Now, I am no longer your Alpha... I am His blade, carved from the void... and your end. I now have the power of a god! A god that will soon bring doom on this world. Now, what can you do?” The Alpha asked, a grin crept on his face.

“Kek, Kek, Kek, Kek... Kehahahahahahahaha!” Jake chuckled initially, his shoulders rising and falling as he chuckled and then he began laughing maniacally, his hands sprawled on his face in amusement as a tear fell down his eyes, shoulders rising and falling and then...

SILENCE!

A hush fell over the battlefield as the wind whistled and howled softly, both fighters stood five metres away, the whole world staring in hushed silence wondering what was about to happen.

“The power of a god you say?” Jake asked in dark glee, his system floating in front of his eyes.

Tring!

{The Alpha has undergone a dark transformation. And now, he has celestial energy brimming slightly in his body and cells.}

{Host has now encountered the aura of a celestial energy. Hence, the system wishes to transform host into a full on celestial}

{Does Host want to full transform into a celestial?}

{Yes/ No}

‘Yes.’

{Host has chosen to transform. The Alpha is merely a vessel of a celestial and doesn’t even have a quarter of any celestial energy. But host is a full celestial and a god.}

{Host will undergoe his transformation now}

“Kek!” Jake chuckled again. His once-slick, short black hair began to grow—rushing past his shoulders, down his spine, until it brushed the ground like a divine mantle.

His eyes shone with blue intensity, muscles bulged and tensed ripping through his shirt totally. His carved and hardened abs, chest and arms on full display.

Two of his teeth suddenly elongated slightly. Slowly tendrils of darkness enveloped him with only his blue eyes staring at Vornak who took a step back in a slight fright.

Even the public and those watching could feel their hearts thump louder as they looked at the darkness enveloping Jake and after a few seconds, it settled giving him a black darkness filled cloak coating his body.

The cloak wasn’t fluttering at all, instead he’s stayed frozen in one place as if it wasn’t moving at all or time stopped for it.

“You have just been given a meagre power of a god and feel you can contend with an actual god?” Jake asked, his voice eerie calm like a flowing water and then...

Bright lights began shining around Jake, figures were materializing around him while his system hovered in front of his face.

{Skill: Cloning has successfully been activated}

In a few seconds, five clones of Jake stood beside him. Making six Jakes standing and staring at the Alpha. And all of them had the same transformation as the original as they all opened their mouths at once, their fingers pointed straight at the Alpha who had his over elongated claws crossed against each other prepared for anything that was to happen.

“Prepare to feel the true power of a god!” All the Jakes said at once and the next instant, they blinked out of existence, totally disappearing from view leaving the whole world stunned by this new turn of events.

Chapter 499: Celestial Energy!

Chapter 499: Celestial Energy!

Chapter 499

“Prepare to feel the true power of a god!” All the Jakes said at once and the next instant, they blinked out of existence, totally disappearing from view leaving the whole world stunned by this new turn of events.

“Behind me.” Vornak muttered as he quickly spun around to see hundreds of lightning bolts speeding towards his face causing the whole place to light up as if a mini sun had descended and was heading towards the Alpha.

“AWHOOOO!” Vornak howled loudly as he immediately slammed his claws into the lightning bolt and instantly, it dispersed, leaving no mark, no injuries or scratch on him.

“Don’t get cocky now.” Jake’s voice called from behind Vornak and immediately after hearing the voice, the Alpha spun around like the speed of light and he could see six swords heading towards his face rapidly.

“Too slow.” Vornak muttered and he quickly pushed off the ground creating a deep ten metres crater as he spun towards the Jakes at breakneck speed and then...

CLANG!

BANG!

BOOM!

Claws and steels clashed against each other in a reverberating clang, the whole air and city trembled so hard like an earthquake as a tremendous amount of shockwave rippled out throwing those that were several metres away off their feet and into the ground.

A wave of sick energy and aura rippled out causing the onlookers to suddenly breathe hard.

“Damn it! I feel sick.” Harry commented as he felt the sick and somewhat divine aura wash over him.

“I don’t think we can stay here any longer. This fight has crossed over into another realm.” Alex muttered as he could feel the new different aura and energies from the fighting duo.

“No! I won’t be leaving Jake here at all!” Kate shouted and nobody could argue with her as they all felt the same as they now turned back to the fight.

“ARGHH!” Vornak howled as his blood red eyes lit up and the next instant, a huge wave of red laser shot towards the clones and Jake.

“Shocking!” The Jakes said in unison as they quickly blinked out of existence again avoiding the laser beams that immediately pulverized the ground Jake stood on earlier. It looked like a volcano melted the ground as it could be seen sizzling with some remaining energy.

“Stop running away you coward! Face me now!” Vornak howled into the air as he slammed the ground with his claws ripping through it as if not knife was slicing through butter.

“Who’s running?” A voice called out from above as all the Jakes could be seen hovering in the air, bright lights forming around them as they quickly swung their hands down and hundreds of lightning bolts struck down with immense speed and force.

Vornak on seeing this, grinned widely as instead of dashing away from the bolts, he bolted towards them at full speed, his speed like lightning as he went from bolts to bolts ripping through them with his claws quickly.

Jake didn’t stop hurling lightning bolts down, his clones kept sending them down and Vornak kept destroying the bolts as if it was nothing.

“Is that all?!” Vornak asked as he leapt back avoiding a lightning bolt from hitting him and then he dashed forward, tearing through more bolts of lightning.

“If that’s all you can do? Then come down here now!” The Alpha howled as his eyes lit up red again and a wave of laser shot into the sky towards the Jakes.

“Because you saw me dodge the first one, you think I will do the same again?” Jake asked as he just snapped his fingers and instantly, the laser beams got deleted from existence.

“What the hell?!” Vornak mumbled in shock as his laser beams were nowhere to be seen.

“Oh! Before I forget, take your laser back.” Jake smiled as he snapped his fingers again and a buzzing sound was heard behind Vornak causing him to immediately spin around to see his earlier fired attack, heading towards him.

‘There’s no way I can destroy it, if it touches me, I’m toast.’ Vornak thought as he quickly leapt into the sky totally avoiding the beam that tore through the ground where he stood earlier.

“Thought you wanted me down, now you are in the air? Come on!” Jake facepalmed himself as two of his clones suddenly shot towards the hovering Alpha while lightning could be seen surrounding their bodies and making them spin faster.

“I told you, I’m not on your level anymore!” Vornak howled as he swung his claws forward causing a wave of dark energy to ripple towards the clones.

Seeing the energy heading towards them, they quickly surrounded their hands with lightning and tried to strike the energy but it slipped past them and immediately slammed straight into them.

Immediately the energy struck the clones, they disintegrated instantly as if they were never there.

‘Huh? Thought the system said the clones will now be more durable. What was that wave of energy just now? Come to think of it, Vornak destroyed my lightning bolts easily. How is he doing that?’ Jake wondered inwardly as his remaining three clones kept on sending Qi and lightning attacks towards the werewolf.

‘System! Activate Qi sense!’

{Qi sense activated!}

Instantly, Jake’s vision and senses got sharpened and he concentrated it towards Vornak and after a few seconds, he managed to feel it.

‘Is...is...is this the celestial energy thing the system was talking about earlier? He really does have a meagre amount of it and I...’ Jake stuttered as he concentrated his senses back to his body and then he felt it.

‘I have a lot of this. But...they are around my heart area. Only my Qi is moving towards my attacks while Vornak is coating it around his claws and body. Is that how he is able to destroy my attacks and cause devastating attacks?!’

“You call yourself a god but don’t know how to use celestial energy?! Pathetic!” Vornak howled as he ignored the lightning bolts and quickly leapt towards Jake and his remaining clones in the sky.

SNAP!

Jake’s fingers moved quickly and instantly, him and his clones were no longer in view and now, they could be seen on the ground with Vornak swinging his claws forward, slicing through the air with a loud bang echoing in the air.

Sigh!

A small sigh escaped Jake’s lips as he landed back down smoothly, his smile flashed in front of the camera when he saw Vornak land back down.

“I thought you would be able to notice it since?” Jake muttered, a frown crossed his face as he slowly crouched down, his hands placed on the ground while his gaze were fixed onto Vornak while his remaining three clones stood calmly around him.

“This God has been toying with you for so long. And now, I think it’s time to take things seriously. Feel my wrath!” Jake roared, the air reverberating as the ground began trembling with immense amount of energy.

Cracks began appearing around the ground, large cracks as if the ground was splitting open. Jake's and his clones cloaks now fluttered for the first time, half of the cloaks tearing and hitting the ground covering the ground in tendrils of darkness while the ground in the city was cracking and opening up more and more.

"DIE!" Jake roared out as he slammed his hands into the ground and immediately, arcs of lightning danced around the ground in waves heading towards Vornak.

Chapter 500: Full Celestial Mode Activated!

"Look at that! Can you all see that!" Erin shouted down the camera in anger and frustration as she pointed behind her and at Jake who was fighting with all he had.

"Look at him! See the person you all criticized! The one you all cussed at! The one you all called weak and useless. That's the same person fighting with all he has just to keep the world safe!

You are all back home, sitting and watching the show forgetting that this young man is still a kid and has lost so many dear ones in this damned war. If he dies right here, just know you all are the cause of it." Erin spat as she turned back towards the fight that was now taking another turn with Jake taking things seriously.

"DIE!" Jake roared out as he slammed his hands into the ground and immediately, arcs of lightning danced around the ground in waves heading towards Vornak.

"Not if I kill you first." Vornak calmly said as he lifted his hands, bashed his claws together and then swung it straight at the lightning dancing towards him and instantly, destroyed the lightning like it was nothing.

"What are you go..." Vornak was about to say when...

SNAP!

The sound of Jake's fingers filled the air and the next moment, Vornak was standing directly in front of Jake and his clones who all smirked.

"Told ya."

BOOM!

All the Jake's swung their fists forward and it smashed straight into the Alpha's abdomen sending his body flying backwards in a surprisingly loud shockwave that rattled the whole city as the huge body of the werewolf smashed into the ground.

SNAP!

The same dreadful sound filled the air as Jake and his clones suddenly teleported into the sky above the Alpha and with a clap of their hands, thin lines of lightning shot towards Vornak faster than what he had every encountered throughout the fight but he was faster.

In the blink of an eye, Vornak rolled away avoiding the lightning attacks that all smashed into the ground burning gaping holes into it with loud terrifying bangs.

"Those clones are annoying!" Vornak howled as he took a single step forward and the next moment, he was in the air in front of Jake and his clones as he quickly swung his elongated claws with a dark wave of energy shooting forward.

SNAP!

Jake managed to teleport with one of his clones but the remaining two got disintegrated instantly as Vornak landed back down and in one smooth movement, his eyes shone bright red as a wave of laser beams shot towards Jake at full speed.

"Now!" Jake called out as he swung his hand upward causing the tendrils of darkness on the ground to rise up and try to swallow the laser beam whole but instead, it tore through the tendrils and shoot towards Jake.

Noticing this, lightning immediately crackled around his clone's feet and it quickly bolted right in front of Jake taking the brunt of the attack and as usual, got disintegrated instantly.

"Feel that? That is my god empowering me to accomplish his task and I promise not to fail him!" Vornak howled as his tail suddenly began twirling with full force, spinning like a helicopter blade and with a deafening bang, he shot forward at full speed like a rocket...

No! Like a bullet as the Alpha suddenly appeared in front of Jake, his claws moving so fast that it was about to strike Jake when lightning coiled around the werewolf slayer's body and he immediately shot into the sky avoiding the claws that had a dark energy ripple out, slice through the ground, and kept shooting forward, towards the onlookers.

"Wait! We didn't even interfere in the fight." Peter shouted as everybody darted to the side avoiding the energy that sliced through an Aeroglide that was a metre behind them.

The remaining crew that were still alive that now consisted of kids and Jake's friends; Emily, Kate, Alex, Peter, Jade, Sophia and Harry all gulped loudly as they saw the destruction of the dark energy.

"Look at you! Running away from a true god, you wannabe fake!" Vornak roared loudly as his tails spun rapidly and he shot into the air again flying towards where Jake was in the sky.

"I think, I have had enough of your theatrics." Jake said from deep within the clouds as he snapped his fingers and instantly, five thousand Qi swords materialized in the air causing everybody watching to open their mouths wide in shock.

"Five thousand? Even my dad's limit was just three thousand and even still, that took an immense toll on his body. To think he was even the creator of Qi." Alex mumbled as he stared at the sky and could see the sheer amount of Qi swords swirling in the air.

"I wonder who you are calling a wannabe god." Jake calmly said as he snapped his fingers and he disappeared from view as Vornak was just about to strike him when the thousands of Qi swords suddenly trembled and rattled together and all in unison...

BOOM!

They exploded together causing the clouds, sky and air to distort heavily. The force of the explosion was so great that it immediately hurled Vornak out of the air with immense force that he slammed straight into the ground in the blink of an eye.

BOOM!

A huge amount of shockwave rippled out as Vornak's body slammed into the ground. An immensely deep and wide crater rippled out with force as the Alpha coughed out a mouthful of blood, one of his horns bending over slightly from the force of the explosion and then slam.

"Had enough?" Jake asked as he saw Vornak slowly lift himself up with small coughs, fur bleeding slightly.

'Even without using his celestial energy, he is still overwhelming me? How is this possible?! How am I on the receiving end? What's going on?' Vornak thought as he fully rose up, a frown deepened across his face as he glared at Jake.

"I just want to say, thank you for this. Because of you, I have finally gained the grasp of this celestial energy thingy." Jake smiled as he stared at his hand that now slowly glowing white.

Tring!

{Host has acquired the knowledge of the celestial energy and now, it will be added to part of his transformation}

Instantly, his body shone bright white. Runes, marks and designs were starting to appear around Jake's upper body. A long thin design of scales began appearing around his arms glowing with divine white energy.

That was not all. Something else was beginning to appear on Jake's forehead and when the viewers saw what it was, they immediately went pale and shook.

As on Jake's forehead, in the middle of his brows, an eye appeared on it glowing bright white and was also staring right at Vornak.

{Full Celestial mode activated}

{Now Host, destroy your opponent.}

{A/N}

Honestly, I don't know if anyone is reading ☺ I made a lot of mistakes when the book initially started so it died and lost a lot of readers on the way. I feel hurt that a book which I have been writing for almost a year isn't getting any recognition.

I'm not blaming anyone because I know it's all my fault. I lost potential loyal readers because of many grammatical errors and so on and I want to deeply apologize if there's anyone that has read this far.

You must have guessed by now, the book is drawing to an end. Actually, it is ending tomorrow. But this won't be end of Jake's story, it's only the beginning. I will be communicating what I plan for the book to y'all tomorrow.