

MY SLAYER SYSTEM: RISE TO SUPREMACY

Chapter 502: Jake's Greatest Mistake!

SILENCE!

The whole place was filled with hushed silence as the whole world were shocked by Jake's outburst. The pain and anger he had been holding for so long.

The torture he had to endure at such a young age. All his achievements he had made people see him as someone older but in reality, he was just a nineteen year old kid dragged into something far above him.

"Was it all worth it?" Vornak who was swaying like a drunkard asked with a raised eyebrow and then a chuckle followed. "Of course it was. Seeing my lord getting closer to his goals was definitely worth it.

He needed more souls to devour, and I gave it to him. And now, he has all he needs to complete his mission."

"You have been nothing but a tool." Jake sighed as he outstretched his hand and his sword immediately materialized in his hand with its sheath which Jake held beside him, hands on his sword hilt.

"A tool? Yes I was. And now, this tool will take you down with him!" Vornak howled with a grin as all the celestial energy in him began moving and bubbling inside him, making his body start to swell.

'He is about to explode?!' Jake muttered in utter calmness as he just sighed, took a stance with his gaze on the smirking Alpha.

Jake's eyes immediately shone bright white and so was his sword, lightning crackled around his feet forming a pair of lightning boots and then...

"Celestial breathing technique: Roar of the divine punishment!" Jake called out.

BANG!

A deafening bang rang out as Jake suddenly blinked from his position and got in front of the werewolf and with a quick slash of his sword, Jake could be seen skidding behind Vornak with his sword sheathed, a frown on his face.

"And that...that was for killing my parents." Jake muttered and then...

"You were right, you really are a god." Vornak said, his eyes widening as blood filled his mouth, body swaying left and right and then...

BOOM!

The werewolf's body exploded into the ground into a thousand pieces signalling his death and causing the whole world to get stunned.

Everybody were shocked by what they saw, mouths agape at everything that had happened from start to finish.

It took a few seconds for everything to register in the people's mind. The war, the terrifying war that had plagued them for years on end was over!

It was finally over as the werewolf's remain could be seen disintegrating. In a split second, the whole world erupted in cheers all around, every corners of the world.

Everybody were jubilating and celebrating the victory. Families hugged each other with tears on their faces, others rolled and jumped around in excitement at the prospect of the finished war.

The online commenters immediately took to their keyboards to express their joy and relief.

"Damn! This feels like a dream! Can't believe the war is finally over."

"Somebody pinch me. I feel like I'm dreaming. Is the Alpha really dead?"

"Damn! Jake actually did do it. He managed to end this damned war on his own."

"I feel proud of him right now."

"He lives up to his name; the werewolf slayer."

"For the record, I never did doubt his capabilities one second."

The whole online community was buzzing with thank you messages to Jake in excitement as they kept on typing and Druig who was reading all these through his tab, attempted to show Erin but she just pushed the tab away.

"I know what those hypocrites must be saying, I don't need to see it at all. They must be thanking Jake and that's why I call them hypocrites." Erin purposely shouted down the camera causing everybody to listen attentively.

"These same people were cursing and hating on Jake a few hours ago. Swearing that they could do better than him but now, they are thanking him? Bunch of annoying hypocrites!" Erin spat as she threw her mic away in anger and then turned around.

Immediately after the thought of the war being actually over registered in their minds, Emily and Sophia fell on their knees in utter stun.

"The war is over?! We...we actually survived?!" Emily muttered as tears streamed down her eyes.

"Da...dad...brother. We... won. I'm sorry you couldn't see the end of this war." Sophia sobbed as hot tears could be seen gushing out of her eyes while Emily quickly hugged her in an attempt to console her.

"Jake!" The others quickly leapt off the glide despite their injuries as they bolted for the celestial god who stood rooted in a single spot staring right in the air.

"I never doubted you man, thank you for saving us all." Peter shouted as he came over and hugged Jake who felt cold to the touch and slowly, everybody all surrounded him and threw themselves at him in a tight hug.

Jake didn't reciprocate this back, his expression was neutral, stunned and more like that of someone shocked.

"What's wrong?" Alex asked as he moved back from the hugging group and so did the others.

"I think he is still not completely there after the whole battle." Peter chuckled loudly.

"Jake, I love you. Thanks so much and I'm really sorry you had to go through all these." Kate smiled, tears streaming down her eyes as she hugged Jake tightly.

"Uhm guys..." Jake softly mumbled causing everybody to move back a bit.

"What's wrong?" Harry asked with a raised eyebrow as Jake turned to look at them all with a hint of emotion in his eyes and that was dread and sadness.

"I think I just made a big mistake." Jake replied causing everybody to take a single step back in confusion wondering what Jake was on all about.

"Wh...what do you mean? What are you saying?" Alex asked in shock.

Jake didn't reply and instead gulped loudly as he turned back towards his system screen remembering what it flashed in front of him a few moments ago causing him to stand rooted in shock.

Just a few moments ago, after defeating the Alpha, his system flared right in front of him congratulating him.

Tring!

{Congratulations Host! You have completed your long awaited quest}

{The Alpha has been slain}

{Congratulations! Rewards will now be distributed}

"Huh? I... I did it? I...I won? But at what cost?" Jake asked as he scanned the battlefield to see the dead bodies of some of his friends and allies.

Remembering all what he had lost in this war. In an attempt to save humanity, all the people he lost, all the friends and family that were lost.

But some still remained alive, a handful of his friends that he formed during his time in the academy. All of them stood staring at him proudly.

Kate! The first female to call him family and pull them all together the first time he met them all.

Peter! The competitive, charismatic and hotheaded young man that approached him the first time he got to the academy for the assessment.

Alex! The battle maniac he encountered during the tournament who pledged his allegiance to him and has become one of his most trusted friends even defying some of his father's words.

Helen! The female that got obsessed with him after a few encounters and then wanting to hunt together.

Harry! The arrogant upperclassman he encountered who wanted to take revenge on him for defeating and humiliating his younger brother in a duel.

Erin! The beautiful newscaster who decided to tag along after a series of adventures.

Seeing all these people, a smile crept onto his face as he decided he would not forget those he lost, but won't dwell on the past and instead, focusing on those still alive so as to protect them with his life.

His thoughts were now interrupted by the sound of his system in his mind which pulled him back.

Tring!

{Warning! Now that the Alpha has been slain, the shackles has been broken}

"Huh? Shackles? What shackles?" Jake muttered in surprise as he stared at his system screen in worry.

{Alpha has been slain, the gates have been opened and now, he can reign supreme}

"Who is that?" Jake muttered.

{Host has just made the greatest mistake he can ever make as he has risen and he would destroy the the whole world, realms and planets so he can reign sovereign}

THE END!

