Chapter 651 - Entering The UVR With Asna II

Upon hearing his complement and seeing his stunned expression, Asna tucked a lock of hair behind her ear while looking away, feeling quite embarrassed but mostly pleased.

Meanwhile, Felix started to feel like his immunity against her captivating beauty had started to crumble yet again.

He spent years looking at Asna, yet this new look was truly on a godly level!

Seeing that he refused to move or say anything, Asna walked towards him in an elegant manner like a runaway model.

The closer she gets, the faster Felix's heart started beating.

When she was standing face to face, Felix felt like he was going to lose himself if he kept staring at her gorgeous citric star-like eyes.

However, just as he tried to lower his head to avoid constant eye contact, Asna did the unexpected!

She gently placed her hands behind his back and hugged him with her eyes closed shut and a smile filled with gratitude.

With her head buried on his raging heart, Asna murmured softly, "Thank you for everything..."

Asna wasn't talking about him helping get into the UVR but from the very first moment where she met him in the ruins.

She knew that without him, she would have still been there, slumbering for god knows how long...But look at her now.

Dressing all glamorously in a cozy house in a virtual universe that was ten times better than the real world.

Understanding what she implied, Felix hugged her back and whispered in her ears after regaining control over his emotions, "Don't thank me. We are partners after all."

"Don't call us partners." Asna hit him lightly in his chest, feeling slightly irritated by hearing the term partners since it makes them seem like business partners.

"How about bestie...COUGH!"

Before Felix could finish his joke, Asna elbowed him in the stomach as hard as she could!

She didn't know why she did it but she knew one thing, there was no way in hell she was getting friend-zoned!

"What was that for?" Felix clutched his stomach as he looked at her with a wronged expression. In his eyes, he was just trying to enliven the mood a little.

"Humph! Let's just go." Asna turned around and walked annoyedly towards the door.

'Wait a second...'

Seeing her abnormal reaction, no matter how dense Felix was towards Asna, he still had some common sense left behind.

'It can't be?'

He had seen those reactions and behaviors from other Exs in his previous life.

Felix didn't even bother thinking too much about it as he decided to make sure for himself. The worst that could happen was another elbow to his stomach.

So, he chased after her and held her shoulders gently right as she was about to leave his house.

"What are you doi..."

"How about soulmates?" Felix smiled faintly as he leaned his head on her shoulder.

'Atta boy, smooth.' Thor grinned as he watched with the other two.

Meanwhile, Asna stiffened at once the moment she heard the term. It simply summed their situation perfectly and it had a nice ring to it.

"Soulmates..." Asna felt her cheeks burning after repeating it faintly.

"Do you like it?" Felix whispered in her ears.

"No! Let's just leave already!"

Unfortunately, there was no way a tsun-tsun like Asna would admit it. She pushed his face away with her palm and rushed outside without looking back.

"Damn you Asna and your mixed signals." Felix cursed as he chased after her.

"Well, the show is over."

"She is really hopeless."

"They still have plenty of time."

Lady Sphinx, Jörmungandr, and Thor all stood up from a coach after seeing such a disappointing ending.

Since Asna was in the UVR, they didn't need to bother with speaking out loud.

...

A few minutes later...

Felix was driving Asna to the Cinema, planning to start their 'date' with a movie that Asna always wanted to watch but he almost never had the time for it.

As he drove towards it, he kept taking sneaky peeks at Asna, who was engrossed at looking from the window at the towering skyscrapers.

Seeing her smiling as she kept enjoying the view put a smile on his face as well.

He truly was happy that Asna finally wasn't trapped inside his mind that was smaller than a birdcage.

After a while, Felix had reached the car's queue to descend to the Cinema's front gate.

He could have gone straight to the parking lot, but he didn't want Asna's first public appearance with him to be entering the Cinema from the underground.

That's just improper, especially when Asna was overdressed to the point she could actually give heart attacks to anyone feasting on her beauty!

"There is a lot of people down there. Is that normal?" Asna wondered while looking below.

"Hmm?"

When Felix looked down, he found also it a bit weird. There were hundreds of people just standing on the side and cheering with high-pitched voices.

"It seems like we are about to walk into a movie premiere."

Felix murmured as he zoomed on a red carpet, leading straight to the entry of the Cinema and the breathtaking men and women walking on it.

They were wearing dresses and smiling at the cameras while waving their hands at their fans.

"No wonder the queue is packed with fancy hovercars." Asna turned to Felix and asked, "Should we go to a different Cinema?"

Asna knew that most studios book the entire Cinema during their movies/series premiere to avoid problems.

So, it was impossible for them to enter it unless they were given permission by the producer.

"What are you talking about?" Felix gave her a funny look as he dialed a number.

In a few seconds, the call was connected.

"Mr. Igris, please give me direct access to MegaFilm Cinema in the Androxa Capital. There seems to be a movie premiering right now." Felix got straight to the point.

"Do you want to watch it with the actors and staff or get a private movie room?" Mr. Igris replied

Felix peeked at Asna and coughed, "Private please."

"Consider it done." Mr. Igris confirmed and hung up.

He was also just as busy as Felix. The only difference was running Felix's uprising business empire.

"Problem solved." Felix said, smiling.

"You better not try anything funny when we are inside." Asna squinted her eyes at him after hearing that he asked for a private room.

She knew about his shenanigans with girls and private rooms.

"Don't worry about that." Felix looked outside of the window as he said casually, "I will never treat you like other girls."

Asna didn't know if she should feel happy or mad that she was happy at the sound of that.

'Get a grip of your stupid emotions. Stop reacting to anything nice he says.' Asna pinched her thigh in a hidden manner to wake some sense into her.

Felix didn't notice her actions as he was deep in thought about the movie premiere, 'With Asna walking down the red carpet, those poor hardworking actresses are going to be forced to change careers after she kidnaps their fans.'

'At least, they will be paid handsomely after this premier will go viral.'

Felix had not a shred of doubt that Asna was going to flip the UVR upside down by her appearance.

Since he couldn't tell her to wear a disguise lest he gets elbowed again, she was bound to go viral sooner or later.

'Wait a second!' The moment this thought crossed his mind, Felix did a quick search on news about Asna and was shocked to find nothing!

'It can't be, she told me that she spent her time in the UVR. Did she never show herself in the open?'

Knowing that Asna didn't care about people's eyes on her made him scratch this thought.

This left him with only one conclusion, Asna never entered the UVR!

When Asna saw that he was looking at her weirdly, she decided to take a peek at his thoughts.

'I am screwed!'

The moment she read them, she felt like her soul was about to escape from panic.

Seeing her trying cutely to avoid having eye contact with him made Felix even more certain about his conclusion.

'Asna...'

Ka-thump!

For the first time since he met Asna, Felix's heart had skipped a beat not because of her unparalleled beauty that could shake nations but due to this unnoticeable gesture...

Instead of being mad at her lying at him, Felix felt warm knowing that she preferred to stay with him when he was in a coma than go and have a fun time in the UVR.

Only now, did he realize that self-centered sadistic Asna, who wanted nothing more than to see him suffer seemed to have made a complete 180 degrees switch.

He knew that she was opening up to him when she tried to delay him from drinking the soul-splitting potion after realizing the agony accompanying it.

But he didn't think that she would actually resist entering the UVR for an entire month just to wait for him and do it together.

It might seem like it was nothing but Felix knew that it was a lot.

It was the same as telling a man not to drink a bottle of water that was on his hands when he was thirsty for three days.

The only difference was that Asna was thirsty for freedom for twenty million years....

Chapter 652 - Asna's First Appearance!

"Why do you keep staring at me?" Asna mumbled as she peeked at him.

Felix smiled charmingly as he answered, "Somehow, you keep getting prettier in my eyes."

"Argh! Stop being so cheesy, you annoying prick." Asna assaulted him with her handbag, trying her best to hide her reddened cheeks.

"F*ck, at least marry me first before you abuse me." Felix cried in pain as he guarded his face.

"Argh!!! Stop talking!!"

"I am just saying!"

"Don't say anything!"

"Then, stop hitting me already!"

"I can't, I am too mad!"

"How is it my fault that you are mad for liking me?!"

"Arrrrgh!! Drop dead already!!"

Meanwhile, the primogenitors could only watch them squabble speechlessly, not knowing how to intervene.

It was clear in their eyes that both Felix and Asna had caught feelings for each other but had absolutely no clue how to express them.

Felix was still an asshole and Asna was being a tsun-tsun by refusing to acknowledge her feelings.

"At least they are quarreling like a couple." Lady Sphinx chuckled.

Thankfully, Felix and Asna had to separate from each other after his bracelet started ringing.

"Cough, what' up?" Felix spoke while affixing his messy attire.

"Your access has been approved." Mr. Igris informed, "I have emailed you the details."

"Good work."

"My pleasure."

Clank!

Felix hung up and turned to Asna, who started to apply her makeup again with an irritated look.

"If only you cared about your looks enough to hesitate about getting physical." Felix mumbled under his breath as he fixed his hairstyle with a snap of a finger.

"Looking for a round two?" Asna squinted her eyes at him while holding her ruined handbag.

"Cough, enough playing around, it's our turn soon." Felix changed the subject by pointing at the front entrance.

Sure enough, only two cars were waiting in line in front of them.

They had already descended to the ground and were merely a few meters away from the screaming crowd.

Fortunately, Felix's hovercar had a tinted window, blocking the prying eyes from seeing their squabble.

After he was done fixing his appearance, Felix focused on the actors and actresses on the red carpet, wanting to check if he knew anyone.

Due to his business expanding heavily in the films industry, his Primo Company had acquired many uprising studios, actors/actresses, screenwriters, directors, and many more talented individuals.

From time to time, Felix read the weekly report sent by Mr. Igris to check on the numbers and see if he was being ripped off or not.

With his photographic memory, he remembered all the actors/actresses that were in his weekly reports.

"Oh, is that Nancy and Jamal?"

Felix had spotted two of them already on the red carpet. They were taking pictures behind the movie posture.

He knew them quite well since they were in his recommendation list of actors/actresses that he gave to Mr. Igris.

That list included all the actors/actresses that had plenty of talent but no real opportunity to show it sooner.

"It seems like they made it to fame earlier this time." Felix smiled, feeling a bit happy that his actions were affecting the timeline positively to some people at least.

"You have arrived to your destination."

The car's AI announced after stopping it at the side of the red carpet.

The front passenger seat was facing the reporters and the fans, who were clearly excited and anticipating the appearance of other guests.

"Any guesses?" A reporter asked his coworker while pointing his AP bracelet at the fancy hovercar.

"My bet on Nikko or Lio." The coworker responded as he watched the driver's door get opened.

The moment he saw Felix stepping off the hovercar while wearing a blue marine tuxedo, his eyes couldn't help but widen in disbelief.

He was too shocked to even take pictures of Felix as he walked composedly towards the front passenger seat.

Everyone had gone silent as well, not knowing how to react to the sudden emergence of Felix!

Even the actors and actresses were dumbfounded!

No one expected the current most famous mainstream person in the Milky Way Galaxy to show up in a movie premier unrelated to him!

Before they could make a sense of things, Felix opened the passenger door slowly and offered his hand inside in a gentlemanly manner.

Asna held his hand with her long pretty fingers as he pulled her gently outside.

Asna locked her hand around his arm intimately and they started walking on the red carpet with indifferent expressions.

They passed by reporters, actors, actresses, film directors, guests, and everyone who was standing on the long red carpet.

No one blocked them or said a single word. A few moments later, Felix and Asna entered the wide-open front gate and walked straight to their private movie room.

Everyone simply watched their back disappear after going through a movie gate...

The previous lively atmosphere filled with cheers and light flashes was nowhere to be seen.

The only thing left behind was a piece of soothing music in the background that no one ever knew was there due to the noise.

Thud! Thud! Thud!...

Suddenly, tens of people started dropping to the ground akin to flies! Reporters, fans, and even actors/actresses!

As for the others remaining up? Most of them had a nosebleed or actually peed their pants, losing complete control over their bladder!

Yet still, no one moved or dared to breathe out loud. Hell, they didn't even glance at the people who fainted near them.

How could they do anything when their minds had only a single picture frozen in it?

Asna's bewitching beauty as she walked elegantly on long heels and a dress that stole their souls.

Although Felix was also extremely handsome due to his primo bloodlines mutations and immense reputation, his image next to Asna was completely obscured in everyone's minds.

All of them without exceptions had fallen under her spell! A spell that was the dream of every Charm Elemental in the universe.

Natural Mental Shock!

"I must be hallucinating or something." Jamal murmured while touching his bleeding nose in bewilderment.

When he saw Nancy staring into the void with a widened pupil and those who fainted on the ground, he felt his heart skip a beat!

'This is really happening!' Jamal clutched his raging heart as he started taking deep breaths, trying to control his agitation.

However, he realized that it was impossible since Asna's bewitching appearance kept resurfacing in his mind!

The worst part, her appearance was a bit foggy in his mind like his brain was having difficulty reimagining her perfect beauty!

'How can one be this beautiful?! Even artificial beauty can't hold a candle against her! It's against universal laws!'

The more Jamal thought about it the higher his blood pressure rose, forcing his nose to bleed yet again!

For a famous actor like him, his unsightly appearance should have been captured by the reporters by now and turned him into a laughingstock in the network.

Thankfully for him, the reporters were all frozen solid in their positions, trying to understand what the hell had just transpired before them.

"Argh, my head!"

"What happened?"

"Did I die? I remember seeing an angel?"

Soon, one by one the passed out people in the crowd began waking up while voicing their concerns.

The dead silent atmosphere began to get noisy real quick as more and more people began speaking about the situation.

"A scoop!!"

"Move!!"

"F*ck! I didn't take a picture of that goddess!"

The reporters were the first to succumb to their reporting instincts as they ignored everyone on the red carpet and dashed towards the front entrance like their lives depend on it!

"I want to see my goddess too!"

A fan with bleeding nose jumped the obstacles that kept the crowd controlled and sprinted with an obsessed expression, following after the reporters!

The moment the fans saw him, it all clicked on their minds that the moment they miss this chance, it might be impossible to see Asna another time in person!

So, one by one, they all jumped obstacles and stormed the red carpet, not giving a crap about the actors and actresses in front of them!

They shoved them to the side like some used goods and charged as one like some uncontrollable herd!

Jamal and the actors who were nearer to the front entrance didn't hesitate to run inside, fearful for their lives from this madness.

"CLOSE THE GATE!!"

Scared shitless, the captain of the guards yelled as he jumped inside the Cinema, not having any intentions of stopping those lunatics.

Ka-thump!

Queen AI responded immediately and closed the gate shut a few meters before the crowd could burst inside the Cinema!

Thud!! Smash!! Thud!!

"Let us in!!"

"You bastards trying to have her all to yourselves!"

"I just want another glance, please!!"

"Nancy, you b*tch! I supported you for years! This is how you treat your fans!"

Jamal and the ones who made it inside the Cinema could only stare in disbelief at the frenzied looks of their 'beloved fans' as they tried to smash through the gate!

'This is madness, madness!' Frightened, Jamal could only take a step away from the gate.

He could see it in his fans' eyes that they wouldn't hesitate to stamp on him if he blocked their path from getting to Asna!

The moment he thought about her, she resurfaced in his mind almost immediately like a curse.

He lost control of his emotions yet again and started obsessing about her just like his fans.

The only difference was that he didn't want to just see her but actually own her!

'She belongs to me! A goddess like her belongs to no other than me! I need to have her!'

Jamal was so far in his obsession, he completely forgot that Asna wasn't alone.

She was accompanied by no other than Felix, Landlord, and the boss of his boss's boss!

Chapter 653 - A Virus Level!

Meanwhile, inside the movie world, Felix and Asna were enjoying their time greatly. They were seated next to each other as they experienced the movie unfold before them.

They neither knew about the mayhem that Asna caused nor did they care to know about it.

They simply engrossed themselves in the movie, laughing at jokes and cursing at retarded decisions by the main character.

As Felix looked beside him and saw that Asna was having the best of her time within the movie world, he felt at ease like a burden was lifted from his shoulders.

Now, he didn't need to feel a bit guilty whenever he tried to have fun in the UVR since Asna would be with him in it instead of being locked in his consciousness space.

"Will you look at this moron? She clearly likes you! Just kiss her already."

Asna booed at the male main character, who was standing in front of the female main character's house, playing with his keys shyly like an idiot.

The primogenitors didn't even bother to make fun of Asna's delusion anymore after hearing her statement.

"Don't worry, they will kiss eventually in part 2." Felix said casually while stuffing his mouth with popcorn.

Ting!

Before he could chew, a remote control smacked him right in the head!

"You prick! Why did you spoil it!" Asna huffed angrily and pressed play on the new remote control.

Knowing that he was at fault, Felix didn't even protest this time.

He closed his mouth shut and continued watching the disappointing end of the movie.

The male main character chickened out and the female main character thought that he was simply trying to take their relationship slowly.

"What a crappy ending, no wonder they made part 2." Asna criticized as she stood up.

"What are you doing?" Felix asked, "Don't you want to watch part 2?"

"No, the story is predictable at this point." Asna clapped her hands with a big smile and said, "I wanna try amusement park!"

Felix didn't object since he also wanted to avoid rewatching the second of that crap. If it wasn't for being Asna's requested movie, he wouldn't have glanced at it.

Soon, both of them exited the movie gate.

The moment they did so, they were shocked to see hundreds of people trying to push themselves into the closed front gate of the Cinema!

"LET ME IN!! I AM WILLING TO BE HER DOG!"

"I WANT TO SEE MY GODDESS!!"

"Break the door!!"

"KILL LANDLORD AND SAVE THE GODDESS!"

Everyone went absolutely bonkers, appearing like a bunch of zombies, wanting to storm the building to eat them.

This scared Asna a bit. She knew that she was beautiful but she didn't have expected that she would receive such an insane reaction.

Who could blame her? She almost never met a commoner before besides Felix.

The bastard's first reaction when he saw her was telling her that he saw better after he spent months building immunity against her beauty without her knowing about it.

So, she was always underestimating her deadly beauty, not knowing that it could literally cause kingdoms to start a war for her!

"They are out!"

"My goddess!"

"Oh my god, I still can't believe my eyes that such a breathtaking woman exists!"

Meanwhile, the actors, actresses, and staff members who were inside the Cinema all started pointing their fingers at Asna.

As for the reporters? The ones who made it inside the Cinema took advantage of the situation to start taking pictures of Asna without opening their eyes!

They didn't want to blank out again and miss the opportunity!

Unbeknownst to them, their shot was ruined by male actors taking big strides towards Asna.

They were trying their best to maintain a composed appearance but failing miserably whenever their eyes met Asna's citric star-like eyes.

The most confident in them was Jamal as he didn't try to hide his intentions at all while approaching Asna.

Compared to Felix, he had his own charm as well. He was taller and well-built with muscles stretching his fine black suit.

Since he was an actor, he wasn't lacking in the looks department as well.

The moment he stood before them, he completely ignored Felix and offered his hand to Asna in a noble manner.

"May you bless me with hearing your name?" He requested as he lowered his head a little.

He appeared like a gentleman but in reality, he just couldn't maintain eye contact with Asna's face for even a second.

'Hold her!'

'Take her away!'

'Ravish her!'

He feared that he would make an ass of himself if he failed to control his raging obsessive emotions.

Thankfully, he was an actor and his job was to control his expressions to a fine level.

Meanwhile, Felix was nodding his head in approval, 'No wonder he made it big in my previous life.'

He wasn't annoyed at all that Asna was being hit on by another man.

He understood that any commoner capable of getting close to Asna without falling apart was worthy of admiration.

On the other hand, Asna was pissed at Felix after hearing his thoughts.

She expected that he would stand in front of her and send off Jamal like in the movies or something like that. Instead, he was admiring him!

'Let's see if you will admire him now.'

Asna offered her snow-white hand in a graceful manner to Jamal and introduced herself with the sweetest smile she could muster, "Asna."

Thud!...Thud!...Thud!

Unfortunately, her plan to make Felix jealous had backfired horribly as the moment everyone heard her silvery voice and saw her smile, their eyes rolled at the back of their heads and started dropping to the ground.

This time, everyone who had their eyes open fell victim to Asna's natural mental attack...Especially, the poor Jamal, who was the closest to her.

He didn't even manage to touch Asna's fingers before his brain short-circuited, trying to analyze Asna's perfect smile and angelic voice.

"Sigh, poor thing." Felix gave him a sympathetic glance before locking his arm with Asna's.

"Let's leave before you start giving someone a heart attack." Felix dragged her with him towards the backdoor of the Cinema.

'Tsk, how disappointing.' Asna looked behind her at Jamal annoyed for not playing along with her.

Still, when she noticed that her arm was locked with Felix intimately, she murmured, "This is not bad either."

"What's that?"

"Mind your business!"

"Jeez, I doubt anyone will love you if they knew about your b*tchy personality."

"Wanna bet?"

"Cough, we are getting late to the amusement park."

"Heh, that's what I thought."

As they were bickering out loud with their arms locked in the corridor like some old married couple, pictures and videos of Asna were getting retweeted, shared, posted on every social media platform in the Milky Way Galaxy.

Going viral wasn't even the proper term for the chaos on going in the network right now. Felix went viral due to his games.

As for Asna?

She was like a virus, the moment someone sees her, they receive a strong mental shock, pass out, wake up, doubt their eyes, believe their eyes, and then start obsessing about her almost immediately by seeking any tiny kind of information about her.

If they didn't find anything new, they would start posting and sharing news about her in hundreds of forums, hoping for someone to give them something new!

When those poor bastards saw her pictures in those forums, they fell into the same curse and repeated the same sequence from the start!

The Media outlets didn't make it any better as they placed Asna's face on the front page of their papers and articles with bold titles.

-The most beautiful woman in the universe had been spotted entering the Cinema with Landlord!-

-Girlfriend or Wife? Please be none! A Living Goddess belongs to all of us!-

-Hundreds of people have fainted after seeing her face live! Is it a gimmick or real?-

-Is her beauty artificial or real? 99% of the women in our survey claim that it is fake while experts claim that it is, the real deal!-

There were hundreds of millions of those articles popping left and right in the network akin to forest mushrooms.

The scary part, this was happening in merely one hour and a half. God knows if the news would spread to every galaxy by the end of the day!

If that happened, Asna would be more popular than Felix!

Why? Because her beauty was universal! It could make almost all species fall in her enchantment.

When Felix peeked at the chaos in the network, he didn't dare to take Asna to the amusement park without making her wear sunglasses, a hat, and change her deadly dress.

She already changed her dress to casual jeans and a tucked-in T-shirt, that highlighted her curves and exposed her belly a little.

"If you don't want to wear it, I can book an amusement park tomorrow for just us." Felix suggested in the car after seeing that Asna was pouting while trying to pick a nice pair of sunglasses and a hat.

"It's won't be fun." Asna shook her head, "Amusement parks are all about the atmosphere."

"Then, stop whining and pick one already." Felix said, "You won't have a chance to ride anything if you made a mess like in the Cinema."

"How is it my fault." Asna pouted while wearing circular eyeglasses that covered both her eyes and eyebrows.

"How do I look?" She asked as she turned to Felix.

Felix sized her up with a single glance. His eyelids couldn't help but twitch, "Somehow, you just got even sexier."

"You mean it?" Asna giggled in delight.

"Unfortunately, I do.." Felix sighed, "Let's hope it goes well in the park."

Chapter 654 - Amusement Park!

Twenty minutes later...Felix and Asna had reached a giant colorful gate that resembled a clown's mouth.

Since Felix paid for a VIP experience, he ignored the long queue of hovercars before the gate and went through a side gate.

The moment his hovercar emerged from the other side, Asna's eyes brightened up at the radiant and lively atmosphere of the amusement park.

It was built on a world on its own, making it resemble a floating city in an empty clear sky.

There were rollercoasters tracks so long and twisted, they covered half the city from above and below it!

A Ferris wheel that was touching the sky, it would cause most people to feel nauseated at its peak!

There weren't any big buildings. Just structures for many unique games and colorful tents where employees serve street food, and mini-games.

-Octopus Twister is about to start in 5 minutes. line up!-

-Haunted House is going to open at 02:00 PM-

-The rollercoaster of doom is about to start in 10 minutes. line up!-

After Felix reached the ground and parked his hovercar, loud announcements like those kept resounding throughout the amusement park.

"Let's go ride the rollercoaster first!" Excited, Asna caught Felix's hand and sprinted through the crowd towards the rollercoaster's station!

Since the park was crowded and noisy, not a lot of people noticed Asna and Felix.

As for those who did? They were left staring at them with widened eyes, not able to murmur a single word.

By the time they recovered, Asna and Felix were already long gone.

If she wasn't wearing a hat and sunglasses, she would have attracted everyone's attention even in this crowded atmosphere.

...

In a short moment, Felix and Asna reached the elevator to the rollercoaster of doom by riding together on his hover platform.

Since the platform wasn't wide, Asna was forced to hug Felix from behind.

Obviously, she rejected venomously at the start to have such close contact with Felix, but she still took his offer since they would never make it to the rollercoaster in time without the platform.

"Woah, how long is the wagon going to be?" Asna wondered in surprise after seeing hundreds of people waiting in a queue in front of five elevators.

"If I recall correctly, fifty or sixty per ride." Felix answered as he hovered towards a teleportation circle guarded by two humans.

After reaching it, he disbarked with Asna from the hover platform and showed the guards his VIP ticket.

Before Asna could do the same, the guards opened the way with flushed cheeks and a thirsty look as they shouted, "No need! Please go in godde...Miss!"

"Okay?" Asna shrugged her shoulders and stepped inside the teleportation circle.

Just as Felix wanted to follow her, the guards blocked him with fierce expressions, "Did we approve you to move!?"

'What's up with this double standard treatment?'

Speechless, Felix could only show his ticket again to them, not wanting to cause a scene.

He knew that he wasn't as good-looking as Asna but this was still too much!

Meanwhile, Asna was chuckling at his expense behind the guards.

"Tsk, you can go in."

"Lucky bastard."

The guards could only let Felix use the teleportation circle reluctantly.

After stepping inside, both of them teleported to the top of the platform.

The moment they opened their eyes, they saw that the area was packed and rowdy in front of a long red wagon in the shape of a serpent.

It was half full already and the seats were continuing to get filled up from the queue.

This time, Felix knew that his VIP ticket couldn't help him skip the queue on this one since most of the people waiting were VIP customers as well.

But, he didn't want to wait for his turn since he had counted that more than a hundred people were in front of him.

This implied he would need to wait for two rides to finish.

Felix examined the wagon and noticed that the very front seats were left open.

'It seems like no one wants to have a heart attack in this ride.' Felix grinned, knowing that the front seats in this rollercoaster were equivalent to suicide.

That's because the speed of the rollercoaster could reach up to 200km/h! In its descent, it was able to reach up to 300km/h!

It was already too much for commoners to handle! How could they go further and sit at the very front?

As he expected, the wagon soon had filled up entirely, leaving only those two unwanted seats.

Neither the adults nor the kids in the queue dared to step forward.

The operator had seen this happen many times to bother himself with it.

So, he simply yelled out, "Last call!"

"Let's go." Felix caught Asna's hand and rushed with her towards the wagon uncaring about the people's looks.

He jumped inside the front seat and pulled Asna quickly inside, making her yelp in shock. He fixed her seatbelt for her, not caring about her pissed look and then he fixed his own.

The moment he finished, the wagon shook slightly and then started moving forward!

'Now we good.' Felix smiled at Asna, not bothering with her annoyed look.

'You didn't need to be so rough.' She complained as she massaged her palm.

Although she had one of the strongest consciousness in the universe, she was merely a mortal inside the UVR.

There was no way the Queen AI could allow beings like her to attain their overpowering strength within her universe.

'Either that or everyone will storm on us again.' Felix shrugged his shoulders.

When Asna glanced behind her and saw that everyone on the wagon was staring at her with a spell-struck expression, she couldn't find fault with what he said.

"Look in front." Felix grinned as he poked her.

The moment Asna turned around, she yelped in terror as she gripped into Felix's jacket tightly!

Who could blame her for reacting like that?

They had reached the arched part of the track rail. It was bent at ninety degrees, making Asna able to see the entire amusement park from a height of two kilometers!

"I changed my mind! I don't want to do this!" Asna cried in fear as the wagon started moving downward slowly!

Asna knew that the moment the other half of the wagon crossed over the arched track rail, the wagon would be in a free fall.

"How can this scare you?"

Felix already lifted his hands in the air, preparing for the descent.

In normal cases, this kind of speed was nothing to him but Felix was smart enough to nerf himself so he could feel the thrill!

"Please! Please! Felix!....FEEELIIIX!!!"

"WEEEEEEEEEEEE!!!"

"WOAAAAH!!!"

"MOMMY!!!"

A symphony of high-pitched terrified and excited screams boomed loudly in the sky as the wagon smashed through clouds in its rapid descent!

Typically, normal rollercoasters would never reach such a height for the safety of their passengers and the structural integrity.

But this was the UVR! Everything was possible, making the owners of this amusement park go wild!

Woosh!! Woosh!

They sure went wild with this rollercoaster as the moment it reached the bottom, it started twisting in cone-shaped track rail, forcing Asna's hair to flail all over the place.

'F*ck, keep your hair away from my mouth!' Felix cursed telepathically as he kept spitting Asna's hair strands.

'I HAAAAAATE YOOOU!!!'

Alas, Asna was too scared to care about Felix's comfort. She had her eyes closed shut while hugging the seatbelt like her life depended on it.

Such a reaction was normal for someone who almost never did anything fun besides watching movies and painting her nails.

'Aren't you going to open your eyes? You are about to miss the view.' Felix tempted.

'I don't want to talk to you!'

'You will regret it if you missed it.' Felix said sincerely, 'The wagon is slowing down, this is your best chance.'

Sensing that the speed had indeed dropped to a reasonable pace, Asna decided to trust him and see what he was talking about it.

She opened her eyes slowly and started glancing around.

The first thing she saw was Felix looking above him.

Asna lifted her head and was surprised to see tens of mermaids dancing in a giant lake below the amusement park!

The rollercoaster track was long enough it covered the entire city from every direction!

Unfortunately, Asna opened her eyes late, making her miss almost the entire show. Right now, the wagon was climbing up from below the park.

Since its speed was manageable, Asna kept her eyes open and watched the people having fun in other games as the wagon passed over them.

Memories of the time she spent in the ruins resurfaced in her mind, making this scene seem like a dream to her.

Even the time she spent before she was imprisoned was lifeless compared to this moment.

'I am really free...' Asna smiled charmingly as she enjoyed the breeze caress her cheeks gently.

This was the first time in a very long time she experienced the wind like this....

Chapter 655 - The First Move...

Felix peeked at her and couldn't help but feel his heart start racing yet again.

This time, he didn't do anything to stop it...He let his emotions out, knowing that Asna would believe that he was reacting this way due to the ride.

Felix knew that he shouldn't be feeling like this for Asna since it could ruin their relationship forever, but he couldn't help it.

He had already fallen and the only thing he could do now was play it safe. At least, until he was certain of her emotions directed at him.

He understood that Asna was quite fickle in her behavior and emotions.

'Oh no! Not again!'

Felix's thoughts were broken by Asna's panicky voice.

When he looked in front of him, he realized that the wagon had already reached the peak and it was about to descend one more time.

"Kyaaaaaa!!!"

"Noooooooo!!!"

"I wanna gooo home!"

While Asna was joining the others in their screams with her eyes closed shut, Felix placed his hands behind his head in a relaxed manner as he thought to himself, 'The worst that can happen is embarrassing myself.'

.....

A few minutes later...

The wagon finally returned to to the original platform.

The people in the queue cheered in excitement while the ones in the wagon either escaped with shaky legs or remained seated with eyes closed shut.

'Queen, kick them off please.' The operator requested with a bored tone.

Everyone had been sent below the platform. Even Felix and Asna.

It was done like this to avoid people trying to play again after they just finished while the others still wait below for their turn.

"Wanna do it again?" Felix teased as he supported Asna from her waist while she tries to catch her breath.

"Prick!" Asna gave him a middle finger with a tearful look.

It was an exciting experience but she would rather lock herself back in Felix's mind than attempt it again!

"Alright, alright, no need for the finger, there are kids here." Felix lowered her finger and suggested, "How about we eat something? You look like you can't handle another game."

"I want fried Red Mingle wings dipped in hot sauce!" Asna's eyes brightened up at him mentioning food.

She was quite excited to experience UVR's cuisine fully. For a foodie like her, it was one of her first targets.

She used to mimic the food in Felix's memories but since Felix wasn't really that interested in cuisine, his memories didn't have too many unique choices for her.

...

In a few minutes, Felix and Asna reached an open restaurant that was packed with families. Not a single table was available for them.

"Let's get a take-out and eat it in the garden." Felix suggested while eyeing a giant holographic menu.

"Okay." Asna nodded her head and pointed her finger at the dish she wanted on the menu.

Felix picked the same plate as hers and added two cans of root beer. Then, he paid for it with a click of a button and went to get his food from the front desk.

After he picked the two plates, he handed one to Asna and walked together in direction of a wide-open garden that was also an open zoo!

Felix and Asna sat below a giant pink sakura-like tree and placed the plates on their thighs.

Then, they unsealed the wrapper and started eating in enjoyment while watching all kinds of unique and gentle animals walking by them.

There was no bickering, no talking, no cursing, just chilling and eating together in silence.

After a short while, they finished their food and went for a walk next to the lake.

They could see marine lifeforms swimming peacefully below and even silhouettes of mermaids dancing at the bottom.

"Do you want to experience the Ferris wheel or haunted house or something?" Felix inquired casually.

"Uhhmm, I am done with hardcore games, so let's just try the Ferris wheel and then leave." Asna answered.

"Let's get going then."

Felix beamed his hover platform and jumped on it. Then, he lifted Asna up and said, "Hold tight."

Since Asna already rode it once with him, she wasn't as embarrassed as the first time.

After a short while, they reached the Ferris wheel's entrance. They were lucky to find it still loading passengers in carts.

Each cart was big enough to hold four. Still, if the person riding it first wanted to have it all to himself, he could totally do so.

Felix and Asna walked towards the operator and showed him their VIP ticket.

"P..pleas..e...go...ahead." The operator started stuttering after coming face to face with Asna. He didn't even bother to check her VIP ticket or inform her of the rules.

"Thank you handsome." Asna smiled at him and stepped forward in the cart.

The moment the people in the queue saw her smile, their begrudging looks went away almost instantaneously.

Unnoticed by others, Felix joined Asna inside the cart with a peeved look, "Such an unfair society."

If it was another VIP individual, he would have been booed to death by the ones in the queue.

Cluck! Cluck!

The cart's door got closed automatically as the Wheel started moving slowly forward, giving space for the next cart to get filled up.

"What do you wanna do next after the wheel?" Felix stretched his limbs as he suggested, "Swimming pool? Beach? Visiting Exploration ruins? Play Fake Supremacy Games? Or something else?"

"I don't know...There is so much to do I am starting to get overwhelmed." Asna said.

"No need to rush." Felix yawned as he gazed from the window, "We will do everything eventually."

"Okay!" Asna felt a bit happy at him mentioning doing those activities together instead of leaving her to do them alone.

As they waited for the wheel to start rotating, the news and pictures of Asna had already spread to multiple galaxies and even landed in the hands of some high echelons individuals.

No matter if one was a broke peasant with a mountain of debt on his back or a king owning tens of solar systems, all of them had one final reaction.

Complete obsession over Asna, making them want her to be theirs so bad, they were willing to do anything!

Since Felix had been spotted with her, everyone believed that she was accompanying him in the real world.

So, they added new bounties to find him again!

Felix didn't give a shit about those bounties since he already had thousands of them.

As for the women? Most of them expressed intense jealousy over Asna's beauty. Yet, the majority tried to copy Asna's appearance for their own benefits in the UVR.

Unfortunately, the moment they tried doing so, the Queen shocked them with, 'The owner of this appearance is not allowing anyone to copy it.'

Unlike Felix who monetized his appearance by allowing anyone to copy it as long as they pay for it, Asna outright denied it!

In her eyes, no amount of money could make her share her appearance with anyone!

Felix had no intention of persuading her differently since it was her own decision to make.

"Oh, by the way, we need to get you a bank account." Felix mentioned.

Asna shook her head as she replied, "No need, Big sis already gave me one of hers."

"I see."

Felix didn't bother asking her about money after hearing so. He knew that Lady Sphinx must have taken care of it just like she did with Thor and Jörmungandr.

.....

After waiting fifteen minutes, the Ferris wheel had been finally refilled with new passengers and started rotating in a slow manner.

Since its height had reached up to one kilometer, the view from above was truly mystical.

Asna and Felix didn't speak to each other at all as they kept reeling in the breathtaking sunset from within the clouds.

Felix glanced at Asna and saw that she was fully engrossed in looking outside of the window. When he looked down, he noticed that her right hand was placed on the seat next to him.

'Now or never.'

Felix wasn't known for being hesitant. So, he took advantage of the atmosphere and placed his hand above hers.

He didn't hold her hand or anything, he just kept it placed on hers.

Asna flinched when she felt his warm palm but she didn't turn around or pull back her hand back.

She simply kept her head facing the window without saying anything.

When Felix looked at her blushed face reflected on the window, he couldn't help but smile faintly and hold her hand.

Asna tensed up for a little bit but soon, she relaxed her shoulders and connected her fingers with his hand.

No one spoke, no one thought of anything...Yet, both of them understood completely what each other wanted from the other.

Still, neither Felix nor Asna voiced it out loud.

They just stayed holding hands like that without even facing each other...Even for a playboy like Felix, a moment like this almost never happened to him before since he never fell truly in love with a girl.

So, he didn't make any other advancement on Asna and just played it slow like this.

It's not like Asna was going anywhere....

Chapter 656 - Electromagnetism Exercise.

Weeks went by and Asna's virus was still getting out of hand in the network.

Her random appearances with Felix in restaurants, waterparks, beaches, or just walking hand in hand in public parks were being taken extremely seriously by anyone interested in her.

Hell, she already had tens of fan clubs that were packed with billions of fans!

Since those interested in her were for the sake of her unparalleled beauty, they came from all industries!

This pushed her clubs to raise way higher than every actor, actress, and SG player!

When compared to Felix's Fanclub, the numbers had already surpassed him!

Due to the lack of information about her and her secretive persona, some of those clubs had been turned into cult-like groups, where they legit worship her as a goddess.

On the other hand, Felix's reputation had reached a new low due to him being seen holding hands with Asna from time to time.

Everyone who was obsessed with Asna wanted nothing else but to rip Felix into pieces.

Whenever they imagine Felix doing something dirty to Asna, they feel like their hearts were getting stamped brutally.

In their eyes, if they couldn't have her then no one should!

Hence, Felix had been getting cursed a lot lately in the network due to Asna.

Those curses or snarky remarks were coming from commoners, SG players, and even authoritative figures!

Unfortunately for them, Felix's face was thick enough to handle every hateful remark thrown at him.

In fact, the more hate he received, the happier he got since they just keep emphasizing his relationship with Asna.

Speaking about their relationship, It was progressing slower than a snail pace...Weeks went by already and they had yet to do anything besides holding hands.

In fact, they were just bickering more often now.

It seemed like there was some sort of emotional barrier that was hard to break for them.

Lady Sphinx, Thor, and Jörmungandr didn't try to help them out since they wanted them to figure out on their own.

***

Right at this moment, Felix was going hard on his training...

He wanted to master electromagnetism as fast as possible so he could be ready to learn psychic shield.

It was an ability that assisted Thor in resisting mental attacks. Though, it was quite difficult to learn due to its high requirement on electromagnetism control.

Meanwhile, Asna was hanging around in Lady Sphinx's house, spending most of those days sunbathing near the pool.

"Aren't you planning on working or something? Didn't you get thousands of offers in films and such? It can be fun." Lady Sphinx said while lying beside Asna in front of her massive pool.

"I am too lazy." Asna yawned and started stretching like a cat on her seat.

She was wearing a beautiful white one-piece that highlighted her curves. If Felix was around, his mouth would be watering already.

"Won't you be bored wasting your days like this?" Lady Sphinx wondered.

"Maybe later, but now?" Asna wore her sunglasses as she smiled happily, "I just want to relax like this."

'Help! He is going to kill me!'

'You brat! How dare you raise your voice at me!'

"Mute!"

Upon hearing Felix's cry of help, Asna didn't hesitate to disconnect their minds. It happened way too often in those days, she was accustomed to it.

Meanwhile, Felix could be seen being chased by Thor with a hammer on top of a snowy mountain.

He was terrified for his life since he had just snapped at Thor reflexively after getting punished for the hundredth time for failing to make a titan out of metal like the transformers.

"You little shit failed hundred times and still dare to raise your voice!" Thor cursed as he threw his hammer at Felix akin to a homing missile.

"It's just impossible right now!" Felix cried out loud with an aggrieved expression as he blocked the hammer with electrical arcs.

"I told you many times to let him learn at his own pace." Jörmungandr fired shots at Thor, "Maybe that's why he like training with me more."

"No wonder his poison manipulation is falling behind." Thor snickered as he teleported in front of Felix and caught him by his neck.

Since Thor was three meters tall, Felix appeared like a baby chick held in his palm.

Felix stopped resisting at once, knowing that he couldn't do anything inside Thor's room.

He was a god in it after all.

"I will give you one more chance, if you failed, the punishment period will double!" Thor warned as he teleported with Felix back into the snowy peak.

The moment Felix was thrown to the ground, he started shivering at the thought of his punishment getting doubled.

Who could blame him?

The punishment was getting showered under thunderclouds with weakened lightning resistance instead of his immunity!

The pain wasn't a joke!

'You got this! You already failed hundred times, just don't repeat the same mistakes.' Felix pumped himself with some encouraging words.

Still, his biggest motivation was avoiding the punishment at all costs.

"Begin!" Thor yelled as he manifested hundreds of metallic parts.

Some of them were as tall as a tree and some of them were as tiny as a nail.

Felix had to make a precise humanoid robot out of those parts in less than fifteen minutes without relying on his supersonic mode!

'First, separate the limbs and the torso to the side.' Felix aimed his palms at the biggest parts and lifted them up by using electromagnetism.

It made him appear like he was using lightning arcs to lift heavy objects.

Thud Thud!

After placing them down, Felix started separating the smaller parts on each side.

He paid special care to the bolts and nails since they could easily disappear under the snow. If he forgot even one of them, Thor would give him crap about it.

Szelztlz...

The way he got them together was by making them attach themselves to a bigger metal part by using electromagnetism.

Then, he placed it near him and swiftly focused on the bigger parts.

'Let's try the torso this time.'

Felix took a deep breath and used all he got to lift the torso in the air with tens of electrical arcs. Since it was heavy, he really had a hard time moving it quickly to his desired location.

Thud!

Still, he preserved and made it happen without dropping it once.

'Good!'

Felix was quite delighted by his success since he almost always dropped it and gets forced to waste even more energy to lift it back up.

Because he was using only his energy tank, he truly couldn't afford to waste a little bit lest he ends up out before completing his task.

It already happened tens of times before.

After lying the torso down on its back, Felix lifted the left thigh and connected it with its place on the torso.

Then, he picked up thirty bolts exactly and started affixing the thigh with the torso without using anything besides his electromagnetism.

To control such small bolts, Felix needed to be extremely delicate unlike before.

Otherwise, the bolt would be fired off like a bullet if he gave it even a little bit more of his energy.

"Well done! Carry on! You have 13 minutes left."

Thor complemented from above as he watched Felix clean his sweaty forehead after screwing all the bolts in their places.

'13 minutes, I need to go even faster.'

Felix understood that he still had other limbs and joints to deal with.

If he wanted to get this over within time, he needed to increase his efficiency without compromising his work!

So, he quickly repeated the same process with the other thigh and moved to the knee joints the moment he was done.

Instead of doing them one by one, Felix lifted both joints at the same time and attached them carefully with the thighs!

Not wasting time with celebration, Felix took a handful of bolts and started screwing three by three as fast as he could.

His eyes weren't focusing on anything but the tiny holes on the joints and the thighs!

The worst part, he wouldn't completely connect them together since the joints wouldn't allow the robot to walk.

Thor wanted a real transformer, not a toy.

So, Felix had to know exactly which holes he needed to skip while going at such speed!

Sz!z!z!z!

"11 minutes!"

Since time was short, Felix didn't even check if he did them right or not after he was done. He quickly lifted the legs and connected them with the knees one by one.

Naturally, the feet had joints as well, making it a requirement for him to get them perfectly!

"9 minutes!"

'Faster, faster, faster, faster...'

Felix's hands turned into ghosts as he worked on connecting the shoulders, arms, elbows, and hands.

He never glanced back to double-check on his work just to gain that extra second or two!

After he was done with both arms, Thor shouted that only three minutes remained.

By now, Felix was starting to feel exhaustion signs due to his elemental energy getting lower and lower.

Asna, who always fill it back in, was sunbathing near the pool, uncaring about his sufferings.

'Come on, last two parts!'

Felix cracked his fingers and then aimed them at the giant robotic neck. electrical snakes emerged from the tip of his fingers and pulled up the neck from the snow.

'GO!!'

Instead of walking with it, Felix hurled near the near-completed robot.

Thor raised an eyebrow in displeasure but he didn't say anything.

He just watched Felix struggle to connect the neck with the torso and then move back towards the head.

'I can't lift anything anymore!' Felix stared exhaling out loud as he had just finished a ten kilometers marathon.

The giant head in front of him appeared like a mountain in his current state.

"40 seconds!"

Yet, the moment he heard Thor's voice, Felix mustered everything he had to push the head towards the neck!

Naturally, he utilized only electromagnetism to do so!

Due to its spherical shape, it made it much easier for Felix to reach the neck quickly.

"10 seconds!"

Felix pulled the remaining bolts from his pockets and attached each one on the tip of his finger! Then, he screwed them all at the same time by firing them into the tiny holes precisely!

The moment they got connected with the holes, Felix turned his fingers around and the bolts all started spinning into their rightful holes!

"Time over!"

Thor teleported instantly in front of Felix, stopping him from trying anything else.

He didn't even need to as the moment Felix heard his voice, he dropped face down into the snow like a dead dog.

He was left with only 1% in his elemental pool. Enough to keep him awake but in a trance.

'Finally...' Felix smiled proudly.

After failing hundred times to finish the giant robot, he was ought to feel proud of such accomplishment. Especially when he doubted himself about getting it done!

Chapter 657 - Seeking A New Identity.

Naturally, Felix didn't know if it would work since he didn't double-check on his work at all.

But, he was still proud of his quick improvement over the past month.

From being able to measly connect nails with walls, Felix was now able to create a giant ten meters metallic robot all by himself!

Thor might be hard-handed in his training but it showed time and time again that it worked just fine to push Felix's limits and turn the impossible into possible.

"Get your ass up and pilot this thing." Thor grinned as he kicked Felix's feet lightly, "It better move properly or tonight you will be cooked under another lightning shower."

Upon hearing so, Felix quickly refilled his tank and bounced back up on his feet.

He rubbed his hands in nervousness while standing behind the robot.

"Don't you dare fail me now."

Felix murmured as he entered the head of the robot from a door in the back.

Inside the head, there was only a chair and two metallic poles attached with it and the neck.

Felix sat on the chair and placed his hands on the poles. Then, he took a deep breath and closed his eyes.

'I need to connect all the limbs with myself.'

Felix sent out a stream of discharges from his palm that went through the metallic pole and spread throughout the massive robotic body.

Each time he reached a limb, he separated an electrical string and attached it with the limb and on one of his fingers.

He did this with all of the other limbs and joints until all of his fingers were linked with them.

Thor was gentle enough not to make Felix work on the robot's fingers and toes as well.

'Let's test their mobility first.'

Felix started with the head as he controlled it to turn slightly to the left by raising his finger.

The electrical string attached to the head suddenly expanded into tens of electrical lines and forced the head to move as Felix directed.

Clank Clank!

The noise the head made was irritating alright but Felix didn't give a shit as he was pleased by it moving as he wanted!

After all, if his bolts were screwed wrong, the head wouldn't even be able to move!

Felix did the same test with all the other limbs and found out that none of them suffered from any issues!

'Thank god.' Felix sighed in relief.

"Good, good, now try to stand up." Thor said with his arms crossed.

"Alright gimme a sec."

Felix knew that it was going to be extremely difficult to achieve if he wasn't fully focused. After all, he would need to control multiple joints at the same time to make it happen.

If he got confused for even a split second, he would end up giving the wrong orders.

After spending thirty seconds creating an outline of the movement required to stand up, Felix snapped his eyes open and began playing with his fingers like a pianist.

Clack Clack...

Every time he moved a finger, the correspondent joint get encased in tens of electrical thin wires before getting forced to move.

Thor pulled some distance and watched the giant robot use both of his hands to pull himself into a dog position.

Then, the robot placed one hand on his knee and the other used it to propel himself up!

Just as the robot was going to fall on his back due to the sudden shift in balance, Felix used all he got to lift the other leg as well!

Voila!

The ten meters robot was now standing on his feet with bent knees and a wide-open stance, to enhance his balance!

'Let's go!'

Inside the head, Felix was already sweating buckets with his fingers twitching all over. Yet, he was still laughing excitedly as he never expected himself to actually pull it off!

After failing the hundredth time, one was bound to lose faith in his ability.

Since every fail was accompanied by hellish punishment, it just made it worse for Felix to continue on this exercise.

To the point, he truly believed that it was impossible to pull it off.

Fortunately for him, Thor never gave up on his ability to do it.

"Very good kiddo." Thor smiled with a pleased look as he teleported next to Felix inside the cockpit.

He patted his shoulder and said, "You can let go now."

Although it was really hard to keep this giant piece of metal remains standing on a windy peak of a mountain, Felix was reluctant to disconnect his electromagnetism.

"Can I play with it a bit?" Felix requested.

"Knock yourself out. Our session will end soon anyway." Thor shrugged his shoulders and logged out of the UVR.

"Hehehe, Queen remove the limitation on my energy and take us to a smooth surface." Felix requested while grinning in glee.

It was a dream of every man or boy to pilot a mech and f*ck some shit up.

When Felix was sent to a normal white room, he didn't hesitate to ask for another mech AI to fight him.

Unfortunately, even without energy limitation, he got his ass handed to him.

After all, he was piloting a clunky piece of the junk while he was going against a real Mech!

Nevertheless, Felix was having fun utilizing nothing but his electromagnetism to operate his robot.

In real-life battles, Felix knew that creating a robotic mech to fight with was absolutely useless.

No one would wait until he finishes and if he was given the chance to create it, the enemies he was going to face could blow it up with a single ability.

He knew it, Thor knew it.

Still, he was forced to pass this exercise since the final product wasn't the reward but the techniques mastered during its creation.

Felix was now able to control his electromagnetism either delicately or forcefully. He could do them at the same time if he wanted!

Mastering those techniques was the real reward!

In addition, having the ability to work on metallic objects like this could potentially help Felix in space if his spaceship ever got blown or something.

"I believe he is ready now to learn your psychic shield." Jörmungandr mentioned while sitting next to Thor.

"I will keep an eye on him in the upcoming month." Thor responded.

Thor knew that learning a psychic shield wasn't going to be an easy endeavor.

It might take Felix years before mastering it if he stayed consistent in his training.

That's because one single mistake in using the technique might end up blowing Felix's brain.

It was that risky!

***

Two months later...

'Sir Felix, we have reached the territory of the capital city of the Guardian Empire.' The Queen announced.

"Phew, we are finally here." Felix wiped his sweaty forehead while holding onto a solidified white poison arrow.

"Master, can I end the training early today?" Felix requested from Jörmungandr.

"Ahem." Jörmungandr made an acknowledging sound while playing chess with Thor.

Upon getting his confirmation, Felix logged out and requested the Queen to slow the spaceship's speed.

"How many kilometers left for our destination?" Felix asked.

'148,359 kilometers before arriving at the capital planet.'

Felix thought about it for a second before responding, 'keep going at this pace.'

Felix didn't want to enter the planet before his void bloodline arrives.

It was safer and easier to attempt entering the 3rd stage of replacement in his spaceship than in an unfamiliar environment.

Felix was told by Lady Sphinx that the bloodline would reach in the next upcoming days at best.

'Queen, what will cost me to change my identity?' Felix inquired as he sat in his bedroom.

'Changing identity is impossible unless you wish for it. Based on your current owned wishes, you can only change it temporarily for two years if you combined two wishes.' Queen replied.

'I see.' Felix nodded his head in understanding.

In the beginning, Felix planned only to change his identity during the trial of the Void Mercenary Guild.

However, after doing some research, he realized that the Void Guild's trials were held up only in the capital city of the Guardian Empire.

Felix knew that he couldn't enter the capital city without providing his identification.

If he did so, he would be exposed almost immediately to the higher up of the empire since he was a wanted man in secret.

Don't let his glorified reputation in the human race foul you. The upper echelons still desired to capture him and extract all of his secrets.

'Two years...Hmm, I think it will be enough to harvest the required void energy.' Felix nodded his head as he requested, 'Queen, let me check the list of identities.'

Almost immediately, Felix was presented with a list of randomized identities that were generated by her.

Felix clicked on one of them and started reading its details. It had everything about the character. age, school, address, job, financial situation...etc

There was even a picture accompanied with the list of information.

The moment Felix agreed to this identity, he would be this person for two years without worrying about getting discovered.

That's because the Queen didn't just generate those details randomly. She manipulated the system to make this character real by putting all these data in its right places.

The identity was as legit as Felix's own!

Chapter 658 - The Arrival Of Lord Khaos' Subordinate.

In front of Felix, there were hundreds of those randomized identities, giving him a headache on which one to pick.

After a gruesome 30 minutes of nitpicking each identity, Felix finally settled with this one:

//Name: Lancelot Kelly

Age: 31 - Born 12th of September

Social Class: Middle class

Education: Went to Mercy Public School

Address: Lot El Doha, NR 458, Imperial City, Wragos planet.

Criminal Record: N/A

Marital status: single

Job: Galaxies Explorer.

Financial status: Struggling slightly//

The reason he chose this identity was due to his job. Being a galaxies explorer meant having a slight chance of getting something extraordinary.

That's because finding a new galaxy signified new opportunities and sometimes weird supernatural encounters.

This would help Felix throw the dogs off him during his void creatures hunt.

As for the appearance, Felix requested the Queen to leave it empty for now.

He knew that his appearance was going to change anyway after he integrate with the void primogenitor bloodline.

...

Five days later at 05:00 AM...

'Little thief, wake up.' Lady Sphinx informed the sleeping Felix, 'Lord Khaos subordinate have arrived and waiting for your permission.'

'What crappy timing.' Felix rubbed his groggy eyes as he stood up from his bed in his pajamas.

He wore his sandals and went to the bathroom to splash some water on his face.

After being refreshed by the cold water, Felix got out and stood in the middle of his bedroom.

"I am ready." Felix said.

Lady Sphinx gave permission to Lord Khaos's subordinate telepathically.

The moment she did so, the space in front of Felix began to twist and flicker like it was made out of candy.

Felix took a step back instinctively as he sensed a great danger in front of him.

Before he could react, a four meters thin humanoid purple mass of energy appeared in that place.

He had no facial features besides a reversed eye in the center of his forehead. His arms were long enough he was dragging them on the floor.

He truly appeared like a doodle made by a kid.

'What the hell is this thing.'

Weirded out, Felix sized up the being that was emitting so much pressure, the sheets and furniture kept moving around.

'One of the pacified void creatures made by Lord Khaos.' Lady Sphinx answered as she watched the void creature hand out a tiny spatial card to Felix.

'Pacified you say?' Felix gulped a mouthful as he took the spatial card and retreated a few meters back. His instincts refused to calm down, forcing him to keep his guard up.

Fortunately, there was nothing to worry about. The moment he caught the spatial card, the weird-looking void creature disappeared as sudden as he appeared.

"How the hell does he keep appearing and disappearing like this?"

Although Felix's instinct calmed down, he still kept his distance from the void creature's place.

"You can be at ease, he already went back to the void realm." Lady Sphinx replied.

Felix was honestly spooked to hear that. He always thought those void creatures were required to go through void portals to enter the matter universe.

When Lady Sphinx told him that Lord Khaos's subordinate would be traveling through the void realm, he believed that he would exit from the nearest portal to his position then heads towards him.

Not swagger into his spaceship and go back to the void realm like it was nothing special!

"Don't worry too much." Lady Sphinx informed, "Only a few unique void creatures had such an ability like Void Succubus and Greedy Djins. The majority still required to use portals."

"Why is that?" Felix inquired.

"Because to travel through both universes, the void creature is required to have The Void Eye." Lady Sphinx answered.

"Void Eye?" Felix couldn't help but recall the peculiar reversed eye on that void creature's forehead.

He didn't think that it was the key to free dimensional travel.

"Why is it hard for the rest of the void creatures to have it?" He asked.

"Because only Lord Khaos and Paragon of Sins could help a void creature cultivate it." Lady Sphinx replied patiently, "Since it is bothersome and consumes a lot of their energy, it's impossible for them to help thousands of void creatures own it."

"That's the reason why only void creatures with smaller figures could possibly own it unlike symbiotes, glutinous cube...etc"

Although Felix was relieved to hear that it was impossible for those cosmic beings to own it, he was still uncomfortable by the notion that void creatures were capable of ambushing him from anywhere.

After all, they were traveling the void realm that mirrored the matter universe.

As long as they have correct coordinates, they could show up next to his bed while he was asleep.

"Void creatures are truly too scary." Felix smiled bitterly, feeling slightly worked up by the information.

Although he knew that it was an extremely low chance of being ambushed in that fashion, Felix still could not get rid of the possibility out of his mind.

Especially when he was going to be dealing with void creatures more often in this year.

"Did you forget that you will be integrating with void bloodline soon?" Lady Sphinx smiled, "There is a high chance of you unlocking a passive that will help you sense fluctuation around you."

"Those fluctuations are the feedback of what's going on in the mirroring void realm. So, if a void creature is standing nearby you in the void realm, you will sense him beforehand."

"That's truly a relief." Felix's mind was at ease after hearing so.

"Heh, let's just hope your shitty luck won't screw you over." Asna chuckled while getting a full body massage by Lady Sphinx's maids in her house.

Felix's eyelids twitched at the sound of that, feeling like it might happen for real since there was still a possibility of him not getting it.

"Let's hope for the best." Felix took the spatial card from his bracelet and placed the one given to him by Lord Khaos.

"Oh lord."

The instant he accessed the inventory, he was left absolutely gobsmacked by the items in it!

There were at least a hundred boxes in it all colored the same!

All of them had a symbol of void energy, letting Felix figure out their content immediately.

"I don't know if he is being generous or just more interested in Nimo's hatching than us." Thor gave a hollow laugh.

"I am willing to bet it's the latter." Jörmungandr said.

They had already noticed during their meeting that Lord Khaos was quite invested in matters related to the Paragon of Sins.

Since he sent them hundreds of boxes filled with void energy, it only meant that he wanted Nimo to hatch as fast as possible so he could grow quickly and replace the Paragon of Sins.

'Heh heh, don't mind me taking some of your food Nimo.' Felix grinned shamelessly as he beamed ten boxes and stacked them to the side.

Since it was almost impossible to get void energy online, Felix had no way to use void-based abilities even if he integrated with the Void bloodline.

In addition, he needed void energy to increase his affinity to 100% after he drinks the void potion that would awaken his affinity to the element.

Based on Lady Sphinx, the potion had already been made by her a month before and was on its journey to him.

It could arrive from three to ten days max.

Lord Khaos's gift was truly too timely even though it wasn't directed to him!

If it wasn't for it, Felix would have gone hunting void creatures normally like other mercenaries to gather as much void energy as possible and push his affinity to the peak.

When Nimo saw Felix looking at the chests with a greedy grin, he didn't know what he was up to. But he still felt like he was being robbed, making him jump around in indignation.

Eee! Eee!

'You better quieten down or I will come get you.' Asna threatened while yawning lazily.

Eee...

Immediately after hearing her devilish voice, Nimo jumped on Lady Sphinx's lap and curled up fearfully.

He truly got the short end of the stick to end up in the clutches of those two shameless and sadistic duo.

"Let's see what grade of stones he sent." Felix rubbed his palms while trying to open one of the chests.

"Are you stupid?!" Thor berated almost immediately.

"Huh?"

"The box is the container for the energy." Jörmungandr informed, "The moment you open it, the energy will dissipate almost immediately."

"Is it because of its nature?"

Felix pulled back his hands after figuring out what they meant. Since he almost never interacted with void energy before, he forgot to consider that its energy wasn't like the others.

For water, fire, ice, wind, and most elements, their elemental energy gets absorbed through rocks, stones, or other physical objects.

Felix believed that he would find void rocks inside the chest instead of the energy itself.

Rare elements should never be treated the same as uncommon and common elements.

"This container must be special for it to keep the energy within."

Felix examined the black chests thoroughly, knowing that elemental energy shouldn't be contained in physical objects.

It could actually travel through them quite easily like microwaves and such.

"Only void material can hold into void energy." Lady Sphinx answered his doubts.

"As expected of Lord Khaos."

Felix admired, knowing that it was almost impossible for him to create solid material through his elements and actually make them remain permanent or self-sustaining.

The best he could do was create solidified tiny poison objects that could break quite easily.

He still had too much to learn to reach the level of primogenitors when it came to elemental manipulation.

Chapter 659 - The 3rd Replacemet!

After finding out that he couldn't check on the energy, Felix ignored the boxes for now and started searching in his spatial inventory for the bloodline bottle.

"There you are."

Felix had found it in a jiffy and beamed it on his hand. It was a medium-sized common glass bottle that looked like an empty bottle for a soft drink.

It was filled to the brim with a purplish gooey substance.

"This is more than enough for me to reach 120% in my integration." Felix was quite speechless by the amount he received.

For the first time ever, he wasn't required to go hunt for primogenitors' essence in beasts' bloodlines!

A process that he dreaded immensely due to how bothersome, wasteful, and time-consuming it was.

Although he knew that Lord Khaos was going to give him enough to reach the peak in his integration, he truly didn't expect that it would be this much!

"Thank you, elder." Felix showed his appreciation by bowing slightly to the bottle.

Then, he beamed it inside the spatial card. Before he reach 100% in his void affinity, it was impossible to integrate with a primogenitor's bloodline.

'Each time I use a new primogenitor's bloodline, I am supposed to receive a major boost to all of my stats.' Felix pondered, 'Since the enhancement is limited due to my own body, It's better if I entered the 3rd stage of replacement after reaching the 4th mark.'

Felix recognized that this was the best move to make currently.

Since the void potion was still being delayed, it's better to enhance his strength as much as possible before the replacement process...At least, his physical strength.

The worst that could happen was spending a month or two in hibernation to quicken the absorption process.

"Elders, you think it's the right thing to do?" Felix inquired.

"Indeed, those opportunities don't come too often." Jörmungandr agreed.

"Same, It's alright to skip training for two months if it's something like this." Thor supported.

"You do you." Lady Sphinx waved her hand indifferently as she focused on her book.

Upon receiving their confirmation, Felix beamed many containers, each holding into a high-graded natural treasure.

"You bastard, why didn't you ask for my opinion?" Asna fumed.

"It's not like you will answer truthfully." Felix answered mockingly.

"You..." Asna was left tongue-tied at his response.

She knew that he was right as the moment he would ask her, she would be too embarrassed to stop him from going into hibernation.

"See?" Felix smiled bitterly.

This was the reason why their relationship almost never took off.

Asna was still not comfortable with being open to Felix. She was probably not comfortable with being open to anyone.

Felix couldn't really do much about it since it was her issue to solve. He already had hundred of matters on his plate to take care of.

Felix ignored the awkward silence in his mind and started doing the maths to figure out the quantity required to make the final push to the 4th mark.

In the past months, he spent each day devouring B and C graded natural treasures so he could remain awake and increase his strength gradually.

By now, he was merely missing 25% more or less to reach the peak of the 3rd mark.

'So, I will need 10 more A graded natural treasures.' Felix sighed, 'My stock is running empty already and I have yet to reach even 5th mark.'

Since each A-graded treasure cost tens of billions of coins if it was auctioned, Felix was thoroughly powering himself by throwing money down the sewer.

Too bad for him, this was the price a human like him needed to pay to touch the toes of the giants.

Soon, Felix stopped moping about the expenses and went to his VR Pod.

'Queen, turn on the highest cloaking level of the spaceship and keep it on standby.'

'As you command.'

Upon hearing so, Felix began shoving the natural treasures one by one down his throat akin to a beast.

He didn't bother to even chew them since their taste was horrendous.

Barp!

After he ate them all, Felix immediately began feeling dizzy and heavy. Knowing that he could enter hibernation at any moment, Felix quickly laid inside the VR Pod and got comfortable.

'See you in a couple of mont...'

Before he could even finish his sentence, Felix's brain had been forced to shut down by the devourer's heart.

Right now, every ounce of energy was used for the sole purpose of absorbing natural treasures.

This was the reason why being in hibernation was much better than taking slow daily intake.

Though, the fact that he waste months doing nothing but sleeping still was a disadvantage that Felix disliked greatly.

****

Four months later...

Felix could be seen sitting in a lotus position on the cold floor of his bedroom. He was currently meditating to prepare himself for the replacement of his bloodline.

He woke up from his hibernation months ago and had already drunk the void potion and increased his affinity to 100%.

All it took was a single chest to achieve so! This spoke highly of the quality of the void energy sent by Lord Khaos.

It wasn't the purest level of energy but it was getting there.

With Asna's help, Felix was fed directly with the purified void energy for a month or so until he reached a 100% affinity rating.

As for the gained strength from hitting the 4th mark?

Felix could be now considered as strong as a peak origin realm bloodliner when it came to pure physical strength!

He had merely reached the 4th mark and he was already at the peak of humanity when it came to physical strength!

In the devourer system, there were thirty marks in total!

What's even scarier, Felix was just about to receive his 4th bloodline enhancement and he still got at least four more to go.

After spending ten more minutes meditating, Felix let out a long silent exhale from his nose and opened his eyes slowly.

Nothing was reflected on his pupil but absolute void. He was finally ready for the 3rd stage of replacement!

"Let us begin."

elix beamed Lord Khaos's bloodline bottle and placed it next to him. Then, he beamed the rest of the integration materials and equipment.

"How much are you going for?" Asna asked.

"For some reason, I am confident in integrating with 13% successfully." Felix replied while drawing that amount in his needle from the bottle.

"13%?? Are you really sure?" Asna asked with a worried tone.

In his previous replacement, Felix had integrated with 11%. That was already too high since he was dealing with primogenitors' bloodlines.

"I don't really know but I just feel like I can take it." Felix joked, "Maybe getting my ass fried by lightning bolts every day enhanced my confidence in taking pain."

"This is not the time to joke around!" Asna berated, "If you failed this, you die! So just play it safe and at least integrate with 12%."

Felix shook his head in rejection. He knew that it was smarter to play it safe but he felt like only those who risk it truly get mutations.

He really wanted to receive a mutation from Lord Khaos.

He didn't know what it was going to be but Felix was certain that it would assist him greatly in dealing with void creatures.

Just as Asna wanted to change his mind, Lady Sphinx intervened, "Leave him be. Don't mess with his mental state right now with unnecessary concerns. It will just affect him poorly."

"Okay..."

Upon hearing so, Asna could only bite her lips nervously and watch Felix bring the needle right in front of his human heart.

He already asked Lady Sphinx if it was possible to inject the bloodline with his devourer's heart and she rejected it.

She explained that in normal situations, his human heart was the one responsible for regulating his bloodstream even though his devourer's heart was currently his main.

Devourer's heart worked only during emergencies and when Felix ate a natural treasure.

After taking another deep breath, Felix injected everything at once and followed it by drinking other potions for integration.

The tenants in his mind all focused on Felix, who was waiting patiently for the pain to kick off.

A minute later...Felix's heart thumped loudly once before an unimaginable agony kicked in all at once, assaulting his entire being!

AHHHHHHH!!

Since Felix wasn't biting on the leather belt, he screamed at the top of his voice, not caring about anyone hearing him in his spaceship!

Both of his hearts kept booming thunderously as Lord Khaos's genes kept invading every cell in his body!

Since the pain was coming from every part of his body, Felix had absolutely no clue if he received a mutation or lost Thor's mutation.

At this point, he didn't bother to think about them as the only thing he wanted was for the pain to go away already.

Yet, no matter how tough it got or how much bloodshot his eyes appeared, Felix had prevailed through the entire duration, lasting full 15 minutes without requiring anyone's assistance!

Though, he still ended up passing out after the entire replacement process had finished.

Just like his 2nd replacement, Felix's entire body was left lying on a puddle of sweat and blood, making it impossible to see what were the mutations that he received.

This time, Felix had laid on this bloody pool for merely a few minutes before the Queen used the symbiote skin of the spaceship to pick him up.

Then, she placed him inside a medical pod that Felix had prepared for himself.

She closed the glass door and left him bath in it to treat his shitty condition and also clean himself up.

The moment the blood had been cleared from his body and hair, Asna and the rest couldn't help but stare at his forehead in intrigue....

Chapter 660 - Lord Khaos' Mutations!

After a couple of hours... Felix's eyelids started quivering slightly.

'Wakey wakey.' Asna smiled with a relieved look.

'How long was I out fo...Huh?'

Felix was forced to close his mouth shut after opening his eyes and seeing nothing but pitch darkness.

'Why am I blind?' He inquired in confusion as he kept opening and closing his eyes again and again, hoping to be met with a different result.

"You are not blind." Lady Sphinx answered as she stared at his forehead, 'You are now looking directly at the void realm.'

'What?' Felix was left dumbfounded by her response.

'Can't you sense something bulging out of your forehead?' Thor chuckled.

'Forehead?'

The moment Felix heard so, he felt chills coursing on his spine after he sensed a spherical object placed right in the center of his forehead.

Since he couldn't see for shit, he didn't know what it was.

However, after recalling Lord Khaos's weird-looking subordinate and the reversed eye in his forehead, Felix had a pretty good guess.

'You are right.' Lady Sphinx smiled, 'Congratulation for inheriting Lord Khaos's Void Eye.'

'It can't be...' In utter disbelief, Felix reached out his finger trying to touch the eye.

However, the moment his finger was about to come in contact with the pupil, his instincts started tingling warning him not to do it.

'It has no eyelids?' Felix figured out the reason almost immediately.

If it had eyelids, his subconscious would have closed them shut to protect it from direct contact. Since it didn't have them, it was up to his instincts to do the job.

'If it has no eyelids, how am I supposed to close it?' Felix kept ordering his mind to close it shut but nothing happen.

The world was still just pure darkness all around him.

'Try to block it with your palm completely and your vision will be restored back to normal.' Lady Sphinx advised.

'Alright.'

Felix did as he was told, not wanting to spend another second glancing at the void realm. It was too scary even for him.

'Ohh? It's all good now.' Felix was surprised to see that his normal vision was truly restored.

The first thing he noticed was that he was lying in a medical pool. So, he removed the oxygen mask and requested the Queen to open the glass door.

As he stepped outside of the pool without clothes on him, Felix noticed another new addition.

His hair had grown to a few meters just like always but this time, its appearance had completely dumbfounded him.

His hair was glowing faintly just like Asna's gorgeous crimson hair!

The only difference was that Felix's hair was now colored with a mixture of blue, pink, purple, and black. Though, the color purple was most dominant.

Since his hair was glowing faintly and was three meters long, it truly appeared like he was dragging behind him the Milky Way Galaxy.

It was as flamboyant as it could get and Felix had no idea what to do with it.

"Can't I keep my hair for once...Why do I keep inheriting always a hair mutation." Felix wanted to cry but had no tears.

"It matches well with your eyes." Asna giggled at his depression.

"Don't tell me my eyes also changed?"

Felix quickly rushed to the bathroom and looked at his reflection in the mirror.

The moment he noticed that his irises had been changed to violet while his pupil remained white, he sighed in relief.

'Thank god it's violet.' Felix really was scared that it would be pink after he spotted some pinky hair strands in his hair.

Soon, Felix's attention was brought back to the void eye on his forehead. Since he was covering it with his palm, he hadn't checked it yet.

'How am I supposed to see it?' Felix thought to himself.

He knew that the moment he removed his palm, he would be looking at the darkness of the void realm again.

'Most importantly, why the hell is it more dominant than my truth eyes?'

This truly threw him off at the start. The fact that his truth eyes were completely overshadowed by his void eye.

In his mind, the truth eyes were supposed to be the best eyes in the universe.

"Say what again?" Lady Sphinx snapped her book shut immediately after hearing his statement.

"Cough, I misspo..."

Before Felix could apologize over his slip of the tongue, Lady Sphinx corrected his thinking calmly, "It's only natural that the void eye will dominate your truth eye."

"The void eye is the same as the void vision in my truth eyes." Lady Sphinx said, "If your mental energy wasn't an embarrassment, you wouldn't even need to own that eye to see the void realm."

Upon hearing so, Felix recalled that he was still stuck at the 2nd classement of the truth eyes...The Quantum Vision.

In reality, there was still the 3rd classement, Spiritual Vision, 4th classement, Void Vision, 5th classement, Truth Vision, and lastly, even a 6th unknown classement!

So Lady Sphinx was indeed correct, The void eye could never overshadow her eyes if Felix was at a higher classement.

"Still, since you have inherited the void eye from Lord Khaos personally. It won't have only the basic functions like my void vision." Lady Sphinx opened her book again as she shared one last time "To know what it does fully, ask Lord Khaos personally."

"Ask Lord Khaos?" Felix's eyelids twitched, feeling a bit scared about Lord Khaos's reaction when he finds out that he had inherited his void eye.

After all, Lord Khaos had demonstrated in their latest meeting that he didn't approve of Felix yet.

'What if I used my infra-ray vision only?' Felix thought.

Instead of thinking too much, Felix went for it, hoping that he would be able to spot his arm through the pitch darkness.

Unfortunately, no heat or bones appeared as he directly stared at his arm.

Not giving up, Felix had used other types of visions, ranging from gamma rays, microwaves, radio waves, ultra infrared vision, and more.

'Nothing.' Felix sighed, 'I am truly looking through dimensions.'

Felix stopped his attempts at last after realizing that nothing could travel through dimensions besides Time itself.

'Queen, take a picture of me with the bracelet.' Felix requested as he stared directly in the mirror.

Since he was seeing nothing but darkness, he had to use the bracelet instead of his eyes to take the picture.

'Done.'

After receiving a confirmation, Felix covered the void eye with his palm again. Then, he brought out the holographic selfie.

'Huh? It looks different than the one I saw on that void creature.' Felix tilted his head in confusion as he looked at his void eye.

It wasn't reversed as he had seen and its irises were wine-colored.

Meanwhile, the pupil resembled a frog's rectangle pupil but had a long thin line passing through it. From afar, it looked like a plus sign '+'.

Its color was black, matching well with the redness of the irises.

After looking at it for a few seconds, Felix inquired, 'Is this how Lord Khaos's eye looks like?'

'Never seen it before.'

'Don't know.'

'Same, Lord Khaos has never exposed his void eye to other primogenitors.'

The primos in his mind all expressed their ignorance on the matter. Felix believed them since he had seen Lord Khaos faceless form before.

Though, he was confident that it would be the same since it would make no sense to inherit a different eye after using his bloodline.

"For now, let's cover it up." Felix decided to stop asking unanswerable questions and focus on matters at hand.

The first problem he had was covering the eye so it wouldn't affect his vision.

However, since it had no eyelids, he knew that he shouldn't just cover it with a normal piece of cloth to avoid irritating it.

Thankfully, he had a few nanosuits in his spatial card.

Felix brought out the highest quality nanosuit in his possession and requested the Queen to transform it into a thin black bandana.

Since its size was quite small, the Queen couldn't use the entire nanosuit to make it. It would be way too thick.

So, she used only 30% of the nanobots to make it.

'looking good.' Felix complimented as he felt the bandana in his hand. It was smoother than silk and lighter than a feather.

Without further ado, Felix wore it on his forehead in a gentle manner.

He could sense that the fabric was touching the eye. Though, it didn't hurt him that much due to the materials.

Felix knew that during intense movements, it would start to be a real pain in the ass. So, he couldn't leave it like this.

'Queen, program the nanobots to always avoid touching my void eye.' Felix requested.

For Queen AI, this request was nothing too difficult. She spent less than a millisecond to achieve the intended purpose.

'Now, it's much better.' Felix smiled in comfort after the fabric was taken off his void eye.

If one looked closer, one would notice that the bandana was slightly bulging from the position of the eye.

The best part about using nanobots as a bandana was the protection involved. It was like wearing armor for an eye.

Now that he was done with his mutation, Felix brought out scissors and started cutting his hair to a reasonable length.

"What a shame, you looked fancy." Asna sighed disappointedly as she watched the Milky Way Galaxy getting destroyed by his barbaric hands.

"This hairstyle is already high-profiled enough." Felix's eyelids twitched as he stared at his shortened hair glow in the semi-darkened bathroom.

Felix placed the scissors down and pulled his bandana slightly upward to keep his hair standing while also covering his void eye.

To be fair, he actually pulled off the bandana look quite well.

Anyone who sees him wouldn't doubt that he was using the bandana for style instead of covering the void eye!
