

The Supreme God

Chapter 10 Stronger Than You've Imagined (Part Two)

Bam! Bam! Bam!

Both of their vital energies violently burst out at the same time, and collided between their fists and palms.

The powerful force from the collision forced Austin to back down several steps.

"Again!" Austin yelled and rushed forward once more.

This time, he used another martial art skill called the Roaring Tiger Fist, which was characterized by a fierce and powerful attack.

Two figures suddenly moved and leaped through the forest. They were so fast that they had already intersected thrice in a blink of an eye.

'How?' Rafat asked himself.

He was genuinely shocked.

He then found out that even though Austin was only at the third level of the Energy Gathering Realm, his body had extremely rich amounts of vital energy.

He possessed three or four times the amount of the average person at his level. Thus, Rafat found it hard to resist Austin's power for a long time.

After they had faced each other in battle three times in a row, Rafat felt his injuries had been aggravated.

He thought that if they continued to fight like this, he would likely be defeated by the grunt disciple at the third level.

Meanwhile, blood dripped from the corner of Austin's mouth. His hand swiped at it and he shook his fist.

When he looked down, he found that his fists were red and swollen, and his arms were numb.

However, his insanely strong fighting spirit completely dominated him and made him unaware of his physical pain.

Determination filled Austin's eyes as he stared at Rafat once more, like a wolf hunting in the wild.

He eyed Rafat like his prey that he would soon kill and eat.

"Son of a bitch, I admit you are probably the most powerful person I've met at the third level of Energy Gathering Realm.

But if that's why you think you can beat me, you're daydreaming.

I'm much more powerful than you have imagined," Rafat hissed.

him. He didn't expect for the boy to attack third level of Energy Gathering Realm before, and they had all tonight were different. Denali and Austin were both at the third level of Energy Gathering Realm.

looked like ants in his eyes, but they made him taste failure as he was consumed by madness.

longer, so

Magic!" he said.

fell, he bit the tip of his gushed out, it quickly turned into three red fumes fumes fused with each other and continued to spread, illuminating the atmosphere suddenly wrapped around Rafat from head to toe. He was completely covered in it except and it was out howls and screams, together with the disgusting stench of fog made the hairs on Austin's on par with a

Austin knew that his strong will to fight wouldn't work at Austin with contempt in to hell!"

and quickly spread around that he could no choice but to channel all his vital energy into his fist and attack Rafat with shrieked from where she stood.

boat now. If Austin won, she would she tried her best to warn

"Bam!"

and he felt that all his internal organs had been hit hard at the same time. His still wrapped in the red fog, quickly followed and punched Austin hard in the fight back now. His strength was too weak compared of Austin's mouth and stained his clothes.

grabbed Austin by the collar with his left hand and threw him over. Go to hell!" Rafat yelled coldly.

naked eye, turned into countless little snakes and swarmed madly around his right hand.

form one huge red snake. It was much stronger

The sight of the bloody battle made Denali fall into despair. She closed her eyes tightly and refused to watch the scene in front of her.

If she did, she wouldn't be able to bear the sight of Austin being killed.

"Boom!"

"Ouch...!" Austin flinched.

A loud noise was followed by a yelp of pain.

'Am I dead?' he thought to himself.

Austin felt that a dazzling white beam of light suddenly ruptured out of his chest, and its great force threw his body away.

'Well, I'm going to die again. I wonder what world I'm going to land this time, and what kind of person I'm going to be.

God bless me. I pray that I would be a very rich man this time. It would be best to become an emperor's son.

Or I wish I can go back to being one of the richest people on Earth, such as Bill Gates, or the richest people in Asia, ' Austin thought devoutly.

However, that wasn't the case.

'Why?

Wait a minute.

I seem to be alive!' he thought cheerfully.

After a while, he got up to his feet.

He scanned his surroundings carefully, and he couldn't believe what he saw in front of him--Rafat lay motionless on the ground, dead.

His body didn't move in the distance, and there was no sight of his right arm.

When Austin turned to look around the streets, he saw it was littered with Rafat's other body parts. It turned out that his right arm was torn into pieces.

Austin felt that he must be dreaming. He pinched himself hard on the arm and he winced, which told him he was not.

"Haha, I'm really not dead!" he couldn't help but shout with joy. Denali was also dumbfounded by the sight of Austin still alive.

'What is going on?!' she wondered.

Her mouth went dry in confusion. She couldn't understand why things had turned out like this. Of course, she was thankful that both she and Austin were alive, but it was still surprising.

Both shock and amazement were evident on her face--she had never expected this result.