Chapter 11 Is This What I Get From Saving You (Part One)

'Did the pendant save me?' Austin took out a ring-like jade pendant from his collar and examined it thoughtfully.

He was still in trance, but he gradually calmed down and tried to recall what happened.

Rafat tried to attack him when something weird happened.

When he was about to be hit in the chest, an explosion of dazzling white light appeared. It literally saved his life from the critical strike, while severely injuring the attacker.

The only possible reason he was still alive was the pendant he was wearing.

He was still an outer disciple when he found the jade pendant. When he was sent off into the mountain for a trial, he came to face with a diabolic beast. He hunted it down to its lair where he spotted the pendant among its hoard. When he fought with the beast, he noticed that it was desperately protecting the pendant with its life.

Austin eventually killed the beast and took the jade pendant.

He initially thought that the jade pendant might have some special powers that the diabolic beast was willing to sacrifice its life to protect it. But after many nights of continuous study, he didn't find anything special, so he gave up on that thought.

But he decided to keep the jade pendant as a trophy for killing a third level diabolic beast.

After all, not all warriors at the ninth level of Energy Gathering Realm could slaughter a third level diabolic beast.

But today, the seemingly ordinary pendant turned out to be something special. It had saved Austin from the wrath of Rafat.

It could be possible that the pendant still had other potentials unknown to Austin yet.

With this thought in mind, Austin was determined to study the pendant further.

But the thought of Rafat's explosive power crossed his mind and he was overwhelmed with fear.

Blood Bath Magic was the spell that Rafat cast, and the name alone already implied the powerful effects it had.

Austin guessed that it must be a secret method that could stimulate human potential but at the expense of the caster's own life essence and vitality.

By using these special methods, one could increase their strength several times higher than their normal.

Before him was a dead man with a space ring. What could a dead man do with a space ring anyway? With that in mind, his eyes glimmered with evil desires. He took the ring and put it on his finger.

After looting Rafat's body, Austin was about to leave when he remembered that Denali was there.

Austin completely forgot about her when he was facing Rafat. It was on that life-threatening moment that he had forgotten about anything else.

Denali was sitting on a corner, slumping on the pink quilt completely naked.

She was horrified and overwhelmed by embarrassment before Austin appeared. But now that Rafat was dead, she started to relax.

When she saw Austin turned his glance at her, she smiled at her savior with gratitude.

She was still weak from fear, but she tried to stand up. However, the moment the cold night breeze blew gently on her skin, she suddenly realized that she was completely naked.

"Don't look at me! Please turn around!"

Denali pleaded as she quickly wrapped one arm over at her breasts and the other between her thighs. She felt so embarrassed, ashamed, and indignant.

No man had ever seen her body before. She regarded it as her most sacred property.

But only tonight, two men had already seen her naked body, although one of them was already dead.

Her face turned red in embarrassment.

But despite her pleading, the young man was still staring at her.

Denali felt as if the young man was studying her from head to toe, and who knows what was going on in his mind.

With that thought, Denali felt angry and embarrassed at the same time. Her face was so flushed that it almost turned purple.

"Hey you, asshole! One more look and I will squeeze your eyes out!"

Austin came to his senses when he heard Denali shout. He immediately turned around thinking to himself, 'What the hell?

I just saved her from her assaulter. Is this what I get from saving this girl?

Besides, it's not like she hasn't been naked this whole time. I've seen her naked from the start. I don't think there's any difference in seeing some more.'

The Supreme God

Chapter 12 Is This What I Get From Saving You (Part Two)

Austin felt embarrassed for himself that the girl he just saved shouted at him as if he was a molester.

He thought again with anger, 'She should've thanked me! But instead, she called me an asshole! The real asshole is dead, woman!'

He suddenly recalled the moment when Rafat wrestled Denali to the ground and stripped off her nightgown revealing her white skin and firm breasts. Thinking of this made his mouth parched and tongue scorched in lust. Austin couldn't help but swallow to quench his thirst.

When Austin looked away, Denali relaxed a little bit.

She picked up her nightgown and got dressed as quickly as she could. Then she straightened her clothes repeatedly.

When she had made sure that all the buttons were already fastened, she let out a sigh of relief.

'What is happening?

Have I already recovered my strength?'

As she was getting dressed, Denali noticed that her hands and feet were no longer soft and limp.

It seemed that Rafat only temporarily blocked the energy flow instead of fully nullifying her energy.

He was only after her feminine energy. When Rafat was interrupted but Austin, Denali's veins slowly cleared up allowing energy to spontaneously generate.

Denali directed her vital energy in all corners of her body and found that she had fully recovered after examining herself.

She sighed of relief and felt her heart lightened up.

Finally, tonight's ordeal was over.

"I'm done. You may turn around if you please.

Have we met before?"

Denali was now in a mood of conversations. She glanced at Austin from head to toe and studied his face.

crossed her mind, Denali had all the reasons to be cautious.

Fear and suspicion overwhelmed her, and it started to show on her face.

When Austin noticed the change in Denali's emotions, he sneered scornfully.

He taunted with a snort, "What's that look on your face? Are you scared? There's nothing for you to be scared about. I don't mess with people who don't mess with me. I have nothing to do with you, and I don't plan on having anything to do with you at all. Now, do what you must. Just remember, nothing happened tonight."

For Austin, this woman was shameless and disgusting, despite her pretty face. He just risked his life for her, but despite that, this was the gratitude he would get—suspicion and doubt. He thought that the woman had already forgotten what he did to save her life.

Denali guiltily averted her eyes. She wasn't stupid and knew that she had been rude to him.

He saved her from Rafat, but all she gave to him in return was suspicion and doubt.

Perhaps she misinterpreted his intention. She knew she wasn't in any position to judge him or ask him the reasons why he pretended to be a fool for three years. It was not polite of her to be suspicious of him after he saved her life.

After saying all that he wanted to say, he turned and walked away.

He went out into the woods, found a soft spot and dug a hole in it. After that, he threw Rafat's body in the hole and covered it again with soil.

"If it's not too much to ask, that is if you still have conscience, do not say a word to other people about what happened tonight and what happened about me. Not a word to anyone, even if they were your closest confidants. From now on, we have never met each other."

Austin felt that there was no need to let others know about what happened tonight.

As a disciple of Sun Sect, he did what was right and just.

He killed an intruder who assaulted a grunt disciple of his sect. And if the elders of Sun Sect learned about his deeds, he might be praised.

But Austin would rather not risk the danger. He might expose himself to unfriendly eyes. After all, he was reborn to this life to survive and thrive, not to get himself into trouble. As a saying went, "Do not awaken a sleeping dragon". It was always better to keep a low profile.

With that, Austin strode away without looking back. Before long, he disappeared from Denali's sight.

"You! Why are you talking to me like that? Have I offended you?"

For unknown reasons, Denali felt ashamed and indignant at the same time. Tears were welling from her eyes, but she blinked them away.

Seeing the change in Austin's attitude, thinking what almost happened to her tonight, she felt like crying her heart out.

She tried so hard, but the feeling was just overwhelming. When she could no longer resist the raging tears, she yelled to the direction in which Austin had walked, "I won't tell anyone! I promise!"

Then, without looking back, she darted off in the opposite direction out of the woods.

The Supreme God

Chapter 13 The Fifth-grade Martial Art Skill (Part One)

Austin returned to his own hovel.

As soon as he could breathe peacefully again, the first thing he did was to sit down on his feet and start his vital energy to heal his wounds and recover his strength.

Although he was not hurt badly during the fight against Rafat Sun tonight, but there were still minor wounds all over his body which caused irritation every time he moved.

The ones he had sustained on his belly however, were a bit severe. Fortunately for him, he had moved back just in time or his guts would have been pulled out mercilessly.

He had also collided with Rafat using his vital energy face to face and this had consumed most of it. His arms were still swollen from the effort.

To be very honest, he had managed to live today by mere luck. Rafat had been badly hurt and was afraid to go all out against him. If he hadn't held back today, the result of the fight would have been too horrible to imagine—not that there would be anything left of Austin to imagine with.

'I was too impulsive in my fights today. I should be more careful in the future.' Austin told himself.

Austin kept on meditating whilst sitting on his feet on the bed. Soon he was completely indulged in the movement of his vital energy and was lost to the world.

The energy flow in the air seemed to be controlled now. Following the path of the Purple Yang formula, the flow was now directed towards Austin and moving into his body with every breath he took. It would have been a magnificent sight if anyone was there to witness it.

The entire night passed in his cultivation.

He sat still for hours and hours and the next day, he suddenly opened his eyes and woke up from the meditation. His eyes looked bright and sharp now.

The sun had already risen high in the sky and the strong and hot sunlight was seeping inside the room through the cracks of the hovel. Despite the uncomfortable ambiance, it was very bright inside.

he didn't feel tired. On the contrary, he was energetic and refreshed.

If he hadn't reached the Mysterious Realm, he would not be able to make his own spiritual sign.

This meant that Austin wouldn't have been able to open a space ring if it was such a high level.

Others could not use it if he could not get rid of the spiritual sign of its original owner even if he got the space ring.

The idea was similar to that of a password.

The higher level the warrior was at, the more methods he would have to open the ring or modify the attached spiritual sign. And these methods could not be learned by warriors at a lower level.

Austin focused his mind on the space ring.

The next moment, a storage space of about five cubic meters appeared in his mind.

The inside of the ring was filled with quite a lot of things and he had to rummage around.

Austin focused his mind even more intently on the objects inside the space ring and all of the stuff flew out with crashing sounds.

In that clutter, the first thing he noticed was something shiny. His heart started beating faster suddenly!

It was a big fortune! ! !

Austin's face turned red at the sight of it and he almost forgot to breathe at that moment.

His eyes were shining, brighter than the fortune itself as if a hungry man had seen a dainty fare in front of him suddenly.

The Supreme God

Chapter 14 The Fifth-grade Martial Art Skill (Part Two)

It was a pile of vital energy crystals!

At a glance, there were more than at least a thousand vital energy crystals on the table, giving off strong vital energy.

The hovel seemed to vibrate due to their very presence.

Vital energy crystal was a much-used resource to the warriors of the Prime Warrior World.

A vital energy crystal contained vital energy which was of great help to a warrior's cultivation.

At the same time, they also served as a sort of currency between warriors. For them, their everyday dealing was done in these crystals instead of coins.

The ordinary world dealt in silver coins, which were much less valuable than these crystals, in which only warriors dealt.

A vital energy crystal was worth a hundred silver coins.

The monthly salary of the grunt disciples of the Sun sect was three crystals. This amounted to thirty six crystals a year or about three and a half thousand coins, give or take.

When Austin had been an outer disciple, his salary was 10 crystals per month.

Being the most potential one of the disciples at that time, the Sect had specially rewarded him with 7 extra crystals every month.

That way, his salary had amounted to more than a hundred crystals in a year, making him far richer than a grunt disciple. But this fortune!

There were more than a thousand crystals in front of him right now. Obviously, Austin felt his heart beating faster and faster.

All the martial art skills were ranked in order from one to ten. The lowest was ranked grade one. Most of them were for beginners.

Similarly, there were other skills ranked in order of power and difficulty. The tenth grade skill was the highest and it seemed to exist only in legends.

The skills most commonly practiced were grade two, three and four. Only people from very huge sects practiced grade five or grade six skills.

And even in those large-scale sects, only the most principal disciples ever got qualified enough to learn these superior skills.

Anything above grade seven was heard of only in the stories.

Even the head of the Sun Sect was most probably not qualified enough to practice them. He might not even have had the chance to approach a grade 7 skill.

Like Austin in his previous life, the best chance he might have ever gotten was to practice grade 1 or 2 skills mostly, even though he had been the most potential outer disciple at that time.

The most powerful martial art skill Austin had ever practiced previously in his last life was Tiger Roaring Fist, which was ranked at the third-grade. He had never learned anything beyond that level.

The superior skills of grade three or four were for the inner disciples and the principal ones.

To his surprise, the Wind-commanding Skill was actually a grade-five one!

'Be calm! Be calm!'

Austin told himself again and again. His heart was starting beating fast once more and his blood seemed to be rushing more ferociously by the second.

The most important thing he had obtained last night was now the Wind-commanding Skill.

The one thousand vital energy crystals he had put inside the space ring seemed to be nothing compared to this skill.

The Supreme God

Chapter 15 The Overnight Hard Work Paid Off!

A manual on a fifth-grade martial art could mean a lot for an ordinary sect. With such a manual, the sect could properly level up their strength.

Most of the great sects credited their fame to their large collections of high-grade martial arts manuals.

The power of the disciples cultivated with low-grade manuals was a far cry from that of those who studied high-grade ones in large sects.

That was also the reason why the great sects survived thousands of years and were still thriving.

That means the books on fifth-grade martial arts were quite valuable.

Take for example the booklet of the Wind-commanding Skill that Austin was holding. If it was ever put in an auction, the bids would certainly go way more than 1, 500 vital energy crystals. It was certain that ordinary sects would be willing to shell out up to several million vital energy crystals just to have it.

After all, there would always be a way to earn more vital energy crystals, but the chances of getting manual on a fifth-grade martial art were rare.

The eerie sight of Rafat fluttering like a dead leaf from last night suddenly crossed Austin's mind again. And after going through a few pages of the books, he realized that weird moving technique Rafat used must be the Wind-commanding Skill.

As he recalled Rafat's swift and mystical movements, Austin became a little intrigued.

'This Wind-Commanding Skill is indeed a treasure!

All I've practiced were Sun Sect's second-grade moving techniques like the Fish Swimming Pace. Those are common techniques most outer disciples must know.

I have mastered the Fish Swimming Pace to perfection with a great deal of hard work.

But those first or second-grade methods were nothing in comparison to this five-grade technique.

I need to learn this Wind-Commanding Skill!!'

Thrilled by his new discovery, Austin picked up another booklet.

The cover bore the title "Yin and Yang Diabolical Cultivation Method".

There was even a sketch on the cover.

It depicted a naked strong man sitting cross-legged surrounded by several plump women who were also unclothed as if they were having a certain weird dance.

There were a few lines representing the diabolic energy on the cover making picture quite vivid.

At first glance on the cover, it dawned on Austin that Yin and Yang Diabolical Cultivation Method might be the method that Rafat used to practice.

He reckoned that it must be an evil method.

No wonder Rafat had a hideous aura all over him that proved that he used to practice that diabolic cultivation method.

It was a fifth-grade martial art as well.

Austin gasped at this new realization. 'Why did Rafat have two fifth-grade martial arts manuals in his Space Ring?'

Little did Austin know that Rafat had barged into an ancient relic a few years ago by accident.

the breakthrough between different levels within one realm, to level up from a lower realm to a higher one is at least

But with the help of the Energy-prevailing Elixir, one could overcome the challenge to reach a higher realm.

Back then, Austin had reached the ninth level of the Energy Gathering Realm and he was trying to enter the Earth Realm.

But despite Austin's high learning agility, it was still quite difficult for him to cross from one realm to another.

Austin's countless attempts got him nowhere so far.

If he could get hold of an Energy-prevailing Elixir, he would be quite hopeful to make a breakthrough.

But at that time, getting the elixir was just wishful thinking.

He never mentioned it to anyone because he was clear that only the key disciples in Sun Sect had access to the precious Energy-prevailing Elixirs.

Even the inner disciples had no opportunity to get one. That was why, as an outer disciple, Austin could only dream of having such elixir.

Austin was the top outer disciples, but he was not a key member of Sun Sect.

Although he had drawn some attention from the sect heads, he was still far from being able to enjoy the priceless Energy-prevailing Elixir that was provided exclusively to core disciples.

The only time he caught a glance at that elixir was when the teaching steward was holding one. And since then, he had never forgotten what the elixir looked like.

When he recognized the elixir in his hands, Austin instantly knew that he could now challenge the Earth Realm with only half the effort.

With that thought, Austin carefully deposited the two Energy-prevailing Elixirs into the Space Ring despite his excitement.

Then, he exhaled in relief and thought, 'It turned out that the overnight hard work was worth it after all!'

He had attained two secret manuals that he could practice, two bottles of expensive elixirs, and an odd dagger which he had no idea how to use.

As to the Yin and Yang Diabolical Cultivation Method, he decided that there was no use for such method, so he completely ignored it.

After packing everything up, Austin fondled the Space Ring on his finger.

He liked the feel of the ring on his finger, but then pulled it off and dropped it into one of his pockets.

Considering that he was still a grunt disciple, having a Space Ring was very unlikely of him.

If he wore it blatantly, he would attract some covetous eyes.

Having lived two different worlds, Austin understood that it was better not to flaunt his considerable wealth.

Therefore, he chose to put away the Space Ring.

With the ring out of his sight, he finally managed to regain his composure.

He then sat down in silence to study an object in his hands.

It was the ring-like jade pendant that had been dangling on his chest.

Last night when he battled with Rafat, it was the jade pendant that protected him from the last blow his opponent launched.

Austin examined the pendant's every corner.

After studying all its sides, he held it up under the sun and appraised carefully.

But he failed to detect anything special about the jade pendant. It looked just ordinary from every angle he looked at it.

The Supreme God

Chapter 16 The Spiritual Sense Flying Needle (Part One)

Austin wasn't convinced that the pendant was ordinary because when Rafat attacked Austin's chest with that last dreadful move, it suddenly lit brightly.

It put Rafat to his immediate death and his right arm was reduced into dregs.

When Rafat launched his final move against Austin, the strengths that he harnessed were as mighty as those who had reached the Earth Realm.

But as his final move was resisted by the jade pendant, Rafat was instantly killed. This meant that the pendant was effective for withstanding assaults launched by people at the Earth Realm. This little pendant was amazing!

After some thoughts, Austin concluded, 'This jade pendant may not look special on the outside, but there could be something extraordinary inside.

Maybe if I use my power of spiritual sense, I can detect what the power of this pendant holds.'

He activated his power of spiritual sense right away to perceive if there was anything special about the pendant that couldn't be seen by the naked eye.

Upon activating his power of spiritual sense, Austin suddenly felt a little wobbly.

Then, he was shocked to notice that he was somewhat in an overcast space.

Austin examined his body and felt relieved to know that he was still in a complete human form. But he was still a little confused because this wasn't his usual form whenever he activated his power of spiritual sense.

He was certain that he didn't have a human body now.

'Is this my spiritual soul?' he thought to himself.

After some further thoughts, Austin understood what happened.

The power of spiritual sense was the power of one's spiritual soul.

However, warriors with mediocre achievements in cultivation usually couldn't feel their own spiritual soul.

stepped on a dog poop

now, I think luck is on my side. Good fortunes come to me one after another beyond! I can't believe

In the Prime Martial World, very few martial skills were related to the spiritual sense.

But this didn't mean that these martial skills were the least mighty of all.

Rather, the warriors cultivating spiritual sense-based martial skills were more powerful. Many of these warriors were even able to battle across levels because the power of spiritual sense was intangible, invisible, and hard to resist.

Most skill moves were visible which made them predictable. However, for the power of spiritual sense, all moves were invisible which made it hard to dodge.

After carefully viewing the information, Austin finally realized that to master the use of the spiritual sense flying needle, he had to refine his own spiritual sense and turned it into spiritual sense flying needles. Once he mastered this skill, he could attack his opponents' brains with the needles to harm their spiritual soul.

If one's spiritual soul was harmed, the person would be frightened out of his wit and could be put in a daze if the damage was serious.

To practice this martial arts skill, one must at least be able to harness the vital energy of the Earth Realm.

Although Austin's current vital energy was at a very low level, his current power of spiritual sense was mighty to certain extent which could be at par with the Earth Realm.

Thus, he concluded that he would be eligible for cultivating that martial arts skill.

No matter what, he wanted to try practicing the skill at first with his power of spiritual sense.

Anyway, it was one of his strengths, and in his opinion, it was wise for people to make use of their strengths.

If he successfully mastered this martial arts skill, his attacks would be illusory and invisible so that it would become rather difficult for his opponents to dodge it.

This could be one of his precious prominent tactics, and he would be capable of using this extraordinary skill for fighting against his enemies.

After that mystical martial arts skill was shown to him, his attention was now focused on it.

Austin was firmly determined to practice that martial arts skill right away.

Prior to his cultivation of this skill, he carefully and prudently summed up the ways for using the spiritual sense flying needles.

The Supreme God

Chapter 17 The Spiritual Sense Flying Needle (Part Two)

This martial skill had four tiers: on the first tier, one spiritual sense flying needle should be refined with spiritual sense.

On the second tier, 5 flying needles must be refined.

On the third tier, 10 flying needles should be refined.

On the fourth tier, 20 flying needles should be refined.

Austin carefully read the cultivation methods for the first tier from the jade slip repeatedly to keep all information in his mind.

When he finally grasped the cultivation methods, he sat down with his knees crossed, regulated his breathing and concentrated his attention.

Slowly, he came to his own Soul Sea. Afterward, he controlled his spiritual sense to divert a small proportion of his power of spiritual sense based on the instruction. He then got down to his slow refinement of flying needles.

At the beginning of his refinement, Austin was already faced with great difficulties. He spent quite a long time trying to extract his spiritual sense. But through great efforts and perseverance, he finally completed the extraction.

Austin kept his power of spiritual sense under control after he extracted some spiritual sense at a small proportion.

According to the instructions, the spiritual sense should be converted into an iron hammer.

Then, the extracted small proportion of spiritual sense should be refined by the hammer.

After almost a day of refining, a flying needle took shape at last.

The prototype of Austin's spiritual sense flying needle eventually formed, but there was still some work to be done.

For the flying needle to finally take its shape, it was necessary for Austin to continue his refinement.

Deep down, Austin was clear that a watched pot never boiled.

Austin could clearly perceive its flight trajectory.

Whenever Austin ran out of his power of spiritual sense in the process, he stopped his refinement for the time being and harnessed his cultivation methods to absorb the abundant vital energy inside the jade pendant for recovery.

At first, the spiritual sense flying needle was rotating outside Austin's body at an unsteady speed.

But after Austin practiced further, he was able to control the spiritual sense flying needle more skillfully.

Gradually, he realized that he could dominate the flying needle at his will as if they were his finger.

He also found out that he could only control the flying needles no farther than two hundred meters.

Farther than that, he would lose control of them.

This meant that Austin could only use them to attack an opponent within two hundred meters.

By that moment, Austin had finally completed his refinement on the first tier of the flying needles.

It approximately cost Austin five days to complete refinement.

But it was already fast because the record showed that it usually took 8 days to complete the refinement per tier.

But Austin had even only spent five days in completing the entire refinement process. Even he himself felt that was inconceivable.

Nevertheless, Austin guessed that he was able to finish this process so quickly because his power of spiritual sense was mightier than any other warriors.

After his refinement on the first tier, a scenario suddenly crossed his mind.

In the past days, he had refined a spiritual sense flying needles within the space of his jade pendant by virtue of his own spiritual soul.

But could he also refine the flying needles in the same way outside that space?

As he was thinking of it, an idea abruptly came to his mind. He didn't waste another minute and quickly returned to his small hut.

The Supreme God

Chapter 18 To Kneel Down Before You

The room dazzled with the sunlight that shone through the cracks in the hut.

The jade pendant in his hand glowed with mellowed color. It was crystal clear when he took a closer look.

No one could imagine that inside such an ordinary jade pendant was a separate space.

What's more, it concealed martial arts skills!

After carefully wearing it, Austin began with a set of Great Ancestor Long-range Punches as warm-up exercises.

His soul had just returned to his body from the separate space in the jade pendant. He was afraid that his body would become sluggish if he didn't move.

After finishing the warm-up exercises, Austin returned to the hut and sat cross-legged on his wooden bed.

As soon as he concentrated his mind, the Spiritual Sense Flying Needle in the Soul Sea was released from his body quickly.

Austin was happy to find that the martial arts skills acquired from the mysterious space in the jade pendant could also be used in the real world.

After summoning the Spiritual Sense Flying Needle, Austin moved it around his body several times before returning it to his Soul Sea.

He learned that he had finished the first level practice of the Spiritual Sense Flying Needle.

Now, all Austin needed was an enemy to practice it on.

"Tin, are you hungry? I have brought you some food."

Austin was jarred from his thoughts when he heard Evan's loud voice. In the next instant, Evan pushed open the door and entered the hut. With a quick glance at Austin, Evan put the big buns on the table.

Though Austin felt energetic, his stomach rumbled at the sight of the food. He grabbed a bun and stuffed it into his mouth.

"Tin, you're not a fool now. You cannot walk around looking so unkempt. You used to look as pretty and charming as a gigolo, but now you're as dirty as a beggar."

Evan reminded Austin.

"What do you mean by gigolo? Did you mean handsome and masculine?"

Austin then silently studied himself. He found that he was indeed very dirty—his hair was disheveled, and his clothes and face were stained with dirt.

"Well, we can go to the Clearing Lake behind the mountain later. We can bathe in the cool water at the lake. It will not only wash away all the dirt but also the bad luck I've collected over the past three years."

"Okay! We haven't visited the lake in a long while."

Bates exchanged glances with the other two disciples. He was cunning enough to notice that they were in an advantageous position. With sinister smiles, the three disciples surrounded Austin and Evan.

Austin and Evan were flanked on all sides. It seemed that the three disciples would not put the issue to rest.

At one point, Austin used to rank first among the outer disciples. As such, they would follow him and obey him. As for the grunt disciples, they wouldn't even dare to look at him.

Austin sighed at how much things had changed.

But now, they were stopped by these three grunt disciples just because Austin had given several glances at them.

It appeared that in this world, strength was everything.

Thousands of people would worship those with power and strength. Those with no strength would be treated as worthless trash.

Thinking of this, fierceness reflected in Austin's eyes. He was determined to show the disciples how strong he was.

He knew that it would be useless to continue arguing with them. Until they suffered a good dose of pain, they would not stop harassing him.

"Bates, has Tin ever offended you?"

Seeing what the other disciples had planned, Evan hurriedly stood in front of Austin.

"Bah! Evan, why are you so friendly with an idiot? Are you fucking stupid, too?"

Another taller disciple shouted.

"Quite right. Do you think this idiot is still ranked the first among the outer disciples? Stop dreaming. You should address Bates as boss from now on and follow him. If you do so, we will assure you benefits. Chances are remote for you to have a promising future if you follow the idiot."

The short fat disciple said to Evan.

Bates listened triumphantly to the flattering words of the two disciples. These words were like a spring breeze and mellow wine—both of which were very pleasant to him.

He stared haughtily at Austin and Evan.

Austin remained silent and glared at the three disciples with a dismissive attitude.

They were nobody to Austin. To be honest, he would not have paid the slightest attention to them. He just watched the debate between the three disciples with a cold expression.

Finally, Austin's cold and dismissive attitude irritated Bates.

Bates was angry as Austin didn't show any signs of panic or fear.

He did not stop to wonder why Austin was so sane and clearheaded today.

Flames of fury had been ignited, and Bates was so furious that he almost stomped about in a frenzy.

"Idiot, come here! Kneel before me and call me papa, thrice."

Bates expressed his anger.

"Good idea! Bat."

The Supreme God

Chapter 19 Learning Their Lessons The Hard Way! (Part One)

Bates' two followers seconded the insulting suggestion and clapped their hands loudly and evilly. As loyal followers of Bates, they were used to bullying those weaker than them.

And since they often received benefits and gifts from Bates, they would always toady to him every chance they could get.

"Bates, please don't overdo it. If you let Austin go, I'll help you with your chores for ten days," Evan said in a hurry.

Over the past three years, whenever Austin was being bullied by others, Evan would often do chores for them in exchange for his friend's safety. And today was no different.

"No! You can't save this fool this time even if you help me with a month's chores. You fool, why don't you crawl under my crotch quickly?"

Bates snapped as he sneered expecting Austin to be humiliated.

"Damn it! Why don't do as you are asked? You fool, do you want to rebel against Bates' wish?" the two grunt disciples roared furiously when Austin didn't move.

Then, they walked towards Austin and surrounded him. They tried to push Austin to the ground and let him chew mud. It was an old trick they had used on him before.

Knowing their motive, Evan grabbed Austin's hand immediately and dragged him to escape from the site.

But Austin's feet were like deeply rooted on the ground with the help of his vital energy. No matter how hard he tried, Evan couldn't drag him away at all.

Then he heard Austin say calmly, "Evan, it doesn't matter. Let them try."

Austin smiled at his friend without a trace of fear.

"Tin, are you sure?"

Evan asked doubtfully.

While he was concerned over his friend's state, he caught a glimpse of Austin who was staring at him coldly, and he couldn't help but shiver.

He thought, 'This fool is a little odd today.'

Yet, he shouted subconsciously, "You fool, what do you want?" Although he sounded pretty confident, deep down he was already panicking and fear could be seen in his eyes.

When Austin sensed the panic in this disciple, a sarcastic sneer crossed his face. He threatened in a cold tone, "Do you like calling me a fool? Well, then you should try it as well!"

The short fat disciple was stunned and wondered, 'Try what?'

While he was trying to figure it out, the disciple suddenly felt like his head was being punched by a sharp iron needle.

The unbearable pain spread quickly in his head, and he cried out loudly with his hands over his head.

It was the first time that Austin tried the power of attack launched by his Spiritual Sense Flying Needle. And he wasn't expecting this good effect on his first trial. He could not help but feel satisfied.

He hummed twice and snapped," If I don't teach you a good lesson today, you will continue to bully me and think of me as a fool!"

As he finished, he raised his hand and slapped their faces quickly. Instantly, the sound of four crisp slaps echoed again.

The two grunt disciples' spiritual senses were attacked, and their heads were in severe pain as if they were splitting from the inside. They felt dizzy and started losing their senses.

Their vital energy level was one level lower than that of Austin.

Thus, it was impossible for them to avoid the slaps of Austin. Now their cheek on each side was swollen up with a red clear slap mark.

The two grunt disciples stepped back a few steps with their hands on their swollen cheeks.

The Supreme God

Chapter 20 Learning Their Lessons The Hard Way! (Part Two)

They looked at Austin as if he was a dangerous snake.

"You fool—," they bellowed but stopped abruptly.

Their attitude full of contempt, disdain, and ridicule had disappeared. Now, they were gasping with great astonishment and fear.

"You two are really brazen and still dared to call me a fool again!"

Austin burst out angrily. The last time they called him a fool finally irritated him. He was overwhelmed by anger and his eyes grew colder. The only thought he had now was to punish them harder.

He immediately walked in front of them and kicked them fiercely.

Extremely stunned, the two grunt disciples turned and were about to run away, but they were not quick enough to escape on time.

After two banging sounds, the two disciples flew high like a paper kite but hit the ground hard within a second. Because of the pain, they kept whining on the ground.

Still unable to work off his anger, Austin suddenly exercised a special skill and instantly arrived in front of the two disciples.

It was a martial arts skill at second grade created by the Sun Sect which he was quite familiar with. It was called Fish Swimming Pace.

A crackling sound rang out as if a string of firecrackers was set off. That sound was generated by Austin who was slapping their faces even harder. After quite a long time, he finally stopped and had no idea how many slaps he had given them.

"Do you still dare to call me a fool?"

He warned aloud after the slaps stopped.

"What? What the heck do you want me to do?" Austin said helplessly.

But he stretched out his hand and gave a sharp pinch on Evan's arm.

"Ah..." Evan screamed painfully.

"Well, that hurts, so I guess it's true, Tin. You really have regained your skills. I'm happy for you, my friend. I really am. This time, our destiny will be changed completely. I believe no one will dare to bully us anymore," Evan said in a happy tone.

Austin used to be at the ninth level of Energy Gathering Realm, the number one disciple among all the outer disciples. At that time, he was so popular and awesome, and Evan also enjoyed a lot of happy days as a good friend of Austin.

'But the last three years was really in sharp contrast with those past cozy days, ' Evan thought.

"My strength has not fully recovered yet, but my current strength is good enough to deal with these rats," Austin said with a smile and nodded.

'What just happened?' Bates asked himself.

He just stood there, looking completely startled and silent.

Watching his two companions being slapped furiously in the face by Austin, he could not help but doubt and feel terribly shocked.

'Is this fool capable of witchcraft? And why didn't they attack him and just simply let him slap them in the face?

And he doesn't look like a fool anymore. Does that mean he has regained the strength of his martial arts?' his mind was racing with thoughts.

At the same time, he also remembered when Austin used to be the number one disciple among the outer disciples.

If Austin indeed regained his previous skills, the skills of ten Bates combined would not suffice to hurt Austin even a tiny bit. Bates began to feel some remorse in his heart.
