Chapter 3491 A Bounty Alston Offered

At that time, Austin and his team were resting in the woods.

After they had defeated Jade and her team, they needed rest. Some were tired while some needed time to heal from their injuries.

"I'm afraid that everyone in this area will now hunt you.

Alston is such a sneaky guy,"

Otis said with worry etched on his face.

"Austin, you have earned more than one hundred thousand points, and your cultivation base is only at the Divine Realm.

I'm afraid that the reward Alston offered will cause many people to chase after you," Bernie said worriedly.

He and several divine gods treated Austin like their friend and they were concerned for his safety.

"Don't worry.

This is a killing game.

In fact, I felt a little guilty for killing so many innocent people in this competition.

But now it can't haunt me anymore. I will take out all of those who dare attack me first.

This time, I have a good reason to kill them," Austin said with a grim look on his face.

His cruel side had been awakened.

"I'm confident that even medium-grade divine gods will have trouble killing me with my current strength and set of skills.

So there is nothing to worry.

Soon they will know who the true hunter is."

Austin's eyes were filled with murderous intent.

Seeing that Austin didn't show any fear and was eager to fight, Otis, Bernie and the other divine gods were awed by his courage.

"Ha-ha! Austin, I believe in your strength.

Those who want to attack you will definitely regret their decision."

Magee laughed heartily.

The news about the bounty on Austin's head quickly spread like wildfire.

"He is right.

Once you get two chaotic magic treasures, your combat power would definitely be unmatched.

Even we will lose to you in just a few strikes.

Austin, if you refine this flute, you will be invincible,"

Bernie added.

"Well, that makes sense.

If this chaotic magic treasure is refined by another member, we can get another powerful companion.

But it would be better if Austin were the one to refine it."

Otis nodded in agreement.

Most of the team members gave their consent.

The rest of the team didn't argue even though they actually wanted to refine the flute themselves.

"Okay!

Since you all said so, I'm going to refine this jade flute,"

Austin finally agreed.

In all honesty, he also wanted to see how powerful he would be once he refined the chaotic magic treasure.

"All right, then. Austin, you can start to work on the flute now.

Many groups must be looking for you as we speak.

After you refine this flute, you will have enough power to protect yourself!"

Otis urged.

"On it!"

Austin found himself a quiet place nearby and began to refine the flute.

Hundreds of earth dragons were lurking underground within a dozen miles around them.

They served as Austin's scouts. Once a stranger came into their view, they would immediately alert Austin.

The jade flute now floated in front of Austin.

The number floating above his head gave off a tremendous amount of power which enveloped the flute.

Chapter 3492 You Weaklings

Plenty of teams were looking for Austin.

Every time these groups crossed paths, they would immediately engage in a fierce battle.

After all, they were still in the competition.

Meanwhile, somewhere in a valley, a medium-grade divine god was reporting to Alston.

"Alston, the news about the bounty for Austin's head has been spread everywhere!

Unfortunately, we don't have any word about him just yet," the medium-grade divine god informed.

"Humph! What a bunch of incompetent losers!"

Alston slammed his fists angrily. He was getting frustrated with the little progress on this matter.

"Calm down, Alston.

This whole place is enormous!

Besides, there's a chance that Austin got frightened because of the bounty in his head. He might be hiding somewhere, so it would be difficult for us to find him.

Capturing him in a short amount of time is difficult.

Be patient,"

Meredith comforted.

"Give out my command that everyone in my team has to look for Austin. We must find that bastard at all costs!"

Alston gritted his teeth in frustration. He got even more infuriated.

At the same time, Austin and his team were staying in the woods.

Austin, who had been sitting cross legged for half a day, suddenly opened his eyes.

"I did it!" he exclaimed delightedly.

There was a close connection between the flute and Austin.

'Ha-ha! I have refined two chaotic magic treasures.

One of them can tremendously improve my speed, while the other one can help attack the enemies. At this rate, I could match some of my powerful enemies' skill in this area, '

Austin thought, thoroughly amazed with his progress.

"How did it go?" As soon as he saw Austin got up, Otis scampered towards him.

The rest of the team members also rushed to his side and surrounded him.

"I have successfully refined it,"

Austin happily announced.

He was baffled with Austin's move. 'Any sane person would avoid people that were hunting them down. Why would this person willingly present himself to them? Is this a setup?' Elvis thought.

"Ha-ha! Why not?

Do you think I would be afraid of you? You're weaklings.

That's a very ridiculous claim," Austin calmly answered.

He didn't raise his voice; he was simply composed and conversational.

Seeing Austin's unruffled attitude, the team leader started to harbor doubts.

'What is he up to? Why is he coming to us?'

Elvis Deng wondered.

"Ha-ha! You're just a weakling at the Divine Realm!

Tsk, tsk. I really can't believe that a cultivator at the Divine Realm could earn over one hundred thousand points in this area.

I guess you're either very lucky, or you're good at scheming things.

Unfortunately, you met us. No matter what games you are playing, we will take whatever you have.

Elvis, what are you waiting for? Let me kill this nobody!" a bulky man demanded in his defiant voice.

He glared at Austin madly with his huge eyes.

"You idiot," Austin dismissed him.

He smiled and merely glanced at the enraged man.

"Brat! I beg your pardon?

You're going to regret what you said!

Go to hell, you brat!"

The bulky man flew into a rage. He stepped forward and waved his colossal mace at Austin.

Whoosh!

Austin moved his body and disappeared.

Before the bulky man could even react, Austin was already standing behind him.

He stretched out his hand and hit the bulky man with his hand.

A sword-light that emitted a powerful aura appeared in his palm.

The sword-light pierced all the way through the brawny man's back, leaving a hole in his body.

With a scream, the brawny man died on the spot.

His enormous body fell on the ground with a loud thud.

Austin had acquired the Divine Swordsman's sword-light in this Fallen Divine Valley. Since then, he had kept it in his body.

"My palm is bleeding again.

The Sword Emperor's sword light is so terrifying!" Austin murmured to himself with a bitter smile.

He found a cut caused by the sword-light in his palm, and blood came out of it. He then carefully put the sword-light back to his body.

"It's your turn now," Austin whispered in a low and dangerous voice. Then, he summoned the jade flute. "Go to hell, all of you!" he shouted.

He concentrated and a flute flew out from his body. He then piped a melodious tune.

The Supreme God

Chapter 3493 Location Exposed

Powerful notes came from the flute and filled the air like flocks of fish, gracefully swimming in the water.

The notes pierced through the medium-grade divine gods' bodies, either maiming them or making their bodies explode.

All of a sudden, sounds of distress could be heard everywhere.

"This is not good. It's a chaotic magic treasure. Everyone, be careful!

Don't act alone! We must attack him together or we will all be killed!"

Elvis frantically reminded his team, the second he recognized that the flute in Austin's hands was a chaotic magic treasure.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Nodding in agreement, every member of Elvis' team launched powerful attacks on Austin with all their might and at the same time.

Whoosh!

Austin moved his body, and vanished into thin air.

Confused, Elvis and his men looked around. Austin was nowhere to be found. They knew, however, that he was just lurking somewhere close.

In the next second, Austin appeared at a safe distance and played the flute.

This time, he piped a tune, which sounded shrill and very serious.

Numerous notes appeared and slashed out at his enemies, ripping several of them into bits.

Whoosh!

Austin disappeared again.

The next moment, he popped out in another spot and again, started playing the flute.

Again and again, Austin jumped from one place to another to the utter frustration of the panic-stricken team of Elvis. It was hard for his opponents to keep track of what he was doing to them.

Elvis and his men couldn't catch up with Austin at all. They were all at a loss and didn't know where and how to attack, let alone make him stop.

Austin's lightning speed completely confused them and struck fear inside each one.

The flute in Austin's hand continued to produce terrifying notes that took his opponents' lives one after another.

"Arrggh! Elvis, Austin is just too strong. I don't think we are equipped to fight back. Look at us! He is snuffing the life out of each one of us. No one will be left if it keeps going like this! You have to do something! He is a demon. We'd better run!" one of the men in Elvis' team screamed in horror.

He was devastated by Austin's terrifying display of strength.

"Master Otis, you're up. Let's kill all of them in one swipe,"

Austin said to Otis through his spiritual sense.

"Come on, guys," Otis said to the rest of their team.

Together, they bolted towards Elvis and his men.

Austin, once again, activated the flute, and injured his enemies with it.

Otis and the rest of his group followed closely behind Austin, and gave their wounded enemies deadly blows and fatal attacks to earn points.

As soon as he finished speaking, he waved his hand.

Earth dragons emerged from the ground within forty miles around them.

They came swarming towards Austin.

The earth rumbled and dust billowed. The scene was spectacular. The mere size of the dragons was already quite overwhelming.

A few seconds later, hundreds of earth dragons had gathered around Austin, as if he was their master.

Terrifying as they were, they were gentle and obedient in front of Austin as if they were nothing more than docile house pets.

"I have so many scouts.

Anytime a team approaches us, these dragons will easily spot them and alert me about it.

By that time, we can easily wipe out those that we can destroy.

For those teams that are too powerful for us, we will retreat or quickly hide.

All in all, I can spot those in advance.

But it's not that easy for them to find us.

So there is nothing to worry about!"

Austin explained with a smile.

"Oh, I almost forgot that you are an expert in the Earth Exploring Technique,"

Magee exclaimed as he loudly smacked his thigh.

The rest of the team nodded in agreement after hearing Austin's explanation which made a lot of sense.

'Austin can have hundreds of earth dragons under his control. The earth dragons move under the ground and they can be on patrol without being noticed. With them, Austin can always spot the enemy first, ahead of being discovered, ' they thought to themselves.

"That way, we don't need to rush around. We can just stay in the stronghold, waiting for our prey to come. We will also be well rested before any battle.

Isn't that a good thing?"

Austin added, still smiling.

"Okay! It totally makes sense now. You call the shots, Austin," Otis said.

After thinking it over, he and other divine gods finally agreed unanimously and gave their consent.

Then, Austin led the team to find a suitable place to set up their new stronghold and settle down.

Moreover, he made several geomancy arrays to make their stronghold invisible taking advantage of the surrounding terrain.

Meanwhile, Otis and Keysley discussed with other team members how they were going to spread the news about their location.

Half a day later, a news had spread like wildfire throughout the area.

Austin, the same man that Alston had put a bounty on his head, was hiding somewhere with his own team.

The specific location of Austin's team had become widely known.

"Ha-ha! Good news! We have been looking for that brat for so long, and now we finally tracked him down. Come on! Let's go get him."

As soon as the news reached them, many teams set out and headed for the camp that Austin and his team had set up.

At that time, Austin and his team members were resting in the stronghold.

"I smell that the competition is coming to an end,"

Austin murmured while sitting cross legged.

The Supreme God

At this time, in the sky above the Fallen Divine Valley, a pair of huge eyes was hiding among the clouds, looking at everything down below.

"Well, so far, this young man has done a good job.

I like him.

In addition to good luck, he has the required agility and potential.

I'll wait a bit longer and see what happens.

This competition will come to an end soon."

A voice gently sounded in the sky.

Then just like that, the pair of eyes faded away and disappeared.

At the base camp of Austin's team, everyone was sitting cross legged in his own chosen space, recuperating and cultivating.

A few days earlier, they were everywhere, fighting different opponent teams. This was their chance to heal and recharge before another team attacked.

Taking advantage of this sweet time to rest, they chose a good place that was suitable for relaxation and recuperation.

While the men were resting, Austin was wholeheartedly refining the sword aura left by the Divine Swordsman.

He obtained the sword aura in the land of death, a horrible place that he was glad he and his team were able to get out of.

However, he hadn't completely refined it yet.

'The Sword Emperor traveled across the Prime Martial World, the Divine Continent, then the Immortal End World and the Fallen Immortal Cosmos. Later, he went to the three thousand big and small universes and the Sea of Chaos. After so many years of endless journeys, he must have made great progress in the swordsmanship.

Moreover, he had once broken into the Fallen Divine Valley.

I wonder if he is still in the Fallen Divine Valley. Or has he already left?

I have also noticed traces of him while in the Divine Being's World and the Millstone of Reincarnation.

It's really difficult to pinpoint where he is now.'

Thinking of the Divine Swordsman, Austin couldn't help but sigh emotionally and wholeheartedly. It would have been great if he met the Divine Swordsman in person.

He had learned and acquired most of his swordsmanship from the Sword Emperor. In a sense, the Sword Emperor could be considered his master.

He was two meters high and had a trident on his back. A piercing cold

"Ha ha, Luban, make sure that you will end Austin's life. Not only will you get nothing less than one hundred thousand points, you will also obtain three chaotic magic treasures. That's a great fortune that's hard to resist!"

"I can't believe that Austin, a very weak and inferior warrior at the Divine Realm, can actually get over one hundred thousand points and three chaotic magic treasures in this competition area. I thought this was designed only for the medium-grade divine gods. I find it hard to believe. It is almost impossible!"

"Is it possible that this weird guy named Austin has had some help? He probably has a few more powerful trump cards that we know nothing about.

In my opinion, we should not look down on him too much. Complacency could be the cause of our downfall. We must attach great importance to him and treat him as a real and terrible enemy, who is also a worthy opponent!"

"Nonsense! He is just a young man at the Divine Realm. We are all powerful medium-grade divine gods. There is no need for us to take him so seriously.

Be smart and stop talking nonsense!"

The team members talked to each other as they moved their search forward.

It was indeed absurd that so many medium-grade divine gods and countless teams had joined hands to hunt down a young man who was only at the Divine Realm. If the whole story was spread out, perhaps only a few people would believe it.

In everyone's opinion, a medium-grade divine god could easily kill a weak man at the Divine Realm with one single blow.

"Ha ha, sure enough, they are here to hunt me down. That makes it easier for me to kill them without any guilt!"

At this time, through the earth dragons, Austin could clearly hear what the team members were communicating back and forth. He could not help but sneer coldly at their arrogant and ignorant claims.

Meanwhile, in the middle of a vast grassland hundreds of miles away, Alston heard the latest information on Austin's location.

"What? That's incredible!

Austin and his team members are stationed somewhere in this area, and the specific location of that their stronghold has been revealed to everyone!

What? What's going on?

What's his plan? Is he tired of all the endless fighting? This looks like his suicide party and everyone is invited!

Or could it be that he is so arrogant and stupid that he wants to fight against everyone in the area by leaking the location of his basecamp?"

After receiving the news about Austin, Alston was both stunned and confused.

"Austin! What the hell does he want to do?"

Alston couldn't help but frown at the thought of this. Now, he was totally at loss with what Austin was up to. It was driving him crazy!

The Supreme God

Chapter 3495 Luban (Part One)

"It's also possible that Austin intended to find a place to hide and seek refuge. After all, everyone in the competition area wants to find him and is eager to kill him.

Unfortunately for him, his hiding place has been discovered and exposed by accident. The news spread like wild fire. That's why everybody know about it now,"

Meredith guessed while speculating on the whole thing about Austin. Whatever the real reason was, it would always remain a mystery.

"I can't rule out that possibility.

However, it is also possible that the bastard is just playing tricks on us. In that case, this whole thing is a damn set up!

Well, we will never find out just sitting here like idiots. Let's go and have a look.

I don't believe that with the combined efforts of all the people on the battlefield, we cannot find him and kill him!"

Alston said while giving a signal to his men. They then headed to the place where Austin and his people were supposed to be, according to the directions that had been given out.

At this very moment, Austin had already targeted a team of more than fifty people. He had been monitoring their every move for quite some time now.

It was rare for him to see a team with around fifty members as most teams of that size had already been extinguished and eliminated from the competition.

Currently, the teams that had survived and remained in the competition were composed of at least seventy or eighty members.

There were even many teams that had more than a hundred people!

Added together, all of Alston's subordinates would surpass two hundred and even surpass two hundred and fifty!

After Austin destroyed two of his teams in previous battles, Alston had recruited a lot of new members and expanded his groups dramatically.

"They are so small. For a team with such a limited number of members, they do have the guts to come and kill me. How ridiculous! They are digging their own graves coming after me like this!"

Fast like a ghost, Austin appeared behind a member of the team, who was standing at the back of the troops, observing the battle in front of him.

Austin waved his hand, and several sharp sword auras slashed into the man's body.

Puff! Puff!

The sharp sword auras instantly pierced through his helpless body and sent him flying into the air.

"Awesome!"

Austin was quite satisfied with the effect of the swordsmanship skill that he had refined with the energy of thirteen billion sword attacks in one. He was glad that he used his free time to cultivate such skills.

"Luban, Austin is behind us now!"

Another member of the team noticed Austin and shouted at their leader to catch his attention.

However, before anyone else could react, Austin already instantly disappeared after he killed one of their members.

In a split second, he re-appeared in a different position like a bolt of lightning.

Bam! A deafening noise filled the sky all of a sudden.

Austin activated his chaotic magic treasure. His flute made a melody that was full of murderous will. Though it was nice to the ear, it only reminded people of a brutal battlefield where bloody corpses were piled up in towering heaps.

Countless horrifying sound waves spread out in the air creating a ripple effect. They filled the whole sky like a densely-knitted web. Suddenly, they moved and swarmed like fish swimming in the sea, free to go anywhere that they wanted to go. They pierced the enemies' bodies like sharp knives which easily killed the medium-grade divine gods, one after another. Their bodies exploded and were thrown up into the air like rubbish.

The Supreme God

Chapter 3496 Luban (Part Two)

After a while, more than half of the team members were already dead.

There was no denying that Austin's attacks, combined with his fast bodily movement skill and the magic power of the flute, were really terrifying and not to be messed with. The use of two chaotic magic treasures at the same time also added to his strength.

"Argh! Austin, you... You destroyed my team! How dare you!"

Their strong dark-skinned leader was dumbfounded seeing the lifeless bodies of his team members.

He swore that the young man in front of him was the most powerful Divine Realm cultivator he had ever encountered. Austin's power had even long surpassed his wildest expectation. He had completely underestimated the young man.

Austin was just a warrior at the Divine Realm, but he was able to destroy a team consisting of over fifty medium-grade divine gods.

This was indeed something out of the ordinary and beyond imagination!

The strong dark-skinned leader named Luban finally understood why Alston offered such a huge reward for the head of this young man in front of him!

"Master Otis, please come out and finish the battle as soon as possible! My job here with this team is done!"

Austin called out loudly.

"You heard him! Attack!"

Hearing Austin's words, Otis rushed out together with his fighters.

Otis activated the palmetto leaf fan and waved it with all his might. The energy wave of the fan immediately killed two people!

Austin said and waved his hand.

"No, Austin, I'm not leaving. I've made the decision to join your team from this moment on!"

Luban suddenly told this to Austin.

"What? You want to join me?!"

Austin was stunned and confused at Luban's decision. Had he given it any thought?

This was indeed beyond his imagination. He never expected that Luban would make such a decision so quickly.

"I mean it, Austin. You are just at the Divine Realm, but you have already harvested more than a hundred thousand points and three chaotic magic treasures. Your combat power is terrifying. I really admire you, Austin. So I decided to join you.

The people from my race really admire heroes like you, the most. So I have decided to be your follower from today!"

Luban said with determination.

"Well..."

Austin was still confused at this moment, not knowing what to say, still reeling from this sudden turn of events.

Seeing Luban's determination and expectant, begging eyes, Austin finally agreed to let him join the team. He also brought along his former team members.

Because of this, Austin's team had expanded into more than seventy people.

Such a group was not small.

"What the hell is that?"

Be careful, guys. There are now three teams coming in from three different directions. They are now forty miles away from us. They have surrounded us!"

Austin suddenly sensed something and warned everybody.

The Supreme God

Chapter 3497 Encounter With Hare

"There are three teams, one with more than seventy people and two with more than eighty people. Lucky for us, they're approaching us from three different directions. We have enough time to deal with them separately.

First, let's attack the team with more than seventy people!"

Austin promptly proposed.

"Got it! Please rest assured, Austin. I'll go all out and execute your orders!"

the dark-skinned man Luban rushed to respond at once, every word filled with complete devotion.

A moment of silence followed the declaration as Austin quietly stared at him. Contrary to everything Luban's appearance suggested, he was actually a bootlicker.

"Let's move!"

With a wave of Austin's hand, more than seventy earth dragons burst out of the ground. Each dragon bore a team member on its back before diving back into the ground and disappearing.

A moment later, they immediately arrived at their destination.

"Die!"

Dozens of miles away, Austin and his companions suddenly exploded out of the ground and swept over the team consisting of more than seventy people.

Divine light filled the sky as the overwhelming tide of energy spread in all directions.

Endless cries of killing and pain echoed around them.

There were more than seventy people in Austin's team, and he had three chaotic magic treasures.

It wouldn't take a genius to realize what team would come out on top.

Between Austin and Otis, the two of them had the entire battle in the palm of their hands.

Although their competitors were all experienced in fighting and undoubtedly powerful, they didn't have a single chaotic magic treasure.

This became the chink in their armor.

As a result, they were all soon killed by Austin's team.

After the landslide victory, Austin led his team to chase after the other team about thirty miles away. None of them feared the more than eighty people that comprised the other team.

Special laws in the Fallen Divine Valley imposed strong restrictions on a martial artist's spiritual sense.

Therefore, spiritual sense of a medium-grade divine god would work only in a range generally within about twenty miles. While medium-grade divine gods with extremely powerful spiritual sense could perceive about thirty miles around at most, if they pushed their skills to the limit.

Once their spiritual senses reached more than thirty miles, it would be difficult for them to perceive the situation at such a distance.

It went without saying that Austin's hundreds of earth dragons were his biggest advantage. They served as his eyes that could perceive any situation from far away and bring the information back to him.

Although Austin found some similarities to feel that they were familiar, he still wasn't completely sure that this man was Hare.

"Yes, I am Hare.

The one who got along with you was my avatar. Now my avatar has returned to my body. We've become one.

All the memories of my avatar are preserved in my mind.

When I heard people here were hunting down someone called Austin, I couldn't believe it and thought it was just another person named Austin.

I never would have expected that it really was you!"

Hare telepathically explained to Austin.

"Master Hare, this is great! I finally found you!"

Bright joy filled Austin at the confirmation.

Finding Hare was one of his goals in entering the Fallen Divine Valley. Never would he have expected that they would meet by chance. He couldn't be any more pleased than he was at this moment.

"Master Hare, how about this? You can talk to the team leader and make it clear that we're friends. There's no need to fight this battle. Let's stop here,"

Austin suggested using his internal power.

Since Hare was a member of this team, Austin didn't want to kill them.

"No!

Austin, listen to me.

This man's name is Tyrell and he's insidious, selfish, and incredibly heartless.

Somehow, he obtained a chaotic magic treasure that greatly increased his strength, so he built this team.

However, he's too greedy. He would take most of the benefits after we win a fight. What's more, all the members aren't allowed to voice any objections. Otherwise, he'll kill them.

I was almost killed just because I wasn't humble enough to him once.

I say we can work together when his guard is down and try our best to get rid of him!"

Hare secretly said to Austin.

Of course, their entire conversation happened in the blink of an eye. Both sides managed to express all their thoughts and got what the other meant.

"Got it."

Austin nodded.

"Ha-ha! What do you think, Austin? Are you dumbfounded? Are you too scared to make a sound?"

Go to hell!"

Seeing that Austin didn't make a sound, Tyrell let out another bark of wild laughter. He took a step forward with the purple sword at the ready, and tried to attack Austin.

The Supreme God

Chapter 3498 Meeting An Acquaintance

Seeing that Tyrell had made his move, Austin activated his bodily movement skill and moved to a different spot in a flash to avoid Tyrell's attack.

Then just as quickly, Austin took out the flute and activated it directly. Then came the runes of sound.

Swoosh!

Streaks of purple sword-light tore through the space and came at Austin.

"Wow! That small sword packs a very powerful punch!"

Austin couldn't help but be a little surprised as he stared at the small purple sword in Tyrell's hand.

"Austin, you're doomed now that you've met our leader!"

Everyone! Let's work together to help Tyrell to kill this brat, Austin!"

the skinny old man Hare behind Tyrell shouted.

"Agreed! Let's surround Austin first in case he escapes!"

"I heard that he has a team lurking around here somewhere. Everyone, pay attention to anything that might seem weird around you. Be on the lookout and prevent his team from saving him!"

The rest of the team supported his idea and began moving to surround Austin.

At this time, Hare had discretely moved close to Tyrell just in case any stray runes attacked him.

"Tyrell, go to hell!"

While Austin was activating the flute to attack Tyrell with his left hand, he pulled out a long sword with his right hand, slashing out rays of sharp sword-light that combined the energy of 13 billion sword attacks into one. At the same time, he used his bodily movement skills to the extreme, constantly and successfully avoiding Tyrell's frontal attacks.

"Here, Tyrell, let me help you!"

at this time, Hare roared as he stood behind Tyrell.

Boom!

With a wave of his sleeve, more than a dozen magic treasures flew out at the same time and formed a halo around him. All of a sudden, they exploded at the same time, hitting Tyrell in the back.

These divine magic treasures were detonated by Hare's original energy essence. They were indeed very powerful.

"Go to hell!"

As Hare threw out a dozen magic treasures, his fist constantly enlarged, spurting out violent energy and hitting the back side of Tyrell's head.

"Aargh! What the hell! How dare you attack me from behind! You fucking traitor!"

Tyrell screamed in pain and was thrown up into the air.

"I see."

Austin understood.

"As far as I know, Frost and Brain did enter the Fallen Divine Valley. Although I haven't seen them in person, I've heard of the legends of the two of them.

Apparently, they both had left many clues and traces behind so that they were seen by those who came after them.

Austin, it hasn't been long since you entered the valley. You must have traveled to and seen only very few places.

In fact, the Fallen Divine Valley is extremely wide. There are many dangerous places that you probably have never been to before," the skinny old man exclaimed.

"That's right.

Although I do want to see more of this place when the time and opportunity allows, it's a pity that if I win in this competition, I might have to leave the Fallen Divine Valley.

In which case, the mission to come looking for Master Frost and Master Brain will fail,"

Austin sighed.

After all, the main task of Austin, Ingram and Tyrone entering the Fallen Divine Valley was to find Frost and Brain.

However, according to Austin's estimation, this task was impossible for him to complete.

"How are Ingram and Tyrone doing in the competition area of the preliminary-grade divine gods?

The two of them are the most powerful ones among gods of their level. They should be able to win this competition smoothly as well,"

Austin murmured to himself. It had been a while since he had communication with the two. This competition had almost completely consumed all of his time and attention.

"Master Otis, please continue to broadcast the location of our base camp and attract more teams.

Besides, we still have to look for them consciously. There must be more people from the gods of light side of the three thousand big and small universes.

I think that the situation of the three thousand big and small universes is getting more and more tense.

When absolutely necessary, we will gather a group of gods of light and return to the three thousand big and small universes to improve our strength as a whole!"

Austin ordered and explained the reason for it.

"Okay, understood! The three thousand big and small universes, wait for me! We will be back soon!

Ha ha..."

Otis burst into laughter. He was confident that he could win the competition and would be able to leave the Fallen Divine Valley alive and in one piece.

"Austin, I will also go back to the three thousand big and small universes with you. Please show me around when that happens," Magee said.

Some other medium-grade divine gods, who didn't belong to the three thousand big and small universes, also looked forward to it. Spirits were high within the team.

"Ha ha, all of you are welcome to the three thousand big and small universes!"

Austin said with a wide grin.

The Supreme God

Chapter 3499 Alston Appeared

"We have more than eighty members in our team now. That's quite a large number.

Everyone, get ready. More teams will definitely be hunting us down one after another."

After saying those words, Austin quickly took his team back to their base camp to rest and replenish themselves.

After they killed Tyrell, they also got his small purple sword which was a chaotic magic treasure.

Once they settled down, Austin handed off the jade flute to Hare to refine, and took the purple sword for himself.

Since Austin was good at swordsmanship, he figured that the purple sword was more suitable for him.

Sure enough, after he refined the little purple sword by inserting his sword aura that could summon thirteen billion sword attacks' energy into the purple sword, it became much more powerful than the flute.

Afterwards, three people in Austin's team could now wield the chaotic magic treasures.

Namely, they were Austin, Otis, and Hare.

If there were three people who controlled chaotic magic weapons within a team, their overall strength would basically shoot to the top of the competition for medium-grade divine gods.

Half a day passed.

Several other teams reached an area about forty miles away from Austin's camp.

A moment barely passed after they stepped foot in the area before Austin's senses immediately alerted him of the situation.

Among the invaders, the largest force had more than a hundred and twenty members!

However, Austin ignored the largest team and summoned more than eighty earth dragons to carry his team underground. Their chosen prey was the team with around ninety members.

"Die!"

Taking the lead, Austin rode the earth dragon through the ground and rushed out.

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

Bright light shone from the purple sword after he activated it and then it sliced up his enemies.

a sudden, the expression on his face changed.

"A large team is coming at us! They've reached a spot about fifty miles away!

They have, at the very least, more than two hundred and fifty people!"

Austin quickly buried any and all surprise from his face.

Under Austin's mind control, five earth dragons stealthily moved underground towards the position of the large team.

Since earth dragons were formed by the essence of the very earth's vital energy, they could freely move underground without arousing any suspicion.

Fifty miles away, a team of more than two hundred and fifty people slowly inched forward. A tall young man with a high forehead and a face full of pride led the huge team, smugly looking down on everything as if no one was his match.

Another young man with a folding fan in hand, unhurriedly walked by his side.

Everyone else followed the two young men.

"Alston, according to the information we got, Austin's base camp should be somewhere in this area," a strong man said, voice filled with pure respect.

"Seems like it's not that far from here,"

Alston responded with a slight nod of his head.

"Now that Austin's close by, we better carry out a thorough search to find and kill him.

If we do it like this, we don't have to waste so many points in a reward for others to take his head. We can kill him by ourselves!"

another man clad in black suggested.

"Don't worry.

Somehow, my gut is telling me that things aren't as simple as they seem.

Perhaps Austin spread the information of his whereabouts on purpose to lure the other teams here so he could kill them.

But is he really that cunning and powerful?

We all know that he's only at the Divine Realm. Yet everything he has done so far seems to be inconsistent with that,"

Alston said after a moment's thought.

"Oh, so Alston's coming here!

Perfect. Alston, I've been waiting for you all this time!"

Dozens of miles away, Austin sat cross legged in the base and heard Alston's every word clearly. He couldn't help but sneer at the thought that he would meet Alston soon.

The Supreme God

Chapter 3500 Find Austin

It wasn't news to Austin that Alston held a deep grudge against him. He knew that their disputes had to be solved sooner or later.

He believed that Alston had already found out that he came from the three thousand big and small universes.

If he didn't kill Alston in the Fallen Divine Valley, he might set off for the three thousand big and small universes to make trouble for him in the future.

He was told that Alston came from a supreme universe with a strong background. He could easily estimate that Alston would most likely be a pain in his neck.

Knowing all this, he had been waiting for Alston to show himself in the past few days.

And now, Austin finally felt his presence.

A little more than fifty miles away from him, Austin sensed him at long last.

"Let's stop and wait here for the perfect opportunity to attack."

Alston motioned his team to start setting up camp on the flat area where they could settle down.

"I believe that lots of teams will definitely be rushing to this area. When Austin and his team come, we'll quietly keep watch on what kind of trick he is playing.

The moment I find out everything about him, I will kill him myself!"

When he finished talking, Alston selected more than a dozen of his smart followers with good bodily movement skills. He gave each of them a colored contacting stone and asked them to inquire about the news.

He kept talking about Austin. However, he didn't have the slightest idea that several earth dragons were lurking under the ground not far from him. They were observing his moves and listening to his conversations while they sent every bit of information back to Austin in real-time.

"Oh? You plan to kill me?"

Ha-ha! Well, then. Let's just wait and see who gets killed first."

Austin sneered as he found out about Alston's ignorant provocation.

Alston wasn't even aware that he was being spied on.

Realizing that he had the upper hand, Austin smirked.

Not a minute later, he noticed the auras of some strangers.

'Huh?

It looks like three different teams just entered the fifty-mile radius around me.

Hmm, let me see. There seems to be about a hundred and fifty people of each team, '

Austin thought to himself.

It was true that in this competition, the only teams that managed to survive until this moment either were equipped with chaotic magic treasures or had a large number of people.

"Hey, everyone! Looks like we have work to do,"

Can you perceive the cultivation base of that young man?"

Alston asked curiously. His eyebrow rose as a sly smile crossed his face.

"I'll get closer so I can see clearly."

After responding through the colored stone, the voice was quiet for a moment.

"Alston! This young man is at the Divine Realm!"

The voice coming from the other end of the colored stone sounded excited.

"Ha-ha! That brat is definitely Austin!

You did a good job, Ben. Stay there and keep an eye on him. If anything happens, report immediately!

I'm on my way there with the others."

He gathered his men and motioned them to get moving. "Ha! I finally found you, Austin.

Just wait and see. I will take back my chaotic magic treasures and tear you into pieces!"

Alston declared as he snickered.

He had been searching for Austin for days, and now he finally found his enemy.

"Let's go!"

With a wave of his hand, he led more than two hundred medium-grade divine gods and headed off to where Austin was.

"Hmm. Alston's on his way here."

Despite steering clear of his view, Austin had a clear understanding of Alston's every move and conversation as though he was just right in front of him.

After hearing about Alston's plan to take him on, Austin thought for a while about what they should do and made the decision.

"I don't think we have to face him right away. Let's not waste much of our energy yet. We have other things to do."

Everyone knew that Alston had a sizable team of more than two hundred and fifty people. He even finished refining at least two chaotic magic treasures.

Their overall strength would be superior and terrifying.

Knowing all this, Austin didn't want to challenge them head-on.

"Come on. Let's go and hunt another team!"

Austin called on his men and led them into the ground. They headed for another team of more than a hundred and fifty people.
