

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 104

Jennifer didn't want to end the friendly relationship between Spencer and her. She could tell that Ivan cared about Spencer in the police station, but she just didn't know what went wrong between them.

"What are you thinking?" Spencer teased, "Don't tell me you don't have any money in your bank card. Don't worry. I won't eat much!"

"No." Jennifer's voice sounded melodious. "Let's go."

Spencer wrapped his arm around her shoulders, but he quickly let go of her.

They went into the restaurant.

"Spencer, what is your relationship with Ivan?" Jennifer asked. She felt that Spencer was a little more reasonable than Ivan. He never wore a long face.

Spencer smiled and said, "We're natural enemies."

"But I find he's quite concerned about you."

"Don't pull my leg!" Spencer was very dismissive. "I don't care. I hate crocodile tears."

Words failed Jennifer. She didn't know why Spencer was so angry.

Given Spencer's attitude, Jennifer thought she should change the topic.

According to Spencer, he was not Ivan's brother.

Did Ivan lie about it?

Half an hour passed.

A set of photos were trending on the Internet!

These photos had an eye-catching subtitle.

"The wife of the Marsh Group's president secretly dated a handsome man! They look close to each other!"

In the Marsh Group, Ivan was in his office.

He had just finished a video conference. Sitting at his desk, he coldly stared at the photos on the computer screen with a gloomy face.

Spencer did this on purpose! It was obvious. None of the photos showed Spencer's face!

But Jennifer could be recognized in any photo!

What pissed Ivan off was Jennifer's wide smile!

It made him sad! It almost killed him!

Jennifer was silent when asked if she loved Ivan last night, but she was happily dating Spencer!

In a photo, Spencer touched her hair!

And he even wrapped his arm around her shoulder in another!

What an obvious provocation!

"Mr. Marsh!" Finnley hurriedly said, "Here's some bad news!"

Before Finnley could say something, he saw the photos on the screen.

"Mr. Marsh, I've tried to suppress the news, but it spread so fast that many people have seen them."

Ivan closed the webpage and looked up at Finnley. "Have you got a date for the meeting with the Prime Minister?"

Finnley was shocked.

He didn't expect Ivan to be so calm.

It took Finnley a few seconds to recover. "2:00 p.m."

"Okay." Ivan flipped open a document and then signed. "Take it. It's ready."

Finnley reached out and took it, wondering what happened to Ivan. Why was Ivan so calm?

After Finnley left, Ivan made a call to Alfie. "Alfie, what are you doing?"

"Daddy, I'm fighting on the Internet. How dare they take pictures of Mommy!" Alfie was very angry. "Mommy is eating with her friend, but all the media are twisting the truth! How infuriating!"

When Ivan opened the webpage again, he found it was blocked.

"Good job!" Ivan gave a smile. "What do you want to eat tonight? I'll take you wherever you want to go!"

"Is it okay for you to pick us up from school, Daddy?"

"No problem."

"Great!" Alfie was particularly excited. "You are the best in the world! I'm going to tell Diana about it!"

Hence, Jennifer did not know about the photos and that she had been a trending topic on the Internet. After she finished the meal, all the photos and news had been removed.

After saying goodbye to Spencer, Jennifer went to the cake store, still thinking to buy the ingredients.

Catherine was in her own office.

Looking at the photos, she thought Spencer did a good job.

After taking a sip of coffee, Catherine felt much better. With Spencer's help, Ivan would definitely break up with Jennifer one day.

The news could be blocked, but many people had seen the photos. Jennifer's reputation would be gradually ruined.

Spencer said goodbye to Jennifer in a good mood!

Walking alone back to the club, Spencer began to think about what he should do next.

His club was downtown with a dozen members who were expert in computers.

These youngsters made their living on cyber security and all had a degree in computing.

Ten years ago, they established this team to fighting with foreign opponents, including many great hackers.

Spencer was their boss and coach. He even joined them in the competition.

"Boss! Something's wrong!"

Hearing this, Spencer stopped in his tracks.
