

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 154

Ivan let go of her and put his hands on her shoulder, "I'll take Alfie and Diana with me. And I'll inform the school."

"Take them with you?" Jennifer was surprised, "You are going to work. They'll distract you."

"I'll have someone take good care of them," Ivan said, "Don't worry. There's a top horse racing contest in New York. Alfie told me that he could ride, so I wanna take him."

"As long as it won't bother you." She believed in him and that he would give the best to their children.

And it would be great for Alfie to go out and see the world.

And it was Ivan's way of showing his love to them.

Jennifer added, "But be careful not to let them make troubles or disrupt you. Don't let him heck into their computers even if the project is blown."

"Don't worry. I'll set some ground rules."

He knew when was the right time to say goodbye, "I gotta go. I'll be back soon."

Jennifer couldn't help but hug him from behind when he turned around.

"..."

She didn't say anything but leaned her head on his back to feel him.

Ivan held her hands as he could feel the way she did.

He then turned around and kissed her forehead.

Aubree saw this on the security camera and her face turned livid.

She felt that she was tricked by Jennifer, which upset her deeply.

"I wanna ask you something." Ivan was grasping her shoulder in the security camera, "Have you fallen in love with me?"

Jennifer pursed her lips like she was trying to hold back the excitement, and said, "I'll tell you when you get back."

He smiled, staring at her affectionately, and then kissed her once again.

Pippa didn't even dare to breathe when she saw the gloom on Aubree's face. But she also found it unbelievable that Darcie was actually Mrs. Marsh.

"What a whore! Playing hard-to-get?" Aubree just wanted to eat Jennifer alive.

Pippa was thinking that why Mrs. Marsh would lie if she was such a brilliant doctor?

Or...she was not a real doctor and she just wanted to get Aubree's approval with the help of Doctor Watson?

Oh my gosh!

If that was true, then Jennifer would pay for this as Aubree wouldn't let her off the hook easily.

And Aubree also thought it was Pippa's second guess.

She didn't believe that Darcie was a real doctor and she thought those medications were all made by Rowan.

And it was pretty clear what Jennifer was doing this for.

Ivan and Jennifer were still talking on the security camera.

"I hope my mom will get better when I get back."

"I'll work on it."

Aubree sneered as she thought Jennifer was lying to Ivan as well.

Ivan then left but Jennifer didn't go after him. She instead walked toward the window, watching him walk out of the living room and get in that limited-edition Lamborghini.

The car then drove away until she couldn't see it.

Aubree was unable to regain composure the whole morning.

Jennifer still didn't get down to have breakfast so the maid sent it upstairs.

Aubree was thinking about what she just saw the whole morning. She couldn't accept it. She just wanted to kill Jennifer.

She was furious and grumpy. Pippa was trying to comfort her the whole time.

Until after lunch.

Jennifer and Rowan were busily working in the medication research room. Jennifer, in a black suit, still got her black mask on, looking rather professional.

There was a knock on the door and they both raised their heads.

"Doctor Watson, Doctor Darcie." Pippa was standing at the door, "Madam Aubree invited you two to have a cup of coffee downstairs."

Coffee?

They had been here for days and now she asked them to have coffee?