

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 226

Ivan's men were all in sorrows and they dared not tell Aubree the truth with their heads lowered.

This agitated Aubree, "Speak!" She'd like to know if this accident had anything to do with Jennifer!

About five seconds later, a man in black suit answered.

"Ma'am, Mr. Marsh found the hotel where Mrs. Marsh had been staying. When we got there, she had just checked out, so Mr. Marsh ran after her. Mrs. Marsh crossed the road and was about to get into a taxi. Mr. Marsh followed her, but the traffic light turned red. Maybe he didn't notice it or maybe he had no time to... He was hit by a pickup truck after he rushed into the traffic. Then he fell onto the ground and his head hit a hard surface..."

Everyone was frightened listening to his narratin.

"Jennifer..." With her fists clenched, Aubree said in a low voice, "Jennifer again..." There was hatred in her eyes as she asked, "Where is she now?"

"She left. She had no idea of the accident and gotten on the taxi."

"Riley!" with anger burning in her eyes, Aubree ordered, "find her! If anything happened to Ivan, I'll kill her!"

Riley didn't know what to say.

"Do it now!" Aubree said again seriously.

However, Riley couldn't help but ask, "But ma'am, you were the one who told her to leave. What was she supposed to do?"

"You..." Aubree was enraged.

At this moment, the door of the emergency room was opened and a doctor in blood-stained gown walked out.

"Doctor, how is my son?"

Everyone saw her and their hopes were up. They all walked up to her and stared at her.

Aubree grabbed her arm and screamed, "Doctor, you have to save him! He can't die! He's the president of the Marsh Group. He has a huge company to run!"

"I know, ma'am. I know who he is," the doctor said, "Calm down, ma'am. We'll do our best!"

"Why are you here? How is he now? Is there good news? Can you save his life?" Aubree prayed and waited for her answer.

"Who is Jennie?" the doctor looked at them and asked.

The place fell into silence for a moment.

The doctor explained, "Mr. Marsh has been calling this name and we are losing him. To save him, we need Jennie in there to awaken his desire to live."

Aubree felt a stirring of emotions in her chest.

The doctor stressed, "Jennie might be the only faith to keep him alive."

Catherine made up her mind and raised her hand, "It's me. I'm Jennie."

Everyone looked over at her. Catherine walked up to the doctor, bearing the pain in her stomach and said, "I'm Jennie. I can go in."

"Follow me, then. Hurry," the doctor said, turned around and walked into the emergency room again.

Catherine followed her in.

No one stopped her, including Aubree.

Because where could they find Jennifer now?

As long as someone could go in and hold his hand, he might be able to hold on. He had been so severely injured that he might not remember Jennifer's voice anymore.

"Ma'am..."

Pippa steadied Aubree, only to find that she couldn't even stand still anymore and was down in sorrow. "You have to hold on for him!"

Riley was also helping to steady her. He didn't call anyone to find Jennifer.

At this moment, Rowan walked out from the elevator.

He hurried here with his medical box.

He didn't say hi to anyone here, unlocked the emergency room door with his fingerprints and rushed in. He looked like a hero.

Ivan's man called him.

"Was that Dr. Watson?"

"Yes, it was him."

Hearing this, Aubree's hopes were up.

In the emergency room, after sterilization, Catherine followed the doctor to the operation room in sterile coverall.

The operation lights were on.

Eight doctors surrounded the operation table, wearing gloves and with surgery knives. Catherine shivered from seeing this.

“Jennie’s here,” the doctor, who led her in, said.
