

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 237

“Okay.” Tammy put down the bowl and took over the tea cup with both her hands.

She then filled the cup with water and passed it to Jennifer, “Do you need anything else?”

“No, thanks,” She said, “You can go now.”

Tammy took another glance at the soup. Jennifer then said, “Take it away. I don’t want it.”

“Well then.” Tammy turned around and picked up the soup bowl, “I’ll stop by later in case you want it.”

After Tammy left, Jennifer just sat on the bed thoughtfully with the cup in her hand.

Spencer went back at night and got a mobile phone for Jennifer.

He still looked pale, which worried Tammy. Why did he still look like that?

“How is she?” Spencer asked the second he walked in, “Hasn’t she eaten anything?”

“I brought her the soup three times but she wouldn’t have it. She had some water from her cup and has been sitting on the bed quietly.” Tammy was worried about her, “She looked haggard.”

“Give me the soup,” he said.

“Okay.”

After a few moments, Tammy took out the soup from the kitchen and handed it to him.

He took it over and went upstairs.

Spencer opened the half-closed door and saw Jennifer sitting in there. He walked toward her with the soup, “You can do anything to your body. However, I just got this villa. I won’t be able to sell for a satisfying price with a dead body in it.”

Jennifer stopped zoning out and realized that Spencer was standing right in front of her.

“Here.” He passed over the bowl, “I guess you prefer having it yourself to me feeding you.”

Jennifer didn’t lose her mind; she was just upset at the moment. She knew she had to stay strong for Alfie and Diana.

So she took the bowl and gulped down the soup with Spencer watching.

Spencer took the empty bowl from her hand and put the meds on the nightstand. He then went to fill a glass of water, “Take three capsules of each kind. Don’t forget it. You’ll have to carry my baby in the future.”

Jennifer raised her eyes at him with an impassive look.

"So you've still got emotions." Spencer stared at her with a smile, "I thought you weren't listening." Spencer glanced at the medicine and the cup on the nightstand, "Don't forget to take the pills."

Then he left.

Jennifer watched him walking away. She felt like she was talking to a person different from what she had remembered.

He had changed. It turned out he was tricking her in Sunshine Village with that obedient attitude.

Spencer had a temporary blackout when he just got downstairs, so he immediately held on to the table beside him.

"Mr. Lawrence!" Tammy was shocked and she hurriedly ran over to help him, "What's wrong? Are you okay? Should I call the doctor?"

"Just let me sit for a minute." Spencer didn't faint. He was a strong man but he still felt tired and weak after donating blood.

Tammy helped him sit down on the couch.

"Mr. Lawrence, let's go to the hospital."

He raised his hand and said with his eyes closed, "I'm okay."

"But..."

"I donated 1200cc of blood." He was breathing bricks, "I just need to rest. No big deal."

But Tammy was worried sick.

1200cc of blood?

Was he out of his mind?

Spencer was lying down on the couch with rage against himself.

He wanted so badly to pull the oxygen mask off Ivan's face! He wanted him to die!

But in the end, he donated that much blood to save him! He practically saved Ivan with his own life!

Spencer had these conflicting feelings about Ivan.

Because he thought that it was Ivan who caused his parents' death.
